UN Big-Four Envoys Prepare For Middle East Meeting

UNITED NATIONS ambassadors of the Big Four nations in New York prepared Wednesday night for their long awaited meeting on the Middle East situation scheduled for this afternoon. Highly placed diplomats said the meeting was scheduled for 3:30 p.m. at the Park Avenue residence of French U.N. Amb. Armand Gerard. It was considered possible that disclosure of their plans might cause the ambassadors of France, Britain and the United States to change the location. The talks were proposed by France last January and were accepted conditionally by the Nixon Administration in February. Since then, bilateral talks have proceeded between various combinations of the four powers, aimed at reaching agreements on a full-fledged discussion.

U.S. Infantrymen Hurl Back Communist Charge

NO U.S. CASUALTIES were reported in aftermath of a jungle fight Wednesday near Trang Bank. American infantrymen standing behind sheets of support fire from artillery hurled back a Communist charge and reported killing 49 Reds in the two-hour battle. Saigon headquarters said, however, the Red gunners shot down two helicopters on other war fronts, killing three Americans and wounding 11. In the Mekong Delta area, allied troops had battered Communist forces to the point where they were simply struggling to survive.

Red Chinese Congress Meets In Peking

DELEGATES at the second session of the ninth national congress of the Chinese Communist party Wednesday met in Peking Wednesday and discussed a proposed constitution emphasizing more of the Peking brand of hard-line communism. Nuclear and missile development remained a high priority item. It was the first such meeting in more than a decade and was a sure sign that Mao Tse-tung is in full control. The congress re-elected the 75-year old Mao chairman and Defense Minister Lin Biao as vice chairman.

Pope Paul VI Says Rebel Priests Are 'Crucifying Church'

PLEADING that they remain loyal, Pope Paul VI said Wednesday that some rebellious priests are "crucifying the church." "The Lord is trying us," the 71-year-old Pope said in a crowded Holy Week general audience in St. Peter's Basilica. "Beloved sons, do not refuse to give us your spiritual support and prayer," the Pontiff pleaded. He spoke in the wake of an unusual series of events in the priesthood that have disturbed and distressed the Vatican. The most recent occurrence was the defection of a member of the Vatican household who left the priesthood to marry.

Navy Proposes $2.7 Billion Fleet Replacement Program

A LONG RANGE, multibillion dollar program to replace its creaking World War II fleet was proposed in Washington Wednesday by the Navy. It asked the Congress for $2.7 billion initially to start a fleet modernization program which it said would require even larger expenditures in subsequent years. Vice Adm. John B. Colwell, deputy chief of Naval operations, told the Senate Armed Services Committee that Vietnam has drained regular forces elsewhere on the globe. With the Air Force yet to be heard, the Army, Navy and Marine Corps have hinted that vast postwar expenditures will be needed for procurement of new equipment deferred as a result of Vietnam.

3 Boys Perish As Fire Sweeps Fairhaven Home

THREE YOUNG BROTHERS perished Wednesday when fire swept their two-story home at Fairhaven. Their mother and two other brothers escaped. Dead are Alan Weeks, 7, and his brothers, Kevin, 5, and Glen, 4. Their bodies were found in an upstairs bedroom. Mrs. Edwin Weeks, 27, escaped through the front door with her clothing afire. She rolled on the ground to douse the flames. The two brothers who escaped were Eddie, 8, and 4-year-old Brian, Glen's twin. Their father was at work when the fire started.

General Eisenhower Buried In His Kansas Hometown

DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER was buried Wednesday in his little Kansas prairie town, Abilene, on the Old Chisholm trail that sent him forth to conquer continents and lead half the world. "The march of another soldier is ended. His battles are fought and won and he lies down to rest awhile to await the bugle's call," retired Army Chaplain Maj. Gen. Luther Liller whispered over the $80 coffin of the man who led the greatest armies of history in World War II. Then three rifles cracked a three-gun salute of farewell to America's 34th President, five-star general, hero and friend.

Nixon Attends Ike's Funeral, Heads For Florida Weekend

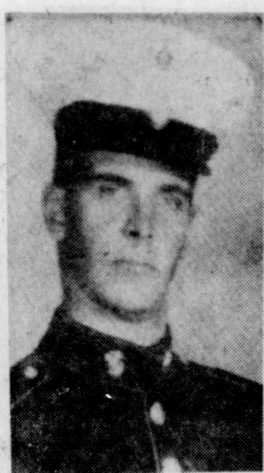

PRESIDENT NIXON, quiet and somber, paid his last respects to his political mentor Wednesday, then left for a long Easter weekend in Florida. Nixon, his wife, Pat, and their daughter, Tricia, flew to Salina, Kan., aboard Air Force One, and then by helicopter 25 miles to attend the Abilene funeral service for former President Eisenhower. Nixon bade farewell to Mrs. Eisenhower outside the chapel. He stepped into her black limousine and talked briefly with her. Mrs. Eisenhower, visibly shaken, clutched to her bosom the American flag that had been draped over her husband's coffin.

Johnson Flies From Texas To Pay Respects To Ike

FORMER PRESIDENT Lyndon B. Johnson, keeping out of the spotlight, flew from Texas to Abilene Wednesday to pay respects quietly to Dwight D. Eisenhower. He hurried home to Johnson, City, Texas, after the ceremony to greet his son-in-law, Pat Nugent, who was scheduled to return late Wednesday from a year's tour in Vietnam. The former president offered his condolences in a matter of seconds to Mrs. Eisenhower at the end of the burial services. Johnson's attendance was a surprise to the security men who did not know he was coming until his plane showed up at nearby Salina, Kansas. He stayed only long enough for the final rites for Eisenhower, a native of Denison, Texas, and before Johnson, the only U.S. President born in Texas.

N.Y. Police Smash Plot To Bomb 11 Department Stores

NEW YORK POLICE Wednesday uncovered a plot to dynamite five of Manhattan's biggest department stores during the Easter shopping season and arrested 11 of 21 suspects described as members of the Black Panther party. Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the plot was designed to destroy the "power structure" of the white community. Hogan said one of those arrested was Robert Collier, onetime leader of the leftist Revolutionary Action Movement, who recently served 21 months in federal prison for a 1965 conspiracy to blow up the Washington Monument, the Statue of Liberty and Philadelphia's Liberty Bell. The target stores were identified as Macy's, Bloomingdale's, E. J. Korvette, Alexander's, and Abercrombie and Fitch. The plotters also planned to dynamite Bronx police station and six sections of the Penn. Central New Haven Railroad. Hogan said of the 21 indicted men, eight are still at large and two are serving jail sentences in Newark on robbery charges.

Hero Marine Gets Awards Posthumously

Pfc. James J. Rice, USMC, who was killed in action Feb. 7, 1968, in Vietnam, was awarded three medals posthumously last week in ceremonies held at the Fargo Building in Boston.

The 21-year-old serviceman died only 11 days before the end of his Vietnam tour.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Rice, of 24 Turner st., Newtonville, with more than 50 relatives and friends and Mayor Basbas, attended the ceremonies in Murray Hall, alongside the Fargo Bldg.

The heroic Marine was given the Bronze Star with V for Valor, the Cross of Gallantry from Vietnam, and the Meritorious Bravery Award from Vietnam.

The citation accompanying the Bronze Star Medal read:

Local Woman Gets New Radcliffe Job

Doris J. Mitchell, of Newton Centre, a former community organizer for the Boston and Newton Girl Scout Councils and co-founder of Blacks Helping Blacks, has been appointed Special Assistant in Admissions at Radcliffe College, President Mary I. Bunting announces.

Mrs. Mitchell was selected for the post in co-operation with the Radcliffe Black Students' Committee on Admissions.

The wife of Associate Justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court Joseph S. Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. Mitchell became a community organizer for the Boston Girl Scout Council in 1952 after graduating from West Chester Teachers College in West Chester, Pennsylvania.

She has supervised recruitment and training of adult leaders for the East Boston, Roxbury and Jamaica Plain areas of Boston and was Assistant Director of the Council's summer camp.

In 1954-55 she worked as an organizer and camping activities co-ordinator for the Newton Girl Scout Council.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Mitchell has been an active school and community volunteer, serving as area chairman for the United Fund, co-ordinator for the United Negro College Fund Drive, and board member of the Ruggles Street Nursery School in Roxbury and of the South End Music Center.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas predicted a Newton tax rate of about $103 for this year after the Board of Aldermen trimmed $286,998 from the municipal budget and then approved a total city and school budget of $39,489,030.68 which is $2,334,534.67 greater than the comparable budget of last year.

The city's 1968 tax rate was $88.60. The Mayor's forecast anticipated a jump in the rate of close to $15.

However, some political observers believe Mayor Basbas is being over-optimistic and that the city's tax rate this year will soar higher than $103.

They pointed out that in estimating the $103 tax rate Mr. Basbas is anticipating a "reasonable pay raise in the vicinity of 5 per cent for city employees."

This is considered unrealistic and ultra-conservative by some experts on municipal government in view of the fact that Brookline recently gave 12 per cent raises and that the State is planning on raises between 9 and 14 per cent.

Members of the Newton police department in Collective Bargaining negotiations, now allowed for all elements of municipal and school workers, already turned down an 8.23 per cent increase which would have boosted the maximum pay for patrolmen from $8315 to $9000 a year for patrolmen.

Mayor Basbas also is expecting that Governor Francis W. Sargent's tax program will be approved by the State Legislature as submitted. There is no assurance whatever that this will be the case.

Whether Mayor Basbas has allowed enough in his budget to cover MDC and county assessments is uncertain. These amounts will not be known until the State's so-called "cherry sheet" is compiled.

The city has no alternative except to pay whatever amounts are levied by the county and the MDC so the Mayor will have to submit supplementary requests to the Aldermen if he has underestimated these amounts.

The tax rate also will be affected by the outcome of the collective bargaining with the various groups of city workers apart from the school department.

One of the few favorable factors in the tax picture is that the city's surplus fund is $130,000 greater than last year. Each $330,000 taken from the fund chops $1 from the tax rate.

Incidentally, each 1 per cent pay raise granted to the city employees costs Newton about $107,000 a year, which is equivalent to 32 cents on the tax rate.

Health Menace Seen In Some Rest Rooms

With spring already here, there has been a growing concern among health officials for an all-out effort against poorly maintained public restrooms.

According to the Newton Health Department "poorly maintained public restrooms may become a menace to the health and safety of our citizens."

Investigations of complaints from irate citizens about restrooms have shown that a high percentage of these complaints were justified.

Experience has taught personnel to expect the worst when called upon to inspect public restrooms.

However, in all fairness, it is recognized that, in general, service stations, department stores, and restaurants have some of the cleanest and best maintained public restrooms.

Outdoor facilities, restrooms at sporting events, and, in some cases other public restrooms are plagued with the great influx of people descending on the public restrooms at one time.

The heavy, intermittent, short-interval usage of these restroom facilities result in undesirable conditions developing rapidly.

And, in many cases, there is a considerable time lag between the heavy usage and clean-up operations.

Another important thing that can be done is to teach

Taxpayer's Assoc. Warns on Spending

Warning that Newton's 1969 tax rate is expected to be one third higher than the $76.20 tax rate of 1967, the Newton Taxpayers' Ass'n in its current bulletin urges a slow-down in accepting new and expanded pogram proposals for the city and the schools.

"A 33 1/3 tax rate hike in two years is too rapid a pace to be accepted without protest and counter-program," commented Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director.

The Association recommends two broad policies: first, to establish mechanical or even arbitrary limits on areas of activity and the extent to which the city will assume financial liability within them, and second, to put more emphasis on pay-as-you-go for new projects in order to bring the costs home more forcibly to both proponents and taxpayers at the time of decision.

Three examples of the first policy are association recommendations that: no direct or indirect financial liability be assumed by the city for an elementary school lunch program; low-cost housing be constructed through the Newton Housing Authority only for the elderly, with a continuation of rent supplements; resistance to programs "tending to embed further the metropolitanization of Newton's finances."

Three examples of the second policy are recommendations that: if voting machines are to be bought, they be charged against the revenue of the year in which they are purchased, saving an estimated $47,500; 50 percent of bonding for projects for which 20 years is legally allowable be issued for 10 years instead, thereby saving over $2 million in interest on each $10 million so borrowed; acquire in a given year only so much land as the city is willing to pay for in cash net

Rumor Factory Already Busy About Next Year's Campaign

Reports and rumors of developments which could affect next year's important election campaign, some factual, others nebulous, have been chasing each other up and down Beacon Hill.

One group of Republicans would like to dump Governor Francis W. Sargent and put up some other GOP candidate for the Governorship in 1970.

Former Lieutenant Governor Sumner Whittier is being mentioned as a possibility. Whittier, who has held a variety of big jobs both in public life and private industry since he ran for Governor in 1956, would still like the thrill of serving in the office he sought unsuccessfully.

There is no doubt that Sargent has displeased some members of his party although the reasons for their discontent are not completely clear.

However, any move to oppose Sargent's nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor next year would be ludicrous.

Easter '69—Day For Prayers, Hope, Joy

On hill-tops little knots of men, women and children will be facing East and the first glorious minutes of a rising sun on the far horizon as Easter Sunday dawns.

In tiny, humble churches later in the morning that sun will bring joyous color to unstained windows and lend to long-unpainted clapboards the glory the less-endowed share with the affluent on the morning of this great religious holiday.

In large edifices gifted choirs will blend peans of thanksgiving, of joy and of triumph with deep-throated organs for Him Who Hath Risen.

Worshippers leaving the solemn services will make their way home in the freshest, the newest, and brightest finery their purses can command—to admire and be admired on this morning of mornings.

Easter, 1969.

Dating back to the second century following His birth and His life on earth, there have been many Easterns in all parts of the world. For its Christians, in whatever clime or whatever continent, each Easter has been different—and yet, basically, each observation has been the same.

The best schooling, good clothes, a comfortable home... all these are important.

But don't they need answers to the big questions — such as Who is God? What is God? Where is God? What does He have to do with me?

Your children's sense of security and lasting happiness may well depend on being given good and useful answers to these important questions.

In the Christian Science Sunday School, children learn to know God, to feel a closeness to Him, and to turn to Him for the spiritual resources they need to strengthen and enrich their lives.

Isn't this something you would like to give your children? Why not bring them next Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m.?

Mayor Proclaims April "ORT Month" In Newton

April is a busy month for the Hancock members of Women's American ORT. Mayor Monte Basbas officially proclaimed April as ORT Month in Newton by signing the proclamation and renaming the corners of Beacon and Center Streets as ORT Square. This initiated ORT's worldwide Spring campaign for new members.

ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) is a non-profit organization dedicated to the vocational training of thousands of persons throughout the world.

The purpose of this campaign is to help the ORT schools grow more rapidly, thus being able to enroll more students and ultimately replacing scholar and despair with livelihood and life.

Holy Week Services At St. John's

A red-robed brass quartet will proclaim the Resurrection by playing victorious Easter hymns from the steps of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban Square, fifteen minutes before the nine o'clock and eleven o'clock services on Easter morning.

"Ours is a time that needs 'Society' is no different hear that our troubled society can yet be a Responsible Society," declared the Reverend William E. Foley, Rector of the parish.

"Society is no different from anything else that expands: gaps develop, but they are not unbridgeable. The moral gap, the economic gap and the ethical gap that have developed in today's society," Mr. Foley pointed out, "can be bridged by filling them in with a sense of man's spiritual value."

"The Church," the Rector continued, "is the only institution in the world dedicated solely to healing the gaps that develop in men by awakening a sense of worth and spiritual value. We must redefine our common humanity in spiritual terms if we are to survive," the Rev. Mr. Foley emphasized.

"The trumpets," Mr. Foley concluded, "proclaim not only the Resurrection of Jesus, but also the call to rise through a technological society into spiritual maturity."

The combined choirs of the Good Shepherd will sing Mozart's "Regina Coeli" and "Alleluia." Compositions by Gabrieli, Gibbons and Handel will also be played.

A Man Called "Ike"

He was a man. He was a man of war. He was a man of peace. He was a man of integrity, truth and honesty. And he was his own man.

Dwight David Eisenhower, who rose from humble beginnings to become the 34th President of the United States, died last Friday and his death saddened the nation.

The man who was the Supreme Commander of the Allied Armies in Europe during World War II was an old soldier who faded away, quietly, peacefully, but who left behind a legend of honor.

He was a humble man who never forgot his origins on the plains of Kansas where, as a boy, he worked 12 hours a day, seven days a week for two years prior to his acceptance as cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point. The Academy molded him and forged him and instilled in him those qualities of duty and service to his country that permeated his life.

It was duty that led him to the overall command of the Allied forces in World War II, a command that cut short Hitler's grandiose dream of a 1000-year Reich.

It was service to his country that thrust him into the presidential race in 1952 because he was told and he believed that if the Republicans did not return to Washington as the party in power it would signal the end of the two-party system in this country.

Some have criticized his two administrations in Washington as lackluster but he brought to the country a measure of stability it vitally needed.

General of the Army Dwight David Eisenhower is gone now, laid to rest in the crypt under the chapel on the Dwight Eisenhower Library grounds in Abilene, Kansas.

A fitting epitaph would be — "Here lies a patriot. A man lovingly called Ike by the people of America. A man of courage and a man of destiny. A man trained in war who sought peace for the brotherhood of all."

Our Next Door Neighbor

A recent news item reports that "the Castro Government has ordered two million members of its vigilance committees to intensify surveillance over the remaining six million Cubans."

This is like having two million policemen to maintain order in New York City. Today Cuba represents police statism with a vengeance.

Perhaps it is a good thing to have Cuba — a prime example of political oppression — a mere 90 miles from the United States.

It should be a lesson to a nation whose people have never known oppression, political persecution, or feared unrestrained police authority — a people who may have grown a little careless with the liberties which were virtually handed to them on a silver platter by our country's founders.

Dr. Laurits Suggests Luncheon Facilities Outside of Schools

Lunch facilities outside of the elementary schools? That is the suggestion of Dr. James Laurits, acting superintendent of the Newton public schools.

He recommended to the School Committee last week that the program be taken out of the schools and that parents in each neighborhood meet the problems according to their own needs.

"I think it would be great if neighborhoods established whatever lunch facilities they need outside the elementary school," said Dr. Laurits.

"Occasionally one of these might be a day-care center, because in certain neighborhoods we need these to help the working mothers."

"In other areas they would not need day-care centers but might have lunch stations. The parents could use these lunch stations as they wished."

"One of my real concerns is that such a program be really responsive to what parents wish, and when you put it on a city-wide basis it gets less and less responsive to the demands of the parents."

"If in local neighborhoods they can organize, run, and establish the fees in the precise ways that they want, this might really give a feeling of satisfaction for people who run it the way they wish. This would relieve the local needs, and that has been one of our concerns."

In the past Newton elementary school children have had two sessions on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and morning sessions only on Tuesday and Thursday.

Political Highlights

Sargent now wields the power and controls the patronage in the Republican party in Massachusetts. He will be the boss at next year's Republican State Convention. Any move to nominate somebody else for Governor would get nowhere.

In the highly improbable turn of events that Sargent decides he does not want to run for Governor, Sumner Whittier could not be nominated in his place because he could not meet the residency requirements. Under the Massachusetts Constitution, Governors must reside in the State for seven years immediately preceding their election. Sumner Whittier has lived in other States for a number of years. That's one rumor you can scratch.

A surprising development on Beacon Hill was the disclosure that House Speaker David M. Bartley of Holyoke intends to remain neutral in the fight next year for the Democratic State Convention's endorsement for Governor.

Even more startling was Bartley's statement that he had discussed the matter with State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, also of Holyoke, and that Donahue agrees with him that he should maintain a hands-off position at the conclave.

As House Speaker, Bartley presumably will preside over the 1970 Democratic State Convention as its chairman.

Bartley is a protege of Donahue. The two are from the same city and are close personal and political friends.

Beacon Hill observers had anticipated that Bartley would be neutral publicly but that privately he would line up as much support as possible for Donahue.

He apparently has no such intention because he says he not only will maintain a hands-off attitude himself but will also ask his top lieutenants in the House to do the same.

It is much too early to offer any opinion as to how Bartley's decision will affect the fight Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Boston Mayor Kevin H. White will wage for the gubernatorial nod of the Democratic Convention.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell both are counted as prospective candidates for Governor, but neither is considered to have any real chance of emerging a victor from the convention.

Political writers, in making their appraisals of the potential convention strength of the Democratic candidates for Governor, had rated Donahue a favorite and White a very formidable challenger on the basis of the power wielded by Donahue and Bartley in the Legislature and White's position as Mayor of the State's largest city.

Donahue, who served in the House for four years before moving over to the Senate, has friendships and ties of his own in both branches of the Legislature.

White, while Secretary of State, also made contacts with Democratic groups and committees in every city and town in the Commonwealth.

Bellotti and O'Donnell would not have the convention strength to stand up in that kind of battle.

One columnist reported recently that Bellotti may do law work for the Kennedy family next year and may be too busy to run for Governor.

Bellotti has a very busy and lucrative law practice and undoubtedly earns more money as a lawyer than he would make as Governor.

Whether an increase in his legal work would influence him not to run for the Governorship is a question. His big strength would be in a primary, not at a convention, and the same thing is true of O'Donnell.

From the statements by Bartley it is evident that a serious attempt will be made next year to prevent a primary fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor. How successful it will be is something only time will determine.

Cardinal-To-Be A Classmate In Long-Ago Schoolboy Days

Back in the happy, long-ago days of the mid-1920's a black-haired, studious, serious-minded boy sat at the next desk in a Boston Latin-School classroom.

John Wright wasn't on the football or baseball team, but he won just about all the declamation honors which were open to the members of the Latin School Class of 1927.

He was a friendly boy from Hyde Park, but somehow the other students didn't call him Jack or Johnny. He was always John Wright.

On a February afternoon in 1928 we received a call from Edward J. Dunn, the late, great city editor of the Boston Post.

John Wright had been working as night office boy at the Post, but he wanted to devote all his time to his studies at Boston College. We could have the job, he said.

So on Lincoln's Birthday in 1928 we succeeded John Wright as night office boy at the Post at a salary of $10 a week and began a newspaper career while a college student.

John Wright went on to become a priest and an outstanding scholar in the Catholic Church, and even as a young churchman it seemed he was destined for greatness.

Now he will soon get his red hat, be elevated to the rank of Cardinal and be given an important assignment at the Vatican.

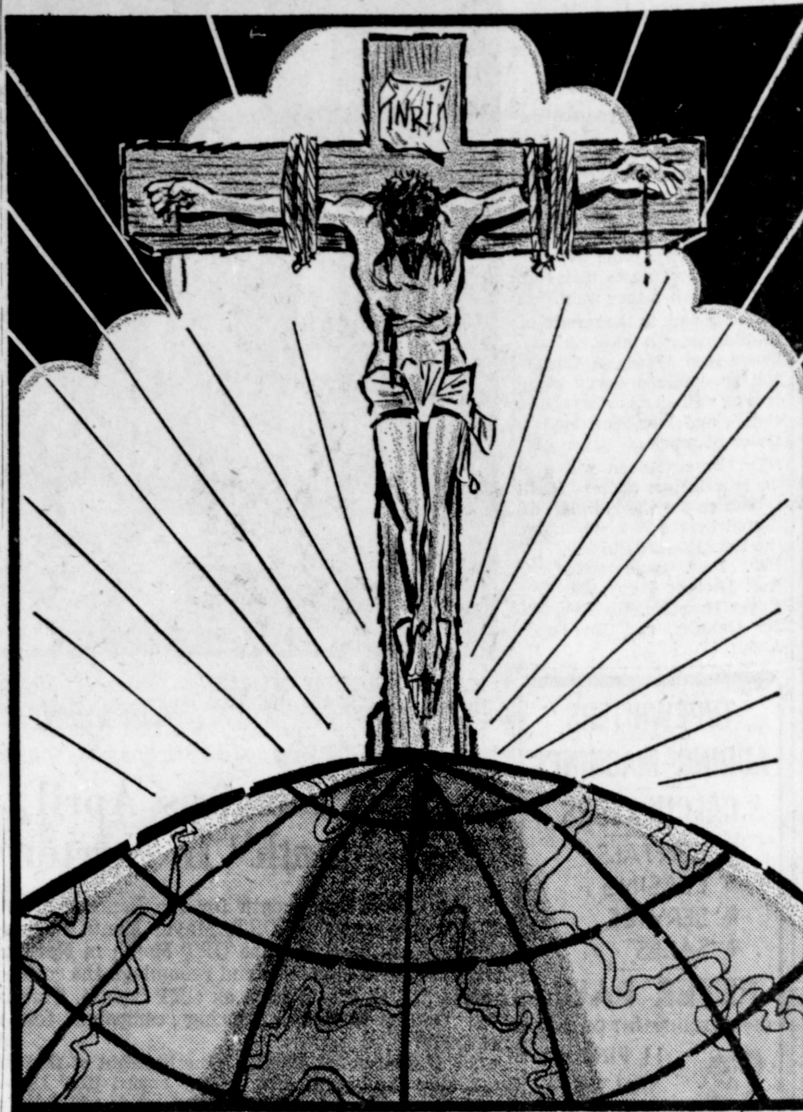

And those who shared schoolboy hours with John Wright in the mid-1920's and later watched his rise in the Catholic Church can savor a feeling of pride at his magnificent accomplishment as a man of God.

Hippies and Draft-Dodgers Would Call Ike A "Square"

Whether Dwight D. Eisenhower was a great President is a question history will answer. A lot of political pundits believe he wasn't.

He certainly was a popular president and a comfortable one who created confidence that everything

Man In The News

The appointment of and fascinating one - one in Malcolm Peabody as Deputy which he retains deep interest. "It's a very mixed bag," he said, "and you cannot treat it as a single unit except for national issues like Vietnam."

"Newton and Lincoln are well-off suburbs," he continued. "Shirley and Bolton are farming communities. Newton is part of the twentieth century. Legminster and Fitchburg were thriving town in the 1800's, and are living now in a state of suspended animation. To the communities of the western part of the state, the main issue is to get into the economic mainstream of today. They need roads more than anything else."

Peabody recalls that during the campaign sentiment swung vis a vis the Vietnam war. About a year ago in April, disengagement was the byword in the district; by September, largely as a result of delayed peace negotiations, attitudes had hardened and were distinctly more "hawkish." In general, Peabody found Republicans more "hawkish." So were older people, while younger ones tended to be "dovish."

Mike finds the Third Congressional District a strange was going to be all right while he was running things.

Ike also was a great general and a great patriot in the old fashioned sense. Some members of the younger generation would refer to him as a square.

He was the last candidate for President to campaign by train, and we rode his train with him up and down and across New England during the autumn of 1952. In 1956, when he was standing for reelection, the airplane had supplanted the train, and it wasn't quite the same.

It was obvious from the crowds which came out to see him, hail him and acclaim him during that 1952 campaign that Mr. Eisenhower would crush Adlai Stevenson in the election.

Ike was a hero, not an ordinary political candidate, and Adlai Stevenson had the misfortune to oppose him in his two tremendous runs for the Presidency when no one could have defeated him.

He visited Boston late in 1945 a few months after the end of World War II.

The then General Eisenhower was feted by the city at an official dinner hosted by the then Mayor John E. Kerrigan, now a City Councillor.

In his speech at the dinner Ike remarked that as the general of the armies he got a special thrill from the fact that his official host, Mayor Kerrigan, had been a sergeant in the army during the war.

A forthright man, General Eisenhower didn't always understand the ways of the politicians, and he didn't always follow the counsel of his political advisors.

When he defeated Senator Robert Taft for the Republican Presidential nomination at the GOP national convention in Chicago in July, 1952, Ike disagreed with his aides who told him that as the winner he should wait for Taft to come to him to offer his congratulations.

Mr. Eisenhower didn't see that. It wasn't the way he did things. He went in typical fashion up to Taft's hotel suite. The two men talked privately, and much of the bitterness which had been created by political figures such as Henry Cabot Lodge, Thomas Dewey and Everett Dirksen was wiped out.

That was one of the reasons some of Taft's top Massachusetts supporters, among them the late Basil Brewer, the New Bedford newspaper publisher, backed Eisenhower in the subsequent campaign but opposed Lodge who was standing for reelection and was defeated by the late John F. Kennedy.

MALCOLM PEABODY

Washington will be in the area of equal opportunity, enforcing the 1968 housing act and insuring fair housing. He hopes also to be involved in policy on low-to-moderate income housing.

"There are a small but growing number of Republicans concerned with race relations and urban development," he states. "We have this advantage: we can come at the problem in a new way, a nonpaternalistic way. I think Nixon's concern will evidence itself in a new manner - for example, the direct funding of black businesses and housing, funding quite similar to the G.I. Bill of Rights."

Peabody himself has outlined such an approach in a pithy paper entitled "A Change of Approach to Solving Social Problems." Peabody comes down strongly for what he calls "funding the people." The direct grant, he argues, eliminates massive bureaucracies, permits greater variety and flexibility in individual choice, and gives greater dignity to the individual.

He will bring to his HUD responsibilities a fairly unique eight-year experience in the field of race relations. Mike joined Nelson Rockefeller's administration in New York State in 1958, having determined on a career in public service after experimenting with business. He was named chief staff officer of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination. He worked under Elmer Carter, whom he describes as "an extraordinary Negro."

His experience with the discrimination commission, Peabody says, "changed the direction of my life. I became more firmly committed to the career in public service and became deeply concerned about race relations. It was an obvious area where I could make a contribution."

After New York, Mike worked as chairman of the Governors' Advisory Committee on Civil Rights in Massachusetts (1963-64), with the Special Commission on Low Income Housing (1964-65), with the Boston Redevelopment Authority's Housing (1962-65) and with the Interfaith Housing Corporation, Boston, (1966-68).

Anyone who has seen Peabody in action at a biracial event called "Confrontation on Racial Equality" can testify to his skill as a communicator with the black community. These conga covered one-fifth the frontations are planned by the Meeting Next Week About Hospital

Representatives of the 54 Middlesex County communities are scheduled to meet with Mayor Monte G. Basbas of Newton in regard to legislation which would allow the state to take over operation of the Waltham Hospital (formerly called the Middlesex County Tuberculosis Hospital.)

The meeting is set for next Tuesday, April 8.

One of the prime reasons Basbas seeks to have the state take over the hospital is because there was a 183 percent jump in the 1968 Newton assessment for the institution.

The Mayor's stand was backed in a resolution passed unanimously by the Board of Aldermen. The resolution was introduced and approved after the Mayor sent the Aldermen a memorandum of certain facts he found out about the hospital.

The memo included such information as the 3-1 ratio on one day of employees to patients and the adding in 1967 of 31 positions over the previous year.

Not included in the memo, the Mayor told the Board, was such information as hiring of five security guards to "protect one patient." Basbas also said these security guards were not requested by the hospital administration. He said he got the information as the result of an investigation.

The resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen said the hospital "has more than twice as many employees as the Norfolk County Hospital for almost the same number of patients," and that "there are reasonable grounds to believe the operation of this facility by the county is a highly uneconomical and totally unnecessary operation."

It asks that "the administration of the hospital should be investigated on behalf of the cities and towns which must support it and that the method of levying the deficit assessment may be improper and illegal."

Area Lawmakers Argue in Vain

Reps. Irving Fishman (D-Newton) and Gilbert Cox (R-Needham) formed a non-partisan front recently in arguing to increase the tax exempt land valuation for the elderly from $20,000 to $30,000.

Despite their arguments, the measure failed of passage.

Fishman said the income and buying power of the elderly had been decreased by inflation while the value of their property has increased.

Fishman offered to submit an amendment to limit the increase in exempt valuation to $25,000.

Cox argued that a person who owns property in a community that does not employ 100 per cent valuation gets the abatement, but property owner in a community with 100 per cent valuation does not.

The prevailing argument, however, was that of Rep. Rep. James A. O'Brien Jr. (D-Fall River), chairman of the House Taxation Committee.

He said now was no time to decrease the tax base when many communities face financial crises.

O'Brien recalled that the exemption was raised from $14,000 to $20,000 two years ago to cover persons whose valuations had been reassessed.

Episcopal Archdiocese and have taken place in 18 Massachusetts Communities. Peabody frequently serves as moderator. Participants include representatives of all segments of Negro thought, including the Black Panthers. To most of the Panthers, who attend at Peabody's invitation, he is the only white man present they can trust completely.

Mike himself is strongly sympathetic to the separatist tendencies evidenced in black society. The Kerner Report, he believes, did not fully appreciate the meaning in the Negro community of black power.

"Separatism is an absolutely essential step in black self-development," Peabody states. "Negroes are demanding a different kind of relation - an equal relation - with whites. After a period of separatism, when the Negroes are a self-sufficient community, the attitude will change. Top priority goes to better jobs for Negroes. Peabody believes, with better housing running an extremely close second. Through his work with HUD, he may be influential in making the latter a reality."

Rate-

The 5 per cent raise suggested by Mayor Basbas would cost $535,000 or $1.60 on the tax rate.

"He must be kidding," declared a spokesman for one employee group who asserted that the city workers he represents will not settle for a 5 per cent wage hike.

Basbas is allowing $3.85 in Newton's 1969 tax rate to cover an anticipated drop in State revenue under Sargent's plan.

That amount in the tax rate, however, would jump to $7.50 if the Governor's tax program is rejected in its entirety.

The Mayor said he is confident that the Governor's tax program will be adopted by the Legislature exactly as proposed by Mr. Sargent.

Veteran law-makers, however, assert that this may happen but that they doubt it.

Mayor Basbas is anticipating that between $3 and $4. million worth of new taxable property will be placed on Newton's assessment rolls this year.

Each $4 million worth of new valuation cuts $1 from the city's tax rate.

Mayor Basbas went to virtually heroic lengths to prevent Newton's tax rate from climbing over the $100 mark this year for the first time in the city's history.

But experts on municipal finance are agreed that the Mayor has made a losing fight and that there now is no way a rate of more than $100 can be avoided.

In this year's budget $20,802,808.68 is provided for the operation of the city govern-

Money raised is for free care and treatment of more than 165 children afflicted with intractable asthma at the Denver hospital.

Menace-

(Continued from Page 1) that can be done is to teach children both in school and at home that public restrooms are provided as a public service.

That wanton destruction and abuse of facilities are not only a financial loss to the management but deprives other people of the use of these facilities.

Good public health, as well as personal health practices, dictates cleansing the hands after the use of these facilities.

All restrooms should provide conveniently located handwashing facilities, including hot and cold running water, soap, and individual sanitary towels or a well-maintained mechanical hand drying device.

In the interest of good public health, the health officials implore the general public that whenever dirty or improperly maintained restrooms are encountered, the conditions be brought to the attention of local health departments so that prompt action can be taken.

Never undertake any job with the intention of giving it less than your best effort.

GOP Club Sets Meeting Date For April 10th

The Newton Republican Club's Executive Committee will meet Thursday evening, April 10, at the home of its President, Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr.

The meeting will hear the final reports by the Club's Treasurer, Ed Ehrenberg, and various Committee Chairmen on the recent successful dinner which attracted eight hundred and drew national attention.

The agenda, Medaglia noted, also includes arrangements for the Club's Annual Spring Event and Election to take place in May.

Announcement was made by Medaglia of the appointment of Donald P. Quinn as Administrative Vice President of the Newton Republican Club. Quinn is a practicing attorney and has been active in the Club's affairs for several years.

Do you realize what the new baby will do to our budget?

As much as you're looking forward to the new baby, you realize that he is going to cost a lot of money.

Hospital costs, doctor's bills, new clothing. That's just the beginning, too.

If you find that your budget is going to be strained to the breaking point, we suggest you stop in at any of the 20 branch offices of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company and inquire about a Personal Loan.

Almost everyone has to borrow money at one time or another. If it's your turn to seek extra cash, come in to any of our offices in Natick, Newton, Waltham, Wayland or Weston and discuss your Personal Loan needs.

Stop in soon. We'll consider it a pleasure to welcome you.

Lutheran Holy Week Services

Maundy Thursday will be celebrated at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons at 8:00 p.m. tonight (Apr. 3). Pastor Robert L. Griesse will conduct worship and distribute Holy Communion.

At 8:00 a.m. tomorrow (Good Friday) the young people of the church will gather for a service of Holy Communion and the breakfast that follows.

At 12:00 noon the six churches of Newton Centre will participate in a three hour worship service at Trinity Episcopal Church, 1097 Centre Street, Newton Centre, remembering the day of our Lord's death. Members are invited to enter the service whenever it is convenient and leave when they must. The service is from 12 to 3 p.m.

At the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, the Good Friday service will begin at 8:00 p.m. The choir will present a sacred cantata based on the seven last words of Christ, by Dubois.

The schedule for Easter will include a sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. at Gethsemane Lutheran Cemetery on Baker St., off VFW Parkway in West Roxbury. The Rev. Theodore Johns of Stoughton will be the preacher and a brass quartet will present special music. Two festival services will be celebrated at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons on Easter Sunday. The Easter Communion service will be held at 9:00 a.m. The major choir presentations will take place at the Easter Festival service at 10:30 a.m. The sermon theme chosen by Pastor Griesse is "Another Life."

Generation Gap Tea Talk Topic

Russell F. Carpenter, secretary of Smith College will talk on ways to bridge the generation gap Monday, April 7, at the Spring Tea of the Boston League of Smith College Clubs in the Skyline Room of the Boston Museum of Science.

In his talk titled, "Communication Is My Bag," Carpenter will tell of his experiences in dealing with Smith students, administration, faculty and trustees.

He will also give some of his views about the reasons of the lack of understanding between the generations.

Mrs. Rawson R. Cowen and Mrs. Philip Ver Planck, both of Waban, will serve as hostesses at the tea.

FUTURE BRIDE—Miss Susan Sher, whose engagement to Frank F. Marmorek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric S. Marmorek of Newton, has been made known by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney S. Sher of Medford and Hull. A July wedding is planned.

MRS. JOSEPH R. VALLE

Miss Durbin - Mr. Valle Married At Local Church

At a recent 8 o'clock evening ceremony in the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, Miss Joan Durbin became the bride of Joseph Robert Valle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Applebee Durbin of 161 Pine Ridge road, Waban, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter John Valle of Quincy are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Joseph Garrity of St. Bridget's Parish, Abington, officiated, while the Rev. Boyd M. Johnson Jr., of the Union Church in Waban assisted. A reception was held at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of Swiss embroidered organdy. The empire bodice was caught with a blue satin sash and designed with long sleeves made with ruffled cuffs to match the hemline of her skirt.

Her bonnet and full length veil was made of the same material. She carried a basket of valley lilies with baby's breath.

Miss Janet Durbin of Brookline, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in an empire gown made of yellow chiffon. She carried a basket of blue, yellow and white daisies.

Identically costumed and carrying basket of yellow and white daisies, the bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Rice and Miss Elizabeth Nickerson, both of Waban, Miss Joan DeFelice of Newton Highlands and Miss Madeline Colgrove of Boston.

John P. Valle of Quincy served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Robert Libertine, Charles Peterson, Garry Merrill and Eugene Nattie, all of Quincy, as well as Richard A. Whiting of Lexington, Kentucky and William A. Durbin Jr., of Waban, brother of the bride.

Mr. Valle and his bride will live in Winchendon.

Vermont Academy and Boston College.

State-wide Report On Single Sessions Schools To Be Made

The Committee for Educational Priorities has just completed a statewide survey of single-session elementary school systems in Massachusetts and will be presenting the results to the Newton School Committee this week.

This Priorities Committee was formed by parents for each of the elementary schools in Newton and has been addressing itself to the importance of the need to place an order of values on the spending of Newton School tax dollars.

In view of the unquestionable priority of educational programs which have been eliminated, set aside, or yet to be proposed as a direct result of the serious financial crises which have beset the city tax budget for the past several years, this parent group strongly feels that the installation of a lunch program at this time will be a serious setback to education in the Newton Schools. "The burden for any such program will in all reality," they feel, "again fall into the lap of the educators in the schools - the teachers, principals, and administrators - and money and aides along will not erase their responsibility."

The state survey presents a comprehensive picture of a clear-cut need for such in-school lunch programs in the vast majority of Massachusetts elementary schools. The figures showing the amount of children bussed in Massachusetts leaves no choice to administrators in those schools. Approximately 70 percent of these systems have anywhere from 50 percent to 100 percent of their elementary student body bussed to their schools.

Detailed information provided to their schools showed also that out of the 102 systems responding to the survey (out of 160 elementary school systems in the State), Newton. The schools have ONLY nine systems have always responded to the needs of their children in the past, and we are confident that the administrators of the Newton schools will again be able to meet such needs on a school to school basis."

The steering of the Committee on Priorities is composed of: Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wengarten, Mrs. R. J. Junda and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Selenkow, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kiley, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoffman, Mrs. B. K. Corhan, Mr. and Mrs. William Simons, Mrs. Harold Polan, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Rubin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Costa, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carleo, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. David Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. John Webber, Mr. and Mrs. Kay Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ulin, Mr. and Mrs. Champe Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Mark M. Warshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kellner, Dr. and Mrs. John Reichard, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Levv and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wilson.

The survey also showed that approximately one-third of these systems have a varied, daily time schedule for different grades, i.e., grades 1-2, 2-4, 4-6 each starting and ending at different hours and, in a few cases at different hours on different days. Uniformity is the exception rather than the rule in school scheduling. Some communities set aside a semester for specialized work in the schools, thereby varying their schedules in an "unscheduled" manner.

In a related study an interesting parallel between the large cities of the Commonwealth was presented. Of the eleven largest cities in the state (with a population of over 75,000) only two had single-session schools - Boston and Lowell. All others - Worcester, Springfield, Cambridge, New Bedford, Lynn, Somerville, Newton and Quincy - share a common experience: two-session elementary schools. The smaller the communities become, the larger the percentage of single session schools.

The Committee recognizes "a positive, genuine need does exist for some form of lunch in school for certain students in the elementary grades in Newton. The schools have

May We Help You?
Horticulturally speaking of course!
Last Fall we concluded the season with an abundance of rainfall... but then passed through one of our most disastrous winters in memory.
Excessively cold weather without benefit of snow cover, then snow, snow and more snow... breakage of plant materials!... Yes, but this may have been a blessing in disguise, in the reduction of last season's Winter Burn and Killing.
May we help you? Our staff of Horticultural and Landscaping Experts will be pleased to help you in answering your questions and help you plan your grounds for today's living enjoyment, "Family Landscape Planning."

Improvement Assoc. Raps Code Enforcement Prog'm

The Code Enforcement program in the Newton Upper Falls area came under attack last week by the Upper Falls Improvement Ass'n.

At a meeting of the Association last Wednesday, Robert Young presented a report critical of the delays in remedying several of the most objectionable defects in both houses and streets.

The Association claimed that the owner of two homes on one street was given a year to renovate the properties in a package deal for which he got a three percent loan. The Association claim the houses remain in deplorable condition.

In contrast, the Association pointed out, people living in their own homes have been given only 30 days to correct housing defects.

The Association claimed that Rockland Place, which runs onto Route 9 from High St., was going to be widened and refurbished, but that later residents were told nothing was going to be done about it.

Landowners on the street now plan to go to city hall because they are concerned about the way the problem is going to be handled.

A committee presented the Association's problem to Ward 5 Ald. Edward C. Uehlein who assured them that he will personally inspect their area and promptly report his recommendations to the city administration.

Committee members told Uehlein that with the program in its second year, neighborhood conditions of concern to the community had not been rectified.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

Garlic - you either love it or loathe it! In many parts of Asia today, garlic is used to ward off the evil eye. In Transylvania, Romania, a garlic bulb over the door keeps the vampires away. There are different members of the garlic family: The garlic bulb itself may be pressed, minced, mashed, sliced or simply cut in half to release its potency. Garlic powder - very potent! Releases its flavor immediately in hot or cold dishes. Garlic salt - less potent; 1/2 teaspoon equals a garlic clove. Instant minced garlic: works best in hot mixtures. You can be sure that garlic adds distinction as well as flavor to your favorite dishes.

You will get distinction and flavor and your favorite food when you dine at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Roast Prime Ribs of Beef that makes your mouth water. Steaks, chops and seafood are our specialties. Enjoy your Easter holiday with a lovely, delicious, and relaxing dinner at THE HIGHLANDS. Phone for reservations.

HELPFUL HINT: Try baking your meat loaf in muffin pans. It bakes quicker, looks better.

Evening School Art Work Shown

An excellent group of paintings from the Newton Adult Education Evening School Art Class is on exhibit this week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner.

The display by adult education students is somewhat condensed this year because of snow-caused class cancellations and the resulting communication gap among teachers and students at the end of the semester when paintings are usually gathered up for the annual Main Library show. This year's exhibit has been coordinated by teacher Mrs. Mildred Kingsbury with the assistance of Mrs. Thelma M. LaGasse.

The four teachers whose students are participating are Mrs. Kingsbury, a B.U. graduate and former Art Consultant in the Wayland Public Schools; Mr. Donald Smith, a teacher at North Jr. High in Waltham who is a Mass. College of Art graduate; Mr. Ronald Prevost (Museum School and Mass. College of Art), well-known local artist who specializes in a calligraphic approach and is a teacher at Newton High School; and Miss Wendy Adams Belle, a young Englishwoman who studied at Southern College of Art, Portsmouth, England, and at Slade School, University College, London.

Students who are participating in this year's display are Susan Leary, Polly Maier, Gertrude Konetzny, Peg Delaney, Marie Kenney, Susanne Kaach, Dorothy McDonald, Freda Hennessey, Angela Nicoletti, Mildred Dardis, Anita Kupferman, Jean Patterson, Gertrude Gardner, Frances Gordon, Ethel Walsh, Dr. William G. Ulrich, Walter Wise, Marcel Sammut, Beth Alexander, Herbert Hoffman, Margaret Driscoll, Hermine Sammut, Mary Penn, Jessie Dansker, Mary Rostango, Nelida Herrera, Sara Brown, Mimulta Millard, Paul Perrunzi, Thelma LaGasse, Linda Moore, Mary Bates and Fannie Ostrov.

The artists are reminded to pick up their paintings at the Main Library at the conclusion of the show on April 4.

Newton Senior Citizens' News

The Newton Senior Citizens have accepted the task of preparing a statement on the survey findings. The luncheon which has been successful the past two years is scheduled for Wednesday, May 14th at the United Methodist Church Newtonville — 12:30 p.m. The delicious menu will include: Beef steak pie, mashed potatoes, peas, carrots, bread, tea or coffee, and apple pan dowdy. Mayor Monte G. Basbas has again been asked to serve as the "Headwaiter" for the program. The Retired Men's Glee Club is scheduled to entertain and the popular Alice Barry will lead the group in a song fest. Mr. Jim Callahan will coordinate ticket arrangements with Mr. Samuel Crocetti; Mrs. Isabelle Coleman is in charge of decorations; Mr. Earl Alban — waiters and waitresses; Transportation —

Sinai Hospital Donor Luncheon Set For May 12

Mrs. Max Ginns has been named general chairman of the New England Sinai Hospital's 42nd annual donor luncheon to be held Monday, May 12 at the Statler Hilton.

Mrs. Charles Feeley; and Program — Mrs. Florence Tankevich.

The next meeting of the Newton Senior Citizens Committee is scheduled for Wednesday, April 16th, 10:00 a.m. at the Newton Community Center 429 Cherry Street in West Newton.

Hotel. The 5000-member Women's Auxiliary, with branches in Newton and Brookline in addition to most other Metropolitan communities, will use the event's proceeds to equip the new facility for chronically ill now located in Jamaica Plain.

Mrs. Ginns, who resides in Brookline, is also treasurer of New England Sinai Hospital.

Fund-raising efforts of the Auxiliary are being sparked this year by plans currently under consideration to build a completely new building at a cost of $1.5 million.

TENNIS ANYONE? — The Newton South baseball team had to move to the tennis courts in order to get in outdoor spring practice because the baseball diamond was still too wet and muddy to use. Senior Bob Isenberg hits a sharp ground ball down the baseline to make the score 30-love. The team had a 10-8 season last year. They hope to do as well this year. — Photo by Roger Belson

The first man to receive the Medal of Honor was Army Colonel Bernard J. D. Irwin, for heroism against the Indians in what is now Arizona. Although he performed the feat in 1861, he did not receive the Medal until 1894.

New Man At South's Helm As Ball Practice Starts

The 1969 Newton South baseball team has a new man at the helm this year. Neil McPhee, a recent Northeastern University graduate, who spent a few seasons with a Minnesota Twins farm club, is the new coach, succeeding Paul Linscott.

Although the boss is new to these parts, he'll have plenty of old faces to work with. Last year's squad was 10-8, yet much better things were expected, especially after the Lions went 9-2 through the first 11 games. Though many starters were lost by graduation, Coach McPhee will still have the nucleus of a strong team.

South's strong point seems to be the pitching staff. Fireballing seniors Jimmy Gamble and Frank Hurvitz are the returning 1968 workhorses. Both Gamble, a southpaw, and Hurvitz, who throws from the right side, are strikeout artists, and will be the keys to the Lions' fortunes this spring. Lefty Paul Selby and righty Steve Stockman, both juniors, will be the back-up men. Senior Thurston Tartar will be a reliever.

Behind the plate South will have two-year starter Ken Stuart, who can play any position on the field. Stuart has an exceptional arm and it is very difficult to steal on him. Barry Cain will most likely be his back-up.

The firstbase job is open, vacated by Dave Roberts, but last year's JV starter Bob Eisenberg, a power hitter in Roberts' mold, has the inside track. Hurvitz will be the secondbaseman when he is not on the mound. He batted .344 his sophomore year to lead the team, but slumped at the plate last season. Hopefully he will return to fulfill his early potential. Leo Costa will find a place somewhere in the infield and it will probably be second base when Hurvitz pitches.

Senior John Lopez, a slick fielder, will play shortstop for the 69 Lions. However, he broke his finger at the tail end of the basketball season and may not be ready by the season's opener, April 10.

Versatile athlete Tom Rezzuti is the third baseman, returning for his third season with a .280 batting average. Opening day, however, may find Rezzuti at short and Costa at third if Lopez is not ready.

Hard-hitting junior Leftfielder Lou Miller is a second year starter back at his position. The other two spots are wide open. Sophomores Clem Virgilio and Rich Lerner have been impressive, though Stuart may give up his catcher's job to move to the outfield. Tartar, too, may be a part-time outfielder.

Coach McPhee's task between now and April 10 will be to find out where everybody plays the best, and mold this unit into a winner.

A little juggling of personnel and a little more shoring up of weak spots could provide the Lions with a team in the state

Conservation Is Theme For Waban Women's Club

"Conservation is Common Sense" is the theme of the Spring program by the Waban Women's Club to be held at 2 p.m. Monday, April 7, at the Waban Neighborhood Clubhouse. James Baird of the Mass. Audubon Society will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Baird is Special Assistant to Mr. Allen H. Morgan, Executive Vice President of the Society's "Records of New England Birds." Previously he was a director of the "Norman Bird Sanctuary" in Middletown, R.I., and served as Consultant with the Mass. Dept. of Natural Resources in their 1960-1961 Survey of the Sudbury Valley Wetlands. He is the originator of the now nationwide "Operation Recovery," the cooperative bird-banding project. He will bring slides illustrating his subject with many beautiful pictures and is well qualified to answer members' questions.

Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams will preside at the business meeting beforehand and the decorations for the afternoon will be arranged by Mrs. W. Grant Cutter. Mrs. Kenneth W. Rogers, the Social Chairman will be the tea hostess and the pourers assisting her are Mrs. John T. Croghan, Mrs. George P. Knapp, and Mrs. D. Barnard Perkins.

An informal discussion will take place on Wednesday, April 16, at 10 a.m. at 69 Moffat road. The programs will consider "Early Waban" and its history and interested club members wishing to participate will be welcome and should contact Mrs. Joseph V. Morog, Chairman of the American Home & Heritage Committee.

The Literature and Drama Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. George P. Knapp and Mrs. Robert Brandt Co-chairman, report that on Tuesday, April 29, at 10 a.m. at 7 Dorset road, Waban there will be an informal reading of members' writings and works. Interested members expecting to attend should inform the chairmen.

It is anticipated that the Art Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Robert W. Ficken, will visit The De Cor

Spring Classes For Adults Due To Open at 'Y'

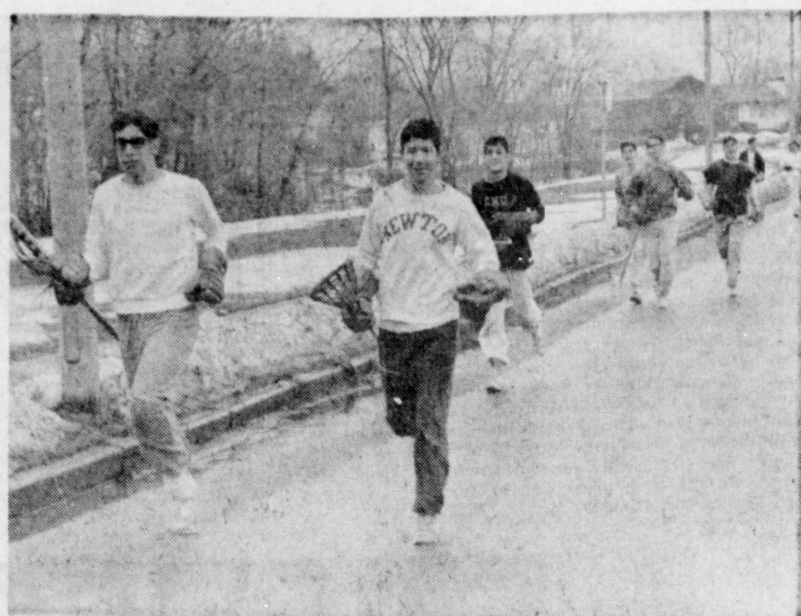

The Spring Term of Classes for adults at the Newton Y. M. C. A. will offer you the opportunity to improve and enrich your everyday activities by taking any of the interesting courses beginning the week of April 14th.

A sampling of classes which will insure better social evenings this summer are Contract Bridge, Folk Guitar and Ballroom Dancing. Drawing or Painting classes will encourage and amaze the timid amateur. A class designed to help one get in shape as well as develop a healthy attitude is Yoga which is good for both men and women.

Then there are a few classes especially of interest to women such as Gourmet Cooking, Slim Jane and Dressmaking, as well as Flower Arranging which will give you a chance to use your summer garden flowers to their best advantage.

Registrations are now being accepted for these classes which will begin during the week of April 14th with the exception of the Ballroom Dance class which begins on the Friday evening previous.

Information concerning these and other classes being offered at the "Y" may be had by calling the Adult Division 244-6050, daytime.

GETTING IN SHAPE — Members of Newton South's lacrosse team begin their spring training by running to get their legs in shape for the demands of the game. Lions Spring Sports Teams Start Action

Newton South High's five spring sports teams spring into action beginning next week.

The Lacrosse squad leads the charge, facing off against Rivers on April 8, on the road, for the first of its 11 games.

Baseball opens next on April 10 at Rindge Tech in the first of its 16 Suburban League encounters.

On April 16 the Lion tennis team takes its first step towards defending its state title with an invasion of Weymouth.

The track team faces Brookline in its first meet on April 23, while golf starts its season last on April 28 versus Newton High.

The Badge of Military Merit (now the Purple Heart) was established by General George Washington on August 7, 1782. It is our country's oldest military decoration.

Newton High School Track Team Seeks Class A Title

Last year the Newton High School Track Team finished third in Ken Yanco. Thanksgiving Day the Class Meet, only a point hero Joe Diseglio will run and a half behind Weymouth, either the 100 or 220 if he comes out. In these six sprinters for Newton in recent years, Coach Lem Boyle has plenty but still there was a feeling of speed.

The middle distances have strong liners and could be another Newton ace if back up men are found. Captain Barry Harsip mans the 440 very capably while Carl Anderson appears to be number one in the 880. Other possibilities for these positions are Steve Scrimshaw and Tom Best in the 440 and 880 respectively.

Again, the Tigers will be strong in the mile. Last year senior Jeff Hyman came out of nowhere to take fourth in the Class A Meet and this year Doug Tomb moves up as the premier miler. Tomb ran a 4:36.5 indoors this winter and could better Hyman's best of 4:33.8 Ed Reilly, who ran a creditable 4:45 this winter will also run the mile.

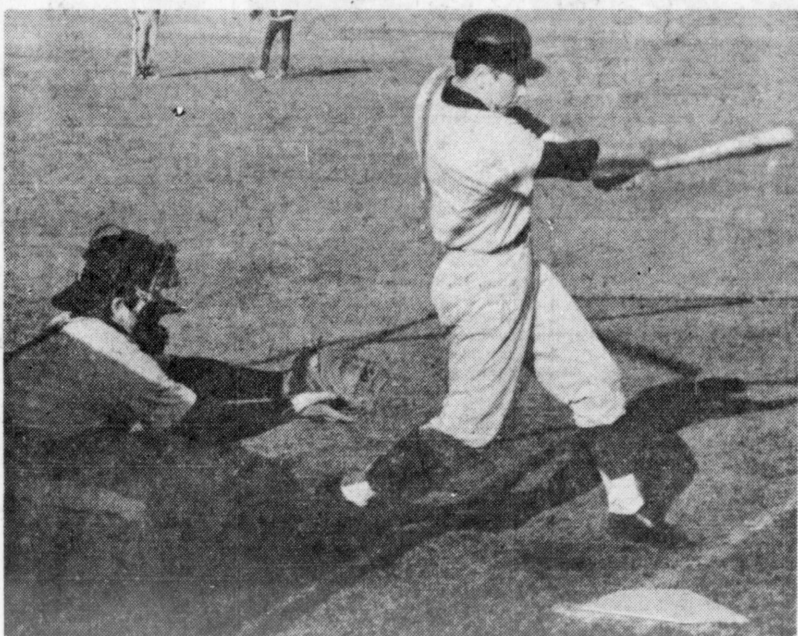

The 2-mile is a toss up. Juniors John Bowles, Mike O'Brien and Jeff Grossman, sophomore Jay Sidman and senior Harris Gaffin all stand a chance of being the top two miler.

The field events are potentially very powerful. The pole vault has experience in juniors Mark McLaughlin, Warren Lomax and Mark Lenson. The long jump is also set with senior Don McMillan (who jumped 19' 11" last year) and Diseglio, again, if he comes out. (he placed second in the State Meet last year.)

The shot-put and discus are well manned. Bill Melanson, Paul Gorfine and Dennis Hannigan are set to throw the shot while Captain Harsip, Jay Wilton and Marc Simon will hurl the disc.

The javelin is unsafe at the moment with only Rick Mason having had experience. Finally, the hurdles appear to hold points for the Tigers. Senior Bill Clarke does well in his specialty, the low hurdles, and senior Clayton Austin and Dan Birdwell are experienced in the low hurdles.

So, Newton High Track, which has been on the upsurge for the last few years should continue to do so this spring.

FOR CONSIDERATION

- A school day of approximately 8:30 – 2:00 p.m. daily
- In school lunch of ½ hour daily.
- Lunchroom Attendants—No teacher involvement as per current contract.
- Bag Lunch from home.
- No additional facilities required.
- Consistent school hours – no need for winter emergency scheduling.
- Large majority of parents favor as proven by numerous polls and petitions
- $100,000 pilot program in 1967 evaluated favorably.
- 75 per cent of elementary school children now enrolled in “interim” optional lunch program.
- Costs of mandatory program to be paid from School Committee budget as appropriated.

School Liaisons Named To PTA Conference April 17

A representative from each public school in Newton has been named as liaison to the PTA Spring Conference Committee. The conference, to be held Thursday, April 17, at Newton High will have for its theme: "Building Schools: Why? Where? When? How?"

The panel will include architects Walter Hill and Earl R. Flansburg, Newton Finance Director Arthur A. Marr Jr., and Newton Planning Director James A. Miller. Dr. Gilbert H. Friedell, chairman of the PTA Council Building Committee will be moderator.

The purpose of the liaison group is to act as direct contacts between the Committee and the schools, encouraging the individual PTA board members, parents, principal and teachers to attend, taking charge of the individual school reservations and seating, and serving as hosts and hostesses.

The liaison representatives are: Norman White, Angier; Mrs. Ralph Arnoldy, Beethoven; Mrs. David Spodick, Bigelow; Mrs. Peter Morehouse, Bowen; Mrs. Kenneth Hagerstrom, Burr; Mrs. James Flaherty, Cabot; Mrs. Elise Segal, Carr; Mrs. Myron Simon, Clafin; Mrs. James Haney, Countryside; J. Peter Felopoulos, Davis.

Also, Mrs. John Webber, Day; Fredson T. Bowers, Emerson; Mrs. Dana McKenney, Franklin; George Mathis, Hamilton; Alfred Delicata, Horace Mann; William Oshlma, Hyde; Mrs. John Mulcahy, Lincoln-Eliot; Mrs. Ralph Kahr, Mason-Rice; Sidney Berkowitz, Meadowbrook; Louis Sebok, Memorial.

Also, Dr. Thomas Hayden, Newton High; Joshua Guberman, Newton South; Mrs. Coleman Bornstein, Oak Hill; Mrs. Richard Simmons, Peirce; Mrs. Jerold Wise, Spaulding; Mrs. Saul Rubin, Special Class; Mrs. Morris Halle, Underwood; Mrs. Donald Weir, Ward; Mrs. Champe Fisher, Warren; and Mrs. Norman Asher, William.

The Committee for the Spring Conference is headed by Mrs. L. Tillman McDaniel, Chairman and Mrs. Thomas B. Gerlach, Assistant Chairman. The committee includes Mrs. Charles Levy, Reservations; Mrs. Henry A. Lambert, Mailing; Silney Shuman, Dinner Arrangements; Mrs. Gerald A. Rogovin, Publicity; Nomi Henes, Treasurer; Herbert Regal, President of the Council.

Concert Artists To Entertain NV Wom.'s Club

William and Grace MacCully will present a program of songs, and comments on their composers at the regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club next Monday (April 7) at 1:30 p.m.

William MacCully is well known as a concert artist and for his many appearances in opera and oratorio throughout the country. Last season he sang with the Central City Opera Co., the Philadelphia Lyric and the Connecticut Grand Opera Companies.

He has sung and acted on Broadway, television and in several movies including "Fail Safe", and done a number of roles in summer stock. During the run of "The Music Man" he and his Quartet "The Bilmaes" did more than 400 performances of the famous "River City School Board Quartet."

Grace MacCully is well known in New York and Westchester as an accompanist, coach, piano and organ teacher and organist of the Rye Methodist Church. She has been accompanist for many singers in the East.

The coffee hour will be at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. Alfred A. Alexander, Mrs. William H. Fish and Mrs. Frederick E. Seaton pouring. Mrs. William Custer, president, will conduct the business meeting at 2 p.m. just prior to the program.

The Newtonville Woman's Club meets in the recreation hall of St. John's Episcopal Church, corner of Lowell and Otis St., Newtonville.

Warsaw Ghetto Observance At Temple Hillel

Under overall sponsorship of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston, the 11th Annual Warsaw Ghetto Observance is being planned for Sunday, April 13 at 2 p.m.

This moving tribute to the courage of the Warsaw Ghetto fighters will be held at Temple Beth Hillel, 800 Morton St., Mattapan.

This year, the committee arranging the memorial program is headed by Louis Brin, Associate Editor, Jewish Advocate; Israel Neiman, President, New Americans Association of Greater Boston; and Frederic Poras, President, Immigrant Mutual Aid Society.

Since November 1966, nearly 61,000 Army officers and enlisted men have extended their Vietnam tours of duty by six months or more. More than 10,000 of these extensions occurred during the last three months in 1968.

Letter to Dr. Laurits

Editor of The Graphic:
An Open Letter To Dr. Laurits, Acting Supt. I have just finished reading your ten-page statement of March 18th to the School Committee on the problems of an elementary school lunch program. If I did not respond, I would be abdication my responsibilities as a concerned parent.

While I would most certainly concur with you about the general malaise and the role of women in today's society, your statement concerning the fact that there have been few opportunities to discuss issues with educators needs our immediate attention. That very lack of communication over the years is a fault that has not been corrected by the Administration with any creative action on their part. That very lack of communication creates deep frustrations for parents who are told what is best for their children, but not asked to become involved in any really meaningful dialogue. (Note: As far as I am concerned, most P.T.A. organizations generally are concerned with extensive fund raising rather than promoting and sustaining any discussion of important topics in education.) There is not real involvement in questions that are basic to education . . . what are the goals of the Newton school system, both academic and social . . . and are they meeting these goals? Communication is two ways; the Newton school system is expert at a one-sided conversation. Newton is such a contradiction, because it is inflexible in so many ways, but it just delights in talking about its flexibility. The hypocrisy is clear to any intelligent questioning person. Yes, Dr. Laurits, perhaps I am one of the very ones you refer to in your statement that has "ideas that seem to lie at a deeper level than questions of lunch or working mothers." Originally, I started with the single session issues . . . and that issue alone - only to discover that Newton's inability to effect a change in school hours suggests far more serious problems at all levels. For those of us who speak out in search of answers . . . we are "rocking the boat." But, can we teach children one thing and do another. We teach children to be responsive to the needs of people and a community; then they see how totally unresponsive those in authority can be. We feel that you have disregarded the very people who support the schools with their hard-earned tax dollars and give of their time as volunteers within the schools. The great majority of parents have asked that a single session schedule (with a simple 1/2 hr. lunch) be adopted so that they may better plan their days, so that their children will not have to travel four times daily under hazardous conditions, and so that the children themselves can have more free time every day. Are they not valid requests? Your answer is "the elementary schools in Newton should be returned to the former split-session schedule, and the lunch program should be removed from the schools."

In addition, you advocate having the women organize neighborhood - day care centers to care for the children during the 1 1/2 hour lunch period. Dr. Laurits, we want a change in elementary school hours; we don't want to "board" our children at some neighborhood center (presently non-existent). You go on to quote "power should be transferred to the smallest unit consistent with the problem" and then state "to absorb 'lunch' into the large school system is to give still another area of life into the hands of government and to increase the sense of powerlessness which many people already feel." May I call to your attention that for many years the subject of changing school hours and adopting an in-school lunch has been brought up and "handled at a local level." It was handled so well that we are where we are today with seething controversy for the last three years. Your answer to the problem is in reality no answer at all.

I urge you to listen to the parents. They are asking for a change in the elementary school hours. Listen to them for they have something worthwhile to say if you, in your position of leadership, can hear them. BUT, CAN YOU REALLY?

Mrs. Martin J. Saklad
NOTE: There are many dedicated teachers and principals who are concerned and so respond. . . my letter should be interpreted on a broader scale.

Letter To Beckwith

Mr. M. Beckwith,
Chairman,
Newton School Committee,
Newton, Mass.

Dear Manny:
My attention has been drawn to a recent memorandum to the School Committee from Dr. Laurits in which he proposes that the Newton School System abolish an in-school lunch program and return to its former, archaic school schedule. Although the document is largely a rehash of ill-founded statements and non-sequiturs (except for extended quotations of authors to which I will refer below), there are a few points which merit comment.

Dr. Laurits's statement pointedly omits any reference to the many disadvantages for children in the former school schedule, with its three long days and the extended one and a half hour mid-day break to permit children to take lunch at home. No mention is made of the great many advantages for children in the uniform schedule ending at 2 p.m. with a half-hour for lunch which the United Parents advocates. These benefits include not only greater comfort and safety, particularly during the winter months, but social and academic advantages during and after regular school hours. These arguments, and the evidence in support of them, have been presented in detail in the reports presented to the School Committee and the School Administration. This glaring omission is no accident. Dr. Laurits chooses to ignore certain issues and facts, and pay attention to others which are convenient for his dogmatic conclusion.

It is convenient for him to focus on the needs of women and mothers. He acknowledges, with a pedantic flourish, that "what was good enough for grandma" in her day is no longer enough for most women today. We welcome him to the twentieth century! He also concedes, by implication, that the ancient school schedule, to which he would have us return, is inconsistent with the needs of most mothers. However, he proposes as a solution that parents in each of Newton's 23 elementary schools work out their own unique arrangements for "lunch station" or for child care centers. This reminds one, in tone, of the remark attributed to another perceptive administrator of another era: "Let them eat cake!"

His solution is bankrupt for many reasons. To begin with, it is impractical. He asks citizens, with limited resources, to organize and maintain a large scale optional program burdened by an excessively long lunch hour. Since the record of the Newton School System, with its presumably greater supply of administrative talent and resources, in mounting and operating this year's Optional Lunch Program is far from exemplary, it is clear that Dr. Laurits is either naive or disingenuous. More fundamentally, his solution is irrelevant to the problem. It begs many of the questions. Parents do not ask only for a school lunch program but also for a uniform day ending at 2 p.m. Disadvantages for children, their parents and community agencies arise not only from the additional walk to and from home for lunch and from the excessively long mid-day break, but also from the long hours, three days a week, and the two short days.

Dr. Laurits's dogged opposition to a uniform schedule including in-school lunch rests on his unshakable belief that teachers cannot efficiently undertake curriculum planning and related activities after a five hour teaching day ending at 2 p.m. They are, he argues, past their peak in attention span. Of course, it may be advantageous for teachers to have the luxury of starting their curriculum planning earlier - even at 8:30 a.m. But how is it that other school systems, with a reputation for excellence that equals Newton's, manage to achieve quality along with a uniform schedule and an in-school lunch program? And, if a five hour day taxes a teacher's attention span, how can any responsible educator propose to reimpose on very young children (as well as upon their teachers) the former schedule which will entail, three days a week, even longer hours?

In his remarks, he implicitly admits that the great majority of Newton's elementary school parents, who are also interested in academic excellence, want a uniform schedule with an in-school lunch program. He also acknowledges the right of parents to have a direct voice in shaping policies of agencies, including the educational system, which serve them. In support of this point, he extensively quotes the eloquent remarks of Richard Goodwin which appeared in a recent issue of a popular magazine. For this, Dr. Laurits deserves credit since it is a fundamental and controversial issue. But while he

Comment On Letter

Editor of the Graphic:
Having read Dr. Laurits's letter dated March 18, 1969, to the School Committee in its entirety, I would like to comment on one specific recommendation; i.e.,

"B. Each neighborhood should establish the particular program it requires to help the mothers and children of that neighborhood." . . . The people of each neighborhood could make an assessment of the needs in that community and could then plan to set up, outside the elementary schools, one or more centers for a lunch program.

If the number of children originally enrolled in the optional lunch program at our elementary school is an indication of the needs in our community, then there are no public facilities large enough to meet the need other than the elementary school. Private facilities in local churches and clubs are used by their own members during the school day "where women can naturally meet and share experiences" in addition to working for the benefit of the community. To try to use these facilities would certainly meet with resistance and at the least would require money for rent - plus the expense for staffing them - resulting in exorbitant costs and inconvenience for the entire community. Not every community has any facility, let alone multi-facilities available within a reasonable walking distance from the school, and no one would recommend the city's building such facilities for so limited a use.

Over the years Newton residents have been willing to pay for its schools and want the best education possible for its children. The school administration and school committee have acted upon this trait in the community to the degree that air conditioning, swimming pools, etc., are envisioned in future years so that the schools can be put to full community use year round. Yet a simple request sponsored by the parents to put these same facilities, as is and during the school year, into meaningful community use is considered unacceptable. This is illogical.

I hope that the school committee, knowing the burden placed upon the taxpayers by the costs of our schools and recognizing the growing malaise among the mothers (perhaps the malaise of mothers has been contagious over the years and is causing the condition in the nation), will vote for a lunch program in the schools - the only practical and convenient facility available in every community built expressly for the use of all of our children.

Mrs. Robert R. Foster
45 Holly Road

gives lip service to citizen participation in principle, in practice he refuses to heed the clear mandate of the parents of Newton with respect to the uniform schedule including in-school lunch. Apparently, he (or some one in authority) will decide in good time when, where, and on what matters the citizens of Newton may have a voice in shaping their institutions. In the meantime, he proposes that citizens exercise their democratic rights somewhere else - say, in setting up and running a "lunch station" or any other place but where he is! I respect the author Dr. Laurits' quotes. But, Dr. Laurits's policy recommendations betray either a profound misunderstanding of Goodwin's message or a dogmatic commitment which is unyielding to his own understanding. I am more inclined to the view that, like Miniver Cheevy, he is a prisoner of the past.

The advantages of the program advocated by the United Parents for a Single Session and supported by the great majority of parents of elementary school children have been well documented. The program is simple and economic to administer. Let us hope that you and the other members of the School Committee will have the courage and vision to promptly adopt the program without compromise. Only in this way can we lay to rest, once and for all, an issue which has needlessly divided this community for over three years and diverted us from the challenge of maintaining quality education in Newton in a period of rapid pedagogical scientific innovation.

I would be less than candid if I did not acknowledge a widespread skepticism among Newton's citizens that the School Committee will measure up to this challenge. For the sake of our children and the quality of our schools, I hope you prove them wrong. Cordially yours,
Seymour S. Bellin
Co-Chairman
United Parents for Single Session

11th Hour Protest

Editor of the Graphic:
Dear Sir:

An eleventh hour protest is only preferable to silence when one's community is about to make a great error. The error will be the new Newton High School. The city is finally in a hurry to build a new school but muddled, financial stringency, and political expediency are resulting in a school that is an anachronism before it is ever begun. If you will forgive a maritime analogy - even if sails are made of nylon, oars of manganese steel, and hull of fiberglass, a galleon is still a galleon and of little use nowadays. We are building an educational galleon. After long delay and now in thoughtless haste, we are going to build one for 2700 students. The architect tells us it will have flexibility; it will not. $15,000,000 is a lot to pay for a building which is not likely to meet the demands of education in coming years.

In Murray road we have experimented with a small, autonomous unit which students here shared with teachers the running of their school. In Barry House, a plan is going to be tried in which 120 Sophomores will form a sub-house. In work study program and in our seminar - independent study programs new kinds of secondary are being tried. In Berman House, a converted residence where the Social Studies Department is located, adults and students have been working in proximity and in trust. Freedom from crowds and formal and hierarchical relationships has made this easy and trust possible. In other cities high schools are trying many other things. Recently, in Philadelphia, I visited the Parkway Project, a school without a building of its own at all, and yet what a vital school it is!

I do not for a moment suggest the indefinite retention of our present three buildings. I suggest instead the piecemeal construction of a campus style of buildings according to a 10-year plan flexible enough to allow for changes to meet educational change. As parts of the new campus are finished, parts of the old would be razed. Meanwhile, the city should buy homes in the vicinity (at least three are in the city's possession already) for administrative offices and seminar rooms to make more space for classroom purposes in our present buildings. A campus would have many virtues. It would allow for pluralism. It would afford the facilities and services which only a large school can offer, yet its units would be small enough to allow for familiarity, freedom, and responsibility. Its continuing growth over the decade would allow for innovation. Granted, it would be more expensive than one great building, but the costs could be stretched out on a "pay as you build basis."

I am aware that there is a danger in the piecemeal approach - a danger that the city would never see the task through. However, with community enthusiasm, a commitment on the part of town fathers, and a city architect who can understand and be understood by educators, I think a plan for a living, growing, changing campus is soundest.

The present plans suggest to me a school which will constitute one big pressure cooker for kids. The interior classrooms, some windowless, others on lightwells, others with skylights, all without air conditioning, are bad enough. The scale of the building is all wrong. It will be immense and esthetically dull. It will work toward anonymity, impersonality and thus will breed apathy in some, cynicism in others, authoritarianism in teachers who will not know most of the students they see, and vandalism among those youngsters who have no other way of feeling powerful. Granted the plans allow for more seminar and student activity space than we have at present, but the spaces will be either inaccessible except during passing periods or entirely too accessible such as in the case should buy homes in the vicinarily widened spaces in corridors.

I urge that even though the architect's fees have been settled, it would still be more economical both financially and in human terms to halt before we are committed to endless years in what looks of "commons rooms" that are dysfunctional building.

Yours,
John M. Livingston, Asst. Head, Social Studies Department, Newton High School.

A Noisy Hour

Editor of the Graphic:
Last Thursday's "Graphic" published a letter from Eloise Houghton which outlined a sensible and unemotional approach to the school lunch program. I have heard it said that her ideas are too sensible to be taken seriously.

No one argues that the present program is satisfactory. The lunch period is too long and much of the supervision, where it exists at all, is not adequate. Untrained personnel find it difficult to cope with elementary school children in a lunch and play situation for a whole hour, and professionals are not interested in a two-hour, three day a week job. This results in a noisy, disturbing hour for many children, including the ones who are causing the most disturbance. If we have any lunch program at all in Newton, it should certainly be compulsory, and shortened to a half-hour or so, as Mrs. Houghton suggests.

To plan a lunch program only for the children of those mothers who find it necessary to work is totally unrealistic. This would be to point a finger at those children and to expose them to embarrassment. In addition, there are many other mothers who have equally legitimate reasons for desiring an in-school lunch program, including those who believe, for reasons already thoroughly aired, that such a program is best for the children.

Theoretically, whether or not children have lunch in school is unimportant. Despite the comments of some teachers one way or the other, what studies which have been made have not been conclusive. No one has ever been able to show empirically that lunch in school is detrimental, that lunch at home is beneficial, or vice-versa. In fact, I think we would be hard put to show that the children in our many neighborhood communities, which have a variety of lunch programs, are in any way worse or better off than our Newton children who have traditionally had lunch at home.

Most things to do with our educational system are best handled by professional educators, and I think in Newton most of us do not attempt to interfere with such matters. Since a school lunch program, however, is only indirectly and obliquely related to educational excellence, it seems one of the few areas where it is both reasonable and proper for parents to make their preference known, which has been done. The school committee, an elected body, should legitimately give major consideration to that preference in making its decision.

The statistics which I have seen indicate that the great majority of Newton parents wish to have an in-school lunch program. With this in mind, I hope that the school committee will feel, as I do, that Mrs. Houghton's ideas concerning such a program are well worth developing.

Sincerely,
Marie T. Dinkel
(Mrs. Paul B. Dinkel)

Answers Mrs. Houghton

Editor,
The Graphic:
After reading Mrs. Houghton's letter to the Graphic today I called her immediately to discuss her suggested compromise for lunch.

Very soon in the conversation she said as a private citizen - not being a school committee member - she has no idea of the costs involved (fixed charges like trash pick up of $12,000 plus supplies, etc.) She doesn't know how many people would be needed to supervise the program (her suggestion is that student-teachers take several shifts of classes for lunch and be supervised by one experienced person. The students are in the schools for teaching experience and not to baby sit.)

The pupil teacher ratio - overcrowded classes and building costs - insufficient guidance personnel - were admittedly things she had no fact in. I suggested she get some figures and then compare the spending of city tax dollars on lunch versus the educational needs in Newton.

Everyone agrees that the compromise tried this year of a voluntary, self paying, optional program does not work. The teacher, principals and administration do not think any in-school lunch program is in the best interest of the children and education. And, Mrs. Houghton, isn't that what it's really all about?

Mrs. Robert Keilner

Schedule Archaic

Editor of the Graphic:
I have followed the school lunch controversy with great interest and sympathy for all sides. Newton's old school schedule is archaic and a hindrance to social change, fostering inefficient use of time.

World population conditions will soon require smaller families, increasing the problem of today's efficient mothers who are capable of running their homes well and still making worthy and needed contributions to the larger society.

It seems to me that an excellent solution, which should come close to satisfying the needs of all parties, was demonstrated during the snowy months of February, when Cabot School (and perhaps other elementary schools) was put on an "emergency" schedule for a few days of sessions from 9 to 2 daily, with each child bringing a snack lunch. (Kindergarten hours with this schedule could be 9:11:15 and 11:45 to 2 daily.) These hours have such advantages over other proposed schedules that they deserve a year's trial. For example:

1. Cost should be nil, eliminating the "priority" problem.
2. The problem of finding lunchroom supervisors is ended.
3. The problem of classroom disrupted by long lunch breaks is ended.
4. Safety is maximized, since only one round trip is necessary, and children do all their travelling during non-rush hours.
5. The school day is short enough not to tire the children. Ample time is left for daylight outdoor play, even in December, when days are shortest, and for the extra-curricular activities in which Newton is rich.
6. Principles and teachers would have great flexibility, with time before and after school every day for lesson preparation, meetings, parent interviews, and individual help to children.
7. The snack lunch can be a sandwich, rounded out when the child arrives home with fruit, soup, dessert, etc. The snack is easy to remember, since it is taken every day.

The only serious objections I see to such a plan are:

1. Teachers would have to carry their lunches. However, the efficiency of the schedule would result in shorter working hours and make this adjustment worthwhile.
2. Five hours is a long session for both teachers and children without a break. Again, these problems are manageable. Even under the present schedule, teachers often get away from their classes for a few minutes for coffee in the teachers' room. Teachers can (and many already do) reread their pupils with a few minutes of exercise standing beside their seats - for example, singing and acting a motion song. Visits of art, music and physical education teachers, as well as student teachers, also offer opportunities for breaks and variety in the school day.

Slight variations are possible without changing the substance of this schedule, such as a shift to 8:30 to 1:30, or the addition of 15 minutes at either end of the day.

I believe this schedule merits serious consideration.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Mae Tanimoto

A Sisterhood Torah Fund Meeting Mon.

The Sisterhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila will hold a Torah Fund luncheon meeting next Monday (April 7) in the Temple Social Hall, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill.

A display and judging of Holiday Tables will begin at 11 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon, followed by a musical program featuring Ellie Kenner and Vicky Morham.

The hostess for the day will be Mrs. Louis Katz. Mrs. Leo Karas, president of the Sisterhood, will preside. The invocation will be given by Mrs. Morris M. Fineberg. Mrs. Paul King and Mrs. Morton Lieberman are in charge of program. Mrs. Edward Bardfield and Mrs. Myer Lowenstein are in charge of hospitality.

Members and guests will be asked to vote on the prettiest table.

For reservations for the luncheon, please contact Mrs. William Nathanson.

More On Lunches

I am the mother of nine children - six now in the Newton School System. I have been a working mother for the last five years. I have no outside help. My children DO NOT participate in the voluntary lunch program in the Newton schools, and I am unequivocally opposed to a mandatory lunch program.

Since our School Committee has announced it will soon make a decision on the school lunch, I feel it necessary to make my feelings known to them. I have always felt it important to arrange my day so that I was able to spend the lunch hour with my children. Many times a minor problem discussed during lunch has prevented it from becoming a major one because a child had to wait all day. Occasionally I find a child indifferent about lunch. This is usually an indication he doesn't feel well and keeping him home one afternoon will prevent losing several days later on.

I have heard mention of traffic hazard. We live in that kind of world today. My children have been taught to cope with it from the time they could first walk and I cannot feel keeping them in during lunch hour would be any great advantage especially since that is not a heavy traffic time.

Adequate time for outdoor play is certainly available with the long Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Whether should not be a problem. Doctors have said exposure to the weather does not cause illness. Healthy children, comfortably and sensibly dressed, can safely be exposed to any kind of weather when school is in session.

We have lived in several parts of the United States and have had our children in various kinds of schools - private, public, parochial, country. When we came to this area, we searched for a school system that would give our children good, educational experiences. Our children's progress at the Horace Mann School makes me feel our choice was excellent. However, I can see no educational advantage for children in a school lunch program. As a parent and taxpayer, I hope our School Committee will budget our tax money for education, not for elementary lunch programs.

On Lunch Program

Editor of The Graphic:

I am writing to you as a former elementary school teacher wishing to express my feelings about a school lunch program. I taught under this type of program and found it quite satisfactory. The children had twenty minutes to eat lunch and twenty minutes for recess. Two teachers teamed together for the different duties. Two days of the week one teacher would eat lunch at her desk and watch the adjoining room.

The rest of the week she would eat lunch with the other teachers and then take recess duty. School was in session four days of the week from 8:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and one day from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. That afternoon was designated for special help, make-up, teacher-parent conferences, teachers meetings, etc., but on that day every teacher had to stay until 3:30 p.m. This was part of the job and accepted as such.

The other four days the teachers had to stay until 2:30 p.m. and this time was also spent giving extra help etc. There was time every day after the 2:00 p.m. dismissal for remedial teaching.

Under the present schedule in Newton, which only allows for two early days it is impossible to have children back for help, parent-teacher conferences, teachers meetings etc. and do justice to any one matter in those few hours a week. There is no real value in having children back late in the afternoon on those other days. We all know any real learning takes place early in the day when the children are well rested, especially with the little ones.

It seems very apparent the majority of parents having elementary school age children want to see a change in the present system. I sincerely hope that the good members of the school committee will choose wisely for our children come April 7, 1969.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Frank Ciccone

Pro-Single Session

Editor, The Graphic:
A School Committee is supposed to represent the citizens. Will our School Committee represent the majority of elementary parents when it comes time to vote for a uniform day and the adoption of an in-school lunch?

The School Committee spent $100,000 of the taxpayers' money on a pilot program in three schools to see if "lunch" was feasible . . . it was, of course! Now, it is spending the taxpayers' money on extra police protection (about $20,000-$30,000) for those children who have chosen to go home for lunch under the optional plan.

In March the schools had an emergency schedule of 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. with a short lunch period. The uniform day worked . . . as if anyone had any doubts . . . The parents do not want any more pilot projects to test lunch in school. They want a shorter school day for the children. They do not want the children walking four times a day.

The School Committee can't say they won't vote a uniform day on the basis of money because they have spent enough themselves testing lunch (and all their tests have proved favorable). They cannot justify not spending the money because the majority wants the hours changed. A change in elementary hours will benefit 8,000 children. Some of the other programs in our schools benefit small groups of children. Will the School Committee represent us when they vote on April 7th? We will see . . .

To Dr. Laurits

Editor of The Graphic:

The News-Tribune on March 28 published some recommendations by Newton's acting superintendent of schools concerning a school lunch program. "I think it would be great if neighborhoods established whatever lunch facilities they need outside the elementary schools . . ." It certainly would be great . . . great for him. Then he wouldn't have to face the wrath of his all-omnipotent teachers. Since wrath of the parents is and always has been inconsequential, the problem would be neatly solved without the unpleasant necessity of going on record for making a decision.

"One of my real concerns," he continues, "is that such a program be really responsive to what the parents wish, and when you put it on a city-wide basis it gets less and less responsive to the demands of the parents." Poppycock and balderdash! How naive can one get?

Dr. Laurits ought to know "what the parents wish . . ." and that doesn't mean setting up their own school lunch program. With an 18 million dollar budget encompassing an overabundant host of administrators and professionals, it is inconceivable that one would ask the parents to set up their own school lunch program.

On the other hand, this rather novel idea may be part of Newton's attempt to be really innovative. After all, the parents already do a good part of the teaching after hours now, so why shouldn't they take care of the lunch program too? Word has it that the current trend in education is to have teachers around as consultants, so that Johnny and Mary will only have to report in now and then when a question pops up.

Let's hold our breath and see whether "our" School Committee swallows this latest palliative. I, for one, find it hard to digest.

Second Church Women's Council Meets Apr. 9th

A varied program, with something of interest for all age groups, has been planned for the meeting of the Women's Council of the Second Church in Newton on Wednesday, April 9. Following the meeting of the Executive Board at 9 o'clock, the work groups will commence their activities, which include packing for overseas, sewing, knitting, making surgical dressings and other special projects.

At ten there will be coffee for her journeys to Navajo country for the mothers of young children who meet with Mrs. Ross Cannon each Council Day. Mrs. Samuel Turner and Mrs. Paul Shanabrook will lead a Conversation on "Understanding with a Sensitive Heart" and their subject will be the subtle problems of racism in our time.

Mrs. Mildred Widber is planning a discussion of the new books recently added to the library by the Adventures in Reading Committee, at 11:30. Luncheon, for which no reservations are necessary, will be served at 12:30 by Mrs. Edwin W. Folsom and Mrs. Ronald Mertens and their committee.

A brief business meeting and a service of worship led by Mrs. Herbert Hale will precede the afternoon program. Miss Mary Louise Eddy will introduce Mrs. Nathan D. Bugbee, who will show some unusual slides of education.

UPSS Rejects Supt. Laurits Lunch Program Recommendation

The United Parents for Single Session met recently in response to Acting Superintendent James Laurits' recommendations to the School Committee, dated March 18th, regarding the problems of lunches in the elementary schools.

Dr. Laurits recommends a return to the split session schedule and suggests that the children be cared for during the noon hour at neighborhood day-care centers and at "lunch stations". UPSS, who oppose this position, issued the following statement:

"1. There are presently no neighborhood day-care centers or 'lunch stations' in Newton. To organize them immediately and on a large scale is completely impractical. "2. The retention of the 1½ hour lunch period is completely unacceptable. For this very reason, the working mothers turned down a program voted for them by the School Committee last spring. Children can not be kept happily and relaxed for such a long period of time, they are not productive during the afternoon session. The optional lunch program now in effect clearly points out the deficiencies of such an extended lunch period. "Dr. Laurits proposals offer no genuine solution even though he does acknowledge that a need exists in the community in regard to a lunch program. Dr. Laurits main focus is upon lunch; he has missed the larger issue — effecting a change in school hours. The UPSS remains firmly committed to a mandatory single session schedule of approximately 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily with a simple ½ hour lunch period. This is a plan which has proved successful in many quality school systems in the nation. "The United Parents anxiously awaits the School Committee decision which will take place on Monday, April 7, 1969, Newton South High School, 7:45 p.m.

Mental Health Hearing In Norwood On April 8

An open public hearing on mental retardation for residents of Region V, Mass. Dept. of Mental Health (including Newton) will be held at the Norwood Town Hall on Tuesday (April 8).

Two sessions have been planned "to accommodate the public" — from 1-5 p.m. and from 1-7 p.m. — by the State Advisory Council on Mental Health and Retardation in the fifth of a series of meetings the group is holding across the Commonwealth.

The council was formed under recent legislation decentralizing the Department of Mental Health by creating seven new mental health and retardation regions and 37 local areas within them. The council serves as a communications link between the general public, organized citizen groups, and the state mental health department.

"The intent of these hearings is to provide every opportunity for local citizens to express their opinions and to offer suggestions on mental health and retardation needs and services in their communities," according to Gerald Caplan, M.D., council chairman and clinical professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.

"Every effort will be made to schedule time in the afternoon or evening session, for all interested in speaking or in having statements read on their behalf," he said.

"But whether they plan to speak or not," he added, "we hope that as many residents as possible attend the hearing to become more familiar with mental health and retardation activities in their communities."

Panel members for the Norwood sessions will include Mrs. Doris Dauksis, Norwood, coordinator; Mrs. Barbara Elam; Roxbury; H. Vincent Frederickson, Lynn; F. Edward Nicolas, Plymouth; and Dr. J. Edward Carchidi, Whitman.

Region V administrator is Gershen Rosenblum, Ph.D., whose office is located at 688 Washington street, Dedham. Persons wishing to speak at the hearing, or have statements read, are requested to write to him for scheduling.

Susan Strassberg will play a supporting role in Universal's "Marcus Welby, M.D.", starring Robert Young and Anne Baxter.

Easter Services At Evangelical Baptist Church

Special Services will be held throughout the day at the Evangelical Baptist Church, 23 Chapel st., off Rt. 16, Newton, on Easter Sunday.

At 9:00 a.m., the Sunday School will hold an open session with a special Easter Program of Recitation and Music by the young people.

At 10:30 a.m., three robed Choirs will sing forth Easter Praises during the Morning Worship Hour. Dr. John S. Viall, Pastor, will bring as his Easter message, "The Power of the Resurrection." A special Children's Story for Easter will be presented by "Aunt Mary" Meli, the story-telling lady. A service of Dedication will be held for children.

In the Evening at 7:00 p.m., a fine Easter Cantata entitled, "The Risen Christ," by P. A. Schaeffer, will be presented by a large robed choir under the direction of Mr. Robert E. Carter, Director of Music. The selections are as follows: "This is the Day," Men's and Ladies' Chorus, "As It Began To Dawn," Male Chorus, "With Loving Hearts and Laden Hands," Ladies' Trio, "But When They Came Unto The Sepulchre," Men's Choral Recitative, "The Lord Is Risen," Ladies' and Men's Chorus, "Then Went They Out Quickly And Flew," Male Choral Recitative, "Weeping For Him," Ladies' and Men's Chorus, "They Have Taken Away My Lord," Solo, Elizabeth Knowles, Soprano, "And When She Had Thus Said," Ladies' Choral Recitative, "O Grave, Where Is Thy Victory?" Ladies' and Men's Chorus, "Unto Him Who Loved Us," Ladies' and Men's Chorus, Finale. Dr. John S. Viall will narrate.

Nursery Care for children will be in charge of a Registered Nurse. All are cordially invited to attend Easter Services at this friendly, active, family church. Beautiful Easter Lilies and Plants will add to the beauty of the day as they grace the Sanctuary. Come and join us!

Dinner Dance Of Hadassah Apr. 13

The Oak Hill Group of Hadassah Dinner-Dance this year will be "A Night at the Monticello" on Sunday evening, April 13, at 6:45 p.m. This will be an informal party featuring fabulous entertainment headlined by Al Martino.

Proceeds will benefit the restoration of Mt. Scopus Hospital. Mrs. Murray Bernstein is Chairman, Mrs. Maurice Rubin, President.

Pat Pellows Producer For Players Final Stage Show

The Country Players of Newton have selected Mrs. Leon (Pat) Pellows of Chestnut Hill to produce their third and final production of the season, "An Evening of One Act Plays," a program incorporating three diverse and individual scripts.

Performance dates for the Spring offering are slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, May 16-17 and 23-24, at the Rebecca Pomroy House, Eldredge street, Newton. One of the trio of plays will be entered in competition in the N. E. Theatre Conference Drama Festival, scheduled for Friday - Sunday, May 30 - 31 and June 1, at the Spingold Theatre, Brandeis University, Waltham.

Blocks of tickets or the entire house are available at reduced rates to charitable or philanthropic groups interested in fund raising. Seating capacity at the Pomroy House auditorium is approximately 200.

Pat Pellows has served on the Country Players' executive board for the past two years and was seen this season, with the Players as Mother Colpepper in "The Dastard" and Dr. Armstrong in "Ten Little Indians." A noted actress and raconteur, she has performed in all four medias in the field of entertainment — stage, screen, radio and TV.

She appeared recently in the Steve McQueen film "Thomas Crown Affair" and plays the role of Mrs. Nemur in the film "Charly," which stars Cliff Robertson and Claire Bloom.

On stage, she has portrayed Edith in "Never Too Late," Kate in "Taming of the Shrew," the title role in "Elizabeth the Queen," mother in "The Inspector Calls" and Winifred in "The Vinegar Tree." Other stage credits include "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," "Catch Me If You Can," "Bells Are Ringing" and the playlet "Dinner for One."

She directed and was featured in the one act play "The Fumed Oak" and wrote and directed the musical shows "Rumania Mania" and "Rumania Stew."

One-woman shows, stage make-up demonstrations, costuming and commercials for local radio and TV programming are among her many other accomplishments.

For information concerning theatre party sponsorship or individual membership, write P.O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159 or phone 969-3993.

Peabody Gets Deputy Post From Romney

Malcolm E. "Mike" Peabody, Jr., of Newton, unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the 5th District last year, has been named deputy assistant secretary for the Housing and Urban Development Dept. in Washington.

Peabody said HUD Secretary George Romney advised him that he will be assigned duties in the areas of equal opportunity programming and low and moderate income housing.

When his brother, Endicott "Chub" Peabody was Democratic governor of Massachusetts, Malcolm served the state in a similar capacity.

College Club Presents Spring Concert April 13

A number of Newton women are participating in the annual Spring Concert by the Jewish Women's College Club to be held on Sunday, April 13, in the recital hall of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

Dr. Lawrence Berman of the Harvard University faculty, an accomplished pianist, is the artist for this occasion.

Dr. Berman was graduated from Brown and Nichols School in 1952, received his A.B. degree with honors in 1956 from Harvard College where he majored in history and science, and his Ph.D. degree in Music from Harvard University in 1965. From 1956 to 1958 Dr. Berman studied harmony and composition with the renowned Mlle. Nadia Boulanger in Paris. He returned to Paris for the academic year 1962-63 when he was awarded the Paine Traveling Fellowship to carry on research for his doctoral thesis on the subject of tonal procedures in Debussy. Throughout his undergraduate years at

"WHEREAS: Newton residents have always generously responded to the needs of crippled children, and

"WHEREAS: 3,355 children and adults benefited from Easter Seal services last year and many more seek and need help, and

"WHEREAS: The Easter Seal Society has the trained staff and services to help crippled children learn to become responsible, useful members of the community, and have the right to lead a happy, normal life,

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of the City of Newton, do declare Friday, April 4, as "Coffee Day for Crippled Children" and urge support of this event.

Church World Service Spring Clothing Drive

The annual Spring Clothing Drive of the Church World Service will be held this year on April 10 and 11. The collection depot will be the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, 1440 Washington St., West Newton.

On Thursday, April 10, the depot will be open from 7:30 p.m. until 9. On Friday, April 11, the hours will be 12:30 until 4 p.m.

The depot collection chairman is Mrs. Norman Ross of West Newton.

There are over 1,700,000 refugees in the Middle East area of whom half are newly displaced. Natural disaster, war and more refugees around the world are a constant drain on supplies.

Needed are: Light-weight, clean and washable clothing for all ages, sturdy shoes for children only, and especially blankets, layettes and soap in case lots. Donations should be checked for usability with at least six months wear left and button and zippers in working order. Use sturdy cartons and tie securely. Mark only packages containing new materials or special kits.

Weigh each carton and bring to the depot on the above specified days with 10¢ a pound for shipping costs. Either cash or check made payable to Church World Service will be accepted. A receipt will be given by depot attendant for each donation. Used blankets with 25¢ for shipping or $3 to help CWS buy new ones will be most welcome. Money gifts in lieu of soap are also acceptable. Make checks payable to Church World Service and mail to Box 220, Elkart, Ind. 46514.

The goal this spring is 1500 pounds.

Donor Dinner Plans Complete By Sisterhood

Final arrangements were completed by the Sisterhood Beth-El-Atereth Israel, Newton for the annual Donor Dinner event which will be held in the Social Hall of the Synagogue, 561 Ward street, Newton Centre, on Wednesday, April 16. A Sherry Hour will precede the dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The entertainment highlight will be Marsha Nerenberg and her guitar. Miss Nerenberg sings folk songs in Hebrew, English and Yiddish and accompanies herself with the guitar. She has studied in Israel under Zvi Ben-Porat, the director of the Israeli Youth Choir. She is now training with Dr. Rose Shain, the well-known singing coach.

A special gifts will be given to each guest and much time and effort have been devoted to the success of this affair.

Donor Dinner Chairman, Mrs. Samuel Andler and Donor Dinner Reservations Chairman, Mrs. Irving Goldberg extend a most cordial invitation to all members and friends and urge all to make reservations early.

Harvard, Dr. Berman was accompanist to the Harvard Glee Club and travelled with the Glee Club on European and trans-continental concert tours. He gave piano recitals regularly as an undergraduate at Harvard, played solo and chamber music extensively. He taught piano, harmony and music history at Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana, at Hunter College in New York City and at Harvard where he is currently Assistant Professor in the Department of Music.

This annual concert enables Jewish Women's College Club to raise money for supplementary scholarships for needy girls attending local colleges and universities.

Invitations may be obtained from Miss Lillian Robbins, Brookline, President at 566-6764 or from Mrs. Joseph P. Keller, Newtonville, Chairman at 332-1210, or any member of the committee:

Miss Sybil Cantor, Mrs. Saul C. Fechter, Miss Helen Katzen, Miss Flora Levin, Miss Frances Levin, Mrs. Robert M. Ravven, Mrs. Maurice J. Savitz, Mrs. Maurice Silverstein, Mrs. Theodore Sollosy, Mrs. Hyman M. Dr. Demone To Address Annual Dinner April 10

The Newton Community Council and Chest announces reservations are still available for the Annual Dinner meeting to be held next Thursday (April 10) at 6:30 p.m. at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart Administration Building Cafeteria. Individuals and/or organizational representatives desiring to attend should call the Community Council office — 527-5120 — for reservations.

Mr. Albert R. Beisel, Jr., President of the Council, emphasizes the importance of agencies and organizations in Newton taking advantage of this opportunity to hear Dr. Harold W. Demone, Jr., Executive director of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston. Dr. Demone is eminently qualified in the field of social planning to examine the needs of our society and bring new insights for possible solution. His topic: "A New Voluntary Approach to Community Problems."

Dr. Demone is the former director of the Medical Foundation and directed the Massachusetts Mental Health Planning Project. He is head of the Division of Administration, Planning and Community Dynamics at Harvard Medical School's Laboratory of Community Psychiatry.

A native of Arlington, Dr. Demone was graduated Magna Cum Laude from Tufts College. He earned a Master of Arts Degree in Sociology from Tufts and a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Social Welfare from Brandeis University. Dr. Demone was named last week by Governor Sargent to chair the committee which will recommend a new Director of the Division of Youth Service.

Bronze Star Awarded West Newton Youth

Sgt. Michael J. Treacy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Treacy, of 3 Warren ave., West Newton, recently returned home on furlough from Vietnam after winning the Bronze Star Medal at Dau Tien for meritorious service.

The citation honoring the GI read in part: "The Bronze Star Medal is presented to Sgt. Michael Treacy, Company B, 25th Inf. Div., who distinguished himself by outstanding meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam." The action took place on Dec. 24, last.

Treacy, a graduate of Newton high school, class of 1966, volunteered for Army duty after graduation. He is now stationed at Ft. Lewis, Washington, after completing his furlough.

$20 Million Bond Issue Is Proposed

Approval of a $20 million bond issue to cover architect's fees and construction costs for the new $15.6 million high school and the $4 million Day Junior High School has been sought by Mayor Basbas.

The Mayor asked the Board of Aldermen to allow $365,000 to be taken from the $20 million to pay architects for completing about half of their $675,000-valued work on the new high school. Also, $122,000 to pay the architects working on the Day school.

The actual money for construction on the buildings will be requested at a later date.

Under the Mayor's request, the original appropriation of $365,000 for the high school architects would be rescinded. The reason for this is that the law requires the architects' fees and the construction appropriations to be combined in a single bond issue.

Basbas' original action had them separated. He said the $20 million bond authorization doesn't mean the city will seek that amount in bonds this year.

Basbas also said there is a proposal in the legislature now which would allow communities to borrow solely to pay architects fees. He said he and the state tax commissioner both recommend its adoption.

The new requests by Basbas open the way for a resumption of the debate by the aldermen over whether the $675,000 fee is too much, as Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell and others charged, or a fair one, as the majority of the board felt in approving the original bond issue.

Basbas said his new requests do not change the $675,000. That figure had already been raised by the mayor from $464,000, based on the original estimate of the construction cost, and not the later and higher figure.

Basbas said his $20 million bond request includes about $1 million as a "buffer" against possibly later increasing costs. He said the $1 million could also be used to convert space at five or six elementary schools into classrooms. The claim has been that these schools are overcrowded.

Any fool can criticize. The man we are looking for now will match his criticism with a cure.

Sacred Heart College Hosts Concluding Session of Study

The Society of the Sacred Heart ended a year-long self-study of the organization's eight schools in the Washington Province with a three-hour meeting last Saturday at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The meeting ended with Mass at the campus chapel of the liberal arts college for women, and a reception and dinner in Barst House, the college's original building.

The reception, to be given by Mother Elizabeth Sweeney, RSCJ, Superior of the Washington Province and former treasurer of Newton College, will honor the work of the 22-member planning commission. Also attending the reception will be Rev. Mother Maria-Josefa Bulto, RSCJ, Superior of the international order of teaching nuns, who arrived in Boston from Rome earlier this week.

The commission, headed by Sister Catherine Baxter, RSCJ, headmistress of the Society's secondary school in Newton, as chairman, and Mr. T. Vincent Learson, president of the IBM Corporation, New York, as vice - chairman, consists of 14 Sacred Heart nuns and 8 lay people.

After nearly a year of independent research, committee interviews, and monthly progress meetings, the planning commission has made recommendations to Mother Sweeney and her Provincial Council with regard to the Society's secondary schools, and the educational program offered in the remaining schools; new kinds of service outside Sacred Heart institutions; and new forms of community structure and participatory governance in the Order in the Washington Province - which extends from Boston to Miami.

In reaching these conclusions, the commission studied the educational potential of the Province's seven secondary schools; social trends in the metropolitan areas and where these schools are located - Boston, Providence, Philadelphia, Washington, and Miami; numbers, interests, attitudes, and qualifications of the Sacred Heart nuns who teach in these schools; and the image of the schools as reflected in the attitudes toward four of them held by parents, alumnae, and friends in their respective areas.

As a result of the commission's findings, Eden Hall, one of the Society's two Philadelphia area schools, will close in June, after more than a century of educational service. The other school recommended for closing, Overbrook - will remain under the auspices, supervision, and control of the Society, but will be administered by a lay advisory committee and staffed by lay administrators and teachers.

In a recent letter to Sacred Heart alumnae, parents, and friends, Mother Sweeney wrote: "Not only must some of the nuns be freed to work more directly with the poor, as their attraction and contemporary movements in the Church urge them to do, but others must be freed to complete their studies or to make plans for adapting our schools and introducing innovations which will better train responsible women fit to face the existing problems of our Church and our country."

Two young alumnae of Sacred Heart schools who have served on the planning commission are the Misses Carolyn Liebert, Cambridge, a 1968 graduate of Newton College, and Mary McCarthy, a 1966 graduate of Stone Ridge, in Washington, and daughter of U.S. Senator Eugene McCarthy.

Other lay members of the commission are Attorney Edward B. Hanify, of Ropes and Gray, Boston; Mr. James T. Harris, Jr., vice president of the African-American Institute of New York; Dr. John U. Monro, curriculum developer at Miles College, Birmingham, Ala. and former Harvard dean; Mr. Franklin A. Steele, a New York investment broker; and Mr. John E. Healey, a counsel and staff liaison for Frantz and Pray, the New York-based firm that directed the evaluation.

Each of the eight institutions considered in the evaluation were represented by Religious of the Sacred Heart.

The Society of the Sacred Heart, founded in France in the early 19th century, conducts some 200 educational institutions throughout the world including 6 colleges and 28 secondary schools in this country.

Newton Republicans will follow up their successful winter programs with a new series of spring events, according to William A. Lincoln, Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee.

Lincoln announced that the Towns of Dedham, Needham, Wellesley and Weston. Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe is now acting Chairman in Ward Six, William B. Dockser having vacated the chairmanship. Dockser is now in Washington where he is Special Assistant to the Under-Secretary, U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mrs. Vinnicombe has called a meeting of the ward Six Committee on Tuesday, April 17 at the home of Stacie C. M. BrWuce. He new acting Chairman is well known in Republican circles and widely regarded for her able service over many years.

Plans for a general meeting of the full City Committee are definitely coming before the group, with the date tentatively set for April 28.

At the Ward level, the individual committees have been involved in a cycle of meetings with Wards two, three, four, five, and eight balloting for the election of the district's new State Committee on the Republican State Committee. Newton's Joseph E. Weinreb now represents the district as a result of these elections in five wards of Newton, and in the Chamber In Praise For City Depts.

At the most recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the following resolution was passed:

Be it resolved to recognize and express appreciation to Mayor Monte G. Basbas of the City of Newton, and various city departments, in the excellent manner that the streets were kept open during our snowstorms starting February 9, 1969.

"We also would like to include the many valuable emergency services performed by the Police and Fire Departments to ensure the safety and well being of all the residents of the City of Newton."

"The Newton Chamber of Commerce feels that the dedication of the many city workers should not go unrewarded, therefore, this resolution is tangible evidence that their work has been deeply appreciated by the business community."

"The Chamber also wishes to commend publicly the Red Cross and Civil Defense efforts during this period."

200 Volunteers Donated Blood At Temple Emanuel

The Newton Red Cross was most grateful at the response of Newton residents to the blood mobile visit to Temple Emanuel on Wednesday (March 26) when 200 citizens volunteered to give blood.

Most of the donors were members of Temple Emanuel. Others were from Norton Vacuum Company and representatives from the Newton Realtors Association also donated. These citizens realize that blood, being part of the living person cannot be manufactured, and thus contributed the blood needs for themselves and their families who are covered for the next year.

The mothers of Temple Emanuel most graciously prepared and served food for the volunteers and nurses working that day.

Mrs. Walter LeVine and Mrs. Harry Shain were the Red Cross Supervisors. Assisting them were Mrs. John Gilleland, Mrs. Stanley Hackel, Helen Hanson, Helen Ludlow,

Basbas Queries Dever On High Hospital Costs

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has asked Chairman John F. Dever Jr., of the Middlesex County Commissioners for a detailed explanation of Newton's $101,000 assessment toward the 1969 operating cost of the Middlesex County Hospital.

Confessing perplexity at the "seeming contradiction of sharply increased costs in the face of a declining case load," Basbas wrote Dever a question - riddled letter touching upon hospital finances, hiring practices, services and equipment and lab expenses.

The mayor also questioned Dever on the matter of payment for patients from outside Middlesex County.

Basbas has invited the county's mayors, selectmen and managers to discuss the situation April 8 in Newton City Hall.

In his letter to Dever, the mayor thanks the chairman for a previous explanation of Newton's 183 increase in hospital assessment, but asks for further clarification of "several questions" raised by Dever's letter.

Basbas's letter reads in part: "1. What is the current administrative staff of the hospital, which I understand, is largely housed on the first floor? Please include a list of all positions, their titles, a short job description, and the organizational framework."

"2. What is the current salary schedule for all positions on the administrative staff?"

"3. How much were salaries increased from the previous year for each administrative position? Did persons in new positions receive larger increases than those who had been employed for years by the hospital?"

"4. How many new security guards for the alcoholic treatment unit were actually requested by the hospital administration? And how many were allowed? Why?"

"5. Who are the consultants and how much were they paid for how many hours of work? Are some of them on salary? How many and which ones were utilized for the first time this last year (1968)? For purposes of comparison, please furnish a list of the names of the consultants and the total amount paid each for the years 1965 and 1968."

"There are several miscellaneous categories of expense which you mentioned as causing substantial budgetary dislocation. Could you please clear up the following points:

"1. With regard to the $168,000 decrease in reimbursements from patients' insurers, how much of this loss was made up for by increased payments from the State for the

Drugs To Be Theme Of Jr. College Talk

"The Drug Problem" will be the topic of the Newton Junior College All-College Convocation to be held at 11:15 a.m., Tuesday, April 8, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut Street in Newtonville. Richard Callahan will be the speaker.

Mr. Callahan is Regional Director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. A graduate of Boston College and a former Captain in the U.S. Marine Corps, he has been a Special Agent for the FBI, an Inspector for the U.S. Treasury Department, and Instructor in Law Enforcement Subjects at Northeastern University.

As a member of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, Mr. Callahan has traveled widely throughout the United States, and his knowledge of the drug problem and drug abuses is comprehensive.

Representatives of the Newton Citizens' Committee on Drugs and members of the Newton Police Department will be invited to share in this program, and a question period will be held at the end of Mr. Callahan's talk.

This program is free of charge and open to the public.

Rep. Shea Seeks Law To Prohibit Open Air Fires

Representative H. James Shea, Jr., of Newton recently testified before the combined legislative Committee on Social Welfare favoring legislation he filed to prohibit open air burning of leaves and refuse.

"During the fall of the year our already impure atmosphere is vulnerable to frequent weather inversions. When we superimpose upon this already polluted atmosphere substantial quantities of impurities from leaf burning, we permit and, in fact, encourage serious respiratory hazards," Shea declared.

"While local efforts to restrict open air burning are desirable, and clearly in the public interest, the fluid nature of our atmosphere knows no restriction of local boundaries. In this era of increasing urbanization, and consequently increasing atmospheric pollution, state legislation seems clearly necessary to assure an acceptable quality for our atmosphere," he asserted.

Shea recorded Mrs. Helen Heyn of Newton as favoring this proposal.

In concluding testimony Shea suggested that the Social Welfare Committee send this proposal to the Legislative Study Commission on Air Pollution if the Committee refuses favorable action.

Mrs. DeSouza Feted By Cub Scouts Of Pack 313

At a meeting held at the Franklin School, West Newton, on Friday, March 28, members of Pack 313, Norumbega Council honored retiring Den Leader Coach Mrs. Mary Lou DeSouza by presenting her with a silver bowl.

District Commissioner Paul Dangelo of 208 California Street, Newton, made the presentation on behalf of the pack. He cited Mrs. DeSouza's eight years with Pack 313 as "an outstanding service to her community." He urged other parents of boys in the pack to donate some of their time to pack activities.

During the evening eight boys from the Webelos den were graduated at a special ceremony conducted by their den leader Mr. Donald Shanly of 21 Lodge Road, West Newton.

At the end of the ceremony they were welcomed into Troop 355 of West Newton who were present for this special occasion. Scoutmaster Lewis DeSouza, husband of Mary Lou DeSouza, presented each boy with a Troop 355 neckerchief. Among the boys graduating was John DeSouza, one of their five sons.

Three of their other sons were also present — Nicky a life scout and assistant scoutmaster, Ricky, a star scout and senior patrol leader, and Mark, a second class scout, all members of Troop 355.

The combined years of service with boy scouts for the DeSouza family represents more than 47 years. The Webelos scouts graduated and joining Troop 355 are David Barenburg, Robert Belkin, John DeSouza, Douglas Dixon, Kevin Kennedy, Paul Motyka, Steven Parer and Donald Shanly.

AT LEAST 83 BATTLES RECORDED SINCE BOMBING HALT

ALTHOUGH only two of the clashes have been officially reported, U.S. sources said Wednesday that allied troops operating inside the DMZ have fought Communist soldiers on scores of occasions since the halt in bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. The sources said patrols made up of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops had engaged in at least 83 fights with Communist troops in the southern section of the buffer strip separating North and South Vietnam.

U.S. EXPECTED TO BEGIN TROOP WITHDRAWALS SOON

OFFICIAL SOURCES said Wednesday the United States is expected to begin unilateral withdrawal of some of its military forces in South Vietnam within the near future. Such action, they said, taken without any agreement by North Vietnam to reduce its forces in the south, depended on significant increase in Communist activity in Vietnam, and some hint of progress in the Paris peace talks. The time table might be early June, at the latest, according to the report from Washington.

CZECH STUDENTS TALK OF HUNGER STRIKES AND SIT-INS

WORKERS AND TEACHERS joined the chorus of protests in Czechoslovakia and students talked Wednesday of hunger strikes and sit-ins as resentment grew over a return to censorship. The protests against new restriction on the press stemming from riots against the Soviets were only verbal so far. There were no plans for industrial strikes or street demonstrations which would bring fresh military action by the Russians.

SOVIET UNION ADDS 7 WARSHIPS TO MEDITERRANEAN FLEET

SEVEN WARSHIPS were sent by the Soviet Union steaming into the Mediterranean Wednesday to join the fleet of about 30 Russian naval vessels already there. U.S. Naval sources said it was the largest number of Soviet ships to enter the Mediterranean through the Strait of Gibraltar at one time. Most Soviet warships enter from the Black Sea, at the opposite end of the Mediterranean. The U.S. Sixth Fleet said it would closely watch the movements of the Russian ships—part of a Soviet fleet that has been on maneuvers in the Atlantic. "There has been no change in the readiness positions of the Sixth Fleet," said Vice Admiral David C. Richardson, fleet commander, from his flagship, the Little Rock, in the Mediterranean.

BRITISH SUPERSONIC AIRLINER FLIES FOR FIRST TIME

"IT'S A WIZARD," said the test pilot of an airliner built Bristol, England, for the first time. The engines of the Concorde flew faster than sound after it was flown Wednesday at 10,000 feet. The aircraft was as powerful as the rocket that launched the first American into space. In service, the Concorde will jet passengers into space at speeds up to 1,400 miles per hour.

MEDICAL HASSLE POSSIBLE OVER WORLD'S FIRST ARTIFICIAL HEART

A MEDICAL HASSLE threatened to develop Wednesday between a federal agency and two famed heart surgeons over the world's first artificial heart which worked almost perfectly in its first test to keep Haskell Karp alive for 63 hours. The National Heart Institute asked Dr. Michael DeBakey, president of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, about the heart used by Dr. Denton A. Cooley, a professor of surgery at the school. Dr. Domingo Liotta, the designer and builder of the new heart and the man who said it performed "really wonderful" in its first test, was caught in the middle. The heart institute wants to know if its funds were used and, if so, whether its guidelines were followed. The guidelines forbid "human experimentation" without prior approval.

MANSFIELD SAYS NIXON MAKING PROGRESS TOWARD PEACE

MIKE MANSFIELD, Senate Democratic leader, said Wednesday that the Nixon Administration seems to be making progress toward ending the war in Vietnam, apparently as the result of "private, unpublished meetings." He urged Nixon to take advantage of a current lull in Communist offensive actions to withdraw 80,000 troops from Vietnam and pull back the remaining U.S. forces into defensive enclaves.

CLIFFORD ALEXANDER QUILTS AS EEO BOARD CHAIRMAN

COMPLAINING of a "crippled" lack of administration support, Clifford L. Alexander Jr. quit Wednesday as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission less than two weeks after the Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, threatened to get him fired. Clifford, a Democrat and a Negro, wrote President Nixon that the inescapable conclusion to be drawn from recent events was that "vigorous efforts to enforce the laws on employment discrimination are not among the goals of this administration." He pointed to a White House spokesman's comment March 28 that the President probably would replace Alexander as chairman of the commission as is customary when a new administration takes over.

MRS. KNAUER NAMED NIXON'S AIDE FOR CONSUMER AFFAIRS

MRS. VIRGINIA H. KNAUER, a trim, blonde, 54-year-old grandmother, was appointed by President Nixon Wednesday as his special full-time assistant for consumer affairs. Mrs. Knauer, who will fill the post held by Betty Furness in the Johnson Administration, said she would be "popping into supermarkets or anywhere else when consumer interest are involved." She will be a full-time White House employee with a salary of $28,000 a year. The wife of Philadelphia lawyer Wilhelm Knauer, she headed the Pennsylvania Bureau of Consumer protection.

REACTION MIXED TO NIXON'S PLAN TO HELP RIOT TORN CITIES

REACTION consisted of hope, skepticism and surprise on Wednesday to President Nixon's plan to spend $209 million to help cities clean up their riot damage. The White House announced Tuesday that Nixon was making available immediately $9 million and was instructing the Department of Housing and Urban Development to release $200 million more to help rebuild damaged districts in the 20 cities hardest hit by rioting. The 20 cities selected to receive the money were Newark, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Akron, Louisville, Memphis, Nashville, New Haven, New York, Providence, Rochester, Tampa and Wilmington. In Newark, the plan was called "only a drop in the bucket."

200 HARVARD STUDENTS SEIZE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

LED BY THE MILITANT Students for a Democratic Society, some 200 Harvard students forcibly ejected occupants Wednesday from an administration building and took control of it after issuing six demands. Harvard gave a 15-minute ultimatum for leaving but the deadline passed with no action from either side. At Boston University, meanwhile, a similar takeover by more than 100 SDS-led students ended without violence shortly after noon after police were called and threatened arrest. A sit-in was started in a second building.

School Board Votes Compromise On Issue

It's Lunches To Class 3 Days A Week In City

By SHIRLEY GOLDWYN

Beginning next September all Newton elementary school children will take their lunches to school three days a week.

After a three-hour debate attended by some 700 people, the Newton School Committee on Monday night reached a compromise on the controversial issue of the elementary school schedule on a 5 to 3 vote.

The committee voted to have a single session school day on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:15 to 2:15 p.m. with mandatory lunch in school. On Tuesday and Thursday school will run from 8:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. with no lunch in school. The cost of the lunch program will be borne by the city as a part of the school budget.

Those favoring the compromise were Committeeman Vincent Stanton, who made the proposal, and Committeemen Richard Douglas, Mrs. Norma Mintz, Francis Frazier and Alvin Mandell.

Those opposed were Edwin Hawkridge, Harold Berman and Chairman Manuel Beckwith.

The members opposed sought a return to the 60-year-old tradition of the split session in Newton, with the children going home for lunch.

The compromise was approved on a reconsideration vote after it was first defeated by a tie vote. Committeeman Alvin Mandell, who favored a five day single session schedule, with lunch in school, voted against the compromise on the first round, deadlocking the vote at 4-4.

A motion to have the five day single session schedule with lunch in school was proposed by Mandell and defeated on a 5 to 2 vote with only Mandell and Francis Frazier favoring it.

A second motion by Mandell for a four-day mandatory single session schedule, with lunch in school, was defeated on the same 5-2 vote.

A motion by Harold Berman for a return to the old split session schedule was defeated by a 5-3 vote with Berman, Edwin Hawkridge and Chairman Beckwith the trio in favor.

Thus Committee members who voted for the compromise declared that they were not particularly happy with it, but said it was the only way they could in any way accommodate the views of the large number of elementary school parents who have been campaigning for a uniform single session schedule, with lunch in school, since 1963.

They also expressed the opinion that the compromise would retain the Tuesday and Thursday afternoons prized by teachers as a time for curriculum planning and extra help for some children.

After remarks from those favoring the five-day single session schedule to the effect that this might be only a start in their fight, Committeeman Vincent Stanton voiced the belief that "if the only thing we have learned from this meeting is that pressure works, then Newton is in real trouble."

Before the debate on the matter, Chairman Beckwith noted that "some of us have had this subject for breakfast, lunch and dinner and I don't mean only School Committee members."

Newton Rep. Opposes Bill At Hearing

Rep. H. James Shea, Jr., of Newton, registered strong opposition this week to a bill which would permit, on the first ballot, presidential convention delegates to vote for someone other than the person winning the Massachusetts Presidential primary.

He spoke at a public hearing held by the joint legislative committee on Election Laws at the State House.

Shea said the bill "would further remove the people, and the people's voice, from the selection of the presidential nominee."

Foreign Students Greeted By Mayor

American Field Service Week was proclaimed by Mayor Monte Basbas to be the week beginning Monday, April 7, when he greeted the AFS students living in Newton at the City Hall.

The Mayor acquainted them with the intricacies, and the day to day workings of municipal organization and the function of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

This week is also designated by the local AFS chapter as "Fund Raising Week" to help finance the 1969-1970 student exchange program which will provide scholarships for foreign students who will live in private homes and attend high schools in Newton, as well as aid in scholarships to Newton students going abroad to study.

The costs of running these programs have increased commensurate with other rising costs, therefore the need for money is acute.

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Sen. Ted Kennedy Now Rated Leading Democrat in Nation

The top Democratic figure in the United States today is not Lyndon B. Johnson, the last Democratic President; nor is it Hubert H. Humphrey, the last Democratic nominee for President; neither is it Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader in the U.S. Senate.

The No. 1 Democrat in the nation at this moment is 37-year-old Edward Moore Kennedy.

That realization struck with strong impact when Ted Kennedy unexpectedly appeared as the principal speaker at exercises in Memphis honoring the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

It wasn't just that Senator Kennedy was hailed as the "President of the Poor" or as the next President of the United States.

It is the simple fact that Ted Kennedy is the only public figure across our 50 States whose words can reach the raw emotions of almost any listener.

Program For Jr. College Arts Festival Announced

Specific details of the outstanding programs of the Newton Junior College Arts Festival have been announced. The Festival will be held on the College Campus, Washington Park, Newtonville, during the week of April 13-18.

On Monday, April 14, 8:15 p.m., College Hall, Tony Saletan, folksinger, will present a recital. A former music consultant to the public schools of Newton, Mr. Saletan has traveled throughout the East for the International Educational Exchange Service, a United States Government agency, taking American Gold music to a wide variety of Oriental peoples. He has also traveled widely throughout Africa.

Through his numerous TV programs, Mr. Saletan is well known for his knowledge of American folk music, and his recital will include a variety of these songs as well as others he has brought back from his world travels.

On Tuesday, April 15, 3:00 p.m., College Library, Anthony Van Riper, member of the College faculty will give a Poetry Reading. Mr. Van Riper is author of "Velvet Tides" and "Affairs of the Heart," both books of poetry, the latter to be published early 1970. He is also the author of short stories, one of which was published in "Best Short Stories Magazine," as well as radio scripts.

Mr. Van Riper will read from his published works.

On Wednesday, April 16, 8:15 p.m., College Hall, Jules Eskin, principal Cellist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will give a concert accompanied on the piano by Virginia Eskin, concert pianist. Mr. Eskin came to Boston from a similar post with the Cleveland Orchestra.

After studying at the Curtis Institute and with teachers such as Gregor Piatigorsky and Janos Starker, Mr. Eskin made his debut at Town Hall following this with numerous recitals in the U.S. and Europe. He has played with Casals in the Festival at Puerto Rico, and with Schneider and Serkin at Marlboro.

Virginia Eskin, winner of numerous contests, prizes, and awards, has performed at the Tanglewood Music Festival, and has given various recital tours in the United States and in England. She has also played with numerous chamber music ensembles in the United States, and has appeared with orchestras in London, Boston, Portland, Los Angeles and San Diego.

The program of this concert will include works by Bach, Debussy, and Franck. On Thursday, April 17, 8:15 p.m., College Hall, John Watts, Chairman of the Council on the Arts and Humanities, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will give a lecture. Dr. Watts is currently Assistant Dean and Professor of Theatre Arts at the School of Fine and Applied Arts at Boston University, and Administrator of programs in music, theatre, art, and dance at the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood.

Dr. Watts has held artistic and executive positions for a variety of arts organizations including The Festivals of the Creative Arts at Brandeis University, The Poets' Theatre, The Group 20 Players Theatre-On - The Green, and The Cambridge Drama Festival. He also serves as a consultant for a number of agencies in the arts, including the Confederation Centre for the Arts in Canada and was a commissioned scholar and consultant on the questions of funding for the arts at the Joint Center for Urban Studies at Harvard-M.I.T.

On Friday, April 18, 8:15 p.m., College Hall, the Ray Santisi Jazz Septet will present a program of jazz music, featuring compositions and arrangements by members of the faculty at the Berklee School of Music: Elinor Preble, Flute; Charlie Mariano, Alto Sax; Herb Pomeroy, Trumpet; John Miller, Bassoon; Jiri Mraz, Bass; and Art Cabral, Drums.

TONY SALEATAN

Mr. Santisi, an outstanding pianist, has performed with jazz "greats" such as Stan Getz, Coleman Hawkins, and Jimmy Rushing. He has also played for the Boston Ballet and the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and is recording for Capital Records and United Artists.

Mr. Pomeroy has been a featured jazz trumpeter and arranger with Stan Kenton and Lionel Hampton, and has recorded for Capital, Roulette, and United Artists. In addition to numerous appearances on TV, he has traveled to various parts of the world for the United States Government; he has composed scores for Duke Ellington, and has performed with jazz groups in various parts of the world.

The Women's Council of Newton Junior College is cooperating in the planning of this Festival.

Throughout the week-long series of events, there will be exhibitions by Newton artists, and open house will be held in the classes and laboratories of the College.

All events are free of charge and open to the public. Refreshments will be served after each event.

For further information call the College at 969-9570.

has for her AFS "parents" Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Morris of Newtonville. "Liz," whose father is a lawyer, is second in a family of one older brother and three sisters.

The sea and anything to do with it is enjoyed by "Liz," therefore she's delighted to have been placed in the Boston area. Social work is to be "Liz's" study and interest when she returns home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shor of Newton Centre have as their AFS "son" Eduardo Messina from Antofagasta, Chile. Eduardo's father is a doctor and he has three sisters, all of whom are excellent swimmers having won various awards.

On his return home, this Chilean student will finish his secondary schooling and hopes to go into the study of medicine at the University.

Myrna Auza-Ledesma of Tarija, Bolivia is the AFS daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Guberman of Newton Highlands. Myrna's mother and father both are teachers of music and her father is a composer. Besides being interested in art, this AFS student is an accomplished pianist.

Wolfram Zinzus of West Germany is the AFS "son" of Dr. and Mrs. George Mitchell of Waban.

He has two brothers and his father is a telegraph operator in Stuttgart. Wolfram has won Nations test while attending Bass; and Art Cabral, Drums.

Library Features New Book By Asst. Librarian

Virginia A. Tashjian, Newton's own story-hour lady and Assistant City Librarian, has done it again and has captured the magic of story-hour sharing with a delicious, delightful new book, "Juba This and Juba That" (Little, Brown).

Miss Helen Jones, Senior Children's Editor of Little, Brown, has added to the enchantment of this collection of story-hour stretch rhymes, songs and games by pairing Mrs. Tashjian's verses and stories with the just-right illustrations of versatile artist Victoria de Larrea.

"Juba This and Juba That," the enigmatic title, comes from an Appalachian folk chant, "Juba this and Juba that, Juba killed a yellow cat, Juba up and Juba down, Juba runnin' all around," providing a perfect moment of exuberant movement to spice the often sedentary story hours.

Virginia Tashjian, in private life Mrs. James A. Tashjian, wife of the editor of English-language publications of the Harelik Press, is a Simmons College graduate (B.S. and M.S.). Her first book, "Once There Was and Was Not," is presently under consideration for the William Allen White Award. This unusual award is given to encourage Kansas school children to read more and better books and to honor the memory of one of the state's most distinguished citizens.

Each year a master list of books is compiled by librarians and teachers for the Kansas school children to read. About April 1 the children vote on the winner, who is awarded a bronze medal and national recognition.

The Newton Free Library joins children everywhere in welcoming Virginia Tashjian's new book by presenting special displays at the Main Library, 414 Centre street, at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon street, and at the Nonantum Branch Library. The displays opened March 20, the official publication date.

Eliot Church Launches Fund Raising Tomorrow

The Eliot Church of Newton is kicking off their participation in the Church of Christ's capital funds drive, called "Mission: Advance!", with a free catered ham dinner on Friday, April 11, at 6:30.

"Mission: Advance!" is a major drive of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ to raise $2,000,000 over three years for special projects and mission work.

At the dinner at Eliot Church the congregation will find out details of this campaign from the speaker, Rev. Paul E. Shanabrook, Minister of Church and Mission of the Massachusetts Conference of the UCC.

Rev. Shanabrook is the administrative head of the Mission: Advance! staff and is originally from Madison, Ohio. A colored sound filmstrip will also be shown.

Those members of Eliot Church who are helping to organize the drive in their congregation are: Mr. and Mrs. William C. Custer, Mr. Kenneth Gleason, Mr. E. Merrihew Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight P. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Millard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Purple, Rev. and Mrs. David D. Rose, Mr. Philip A. Santilano, Dr. William A. Seegitz, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepard Jr., Dr. Earl P. Stevenson.

Mission Advance! is allocating 56 percent of its total funds to a variety of programs in Massachusetts. These include help to Boston for housing, education, vocation and employment; to the Ecumenical Center in Roxbury with three other denominations to build a multi-purpose center so that they can better carry on their programs for children, day-care, Head Start, and a Health Center; to make funds available to local organizations in time of crisis.

New Symbol Designed For Charter Group In Newton

Charter Review has a new symbol, designed by the award-winning graphic artist, Joseph Selame. The symbol shows a white roadway suggesting the "N" of Newton, with green trees to emphasize Newton's image as "The Garden City."

"We are greatly excited by the eye-catching appeal of our new symbol," said Mrs. Florence Rubin, president of the League of Women Voters of Newton.

"It will help to focus attention on our efforts to keep Newton's Charter and our city government strong. I know that it will encourage Newton voters to join the many public officials and private citizens who have already signed up for Charter Review."

Citizens for Charter Review will use the symbol on flyers, stickers, and posters in their signature drive to put on the November ballot the question of a thorough study of Newton's 72 year old Charter. Representatives from the League of Women Voters of Newton, the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Republican and Democratic City Committees, and the Newton Council of P. T. A.'s are working together to bring about Charter Review.

American Cancer Society research grants.

"About 1,500,000 Americans are walking around today as visible proof that the war against cancer is being won," Lyman said.

"With the emphasis of this year's April Cancer Crusade on efforts to get all Americans, men and women, to see their doctors for regular checkups during the year," Mr. Lyman announced, "the chances are excellent that the number of cancer-cured cases would rise again in the next few years."

This year's Cancer Crusade slogan is "Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check."

The 1969 Newton April Cancer Crusade will culminate with a house-to-house drive Tuesday evening, April 29th.

How can Christian Science help you?

Whatever your needs are, God can help you if you understand His laws. Christian Science can give you this understanding.

These laws bring healing. They restore the body and uplift the heart. You may learn how to apply these laws in your own life, and prove them for yourself.

A good way to begin is to come in and read this week's Bible Lesson in the Christian Science Reading Room. It is there for you to use.

CHRISTIANE WOLFF

Newton College Graduate Wins Essay Contest

Christiane Wolff, Somerville, a 1968 graduate of Newton College of the Sacred Heart has been awarded first prize in an international essay contest.

Miss Wolff will receive free round-trip jet transportation from New York to Brussels, Belgium for orientation and then a paying 10-week job in a category and language-speaking area of her choice.

Her essay on the topic "Why I Want To Work In Europe" was selected from thousands of entries received by the sponsoring International Society for Training and Culture (ISTC) from students throughout the world.

Miss Wolff, who had to defer the travel prize this summer because of a previous commitment as a training assistant in a collegiate travel study program in Germany has been offered a postponement and will do her ISTC Jobs Abroad Work Program in the summer of 1970.

In her prize-winning essay, Miss Wolff wrote that only through personal contact with people of other lands can one begin to achieve an insight into the "real spirit of the 'Weltanschauung' of a nation." She believes that working among the people, more than just traveling, enhances understanding of their life style and tradition.

"It is the routine of daily life that comprises their existence and, therefore, only by sharing in their daily activities, can one gain real human understanding..." she wrote.

Miss Wolff, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gunther A. Wolff, Lexington, is administrative assistant to the board of student advisors at the Harvard Law School.

be found on neighboring college campuses. Mr. Fumi Adachi, a Brandeis student from Japan, has spoken to individual classes studying Japan. Mr. Adachi related remarkably well to each class and provided a valuable extension to textbook prose.

The Creative Arts Committee also serves as liaison between the school community and The Youth Center at Symphony Hall. In meeting this responsibility, each chairman is in charge of arrangements for her particular school. The Creative Arts Committee is a special concert by The Boston Symphony Orchestra, starring Danny Kaye, to benefit Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall.

An achievement of The Creative Arts Committee during this school year has been the three day Newton tour of the Little Theatre of the Deaf, which is now enjoying a successful Broadway run. Fourth, fifth, and sixth graders throughout Newton were privileged to witness this troop of deaf actors as they performed works of Dylan Thomas, Ogden Nash, and e.e. cummings in the graceful hand language of the deaf, providing visible proof of how a liability can be transformed into an asset.

Ten schools had in-school performances. Children from the remaining schools were taken by bus to a performance held for them at Newton South High School. There was a special performance for Junior High School students held at Meadowbrook Junior High School.

Plans are underway now to Fund Raising For Cancer Research Set For May 5, 6

Aid for Cancer Research is a group of 29 Greater Boston women who know through experience that dedication is worth more than numbers. Small in membership, it is large in accomplishments. Established 21 years ago, these women have played a strong role in raising urgently needed funds to advance the fight against cancer.

Their efforts in behalf of research have supported innumerable programs at local hospitals and medical schools. Close to half a million dollars has been raised in the past years to aid cancer research.

All requests are first approved by the eminent doctors of the Medical Advisory Board, consisting of Dr. Joseph Aub, Mass. General Hospital; Dr. Sidney Farber, Children's Medical Center; Dr. Francis D. Moore, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital; Dr. Gerald Shklar, Tufts University School of Dental Medicine; Dr. Shields Warren, New England Deaconess Hospital; and Dr. Peter Mozdzen, University Hospital, Chairman for 1968-1969.

Whether it be for a piece of equipment, scholarship assistance, or a fellowship when the need for funds is urgent and immediate, then Aid for Cancer Research is called upon. The speed with which a request can be investigated and granted, makes this unpaid worker group unique. It is a local organization and not a chapter of a larger national group.

The major fund-raising function is the Annual Luncheon and Fashion Show to be held this year on May 5 and 6 at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill. A Program Book will be distributed among more than 1500 guests. There is also a special Memorial Fund, which is a large source of income.

$27,600 was given this past year for the following cancer research projects: $1600 to Dr. Pete Ofner of the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital for Refrigerated Fraction Collector Accessories; $4,000 to Dr. Allan Birch for a Fume Hood for Radio Active Krypton; $1500 for Summer Research awards to 2 Tufts Medical students; $2,500 to a Doctoral Student for his study of Leukemia at the Holy Ghost Hospital; $4000 to Dr. William Perlman at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital for Research in Breast Cancer and $15,000 to University Hospital for a new Laboratory.

Officers of A.C.R. for the current year are: Mrs. Mortimer Goldman, president;

Young Audience Concerts Inc. to many of the schools, and The Theatre Company of Boston is scheduled for several appearances before the close of the school year.

The Creative Arts Chairman (there is at least one representative from each Newton school) will continue to fulfill her commitment to enriching the lives of Newton children, for the rest of the year by offering the highest calibre talent and the most comprehensive representation of the arts to her school.

tempting to delay the payment of the architects' fee on the grounds the fees increased excessively since the start of the planning for the school.

Regarding the voting machines, the Board approved a resolution submitted by Ald. Melvin J. Dangel requesting the mayor to ask for $15,000 to lease a scanner-type system, which uses the paper ballots now in use.

The machines are used only by precinct workers and they tally the vote. If the mayor goes along with the Dangel resolution, which was approved by the Board on a 15 to 7 vote, the city would lease the scanner system for the next three elections.

Norumbega Council executives will be contacting all Newton, Wellesley and Weston residents either by mail or personally outlining Council objectives. Local businessmen will also be invited to lend their support and help as individuals.

Norumbega Council's 1969 fund goal is $145,000, according to Ed Ehrenberg, Chairman of the Fund Raising Drive.

All local Scouting's stakes are great — including the necessity of either raising the needed funds or losing its Nobscoot Reservation property, a unique site for weekend camping close to home.

"It's simply a case of Scout's Honor, we need help," says Fund Chairman Ehrenberg. We're faced with a situation where we have more Boy Scouting activity than ever before in the Norumbega Council area — and less money to work with than ever before.

"We have 3,500 youngsters in Scouting now — and another 3,000 boys waiting for the Scouting opportunity we just haven't got the means to provide."

"Yet despite this appeal of Scouting we're now faced with a decrease in the proportion of needed funds from the Mass Bay United Fund, United Community Services and other sources."

"Our Scouting budget for the Norumbega Council for 1969 — will be $28,000. So just to keep at our present level of activity we need to raise $55,425 this year. In addition to that we owe $89,000 because we haven't been able to raise sufficient money in the past."

"We're shooting for our $145,000 goal so that in another year we can really move with these boys."

"In Scouting," Mr. Ehrenberg summed up, "your dollars work for our boys in your community. I hope everyone will become a sustaining member."

From Norumbega Council, Scouts in participating local Troops get weekend camping experience; a summer camping program at Hidden Valley, with fine facilities and a trained staff; help from professional Scouts who create and maintain volunteer leaders.

They are assisted in developing Cub Scout Packs; Boy Scout Troops, Explorer and Sea Scout Posts. They receive assistance with a well-rounded activities program and a supply of program materials, plus literature and awards.

Bowen School Principal To Retire Soon

After 40 years in education, Edward M. Clarke, principal of the Bowen Elementary School, Newton Centre, since 1952, is resigning this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke live at 103 Roundwood rd., Newton Upper Falls. They have two children.

Clarke graduated from Amherst College in 1929, with high honors in English, Phi Beta Kappa. He received his master's degree in 1936 from Teachers' College, Columbia University.

He was an instructor in Latin and English at the Pomfret School, Pomfret, Conn., in 1929-30, at Rye Country Day School in Rye, N.Y., 1930-1935, and English instructor at Brookline High School, Brookline, 1935-1938.

He held positions as headmaster at the Evans School, Tucson, Arizona, from 1938 to 1942 and at Sewickley Academy, Sewickley, Pa., from 1946 to 1951.

His professional career was interrupted by service in the Naval Reserve from August 1942 to March 1946. He served in the V-5 and V-12 program and was executive officer at California Polytechnic Institute, San Luis Obispo, Calif. He was later made commanding officer at Middlebury, Vt., and Colgate University, Hamilton, N.Y., and upon his release to inactive duty had the rank of lieutenant commander.

With Navy Squadron

Navy Lt. (j.g.) William J. Galvin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Galvin of 36 Ridge Ave., Newton, is assigned to Patrol Squadron 44, U.S. Naval Air Station, Patuxent River, Md.

The squadron recently returned from 3 months deployment at the Naval Station at Keflavik, Iceland, where they patrolled the North Atlantic and conducted anti-submarine warfare activities.

Urge Endicott Mansion Used for Addict Center

State Rep. H. James Shea Jr. (D-Newton), has joined with Rep. William Ryan (R-Haverhill), in urging the conversion of the Endicott Mansion in Dedham into a drug rehabilitation center for addicts under the age of 21.

They have asked Gov. Sargent to drop his stated plan to return the estate to Dedham rather than use it as a governor's mansion as formerly intended.

The two legislators state: "While in this year of needed austerity we concur with Gov. Sargent that the Endicott Mansion should not be developed into a gubernatorial mansion, we believe that the Endicott Mansion would well serve as a facility for drug rehabilitation program."

"Because of the dramatically increasing problems connected with youthful drug use, we urge the governor to commence immediate work to implement a drug rehabilitation program for drug users under the age of 21 at the site of the Endicott Mansion."

"The executive and legislative problems connected with effecting a successful, and desperately needed, drug rehabilitation program for youthful users at the Endicott Mansion demand the prompt attention of all concerned parties — including the governor, all legislators and the Town of Dedham."

Shea, as a member of the Legislative Committee on Urban Affairs, has been concerned with drug use problems as has Ryan as a member of the Legislative Committee on Social Welfare.

They suggested a drug program at the Endicott Mansion be administered by the State Department of Rehabilitation.

West Newtonite Conference Aide

Robert A. Edwards of 77 Davies Ave., West Newton, an instructor at Wentworth Institute in Boston, has been named to the food and entertainment committee for the third annual Conference on Technical Institute Education to be held April 25 and 26 at the Institute.

The conference, sponsored by the New England Section of the American Society for Engineering Education, will be attended by technical school instructors from throughout the six-state area.

Whose Responsibility?

The Justice Department has finally stepped in and has begun to investigate "non-student agitators," who turn up at the scenes of campus violence. "We are investigating any serious college disruption for possible evidence of violation of the 1968 Civil Rights Law," a Department spokesman said.

One of the campuses where the FBI — on behalf of the Justice Department's Criminal Division — is making a probe is Brandeis University in Waltham which was the scene of turmoil for a week recently.

The FBI investigation is concentrating on fellow-traveling young professionals in the hope of establishing a pattern of appearances in various states, including Massachusetts.

The investigation is laudable in that it is geared to keep professional agitators off the campuses-of-learning. It is not a witch hunt and is in no way designed to curb legitimate protest by legitimate students with legitimate complaints. A good deal of the student protest may be justified, at least morally and intellectually.

Of course, campus violence is to be deplored — no matter what the cause or who the perpetrators. And, as President Nixon put it, campus violence should be policed by the colleges and universities. Although the president has urged stricter enforcement of laws against student violence, he has made it quite clear that college and university administrations must police their own houses.

The federal government "cannot, should not — must not — enforce the principle of academic freedom and intellectual integrity in schools," he said.

What is needed are college and university officials who are reasonable and just but who are also made of sterner stuff. Officials who know when to say "yes" and when to say "no," and who — when demonstrations get out of hand — will not vacillate or temporize but will utilize the laws already on the books and stop the violence.

Besmirching His Memory

During the past weekend, the nation paused to honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the Negro civil rights leader who was slain by an assassin's bullet in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, 1968.

In cities all over the United States, Negroes marched and met and vowed to carry on Dr. King's work — a crusade of equality for all, which was cut off so tragically on that early spring day a year ago.

As in other cities across the land, the memory of Dr. King was honored in Boston, too. But, because of one incident, his memory may have been dishonored.

During last Friday's march through Roxbury, an American flag was draped over a rear bumper and dragged along the street. The action was uncalled for, reflecting a callous, contemptuous display of unpatriotism. It would be putting it mildly to say that it was terrible public relations.

The action brought immediate reaction. Timothy V. O'Connor, Massachusetts commander of the American Legion, said the incident was "against everything we know as American."

James E. Peoples, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said "certainly action should be taken."

Horace G. Still, Disabled American Veterans' state commander, felt the action "dishonored Dr. King, who in his lifetime always honored the American flag."

It is unfortunate that a small minority of last Friday's marchers chose to forget something their fallen leader always remembered.

Conference By Newton PTA Council To Be April 17th

Four distinguished planners and architects will serve on a panel of experts for the Annual Spring Conference of the Newton PTA Council to be held next Thursday (April 17) at the Newton High School.

Architects Walter Hill and Miller. Marr is in charge of Earl Flansburgh, Newton City coordinating the office of Planner James A. Miller and treasurer — collector with that Newton's Director of Finance of the accounting office for Arthur A. Marr, Jr. will focus the city of Newton. Miller is on "Building Schools: Why? Planning Director for the City Where? When? How?" under the direction of moderator Gilbert H. Friedell, chairman of the PTA Council School Building Committee.

Walter Hill is a full-time lecturer in Education and Urban Planning at Harvard University, and a practicing architect. Earl Flansburgh, also a practicing architect, has many school and college buildings to his credit. Both Street, Auburndale. The common are very familiar with the school building picture.

Very familiar with Newton's own special picture are with coordinators in each of Arthur Marr and James the Newton public schools.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

New High School

Editor of The Graphic:

In the interest of continued educational excellence in Newton, The Faculty Senate of Newton High School feels obligated to comment on the plans for the new building. We fully appreciate the burden that increased costs will put upon the taxpayer, but savings realized in dollars through a compact building may be false economy. Through necessity the design has placed emphasis on compactness and omitted some facilities completely. Here are some examples:

Windowless rooms
Windowless rooms may be economical, but we question whether they are educationally appropriate in the secondary school. It is one thing to have windowless rooms in graduate schools or industrial complexes where individuals may escape at will, but quite another where captive audiences are concerned.

Air Conditioning (Cooling)
It is not clear whether air conditioning will be included in the academic areas. It would be unwise to omit this in a building with windowless rooms, an active summer school program, and a fairly compact building housing close to 3000 people.

Columns
As a result of changes in the plans, columns have appeared in certain classrooms and labs. It seems indeed unfortunate to build a new school with the use of certain rooms restricted. The columns in the Tech-voc area are so numerous they seriously limit the design and function of the shops.

House Complex
The present house plan is not workable. The common rooms are part of the corridors, and could not be used effectively. Lavatories, teacher lounges and workrooms are on the first floor; a great inconvenience to teachers on the second and third floors.

Demonstration Classroom
Newton High School is committed to teacher education as an ingredient of excellence, yet its facilities for this aspect of our responsibility are at present primitive and rapidly falling behind current advances in theory and practice. Obviously, Newton is sacrificing this kind of excellence in the new building by omitting a demonstration classroom and facilities for video-tapes, micro-teaching laboratory.

This building must serve

Youth Speaks

Editor of

The Graphic:

Although I am a young person, I have for several years followed local events in your paper. I have appreciated this news coverage as well as your classified ads. But I have often been deeply perplexed and saddened by your editorials.

I am perplexed because you seem to have little consciousness of the fact that young people of my generation have grown up with the nuclear threat over our heads. We find it almost impossible to understand why any news media should support a militaristic viewpoint which could lead to the very destruction of this country and of the world.

I am also saddened by the fact that your paper shows very little sympathy towards the struggles of my generation to cope with the dilemmas of wealth, militarism, the war, racial problems, etc.

You seem to be overly concerned with items of power "opulence and prestige," which the Pope this Easter has urged us to turn from in favor of moral rebirth.

Heart Fund Thanks

Editor of The Graphic:

I want to take the opportunity to personally thank your newspaper for the generous support you gave our recent Heart Fund drive.

The announcements of appointments of local residents, who volunteered so much of their time and effort to our cause, and other news about heart and blood vessel diseases were of great importance to our campaign.

On behalf of the thousands of volunteers and of the staff of the Greater Boston Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, I extend to you our deep heartfelt appreciation for your assistance in the fight against the nation's Number One killer—heart disease.

Atwood P. Dunham Jr.
Chairman, Faculty Senate
Newton High School

To Mr. Beckwith

Mr. Manuel Beckwith

21 Kingswood road

Auburndale, Mass.

Dear Mr. Beckwith:

Please do everything in your power to see that the issue of a lunch program in the elementary schools of Newton is decided on the basis of what is best for the community as a whole and with care that the elementary school schedule does not place an insupportable burden on any group — teachers, mothers, children, or anyone else immediately involved.

The "educational priorities" issue is superficial and sets up an artificial standard which does not necessarily correspond to what the community needs and what the community can afford. A broadly human need should not be denied in the name of exclusively educational needs simply because that is the way the budgetary pie is divided. Indeed, an exclusively educational "machinery" has to be used responsibly so that its use does not result in damages in other sectors or at the generally human level. If a construction company on the next lot damages my property, I expect restoration at that company's expense.

I value education highly; also motherhood, liberty, democracy, etc. But there is a limit to what can be done in the name of any one of these.

The modern world depends on working out ways in which many different needs and claims can be satisfied simultaneously. Please let this skill of modern man be brought to bear on this complex situation in Newton.

Sincerely yours,
Madeleine B. Powell

Warning On Dogs

Editor of

The Graphic:

I wish to warn people not to go near restrained dogs. Newly restrained dogs will be very hard to accustom to the leash and could get wild or vicious. This Sunday we saw a usually docile dog nearly bit a two-year-old as she ran over to him as she usually does. He was so unhappy and angered at the unaccustomed tie-up that he snapped and clawed at her.

This dog was 8 years old and ordinarily friendly. Older dogs I believe will be the hardest to re-train and also may be crotchety because of age anyway, making the problem more acute.

As one columnist recently observed, Senator Kennedy now sits as a sort of watchdog over President Nixon. Ted's position as the assistant Democratic leader is one of great power and influence.

But the reasons for his tremendous popularity with the public go far beyond political factors.

Ted Kennedy's affinity with the people is a relationship not enjoyed by any other politician.

If he does not stand for President in 1972, it will be because his own timetable does not call for him making that move at the age of 40.

Democrats Already Planning Battle With Brooke in 1972

Senator Edward W. Brooke isn't yet half-way through his six-year term as a member of the upper chamber of Congress, but top Democratic leaders already are talking about a fight to unseat him in 1972.

Brooke seems pretty well entrenched in his senatorial position. But 1972 will be a Presidential year, and if Senator Edward M. Kennedy should be the Democratic nominee for President, a Democratic tide might be running in Massachusetts.

That, at least, is how the Democratic politicians reason it. The fact is that it mightn't work out that way at all.

In 1960, when the late John F. Kennedy was the Democratic candidate for President, John A. Volpe was elected Governor and Leverett Saltonstall was re-elected Senator.

While JFK rolled up a big plurality for himself in his home state, he didn't produce a Democratic sweep or carry the Democratic candidates for Governor and U.S. Senator into office on his shoulders.

That election provided impressive evidence that Massachusetts is a ballot-splitting state in which large numbers of voters often criss-cross party lines and disregard party labels while making their choices, especially at or near the top of the ticket.

Brooke shapes up as a tough candidate to topple under ordinary circumstances. He has been defeated only once in a state-wide election contest. That was by Kevin H. White, present Mayor of Boston, in their 1960 battle for the office of Secretary of State.

After that loss to White, Brooke came back to win election as Attorney General in 1962 and 1964 and as U.S. Senator in 1966. His senatorial adversary was Endicott Peabody who had upset John A. Volpe for the Governorship in 1962.

Despite Brooke's potent record, it is virtually certain that he will have a prominent Democratic adversary when he stands for reelection a little more than three years from now.

Attorney General Robert Quinn is one of those being widely mentioned as a possible choice to carry the Democratic banner against Brooke in '72.

This is because it is expected that Quinn will be elected next year to a four-term as Attorney General and that he will be holding the same office Brooke used as a springboard to the U.S. Senate.

If a Democrat is elected Governor next year, he presumably would have the first claim to his party's nomination for U.S. Senator in 1972.

Another possibility is former Boston Mayor John F. Collins.

Collins sought the Democratic nomination for the Senate in 1966 but was edged out by ex-Governor Peabody.

A Republican tide was running in that 1966 election, largely because of public discontent with the war in Vietnam, and it's doubtful that Collins could have defeated Brooke if he had received the nomination.

The former Hub Mayor is now immersed in academic life at M.I.T. Whether he would be interested in returning to the political ways to make another run for the Senate is uncertain. He would be an attractive candidate if he did so.

Collins and Quinn are close personal and political friends. There would be no clash between them for the right to run for Senator.

Whatever happens, there will be no lack of Democrats ready to stand against Senator Brooke, and the rumblings in anticipation of that fight — still more than three years away — already are starting.

GOP House Members Rebel Against Governor Sargent

Governor Francis W. Sargent is having trouble with his political troops.

Rebellion has broken out among the Republican members of the House of Representatives.

There are not many sons and daughters of the GOP sitting in the Democratic-controlled House.

But a majority of those who are there have been rebelling against Sargent's leadership.

On one occasion the Republican leader in the House refused to vote as requested by Sargent while the Democratic Speaker stepped in and saved the day for the Republican Governor.

It's extremely doubtful that Democratic Speaker David M. Bartley had any desire to perform any favors for Republican Governor Sargent, but that's how it happened to work out.

At issue was the question whether some $66.5 million in Medicaid bills should be paid from the General Fund or the Local Aid Fund.

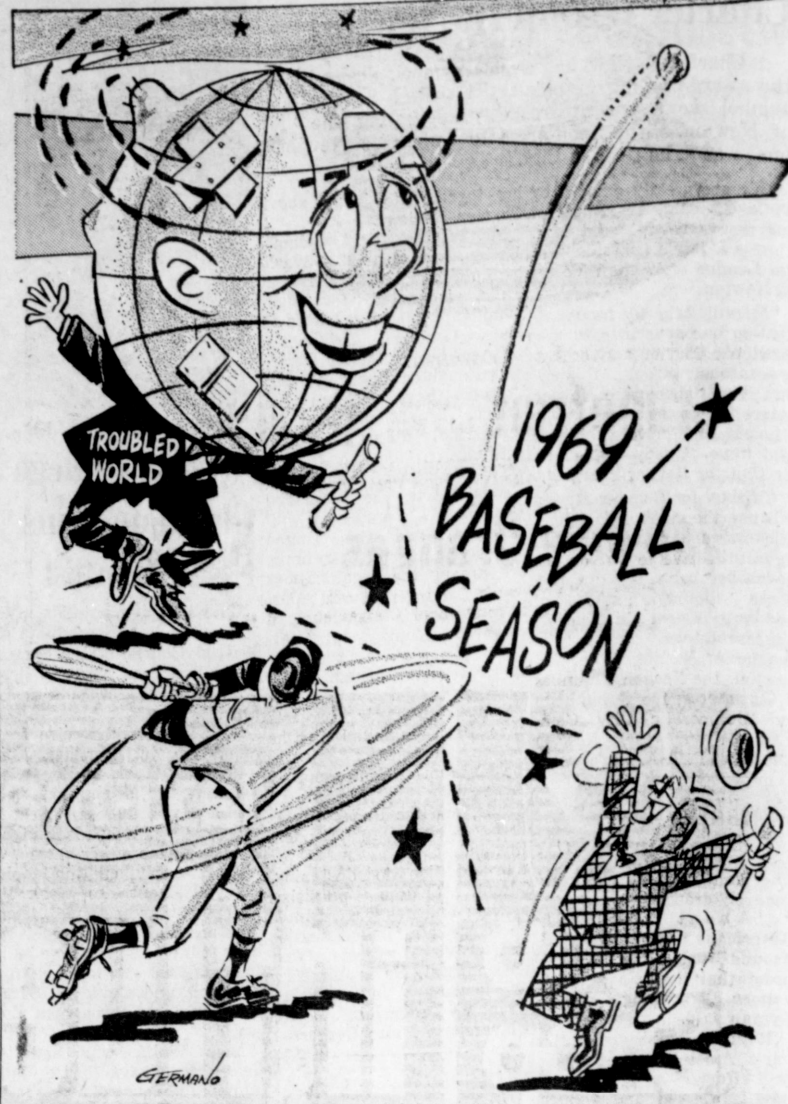

If they are paid from the General Fund, Governor Sargent would be forced to raise an additional $66.5 million in new taxes above the $143 million he is presently seeking.

If the bills are paid from the Local Aid Fund, the city and town officials will lose part of the amount they are depending upon to hold down their local tax rates since the total fund which would be distributed to them would be reduced by the $66.5 million.

Governor Sargent, who is having plenty of trouble lining up votes for his $143 million tax program, is not anxious to raise that amount to $209.5 million. He recommended that the $66.5 million be taken from the Local Aid Fund.

A big majority of the Republican House members

PLAY BALL!

Mrs. Houghton Answers

Editor of The Graphic:

It was startling to read Mrs. Kellner's letter last week concerning a private phone conversation we had last Friday. It's appalling to contemplate the publication of fragments out of context taken from a casual telephone conversation of which we all have so many. In discussion and in my letter two weeks ago concerning the school lunch, I was trying to instill the spirit of compromise with those involved, including Mrs. Kellner.

Of course, I comprehend the problems of pupil-teacher ratio, overcrowded classes, building maintenance and costs, insufficient guidance personnel. Any citizen of Newton who regularly reads our newspapers, sends children through Newton schools, and participates in the efforts to improve education in this time of rapid change knows the numerous deficits as well as strengths of the school system. But these were not the issues under discussion.

The particular issue to which I addressed myself was the turmoil and polarization which has been increasing in reference to the school lunch program and the necessity for a prompt solution within an atmosphere of trust.

Of course, I am aware of the costs involved. Definite pro-rating of lunch expenses had not yet been determined. Of the $12,000 fixed charge for trash pick-up to which Mrs. Kellner referred, only 30-40 percent could be attributed to the increased collections necessitated by the lunch program, according to Mr. John Gilliland, business administrator of Newton schools.

the supervision of the program should depend upon details worked out; this would hardly be an insurmountable problem.

I am sorry Mrs. Kellner did not understand the spirit of our private conversation. I still feel compromise in good faith is mandatory toward the solution of the school lunch program. Education of our children is not dependent on where they eat lunch, but education is dependent upon a climate of understanding and trust so that parents and teachers, school committee and citizens can concentrate together on the educational challenges of our times.

ELOISE K. HOUGHTON,
West Newton

Other Letters On Page 6

refused to follow Sargent's guidance and voted instead to have the bills paid from the General Fund which would have forced Sargent to find new sources of revenue.

Exactly why the GOP House members are rebelling against Sargent's leadership is not clear.

Some of them probably are still miffed at his action in refusing to give them a $2500-a-year salary increase and insisting they take a $1400 pay hike instead when they had understood he would sign the original bill.

When you hit a legislator in his pocketbook, as Sargent did, you strike a very sensitive spot.

Other law-makers complain that Sargent is taking them and their support for granted.

Still others assert that they are under pressure from officials in their home communities, where tax rates will go up this year, to provide as much state aid as possible.

Whatever the reason, Governor Sargent, who has no scarcity of problems, has been faced with a measure of mutiny in the Republican legislative ranks.

Hippies Got Bum's Rush Out Of Canyon Owned By Indians

One thing about the authorities out in Palm Springs, Calif., and the Agua Caliente Indians of Southern California is that they have no sense of humor or deep feeling for the fitness of things.

Some 20,000 Hippies converged on Palm Springs for a few days of fun and relaxation. And what happened? They got the bum's rush, that's what happened!

The Hippies were dirty, disorderly and disgusting. But those apparently are badges of distinction in Hippie circles.

Well, the Hippies did a few harmless little things like stealing automobiles, assaulting police officers, raping women and engaged in such wholesome fun as pilfering food, indulging in various forms of indecent exposure and lining the bottoms of swimming pools with empty beer cans.

Things might have been even worse, but prophets out there predicted that a great earthquake would tear Southern California apart from the rest of the United States and that it would slide either down or out into the Pacific Ocean.

That did it for some of the Hippies who couldn't stand the thought of being in such close proximity to so much water and took off for safer sections.

A sudden storm also gave the Hippies an unexpected bath while they were camping out uninvited on the lawns of posh hotels and swanky homes.

Hundreds of the Hippies went down into a canyon owned by the Agua Caliente Indians who apparently complained about the invasion, and the police converged on the place with tear gas, riot guns and helicopters and routed the Hippies who are described in dispatches as to have been dirty and barefoot.

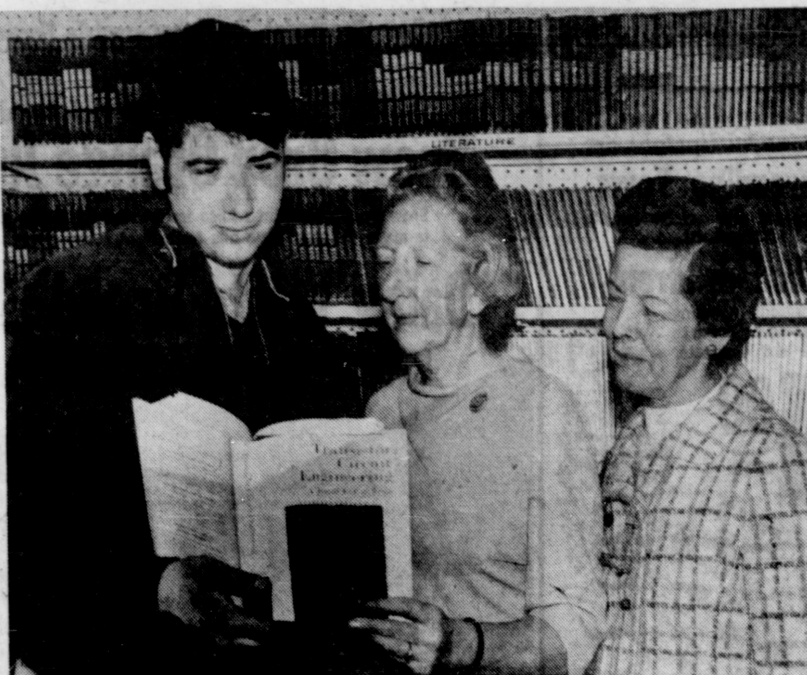

It's getting so the Hippies can't violate the law without fear of being molested.

Newton Women Elected To Nat'l Office In Am. Jewish Congress

Mrs. S. Robert Wolf of Newton Lower Falls was elected national vice president and Mrs. Robert Berns of Newton Centre, retiring national vice president, was elected to the National Advisory Council at the recent National Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C. Also attending from Newton Highland was Mrs. Robert Colton.

All three women presented policy statements at the Convention workshops. Mrs. Wolf on "Amnesty and the Draft." Mrs. Berns on "Analysis of Public Welfare and Alternate Measures." Mrs. Berns also served as co-chairman of the Resolutions Committee. In addition to her national offices, Mrs. Berns is a past president of the Suburban Women's Division, N.E. Region, A.J.Congress.

Mrs. Colton on "Relevance of Judaism to Today's Social Issues." Mrs. Colton is Recording Secretary of the N.E. Region and past president of the Emma Lazarus Chapter.

The Convention drew over five hundred women from A.J.Congress Chapters around the country for discussions and resolutions on the Middle East situation, the Urban Crisis, Jewish education and the role of the United States in the current world scene.

Mrs. Charles Snitow of Scarsdale, New York, was re-elected president of the National Women's Division.

Race-

Originally scheduled for February 26, but postponed because of a snow storm, the symposium, entitled "Racial Attitudes: Can our Schools Teach Them?", will feature two speakers from the social studies curriculum unit of the Newton School Department and a panel of school principals, and will be moderated by the Reverend Clyde G. Dodder, minister of the First Unitarian Society of West Newton.

The evening's speakers will be Edward C. Martin, coordinator for the social studies program of Newton's elementary and junior high schools, and Mrs. Vivian Johnson, associate coordinator for the program. A group of principals from several of Newton's schools will then respond to the ideas presented by the speakers.

Emphasizing the fact that participation in the discussion by the audience will be encouraged, Mrs. May Takayanagi, chairman of the Fair Housing Committee's program subcommittee which organized the meeting, urged that as many Newton residents as possible attend. Refreshments will be served at the church following the program.

Another major current activity of Newton Fair Housing is the "Suburban Information Project", in which the organization is collaborating with several other groups in sponsoring a survey throughout Metropolitan Boston of the viewpoints of city and town officials regarding pressing social and economic issues affecting minority groups in their communities.

As its part of the undertaking, Newton Fair Housing, acting through its urban affairs subcommittee, will interview Newton public officials to ascertain their attitudes concerning such matters as the need in the city for inter-racial understanding, education and cooperation, and the need for greater attention in suburban areas to the housing, employment, and business aspirations of minority groups.

The three organizations that have assumed primary responsibility for conducting the survey are the Massachusetts Fair Housing Federation, the American Friends Service Committee, and the Commission on Law and Social Action of the American Jewish Congress.

The effort will be coordinated throughout Greater Boston by Amedeo Arment of the Fair Housing Federation; Miss Sally Bradt of the Friends Service Committee; and Daniel D. Levenson and

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

"Blockbuster" School

Editor of The Graphic:
I am impressed by the common sense and logic of the letter by Mr. John Livingston, published in the last issue (April 2) of the Graphic.

At a time when taxes and prices are rising wildly, why in the name of sanity should the City of Newton build a $15 million monster, blockbuster, high school?

Pretty words ("campus high school") cannot disguise the facts. The city's scheme (and it is a scheme) will put 2,700 or more boys and girls between 14 and 17 years of age within the same sets of walls.

In a high school class of minimum 900, how can an individual student at the most difficult period of his life develop, or be expected to develop, the decency, self-respect, and honor we need in the next generation? In a high school class of minimum 900 how many students can achieve legitimate personal recognition as members of varsity athletic teams, actors in school plays, and Editors of the high school newspaper?

The obvious answer is that only a very small percentage will be able to achieve self-confidence and recognition in THAT manner.

The easiest way to make a name in a huge, anonymous mass of ever changing faces may well be reflected in the increased incidence of smoking "pot" (already a problem in our schools), spitting at authorities, littering, pulling knives, and generally "raising hell."

Narcotics have already been discovered in Newton schools. I predict that if this blockbuster high school is built, the incidence of drugs and demonstrations of violence and vandalism will increase. The school will have to be run like a huge bureaucracy with impersonal rules and more attention paid to disciplinary enforcement than academic instruction.

Schools is the economic lifeblood of the City of Newton. Thousands of families bought property and moved to Newton because it was reported to have the best public school system in the Boston area. If the school system deteriorates further, these people will leave Newton and move to the next "circle" of towns like Lincoln, Concord, Sudbury.

If they leave, property values will fall, the city's tax base will shrink, tax rates will rise as the base shrink motivating more residents to emigrate to other communities. The cycle of degeneration and deterioration which has already hit older cities in the Boston metropolitan area will hit Newton.

It seems to me that either a high school broken down into separate "houses" (if they are really separated) or, better still, a limited number of neighborhood high schools, offer better alternatives, on many scores, than a huge, high - explosive - potential factory for our children, in which learning and development is supposed to take place.

For one thing, it would make it more difficult, rather than more easy, for dope pushers, to mingle with students, undetected and unrecognized in the sea of faces.

As a mother and university faculty member, I urge the School Committee, the members of the Board of Aldermen, and the Mayor to RECONSIDER wasting 15 million dollars on a "boondoggle" which is not in the best interest of the people.

Very truly yours,
Christiane L. Joost

From Yule Seals

Editor of The Graphic:
The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association would like to express sincere thanks to the Newton Graphic for your support of our 1968-69 Christmas Seal Campaign.

Your newspaper made it possible for us to "go over the top" by keeping the public aware of our program and campaign. We are deeply indebted to you for helping us tell the tuberculosis story.

Thank you for all past courtesies that you have extended to us.

Where The Shoe Is

Editor of The Graphic:

I think it is admirable that Mr. Flaschner wants to protect the open spaces along the Charles River. There is no doubt in anyone's mind that such areas that so far have escaped the developer's touch should be kept in their natural state for generations to come.

I cannot help but wonder, though, where Mr. Flaschner was when the opportunity arose to acquire the Norumbega property, the development of which was so upsetting to residents of Weston just across the river.

It would seem that the shoe is on the other foot now and methinks it pinches.

Newton Rotary Holds Election

Stafford Davis was elected for a one-year term as president of the Newton Rotary Club in recent balloting at the Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton.

Also elected for one-year terms were: Vice President William K. Mackey, and Directors Rev. John Balcom Carol A. Bartel, Rev. Robert L. Griesse and Robert J. Julien.

All the terms of office will begin in July.

N-V Taxpayers Join To Stop Deterioration

A group of approximately 40 concerned taxpayers, owners of homes in the triangle formed by Court St., Crafts St. and Walnut St., Newtonville, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy of 17 Turner Ter., recently to devise ways to stop the encroachment of business and general deterioration of the neighborhood which is designated residential.

A committee was formed to represent the various streets within the triangle and a petition has been filed at City Hall for a hearing and viewing of the area by Mayor Basbas and City Councilmen.

Eight Get Honors At Suffolk Univ.

Eight students from the Newtons have been named to the Dean's List at Suffolk University. In order to qualify for Dean's List honors a student must earn an average of 3.0 based on a 4.0 maximum for the semester.

They are: John L. Morgenthau of 11 Boyd St.; Francis T. Addressi of 87 Norwood Ave., Newtonville; Mrs. Barbara Mason of 19 Ricker Road; Peter A. Gilman of 400 Ward St.; Roberta Feldberg of 93 Woodcluff Rd.; Dorothy M. Boland of 188 Beacon St.; Paul F. Applebaum of 155 Pond Brook Rd. and William A. Appel of 5 Drew Rd.

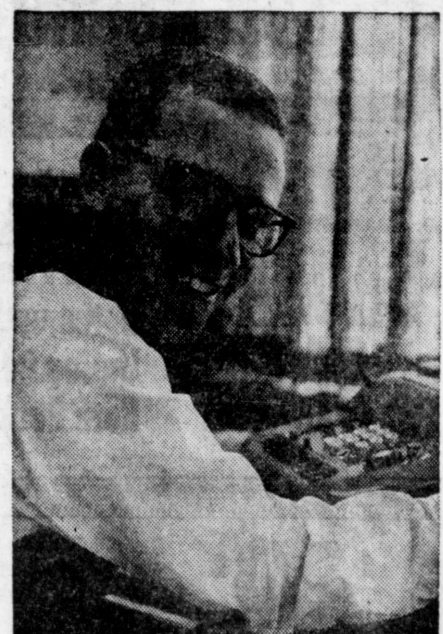

College Notes

Stephen G. Kaplan of 77 Oakdale Rd., Newton, is among the more than 1000 graduates receiving diplomas at the Pennsylvania State University commencement exercises at the end of the winter term. He received the Master of Business Administration degree.

Want Ads Deliver

Adding a column of figures can be drudgery. It had been in this young businessman. Trying to "go it alone" in the business world found him spending too much time adding up figures and too little time out doing what he can do best — selling himself and his service. With the budget pulled in real tight, additional office equipment seemed a long way off until Transcript Publications Family Want Ads delivered for him. He read of a used adding machine for sale. He bought and now he's selling more and adding less. And the man who placed the ad was equally pleased with the way Transcript Publications Family Want Ads delivered — he has cash in place of a never used piece of machinery.

Garden Club Of Newton Centre Meets April 15

Mrs. Raymond C. Cronin of Wellesley Hills, will be the speaker at the last of this season's meetings of the Newton Centre Garden Club.

Members and their invited guests will meet on Tuesday, April 15 at 9:30 for morning coffee at which Mrs. Davis N. Ripley and Mrs. Thomas A. West, both of Newton, will pour. Hostesses for the day are Mrs. James S. Barrie of Waban and Mrs. Clinton C. Brown of Newton.

Miss Esther Winslow, of Newton Centre, club president, will conduct the business meeting at 10 o'clock when final plans for the club's annual meeting scheduled for May 20 at the Auburndale Holiday Inn, will be made.

Also on the agenda are announcements regarding the club's standard flower show to be held on June 4 in the West Newton home of Mrs. William H. Brine.

Mrs. Cronin is no stranger to garden club members for she enjoys a reputation as an expert in gardening and horticulture in New England. Her subject: "Topiary for the Amateur" should arouse the interest of her audience for topiary has been practised since the Middle Ages especially in England where remarkable and old examples of this old art are to be seen in profusion.

Perhaps after Mrs. Cronin's lecture we shall see the efforts in Newton and Wellesley of the garden club members who may try their hand at producing geometric and fantastic shapes from their box hedges and ivy plantings.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

Services at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, will be at 10:45 on Sunday. All are welcome.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson. Sermon to be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

A verse from Job, included in the lesson, states that God "will not afflict." A related passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy says: "The humble Nazarene overthrew the supposition that sin, sickness, and death have power. He proved them powerless."

Nearly 550 differently types of minerals are found in California.

MRS. MICHAEL ENTNER

Pretty Spring Bridal Unites Miss Faneuil-Mr. Entner

Miss Roberta Faneuil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Faneuil, of 128 Baldpate Hill road, Newton Centre, and Michael Entner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Entner of Brookline, were married recently in the Grand Ballroom at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston.

Rabbi Samuel Chiel and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg officiated at the 7:30 o'clock candlelight service. A reception followed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory peau de soie designed with an empire bodice of pearl embroidered Alencon lace applied on English net which had a high neckline and long sleeves. The A-line cage skirt, made with a full back and cathedral length train, were marked with similar appliques.

A matching peau cap held in place her elbow length bouffant imported silk illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers.

Mrs. Michael Popkin of Needham was matron of honor. She was attired in a green chiffon full length sheath gown bodiced with white cotton eyelet encircled with a green satin belt to match her layered bow head. Identically costumed, the bridesmaids were Miss Kristina Panes of Vermont, Miss Jacqueline Simmons and Miss Nancy Faneuil, cousin of the bride, both of Brookline, as well as the groom's sister, Mrs. Michael Brownstein of Sharon.

The best man was the groom's brother Elliot Entner

When you're aware that God's love is wherever you are, loneliness and anxiety fade. That's because your very identity is the image and likeness of God.

This is the inspiring and practical basis of a talk Norman B. Holmes, C.S.B., of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship will give, entitled "Our Search for Identity."

He will show how an understanding of their real identity set a young man on the path to a new career, and freed a schoolteacher from the threat of a nervous breakdown. You are warmly invited to come and enjoy this free public lecture.

Cramer Inc. Of Newton Acquires Cal. Companies

Cramer Electronics, Inc., a major industrial electronic distributor based in Newton, has agreed in principle to acquire two California-based distributor operations according to T. X. Cronin, Cramer President.
The two companies are Fortune Electronics, Inc., of Redwood City, Calif., serving the San Francisco Bay area; and R&C Electronics, Inc., of Glendale, Calif., serving the Los Angeles and San Diego markets.
According to Mr. Cronin, the transaction will involve Cramer stock and, in the case of Fortune Electronics, some cash. He also stated that these acquisitions signal Cramer's entry into the large West Coast market.
Cramer Electronics currently operates fourteen sales distribution centers in key market areas along the East Coast, in the Midwest, and Canada. Last year Cramer earned a record $977,219, or $1.63 a share, on sales of $31,398,007 in the fiscal year ended September 28, 1968.

Newton Dems Hear 3 Experts On City and State Problems

Ward 7 Democrats heard 3 discussion he was questioned about what can be done about lack of communication between administration and citizens, the failure of Newton Corner to be represented fully on urban redevelopment proposals, and the failure of the administration to fulfill its commitments. When questioned Representative Fishman announced that he is seriously considering running for Mayor of the City of Newton.

Representative Dukakis who is considering running for Lt. Governor stressed the increasing isolation and air of unreality around the State House, which has resulted in legislative actions not reflecting the views of the people. In discussing the tax program, he warned of a big increase in the auto insurance rates, and extremely high electric power rates in Massachusetts. According to Dukakis the Democrats "have become a conservative force." He concluded his talk by urging a return to the hallmark of the Democratic Party, its willingness to try new ideas, and new programs.

Representative Irving Fishman was primarily concerned about the city administration. During his speech he expressed his discontent about the city administration. During his speech he expressed his discontent about the city administration.

Tidying-Up Due In Upper Falls

Ward Five Alderman Edward C. Uehlein promised recently that Newton Upper Falls is due for a spring cleaning.
Uehlein referred specifically to a number of abandoned cars about which residents have complained and the repair of pot holes and frost heaves in the streets.

He said the Department of Public Works plans to tackle the street patch problems as soon as the frost is thoroughly gone.

Uehlein said a recent tour of the Upper Falls area also disclosed some houses in need of repair and cleaning. As to Housing Code enforcement, Uehlein said, "I am going to stay on it... there has to be a little more patience."

Mr. & Mrs. Maurice Kramer Mark 35th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Kramer of 10 Nahanton street, Newton were given a recent surprise party in honor of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The couple's children Mr. and Mrs. Kevin M. Collins of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald S. Kramer of Wellesley hosted the gay event.

The Monticello in Framingham was the setting for the party at which there were guests from Minnesota, New York and Boston.

Mr. Kramer is vice - president of H. Rohnstein and Company, Inc.

Defend Against Faculty Plaints On New School

Mayor Monte G. Basbas and School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith have given the Newton High School Faculty Senate low marks on its criticism of new high school plans.

The teachers, who say the plans jelled last summer while they were away, object to lack of teachers' lounges, workrooms, air conditioning and to a windowless room.

Beckwith pointed out the teachers were free to attend any of the planning sessions last summer and stated "We're not going to delay."

He said, "Sure we could improve the plans. We could spend $2 million more."

Basbas said the architect has already completed half of the plans for the $15.6 million school at a cost of nearly $400,000.

"If we lose $400,000," he said, "then I'd have to think twice about a new school."

Crittenton League Will Meet April 14

A meeting of members of the Newton Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will be held on Monday, April 14 at the home of Mrs. Philip K. Brown in Waban.

Luncheon will be served at one o'clock by Mrs. George J. Brookhiser and Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Harry V. Anderson, Mrs. William E. Conners, Mrs. George P. Knapp, Mrs. Whelan Vinnecombe and Mrs. G. Parker Wahn.

The business meeting will be called to order by Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, Circle president, following which Mrs. Norman E. MacNeil, program chairman, will introduce the speaker - a case worker from Crittenton - Hastings House, who will describe the work being done in the care and rehabilitation of unwed mothers. Her talk will be accompanied by a graphic film entitled "A Statistic Named Anne."

The mayor said the school was planned according to School Department specifications.

"They determine what is needed and then I build a school to comply with their specifications," he said.

Basbas complained of, "too many people trying to hold up construction of the school. Right now I only want to get it off the ground and built."

Weeks Students To Stage Play, "Kiss Me Kate"

John Wingate Weeks Junior High presents "Kiss Me, Kate" by Cole Porter on Wednesday, April 16th, and Thursday, April 17th, at 2:00 in Weeks Auditorium.

This production is being organized entirely by Weeks Students. Some students are producing the scenery and the program. Other students are acting in the musical. Alice Cohen and Justin Cole are co-directing the production with Mr. Raymond Smith's help.

This year the students have innovated, under Mr. Smith's direction, a new type of scenery. Instead of the traditional oil-painted backdrops, slides will be projected onto a plain surface. All the slides were taken in interesting places, such as Italy and the Metropolitan Area and selected for their suitability to the plot of "Kiss Me, Kate."

Students who portray the major roles are: "Fred" - Jerry Shrair; "Lois" - Sonya Merian, Madeleine Soloway, "Lilli" - Gay Gordon, Robert Beaser, "1st Gangster" - Russell Small, "2nd Gangster" - Alice Cohen, Andrea Riff, "Harrison Howell" - Richard Sobel.

Faculty Credits - Producer - Mr. Raymond Smith, Staging - Mr. Clifford Crowther, Choral Director - Mr. Frank D'Addario.

"Kiss Me, Kate" is a modern musical. There are two plots rolled into one. The first is Shakespeare's "The Taming in law enforcement and cond concerns the lives of the players who present the play."

A limited number of tickets will be available at the door. To be sure to get a ticket contact a student of Weeks in your neighborhood.

Women's Ass'n Met Yesterday

Luncheon at noon yesterday preceded the Annual Meeting of the Women's Association of The Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Mr. Herbert G. Dunphy and Mrs. Ralph E. Morrison were the hostesses. The business meeting and annual meeting with Mrs. Philip M. Wilbert, President, presiding was held at 1 p.m. Following the election of officers, devotions were led by Mrs. Orville H. Emmons.

An outstanding program was arranged by Mrs. John C. Storer with Miss M. Elizabeth Pitman as the guest speaker. Her illustrated talk, "Emerging East Africa" featured her travels with the Cross Roads project.

Country Players Pick May Dates For 3rd Production

The Country Players of Newton have tapped James A. Cooke of Brookline to direct their third and final production of the season, "An Evening of One Act Plays," comprised of three diverse and individual scripts.

Performance dates for the Spring offering are booked for Friday and Saturday evenings, May 16-17 and May 23-24, at the Rebecca Pomroy House, Eldredge St., Newton. One of the trio of plays will be entered in the NETC Drama Festival, Friday-Sunday, May 30-31 and June 1, at Spingold Theatre, Brandeis University.

Blocks of tickets or the entire house, with a seating capacity of 200, are available at reduced rates to sponsor groups and theatre parties interested in fund raising.

Jim Cooke received his B.A. in English Literature at the University of New Hampshire and resided in that state until settling locally three years ago. Currently teaching creative dramatics in the Brookline Art Group, he recently taught a drama workshop for the Needham Y.M.C.A. worked on "On Being Black" for WGBH-TV (Channel 2) and directed "Antigone" for the MIT Players.

Previous experience includes three seasons as actor/resident director of the Keene Summer Theatre, N.H.; two years as actor/director of Theatre by the Sea, a year-round repertory company in Portsmouth, N.H., of which he was also a founder member; and, last summer, as director of the Children's Theatre of the Hutchinson Summer Theatre, Raymond, N.H., where he staged his own adaptation of "Aladdin's Lamp."

A charter member of The Players' Theatre in Manchester, N.H., he affiliated with that group for two years while originating the role of Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster," performed over 200 times in New England and New York State.

He also worked with the University Theatre, UNH; Rose Coffee House, Boston; and as technical director of the Arundel Opera House, Kennebunkport, Maine.

Productions Jim has staged or directed include "The Bad Seed," "Barefoot in the Park," "Bell, Book and Candle," "Blithe Spirit," Charlie's Aunt," "A Delicate Stratagem," "The Dumb Waiter," "The Glass Menagerie," "Janus," "The Lesson," "Look Back in Anger," "Moon for the Misbegotten," "A Murder Has Been Arranged," "Picnic," "Roar of the Greasepaint," "Streets of New York," "A Thurbur Carnival," "Under the Gaslight," "Waltz of the Toreadors," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Zoo Story."

He researched, wrote, staged and narrated a Historical Pageant commemorating the 250th year of incorporation of the town of Berwick, Maine, working with a cast of over 100. He also appeared on an hour-long TV "drama quartet" presentation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" on WENH, in multiple roles including Marley's ghost and Bob Cratchet.

A Pearl Harbor 25th Anniversary Documentary for WGBH-TV is also included among his credits.

A puppeteer of note, Jim has adapted his own scripts for Dickens' "The Sexton and the Goblins," "Punch and Judy" (both traditional and as a political satire) and "The Arabian Nights." Readings of William Blake are also listed among his many activities.

Jim taught Speech and Drama at Camp Dartmouth, East Brewster, Mass. and Drama Workshop for the Upward Bound (OEO) Program at Mt. Saint Mary College, Oostset, N.H. He also was employed as a radio announcer for WENH, Rochester, N.H., and WHEB, Portsmouth, N.H.

Symphony Concert To Be At Jordan Hall April 13

Mrs. Roger Jeanloz of Newton (244-9161) may be contacted for tickets to the major fund-raising event for the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras, who hope to play their way to Europe this Summer to take part in the First International Festival of Youth Orchestras at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

The Gala Benefit Concert will be held in Jordan Hall, of Youth Orchestras will bring these Bay State students in (April 13) at 3 p.m. Tickets may also be purchased at Holland, Norway, Finland, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Poland and possibly from the fares and expenses of the young musicians, and will Israel. There, in St. Moritz defray the expense of transporting the battery of instruments with which they will perform a challenging repertoire of masterworks from symphonic literature.

Members of GBYSO come from about eighty public, private and parochial junior high and high schools in Massachusetts. Each Spring the students are chosen by audition at Boston University. An intensive weekly rehearsal and full concert schedule, throughout the school year, brings the group to a remarkable standard of performance and polish.

Organized by Boston University's School of Fine and Applied Arts, and a Community Board of Directors working through the school music educators, the GBYSO provides its members with outstanding opportunities to study and perform the music of every age in one of its two full symphony orchestras. As the result of this experience with GBYSO, its members are expected to contribute their skills and leadership to their own school and community musical organizations.

'Y' Swim Team Sets 9-9 Record At Dual Meet End

The Newton Y.M.C.A. Boys' Swim Team completed their regular dual meet season with 9 wins and 9 losses. Class D (boys 10 years old and under) finished with their first winning season in four years with a fine 5-4 record. Class C swimmers (boys 11 and 12 years old) won three more than last season, compiling four wins against five setbacks.

This year Newton showed some strong swimming in placing in the Eastern District League Championships. In Class C competition Neal Drobnis drove hard for a third place finish in the 100 yard freestyle, with a time of one minute, seven seconds. Neal was last year's Class D, 25 yard freestyle champion.

On April 12 he will swim in the New England Area Championship at Springfield College. In the same class, Greg Paton stroked to a third place finish in the 100 yard individual medley with a time of one minute, 20 seconds. Unfortunately Greg swam with a fever and was unable to compete in the finals.

In Class D competition at the Eastern District Championships, Ed Smith placed fourth in the 20 yard backstroke; Mark Melanson placed fourth in the 20 yard freestyle in eight year old and under competition; David Gottfried, Mark Alford, Warren Cole, and John Hawkins combined to stroke to a fourth place finish in the medley relay.

Jonathan Wish, also in Class D, placed fourth in the 20 yard freestyle and became the Eastern District Diving Champion by outscoring some 30 opponents. Jon went on to the New England Area Championships at Norwalk, Conn., to place third out of the best 25 drivers in New England.

Wish is now eligible for the National Diving Championship at Little Rock, Ark.

The Newton team, under second year coach Alan Glick, is now considered to be one of the strongest in future swimming potential. This year's success goes to the credit of each boy on the team, consisting of:

Class D: Mark Alford, Ed Smith, Peter Berardi, Danny Braverman, Warren Cole, John Hawkins, Mark Jackson, Doug Jasset, Mark Kerzner, John Lory, Howard Silverstein, Michael Speisman, John Sweeney, Jan Waalewyn, Kaarl Waalewyn, Jonathan Wish, and David Gottfried.

Class C: John Boyle, Cliff Cole, Neal Drobnis, Charles Enos, Phil Hawkins, Jay Jasset, Dave Jernigan, and team captain Greg Paton.

Abraham Kaye Is "Man of Year" For Brotherhood

Abraham I. Kaye of Newton will be honored by the Temple Emanuel of Newton Brotherhood at their breakfast meeting on Sunday (April 27th) with the designation of "Man of the Year". The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Hall of the Temple.

Mr. Kaye is immediate Past President of Temple Emanuel and a Past President of the Brotherhood. A founding member of Temple Emanuel, Mr. Kaye will celebrate the 50th Anniversary of his graduation from Harvard College this June.

A naval veteran of World War I, Mr. Kaye served as a Captain with the Massachusetts State Guard and was a member of the War Shipping Administration, Port of Boston, World War II. Mr. Kaye is a past recipient of the Jewish Advocate Carnation, the Distinguished Service Award of the Grocery Manufacturers Association, and "Man of the Year" award, New England Wholesale Food Distributors Association. Mr. Kaye currently serves the Association as Treasurer. He is also a member of the Board of Arbitration, National American Wholesale Grocers Association, New England Area.

Mr. Kaye is a Past Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Temple Emanuel, and has been a member of the Temple Emanuel Religious School Committee from the founding of the Temple to date and was a founding member and Past Troop Master of Troop 225 of the Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by War Temple Emanuel.

Mr. Kaye is a Past President of the Newton Squash and Tennis Club. His memberships include the Brendes Associates, Jewish Veterans and American Legion.

Diabetes Club To Meet Wed.

The Newton - Waltham area Diabetes Club will have Mrs. Myrtle A. McSweeney, R.N., as guest speaker for the next meeting to be held in DeVeber Auditorium in the Waltham Hospital, Hope Ave. on Wednesday (April 16).

Mrs. McSweeney will discuss the services available through the Waltham Hospital Clinic for the diabetic at the 8 p.m. meeting and the movie "What You Don't Know Can Hurt You" in color will also be shown.

Mrs. McSweeney is a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital, Pittsfield, a member of the Mass. Nurses Association, on the nursing staff of Waltham Hospital since 1957 and Diabetic Co-ordinator since March 1968.

A social hour will follow the question and answer period.

Rogan also announced the appointment of Mr. Frank Jones to the position of Equipment Manager of the League and as a member of the League's Board of Directors.

Stu Silverman Receives Basketball's MVP Award

By Lew Freedman
Newton South High's winter sports award night, April 1, was highlighted by the presentation of the basketball team's Most Valuable Player award to senior Stu Silverman.

Silverman, a guard, was a varsity player for two years and this season averaged 10 points per game, in addition to being a strong rebounder and tough defensive player. Each coach spoke, presented the letter awards, and announced next year's captain — with the exception of track which hasn't voted yet.

Lions' Track Team Loaded With "Ifs"

By LEWIS FREEDMAN
Newton South High's spring tracksters will have plenty of competition before their first league meet versus Brookline High, April 30.

On April 14 the Lions will face Milton Academy in a practice meet. The week of April 21 South will stage its annual inter-squad pentathlon, and finally, on April 26, Newton South will participate in the Class A relays.

The 1969 trackmen are tutored by Richard Geist, in his eighth season as head coach. His assistants are Donald Shelton, in his third year, and Larry Suid, in his first season.

The Lions' strengths this spring will be on the track. The field team appears inexperienced and lacks depth.

Captain Bruce Kopelman leads the sprinters, and will compete in the 100, 220, and 440, in addition to anchoring the 880 relay team.

Robin Hirsch is an excellent 220 man, especially on a straightaway, and will sometimes run the 100. Dave Peters will also run the 100 and 220. Rich Aron will participate in the 220, too.

The 440 looks fairly solid with sophomore John Seeler and junior Bob Shea, and Kopelman when he runs it.

Ron Schneider, hopefully healthy this season after injury-filled Cross-Country and indoor track seasons, will be the number one half-mile. Senior Rod Brown, an indoor 1000-yarder, soph Bill Sage, and junior Dave Glaser are other possibilities. Sophomore Dick Dickinson and senior Lew Freedman lead the mile and 2-mile candidates. Some help could come from sophomore Steve Reef, who has looked strong in early season workouts. Mike Oshima, Larry Junda, Rusty Phillips, Dan Barkin, Rob Haines and Ken Levitt will be the back-ups.

The Lions have Nick Parnell, Jon Stahl, and Howie Cohen in the 120 highs and 180 lows, though Kopelman may be a low hurdler.

In the pole vault South has Jon Stahl and Alan Miller, but neither are proven competitors. The same is true in the discus were the top spot is wide open. In the javelin Rich Aron and Dave Glaser will probably head the list. Joe DeLuca is a good sophomore shot-putter.

The high jump, the team's strongest event indoors looms as such outdoors with Class A runner-up Nick Parnell and Met all-star alternate Rich Kates, plus sophomore Jim Kotzen.

The broad jump, too, is a huge question mark. Kopelman, Freedman, and Schneider will each try their hands at the event.

South looks fairly strong on the track this season, but there are too many ifs in the field events for the Lions to get too optimistic about the coming season. The coaches will have a better indication of the team's strengths after the Milton Academy meet.

Sam Jones' Basketball Camp To Feature Stars

Ball - handling, defensive play and offensive rebounding will be just a few of the intricacies of basketball that will be stressed at the fourth annual Sam Jones, Basketball School this summer.

And to assist him, the Celtics star has picked some of the greatest players in the game — men like his teammates Bailey Howell and Larry Siegfried, Dave Bing and Jimmy Walker of the Detroit Pistons, Wayne Embury of the Milwaukee Bucks and Toby Kimball of the San Diego Rockets.

Jones calls Howell "a master under the offensive boards and a tough man to outmaneuver on defense — two vital areas that are not emphasized enough in high school."

Of Bing, Sam says: "Dave's a wizard with the ball. It's almost impossible to steal it away from him and he's tremendous at setting up plays with clever passes."

But more important to Sam is the fact that both Howell and Bing are articulate instructors who get their points across in a manner that will stick in a boy's mind.

And everyone working for Sam shares his love for youngsters of all ages. The faculty realizes that a week at Sam's school can mean the difference between a boy making his varsity team or sitting on the bench. And every effort is made to give a lad the skills he needs to crack his starting lineup.

Enrollment at Sam's two sessions at Camp Columbus in Boxford on the weeks of Aug. 17 and 23 is limited to boys between 12 and 18. For the session of Oliver Ames High School in North Easton on the required week of June 23, the age limit is reduced to 11.

Publicity Club Award Program To Be Next Wed.

Vincent J. Tuscher of 19 Craigie Ter., Newtonville, public relations consultant, is general chairman of the 20th anniversary awards program of the Publicity Club of Boston to be held next Wednesday (April 16) at Nick's Restaurant.

Among the judges are Robert C. Casselman of 24 Hawthorne Ave., Newton, advisor to the Mass. Dept. of Commerce; Robert S. Kretschmar of 75 Berkeley St., West Newton, executive secretary, Mass. Division, AAA; and William G. Schofield of 16 Hunnewell Circle, Newton, director of editorial services, Raytheon Co.

Main speaker of this event will be Jim M. Milligan, public relations coordinator for Philadelphia's Expo '75. Bell Ringer statuettes will be presented to the winners of the outstanding 1968 public relations programs in New England at this time.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Aldo Ray will play a criminal opposite Leslie Nielsen in a movie-for-television titled "Summer Kill."

Newton High Golf Team Seeking Another Crown

By Jeff Grossman

Led by the three returning lettermen, tri - captains Harry Karp, Brian Quigley and Paul Murphy, the golf team will attempt to repeat the fabulous season they had last year when they won the State Championship.

This was the fourth time that Newton High had captured the State Championship. The championship years were 1940, 1950, 1960 and 1968.

The three tri - captains are all experienced golfers and they will provide a solid nucleus for Coach Jim Ronayne to build on, but it takes more than three men to build a strong high school golf team.

There are quite a few boys out and from this present group of candidates Coach Ronayne hopes to find a strong backing for his three stars.

According to Mr. Ronayne, leading candidates for the remaining positions on the team include seniors John Myers and Louis Vassalotti. Junior prospects include Jerry Coleman, Steve Condon, Steve Silverburg and Arnie Freedman.

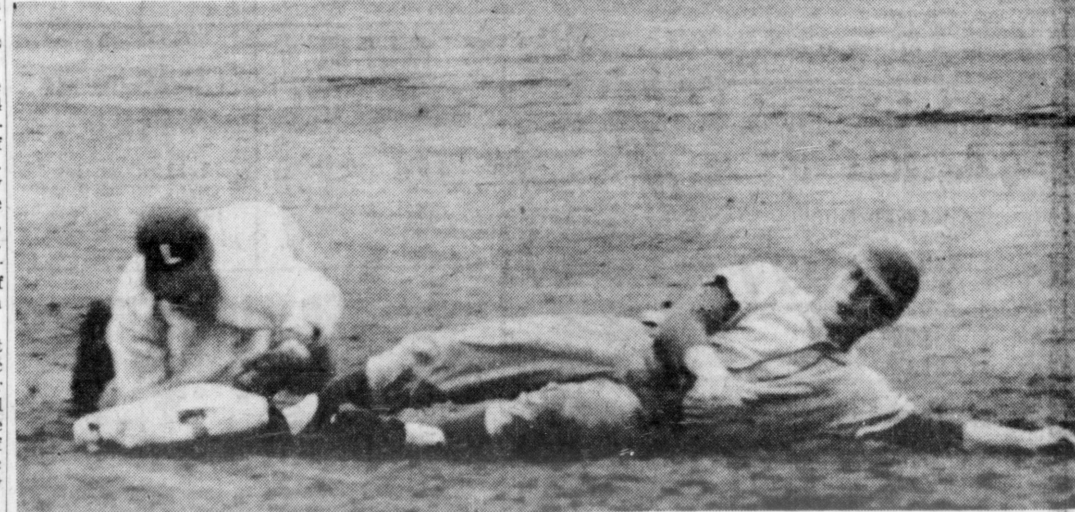

The premier sophomores at the moment appear to be Jim Coleman, Rich Bove and Jim Curtis. There are many other possibilities, however, and Coach Ronayne will go into these before the team's opening meet, Monday, April 28 versus Newton South.

This meet will be Newton's opening meet in defense of their Suburban League Title. "In the Suburban League this year," Coach Ronayne commented "Our toughest opposition will come from perennial power Brookline and possibly from Brockton."

"In State Meet competition Catholic Memorial should give us the most trouble. One other factor that could hurt us in

"Old Timers Nite"

The Newton Post No. 48, American Legion is having an "Old Timers Nite" at St. Bernard's Catholic Club, Washington St., West Newton, this Saturday night (April 12). A social hour will begin at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30 p.m. For tickets or information please contact any officer or "E Board" members.

SAFE AT THIRD — Senior Ken Stuart slides safely into third base in a practice baseball game against Boston Latin on April 4 at Newton South. South scored its two runs on walks and errors. The game ended in a 2-2 tie when it was called on account of rain. Neil McPhee is the new coach for South high school. He is a graduate of Northeastern and played minor league ball.

Highlights of the day will be a museum tour (natural wild life), 2 LIVE ANIMAL DEMONSTRATIONS (ever hold a snake? pet a raccoon, a pheasant or quail?) NATURE TRAIL WALK (many more animals and things to see), PICNIC (Bring your own lunch and money for goodies), CANDY TREASURE HUNT, RELAY RACES AND GAMES, and for energetic youngsters, a COLOR CODED HIKE to the top of BIG BLUE and a look from the OBSERVATION TOWER. Youngsters are advised to wear sneakers and slacks, and be prepared for a real adventure scrambling over rocks through the woods! SECTION B AND SECTION C, Tues., April 22 and Wed., April 23, from 10:15 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. for children in Kindergarten through Grade 6: This popular trip is planned for two days so we can accommodate everyone. The latter will present KING DOUBT TALK of the Cupcake Kingdom, as he and Queen "No-One-Says-No-To" outwit the Three Sinister Ministers of Crussia, Sloboania and East Harmony in a thrilling climax at the Royal Cupcake Bakery. This is a new, and very humorous, musical. Children will bring their own lunch and money for goodies because they will picnic and spend the afternoon at the MIDDLESEX FELLS ZOO in Stoneham. This is one of the finest small zoos in the country since its new construction and offers a full variety of exotic as well as normal zoo animals. (153 different birds in the Aviary with a free flight area; unusual water fowl in the duck lagoon; others and tapirs in the rodent grotto; tropical garden, and much more in addition to zoo favorites of lions, tigers, elephants, bears, giraffes, monkeys, etc.) Kids are advised to wear comfortable shoes and clothes, for a full day.

Andover-Newton Considers "Church and Second Sex"

College women from as far away as Iowa gathered on the campus at Andover Newton Theological School the weekend of March 28-30 to consider the many and varied forms of ministry open to women, and concurrently to deal with the problem of the ways in which each individual can find herself as a woman in the vocation of her choice.

"Today's young woman must find creative solutions to her personal search for identity, meaning and purpose," the group was told by Rev. Helen Terkelsen, '55, Assistant Director of the Pastoral Counseling Center of the United Church of Christ in Middleboro, Massachusetts, as she gave the keynote address, "Focus on You." "A well-rounded education and a sincere desire to serve your fellows through your commitment to Christ and his church are not necessarily all that is needed to assure your success. You must also accept yourself as a woman and be able to move ahead with confidence, aware that problems and disappointments will take their toll and that the ratio of giving and receiving may often seem out of balance." Mrs. Terkelsen continued.

Dr. Mary Daly, Assistant Professor of Theology at Boston College and author of "The Church and the Second Sex," opened the Saturday sessions with a discussion of the future of women in the Christian Church. Consideration was given to the kind of world we face in the years ahead, and to specific kinds of service which will have meaning and validity in that world. In a lively session 150 million dollar business in a colorful and interesting tour. Second, we will have lunch at The European, an authentic Italian restaurant in the North End. (You can bring your own lunch or 50c will buy 2 slices of pizza and a coke.) Third, we will tour PROCTER AND GAMBLE Corporation in Quincy for an amazing demonstration of modern technology and equipment. We will watch endless streams of soap being cut into bar size and packing lines turning out enough product in one hour to last a family of four for 100 years. We will visit office and production areas and the quality control laboratory. A color movie, and gift package are also part of Procter and Gamble's program. If you are curious to see how Canay, Ivory, Bold, Tide, Spic and Span and a half dozen other products are made, don't miss this unusual offering.

Registration deadline for all trips: Friday, April 18, but don't wait! Call 969-5903 or 969-5907 now for information.

The group then met together informally at a tea given by members by the Andover Newton faculty and their wives.

On Sunday morning professors Henry Brooks, Max Stackhouse and Earl Thompson discussed some of the specifics of theological education at Andover Newton, and particularly how they pertain to women students.

The conference closed with a worship service led by Rev. Vincent deGregoris, Associate Professor of Psychology and Clinical Studies.

Rep. Mann Votes Against Raid Of Local Aid Fund

State Rep. Theodore D. Mann (R-Newton), was among those voting against a House decision to use the Local Aid Fund to finance the state's $66.5 million Medicaid appropriation.

The appropriation was contained in Gov. Sargent's $104 million deficiency budget which Mann voted for when it was passed 123 to 104.

The House had also voted to use the General Fund, rather than the Local Aid Fund to cover Medicaid costs.

Following the reversal, a compromise plan backed by Mann, to split the costs equally between the two funds failed by a vote of 108 to 119.

The Local Aid Fund comes from state-collected tax money which is distributed to Massachusetts' 351 cities and towns. If this source is tapped for Medicaid, less can be distributed and local property taxes would rise.

Mann voted with the majority in defeating moves to remove the program to aid dependent children, the poor, aged and disabled and the program of reimbursement for school busing from the Local Aid Fund.

The aid program amounts to $11.1 million and the busing reimbursement to $390,000.

Cub Pack In 1st Pinewood Derby Event

Cub Scout Pack No. 223, sponsored by the Hamilton School P.T.A., held its first Pinewood Derby recently at the School Auditorium in Newton Lower Falls.

George Mathis, Webelos Den Leader, was in charge of the event. Official judges were Frederick M. Levens, Paul Sheehan, and Francis Rossetti.

Winners of the race were: first place, Paul Hurney, Den 1; second place, Bob Sweet, Webelos Den; and third place, James Idelson, Den 2. The award for the best workmanship was won by Donald Dickinson, Webelos Den.

At the meeting preceding the race, Cubmaster Charles Pierce presented an Arrow Point Award to Bear Scout Dwight Pierce, and Denner Bars to Brad Ritz, David Campbell and Assistant Denner Bars to David Clark and Jimmy Idelson.

Refreshments were provided by Den 2 at the close of the meeting.

New Treatment Of Holy Theme

A modern depiction of the Stations of the Cross have been placed on permanent display in the Barst Gallery at Newton College of the Sacred Heart as part of Holy Week Remembrance.

The 14 paintings, which focus mainly on Christ's hands and feet, are the work of Frederic Courtois, a native of Belgium and an instructor at the college.

In his Stations, Courtois employed a mixed medium of dull and shiny enamels, hyplar, sanguine crayon and gold leaf on old silver oak wood sealed with plastic oil.

Courtois studied art at the Saint Lue Beaux Arts Academy in his native Liege.

He settled for a while in Kivu Province in the Belgian Congo sometime after being commissioned by his government, in 1950, to search the Congo for objects of primitive art.

Courtois left the Congo at the outset of the newly emancipated country's civil war in 1961, and came to the United States to resume his career as an artist.

He makes his home in Millis with his wife, Nelly, also a native of Belgium and an assistant professor of French at the college.

Alderman Tags Wellesley Vote As "Provincialism"

Open Letter To The Editor:

The favorable vote (142 to 42) on Article 58 at the recent Wellesley Town Meeting is a classic case of provincialism at its worse.

This Article had to do with the sale of 118,000 square feet of land owned by the town of Wellesley to the developer for the further expansion of the Wellesley Office Park. The land constitutes two-thirds of a wooded peninsula on the Charles River side of Williams Street.

This is the road off of Route 9 which now leads to the very large home office building of the Massachusetts Indemnity Company and to three quite large tri-story office buildings of the same developer which owns the balance of the land out to Route 9. The long range plans of this developer calls for the immediate construction of building No. 4, larger than any of the others, and then a multi-building complex where the balance of the homes now are on Williams Street near Route 9. These future office buildings, which will more than triple all of the square footage presently built, are on the Route 128 side of Williams Street.

One would have thought that with all of these office buildings in a part of the town of Wellesley actually severed by Route 128, the purpose of broadening Wellesley's tax base would have been well served without adding to it the River side peninsula. One would have thought that if the town of Wellesley wished to dispose of this land owned by it, some regional approach would have been at least attempted in the first instance.

This land is not only quite close to the River and the Newton homes on the other side. It is the most beautiful remaining accessible wooded area between Routes 9 and 16, delightfully enjoyable to look and walk upon and serving as a valuable natural resource for wild life, plant life and water. In the Rivers Report, Volume III of the "The Open Space And Recreation Program For Metropolitan Boston," adopted by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, consisting of 99 cities and towns including Wellesley, on Page 68 the following policy statement appears with respect to this portion of the Charles River:

"The town of Wellesley and its civic groups should continue to work closely with the Metropolitan District Commission in a program to support land acquisition, landscaping along the river and careful site and subdivision controls over development, drainage and topographical changes.

The residential area along Quinobegun Road in Newton should not be disrupted by major recreational development. However, the existing open areas should continue to be maintained in a natural state as pleasant scenic spots for those who wish to seek them out. Expansion of the present river reservation should be undertaken immediately consistent with the open space and conservation recommendations of both Newton and Wellesley."

The policy of preserving the integrity of natural resources, particularly where the land, or most of it, is already in public ownership, should not need to be underscored for the town fathers of such an enlightened community as Wellesley. One would not think that they could still treat this question as if God had drawn the boundary down the river between Wellesley and Newton. In this day and age one might have expected the town of Wellesley to have acted responsibly as a neighbor and as a member of a regional community, of a natural resource of which have become too sparse and too dear to deal with selfishly.

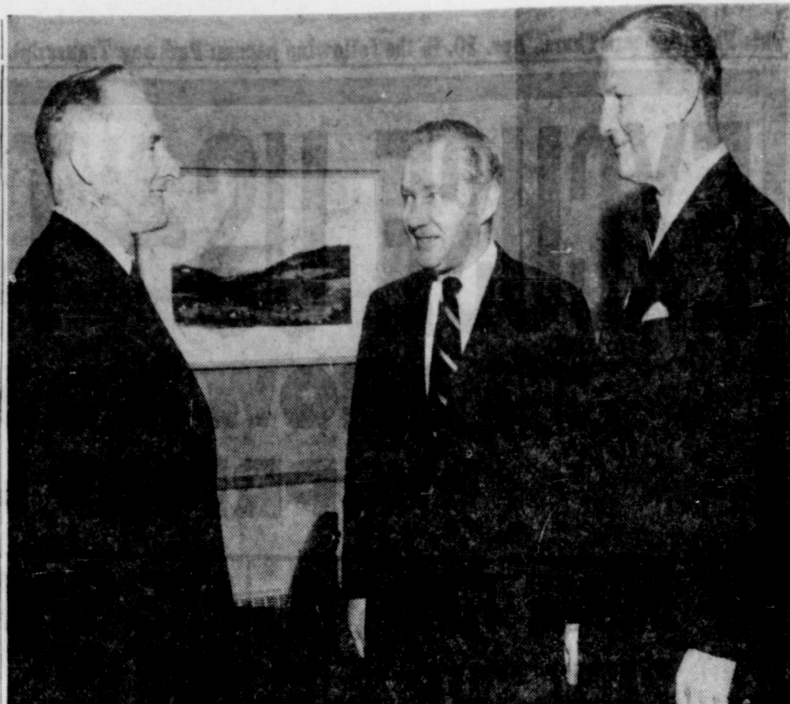

Instead, the town fathers of Wellesley took the position that since plans for this sale had been under consideration for years, the rest of the region, including Newton, was on notice and it was now too late to complain. This hard line was adopted in the face of official protestations at the town meeting by the Mayor of Newton, the Newton Board of Aldermen, the Newton Conservation Commission, the Newton Conservators, Inc., the Charles River Watershed Association, Inc. and the Boston Society of Landscape Architects.

Moreover, the plea of the city of Newton was not in the spirit of opposition. It was merely that Newton had had no actual knowledge of the proposed sale involving such a large tract of land owned by the town of Wellesley until a few days before the town meeting; and that, therefore, Newton was respectfully requesting the Wellesley Town Meeting in the words of the Resolution of its Board of Aldermen, "that favorable action on Article 58 be deferred for a reasonable period of time to give the city of Newton and other governmental agencies and private groups interested in preserving this land an opportunity to confer with Wellesley town officials to investigate alternatives which would not necessarily be contrary to the local policy of the town of Wellesley."

It is entirely possible that an open space acquisition grant could have been obtained to sell the land to a public or private conservation agency or trust for no less than the town of Wellesley would otherwise obtain. This cannot be done in the framework of the auction sale voted by the Town Meeting for the developer which has already invested heavily in the town's land by paying for the expense of clearing title to all of the lots involved.

The crux of the action of the town of Wellesley is that it would not reconsider the question of adding this land to its developable tax roll. Even though the $180,000 upset sales price was said at the meeting to be the important dollars involved, this is not so. The important dollars for the town of Wellesley by this irrevocable decision are the taxes to be received from the buildings on

NEWTON-WALTHAM BANK JOINS MASTER CHARGE — Robert C. Rier, left, president of the New England Bankcard Association, welcomes Giles E. Mosher, Jr. and Nathan I. Greene, executive vice president and president, respectively, of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, to the Bankcard Association. The bank expects to make the new service available to its customers in the fall.

Bank Joins Bancard Association

Nathan I. Greene, president of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, has announced that the bank has joined the New England Bankcard Association (N.E.B.A.), a non-profit organization, was founded recently by the First National Bank of Boston, the Shawmut Association Banks and the New England Merchants National Bank, to bring Master Charge of New England.

Master Charge is now the most widely accepted bank charge in the entire world.

In his announcement, Mr. Greene stated: "As one of the largest and strongest commercial banks in Metropolitan Boston, the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company will be very pleased to make Master Charge available to its thousands of customers in this area."

There has long been a need for a charge plan which will be widely accepted by

Catholic Guild Praises Newton's Fire Department

A copy of the following letter was received by The Graphic. Addressed to Mayor Basbas and signed by Executive Director of the Catholic Guild for the Blind Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, it was in appreciation of the extremely fast and efficient response by the Newton Fire Department to the alarm sounded at the 770 Centre St. address of the Guild on March 24th.

Dear Mayor Basbas:

This morning at approximately 10:30 our automatic fire alarm at St. Paul's Rehabilitation Center sounded here and at Newton Fire Headquarters.

During the present week we have no blind trainees at St. Paul's but workmen were busy outside and inside the building doing some refurbishing.

Within minutes of the alarm, units from the Newton Fire Department were rolling into our driveway ready to get to work on any blaze they might find. With them came police squad cars.

Fortunately, the fire was confined to a trash container. There was almost no damage to the building and no one was injured in any way. I was reminded again of the extraordinary efficiency of the Newton Departments, and of the wonderful cooperation we have gotten over the years. As you know, we have blind trainees who come here from all over this country and some from foreign countries as well. Thanks to Newton's excellent work we feel far more relaxed for the safety of all of these persons.

The Collection Coffees are being held to stimulate friends to scour attics, closets, basements and barns for furniture, jewelry, books, appliances, toys, games, glass, china and anything saleable.

The auction itself will begin promptly at 2 p.m. come rain or shine. Country box lunches will be served at noon by advance reservation only.

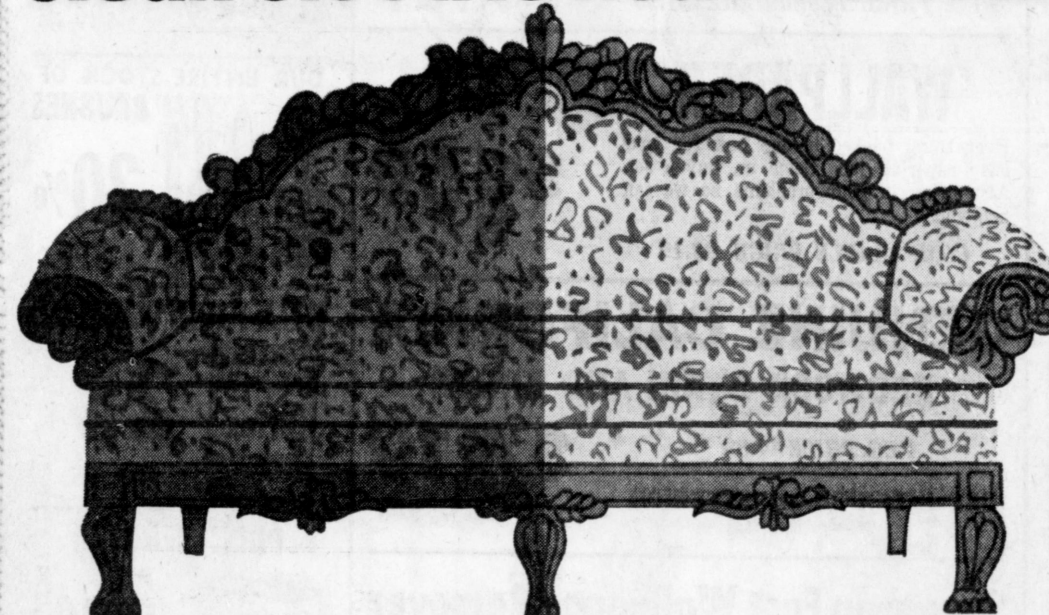

Mrs. Maurice C. Cion and Mrs. John F. Dunn both of Newton are also members of the auction committee.

See the difference clean electric heat makes!

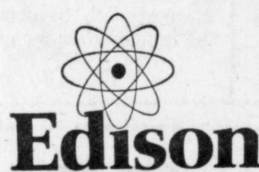

You will. Almost as soon as you install it. Furniture keeps that showroom sparkle longer. So do walls. So does woodwork. And practically everything else. Keeping a spiffy house takes a lot less cleaning.

But that's only part of the story. Electric heat is tops other ways, too. It can give room-by-room temperature control. Blessedly quiet operation. And an up-to-the-minute system that's designed to make you forget what the repair man looks like.

No matter how you look at it, electric heat's a clean winner. Ask any of the 30,000 people around here who have it.

Newton Corner Residents Ask Limits To Renewal

The first open public meeting of the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee was held this past week as 150 area residents assembled at the Underwood School.

They seek a limit to urban renewal and a continuing voice in all planning and urban redevelopment at Newton Corner.

They want to avoid the demolition of many homes in their area and want to prevent the gradual absorption of land by a commercial developer who would build high-rise apartments.

The CPC would pull in renewal boundaries to encompass what might be described as two circles with Newton Corner Square as a starting point for each.

One circle would follow Washington street to Bacon street to Centre street and back to the square. The other would follow Centre street to Jefferson street to Nonantum place to Charlesbank street, and into the square.

On the other hand, the preliminary Newton Redevelopment Authority proposal, following the boundaries recommended in 1963 by the City Planning Department, would take in the following area:

From the north side of the turnpike, bounded by Hovey street down a portion of Jewett street, a portion of Boyd street, Centre street to Watertown boundary, Jefferson St., portion of Nonantum street to the turnpike along Washington street and back to Hovey street.

Just because a building is in a designated redevelopment area doesn't mean it will be demolished. Sometimes a building is brought up to standard.

Members formulated their organization along the guidelines provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D.C., in a June 1968 letter specifically requesting citizen participation in all urban renewal projects.

The committee has been working with the Planning Board of the Newton Board of Aldermen in an attempt to come up with a solution that will end the turmoil and stalemate that have existed for more than two years.

Friday night the committee presented a resolution (subject to changes according to citizen demands) which it will ask be incorporated in the survey and planning application which the Newton Redevelopment Authority would file with HUD for the Newton Corner renewal area. The resolution makes the following points:

The members of the Newton

Corner Citizens' Participation Committee representing the residents of the Newton Corner project area are in general agreement with the Board of Aldermen's authorization of the Newton Redevelopment Authority to file the survey and planning application, providing that the procedures and provisions are adhered to by the Newton authority during the preparation and subsequent execution of the renewal plan.

The basis of approval or disapproval of the Newton Corner Urban Renewal Plan shall be based solely on the merits of the plan itself and not upon financing of any federal, state or city funding program.

The final and official survey and planning application in its entirety shall be submitted to the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee for review and approval.

The Newton Redevelopment Authority shall recognize the Newton Corner CPC as the official project area committee for the area.

The principal aims of renewal activities in the plan shall be to improve upon (or perhaps rebuild) the existing blighted commercial structures and improve upon and widen traffic patterns on Centre and Washington streets; restore and preserve the cohesiveness of the neighborhood improved the social and emotional support the neighborhood should provide its residents, especially the elderly and youth; that priority in development shall be given to a shopping area which contains adequate personal services, businesses, and public recreation area, and a community center for the use of residents of the project area.

The Newton Redevelopment Authority shall plan, co-operate, and co-ordinate activities with the officers and members of the Newton Corner CPC in the preparation of the renewal plan. Information from all city agencies with working and planning interests in the Newton Corner area shall be provided the CPC.

The clearance area delineated in the map entitled "Existing Land Use and Structural Conditions Map Code No. R103 (5) (6)" dated April 1967 shall be the only area designated for clearance except for spot clearance of individual substandard structures; that subsequent use of the cleared areas be approved by the CPC; and that the plan contain a buffer zone between commercial and residential properties so as to prevent further encroachments upon prevailing patterns of land use.

New road construction, except to improve existing rights of way, shall be confined to delineated area unless approved by CPC.

The plan for residential or commercial occupants shall provide for relocation in Newton areas not being considered for urban renewal; that displaced families or individuals shall be relocated in structures comparable to those from which they were displaced; that the plan show the schedule for relocation.

First preference to relocate in new or rehabilitated housing will be given to displaced Newton Corner area sit occupants, regardless of their income.

New housing in the project area shall be for moderate and low-income families on a priority basis (outlined in the resolution).

Co-operation will continue between the Aldermanic City Planning Committee and project area committee to assure that the intent of the resolution is followed.

That the Board of Aldermen will approve only a plan which is the product of the project area committee and is approved by that committee, namely, the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee.

As conditions require, these resolutions shall be reviewed jointly by CPC and the Board of Aldermen for possible modification and amendment.

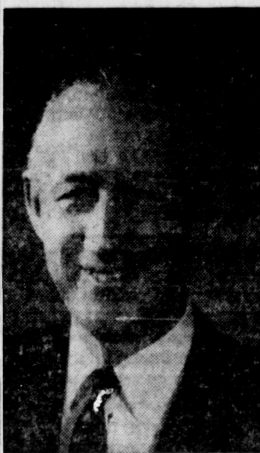

Among those present at the meeting were State Rep. and Ward 7 Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., State Rep. Irving Fishman, Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, an area resident; Alderman Andrew J. Magni and William E. Hopkins; James Fitzpatrick, taking the place of Earl P. Stevenson of the Newton Redevelopment Authority; and Kenneth Salk, Urban Renewal executive director.

Pruckner acted as moderator and the other CPC officers as panelists. They were Joseph H. Hopkins of 24 Channing St., vice chairman; Miss Caroline Walsh, 27 School St., secretary; and John E. Joyce, 11 Charlesbank Ter., treasurer.

On the Executive Board are Roger M. Antoine, 4 Hovey St.; James W. Feeney, 10 Emerson St.; Norman G. McLean, 142 Washington St.; William J. Sparks, 9 Peabody St.; and Miss Janice Sprissler, 12 Gordon Ter.

Dr. Waite To Dedicate New Baptist Church

The public is invited to the dedication of the new building of Faith Baptist Church in Natick to be held this Saturday (April 5) at 2 p.m. The Rev. D. A. Waite, Th.D., Ph.D., will be the guest speaker and will also speak at both Sunday services at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The new Church is located at the corner of Oak and Winter streets in Natick and will provide seating for 200 with classrooms and nursery. The 40-foot steel structure is situated on the North end of the two acre lot which allows space for parking an future building.

Dr. Waite, the first pastor of Faith Baptist, is a former resident of Newton. He ran for the Newton School Committee on the platform of restoring daily Bible reading to the public schools. Throughout the years Dr. Waite has appeared on radio and TV broadcasts debating with religious and lay leaders, presenting the Fundamentalist, Separatist viewpoint. Presently he is the Director of the Radio & Audio - Film Commission of the American Council of Christian Churches (ACCC), preparing programs for the major radio and TV networks.

Faith Baptist Church was organized in 1961 in Newton where they continued until this recent move. Rev. Arthur L. Williams is the present pastor. Property was purchased in Natick in August of 1968. Construction was started in October by the Charles F. Bue Building Co. of Needham Heights. Since January, the church has met in the Cochituate American Legion Hall. All future services will be held in the new building at Oak and Winter Sts. in Natick.

Faith Baptist Church is an independent, fundamental church in fellowship with the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches (GARBC), a national body of 1400 churches known as Regular Baptists. At present Faith Baptist is sending financial support to missionaries in Ghana, West Africa, the Fellowship of Baptists for Home Missions and the Northfield Bible Conference in Northfield, Mass.

Residents Are Praised By Heart Chairman

"The generous response from so many people in Newton is dramatic evidence that they understand the seriousness of the heart problem," stated Martin Goldenberg, 37 Pratt Drive, district Heart Chairman. "It also demonstrates their strong conviction that the Heart Association's programs of research, education, and community service are the most effective way to combat and eventually control this leading health menace."

Thanks to the many volunteers who responded with the contributions of time and effort was also expressed by Goldenberg.

Other leaders in the Heart Fund Campaign were Mrs. Marjorie R. Nesson, special gifts chairman; and Howard Strum, treasurer.

Leaders Club At 'Y' Plans Biafra Event

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Leaders Club will sponsor a program on Biafra Saturday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m., in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

The program will deal with the conditions in Biafra and what is being done to combat the tragic conditions in that country.

Kaleb Nwankwo, a Harvard graduate student, will be the featured speaker. A question and answer period will follow the program. The public is cordially invited.

Donations will be accepted following the program from those wishing to give.

The Ten Aiders Fashion Show To Be On April 25

The Ten Aiders are planning their annual luncheon at the Belmont Country Club for Friday (April 25) with a fashion show by Charles Sumner, Inc. as the main feature.

All proceeds of this event are donated to the Respiratory Unit at the Children's Medical Center.

The organization's luncheon chairman is Mrs. Irving Perlmutter and the president is Mrs. Lester Sobin.

About 400 guests are expected to attend.

Newton Colleges Receive Grants

Notification was received by The Graphic from the Committee on Law Enforcement and Administration of Criminal Justice, Boston, that two Newton Colleges have received grants and loans under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 in the amount of $4900. Boston College in Chestnut Hill has received $1800 and Newton College of the Sacred Heart received $4100.

Under the provisions of this act, loans have been made available to 17 institutions in Massachusetts for loans and grants to students already working or interested in working in law enforcement and correctional fields.

Hospital Cites Two Newtonites

Two Newton residents were among 56 employees of the Lying-In Division of the Boston Hospital for Women to be honored for services to the Hospital.

In ceremonies held recently Gerald W. Mungerson, General Director of the Hospital, presented awards for 5 years service to: Dr. Richard Gibbs, 170 Hartman Road, and Mrs. Joan Richardson, 12 Rockland Street.

The Boston Hospital for Women was founded in 1966 through the merger of the Boston Lying-In Hospital and the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline.

Glass Club Meets

Lea S. Luguer of Chestnut Hill, president of the National Early American Glass Club presided at an open meeting of the club held yesterday afternoon at the Park Street Church in Boston.

Melvin D. Schwartz of New York City, consultant to the Centennial Project of the American Wing of the Metropolitan Museum gave an illustrated lecture, "A Re-appraisal of Siegal Glass."

Newton members of this club include Mrs. Mary Anne Kennedy, Newton Centre, Mrs. George M. Wile, Waban and Henry E. J. Bates of Newton.

James Monroe was the first President who had served as a U.S. Senator.

Two vice presidents, George Clinton and Eldridge Gerry, died during the administration of James Madison.

LAUREL HILKER

Church Sets Art Exhibit During April

During the month of April at the Auburndale Congregational Church in Auburndale, Laurel Hilker is exhibiting her paintings which make social comment upon many of the contemporary problems. Laurel Hilker is an artist who lives in Wakefield; has studied at the Newport Art Association and under Ture Bengtz of the Boston Museum School and George Dergalis of the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln.

She has had several one man shows and won numerous awards. Her works deal with such problems as Vietnam, the draft, the civil rights struggle poverty, the ghetto, drugs and many more.

Laurel Hilker puts it this way: "I'm interested in young people and my pictures have grown out of their frustrations. I try to picture some of the confusion and chaos young people see everywhere. I feel the young people are running away from what they see, even the church and parents. I hope my paintings will help in some measure to wake us all up to the human situation around us."

"When people say, 'This isn't my world, I don't see the world this way,' I have to say to them, 'Where are you? And what do you read?' Mrs. Hilker is involved in many social involvements such as Community Change Inc., Freedom House, Black and White Conference on Target for Human Understanding, and the Sears Roebuck Foundation. She is married and has a teen-age son. These works may be viewed any day 9-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.

A special event of this exhibit will be a folk festival in words and song done by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Janey of Saugus, known as "Pat and Rick" on Saturday, April 19th, and open to young people and their parents. Pat and Rick are well - known for their ability to draw young people into the scene of contemporary life with folk music and audience participation.

Hernando de Soto is believed to have led the first white men into the North Carolina mountains.

Sargent Pushes Billboard Battle

Gov. Francis W. Sargent has informed Mayor Monte G. Basbas and other billboard-embellished leaders of Bay State cities and towns that he has taken steps to stiffen local control of outdoor advertising.

He said he also filed a bill with the state legislature to give local officials the right to "take court action to enforce local ordinances."

And, the governor disclosed, he also asked the state Outdoor Advertising Board "to establish a regulation to honor local by-laws and ordinances controlling such advertising."

The governor said that state minimum standards will apply to those communities which do not now have, or do not pass stricter regulations.

Sargent recalled that in the past the OAB has sometimes gone over the heads of local officials and issued permits for billboards.

He said, "existing signs, if they are in violation of existing laws, can be removed."

Sargent also said he had "reason to believe the OAB will agree with the governor's wishes."

Foundation Cites Samuel Shriberg

Newton resident Samuel M. Shriberg of 39 Longwell Rd., has been recognized by the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., and will be awarded the George Washington Honor Medal.

Mr. Shriberg is founder and general chairman of S.O.S. (Support and Serve Our Servicemen Committee). He and his committee were selected for the award in recognition of outstanding accomplishment in helping achieve a better understanding of the American Way of Life.

President Kenneth D. Wells of Freedom Foundation made the announcement.

Junior Girl Scouts Show Staged At Newton Church

Girl Scout Junior Troop 614 (Burr School) of Bay Path Colonial Council recently put on a one-act Chinese fantasy play entitled "The Stolen Prince," at the Cen-tenary Methodist Church in Auburndale.

The 8 o'clock evening performance was attended by Newton family and friends of the troop. Chinese tea and fortune cookies were served. A wishing well was provided for guests to put in small con-tributions to help support a day nursery for the children of working mothers in Rox-bury (Cooper Union), which is a project of the Church.

Cast of characters included: Chorus, Susan Kell; Property Man, Leslie Engelsman; Wing Lee, Nola Van Alstine; Long Fo, Ann Mahon; Royal Nurse, Martha Bassett; Hi Tee, Cindy Holmes; Li Mo, Lois O'Dowd; Lee Mee, the Duck, James O'Quack; Joy, Cheryl Bartley; 1st Soldier, Betsy Ingalls; 2nd Soldier, Laurie Bartley; Adopted Daughter, Leah Battagliano; Execu-tioner, Robin Bryson; Striker of the Gong, Laruen Pollard; Flutist, Brenda Staley; Orchestra: Debbi Gartland, Amy Teixeira, Liz Robertson, Michelle Carmel, Inette Bussink, Judy Wyman. Usherettes: Paula Drakos, Gail Leone, Karen Annesi, Nancy Jarossi, Paula Ceurvels. Scenic Designer: Nancy Kell, assisted by Paula Drakos. The cast presented Mrs. Dutton Van Alstine, Director and Assistant Troop Leader, with a hand blocked print dress from India.

This was the third public performance of the troop, which is working for the drama badge. Earlier they appeared at the International Book Festival at the Newton Public Library and the Westdale Birthday Party where they did an act featur-ing the World Association Centres. The girls were in- vited to the Burr School to give two performances of "The Stolen Prince," at 9:30 and 1:30, Friday, March 28.

At the conclusion of the play special guests were acknowl- edged by troop leader Mrs. H. 'Gypsy' Pair Are Preying On Elderly

A pair of young women, thought to be gypsies, got away with $295 in Newton recently by preying on two elderly residents.

The latest incident was at the home of 86-year-old Michele Massaro, 203 Chapel st., on Monday. He told police the girls came to his door and asked for a drink of water. He let them enter and while one remained downstairs talk- ing to him, the other went upstairs. He requested the girl to come down and she did. After the pair left he discovered $200 missing from his wallet.

Partly blind, he was unable to give a description of the girls. A Newton Upper Falls woman, 79-year-old fell prey to the same "dodge" a few days earlier. She let the girls enter for a "drink of water" and they ran wild through the house, scooping $95. They left the bewildered woman with a plastic flower presented as a gift.

Doctors Talk On Today's Family

Two Brookline physicians, Drs. Stephen D. Howard and Joseph Franklin, and a New- ton psychologist, Dr. Marvin Snider, joined in a panel dis- cussion Sunday, March 23, at the Brotherhood Temple Sinai in Brookline.

The panel discussion, which was part of the Temple's monthly breakfast meeting, dealt with "The Challenges of Growing Up in Today's Family."

Dr. Howard is assistant to the State Commissioner of Mental Health, working in the area of adolescent services. He is currently engaged in an in- tensive program of research to determine the needs of adoles- cent psychiatric patients in Massachusetts.

Dr. Howard is married and is the father of three children. He is a member of the Medi- cal Committee for Human Rights; Brookline Mental Health Association; Secretary of the Temple Sinai Education Committee; and a member of the Massachusetts Medical So- ciety.

Board Bickers For 45-Minutes About 5-Minutes

In the words of one Alderman "the silly season has begun" in Newton.

The comment was prompted because the Board of Aldermen bickered for 45 minutes at its Monday night meeting on whether to allow Rep. Irving Fishman to ad- dress the Board for five minutes.

Thoroughly disgusted at the haggling, Ald. William L. Bruce, the Ward 6 at-large alderman, pronounced the start of the "silly season" and added, "Never have I seen so much abuse of the board pro- cedure." Bruce has an- nounced he will not seek re- election.

Fishman wanted to urge the Board to pass a resolution against the controversial ABM system. When he finally did get the floor, he only talk- ed for three minutes, instead of the allotted five.

Rep. Fishman also sub- mitted a petition to the City Clerk containing "at least" 50 signatures of Newton voters in order that a public hearing be held on the ABM issue. The Board, in deciding whether to allow Fishman time, took four roll call votes and score of amendments and motions were made on the matter.

The final vote to allow him the floor was 20 to 3

LEGAL NOTICES

LAND COURT
(SEAL)
No. 5668
In Equity
To any heirs, devisees, or legal representatives of Charles F. Johnson (formerly Junior), now or formerly of Newton, County of Middlesex, said Commonwealth:
Greetings:
Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court by Donald MacFarlane Smith and by Elizabeth Chan Small, both of Newton, County of Middlesex, said Commonwealth;

WE COMMAND YOU, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of June next, which Monday is the 2nd day of June the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in said Court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, and that you do receive what the court shall order, adjudged and decree therein, otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs allege that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land on 17 Norman Road in the City of Newton, being more particularly described in a mortgage given by Charles F. Johnson, (formerly Junior) to the Warren Institution for Savings dated May 12, 1927, duly recorded in Book 5095, Page 375, that the mortgage foreclosed the same on April 19, 1942 duly recorded in Book 6593, Page 531, and made an entry to foreclose on March 2, 1942, duly recorded in Book 6586, Page 298, that the deed was given to the Warren Institution for Savings itself, and that the premises were later conveyed to the present owners by deed, and that the mortgage failed to first secure permission to foreclose same mortgage under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act, so called, and praying that the Court determine that no owner of record was in the military service at the time of the foreclosure, and it appearing that the residences of the respondents are unknown, it is ORDERED that a citation be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of June next.

Witness, Elwood H. Hedges, First Judge of our Land Court, the Twenty-seventh day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-nine.

Holiday Trip Program Readied At Newton's Community Center

The Holiday-Trip Program by the Newton Community Serice Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, will include Junior High as well as Elementary School students this year. Early registration is suggested by Mrs. Murray Janower, director of the program, since these pograms fill quickly.

For information call 969-5906 or 969-5907. Registration April 24, from 9:30 a.m. to deadline for all trips is Friday (April 18).

The plans for the Elementary Trip Program are: Section A — Mon., April 21, from 9:40 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. A fun-filled day outdoors is planned for kids in Kindergarten through Grade 6 at Blue Hills Trailside Area. Highlights of the day will be a Museum tour (natural wild life), 2 Live Animal Demonstrations (ever hold a snake? pet a racoon, a pheasant or quail?), Nature Trail Walk (many more animals and things to see), Picnic (Bring your own lunch and money for goodies), Candy Treasure Hunt, Relay Races and Games, and for energetic youngsters, a Color Coded Hike to the top of Blue and a look from the Observation Tower. (Youngsters are advised to wear sneakers and slacks, and be prepared for a real adventure scrambling over rocks through the woods!).

Section B and Section C, Tuesday, April 22 and Wed., April 23, from 10:15 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. for children in Kindergarten through Grade 6. This popular trip is planned for two days so we can accommodate everyone. The trip will start with an 11:00 a.m. show at the Charles Playhouse. The latter will present "King Double Talk" of the Cupcake Kingdom, as he and Queen "No-One-Says-No-To" outwit the Three Sinister Ministers of Crussia, Slobmania and East Harmony in a thrilling climax at the Royal Cupcake Bakery. This is a new, and very humorous, musical.

Children will bring their own lunch and money for goodies because they will picnic and spend the afternoon at the Middlesex Fells Zoo in Stoneham. This is one of the finest small zoos in the country since its new construction and offers a full variety of exotic as well as normal zoo animals. (153 different birds in the Aviary with a fee flight area; ibex, moulions and deer; unusual water fowl in the duck lagoon; otters and tapirs in the rodent grotto; tropical garden, and much more in addition to Zoo favorites: lions, tigers, elephants, bears, giraffes, monkeys, etc.) Kids are advised to wear comfortable shoes and clothes, for a full day.

Wellesley Cites Five From Area

Five young women from the Newton area were cited recently at the annual Honors Day Convocation at Wellesley College.

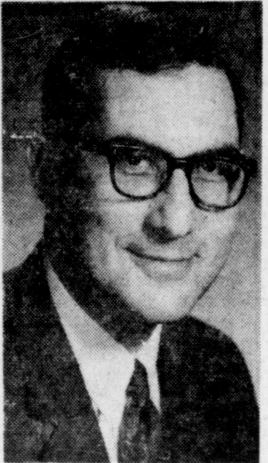

Two were named Durant Scholars, significant of the highest academic achievement at Wellesley.

They are Jane M. Hopengarten, a senior, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Hopengarten of 68 Avalon Road, Waban and Ellen J. Segal, a junior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Segal of 74 Sylvan Ave., West Newton.

Miss Hopengarten was chosen as a Durant Scholar in her junior year also. She is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honors fraternity and a Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

The other three area students were named Wellesley College Scholars in recognition of a high level of academic attainment.

They are Mrs. Rachel G. Casanova, a senior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Gorn of 34 Laudholm Road, Newton; Mary K. Hodges, a senior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hodges of 2 Kingston Road, Newton Highlands; and Edith Solomont, a junior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Solomont of 49 Miller Road, Newton Center.

DR. ROBERT FELDMAN

BU Med Center Names Feldman

Dr. Robert G. Feldman of Newton, an associate professor at the Boston University School of Medicine, has been appointed chairman of the Department of Neurology and neurologist-in-chief at the BU Medical Center's University Hospital.

Dr. Feldman is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and its College of Medicine. He first joined the B. U. faculty in 1963.

He is also director of the Aphasia Center at the BU Medical Center, chief of neurology service at the Boston Veterans Administration Hospital, and clinical associate in neurology at the Harvard Medical School.

New England Produce Center in Chelsea. This is the second largest Produce Center in the world (for the bulk distribution of wholesale produce). Fruits and vegetables from all over the world pour into this modern and immense operation. (Israeli fruits, South American nuts, Puerto Rican Pineapple, etc.) are unloaded from freight cars and trucks. We will watch the methods of handling, quality control, receiving and shipping of this 150 million dollar business in a colorful and interesting tour.

Second, we will have lunch at The European, an authentic Italian restaurant in the North End. (You can bring your own lunch or 50c will buy 2 slices of pizza and a coke). Third, we will tour Proctor and Gamble Corporation in Quincy for an amazing demonstration of modern technology and equipment. We will watch endless streams of soap being cut into bar size and packing lines turning out enough product in one hour to last a family of four for 100 years. We will visit office and production areas and the quality control laboratory. A color movie, and gift package are also part of Proctor and Gamble's program. If you are curious to see how Camay, Ivory, Bold, Tide, Spic and Span and a half dozen other products are made, don't miss this unusual offering.

Plans for the Junior High School Program are equally exciting. Section D-2 is the same as Section D as above. It will also meet on Thursday, April 24, but the junior high school and high school students will have a special bus. Section F is planned specially for the teenagers. On Tuesday, April 22, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. the students will first tour the

Top Insurance Salesman Goes To Conference

Edward D. Canty, leading representative on the staff of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Harvard Square office at 625 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, has been invited to participate in a four-day business conference with company officials and other field representatives at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles during the week of April 13-18.

Last year, Mr. Canty, who lives at 1840 Beacon St., Waban, placed more than $1,000,000 in personal life insurance to rank among the leaders of Metropolitan Life's 30,000 field representatives in the United States and Canada. It was the fourth time that his annual sales have passed the million mark.

Jews Celebrate Installation Breakfast With Festival For B'nai B'rith Lodge

Israel's 21st Independence Day will be celebrated April 27 at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, 50 Sutherland Road, Brighton, with an Israeli Arts Festival.

Mrs. Leah Porath-Goor, Israeli consul of cultural affairs, will discuss the significance of arts and crafts.

There will be a program of dancing, an exhibit of Israeli stamps and, from April 21 through April 26, an exhibition of art called "Masters of Israel at the Brookline Public Library.

The celebration is being sponsored by the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston and the Boston Jewish Youth Council.

Local Artists To Exhibit At Lexington Show

Three Newton artists and a local gallery will be represented at the third Contemporary Art Exhibit at Temple Emunah of Lexington. Artists Ruth Glass, Helene Levenson and Rene Winick will each exhibit two or more works.

Several thousand people are expected to visit the exhibit, which will be open to the public April 20 through 26, 2 to 5 p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m. except Friday night and Saturday afternoon at the Temple.

The exhibit includes over 150 works of art in many media, displayed in a garden setting. Unframed graphics of American and Israeli artists, as well as jewelry and hand-crafted gifts from Israel will also be for sale.

Contributing galleries are the Pucker-Safrai Gallery of Boston, bringing paintings, graphics and art objects from Israel; and the Berman Medallie Gallery of Newton, with a group of works from 14 artists. Selected prints will be exhibited by the Hubbard Street Printmakers.

A feature of the exhibit will be the Jury Section, selected by Larry Webster, watercolorist, of Topsfield, and Paul Ciano, art critic of the Jewish Advocate. 61 artists from 25 eastern Massachusetts communities submitted 121 works for the competition.

Winners and honorable mention awards will be announced at an invitation Preview Night Saturday April 19. Those wishing to attend this event should inquire at the Temple Emunah office.

Co-chairmen of the exhibit are Mrs. Alan Glasser and Mrs. Alvin Block of Lexington.

Cowin Wins Appointment To DPU Comm.

A Newton attorney, William I. Cowin, 30, last week became Gov. Francis W. Sargent's choice to set a new course for the public utilities commission (DPU).

Sargent nominated Cowin for the DPU last Thursday and said he intends to make him chairman. The appointment goes to the Executive Council for approval.

Cowin lives at 744 Quinobequin rd., Newton, with his wife, Judith, and their daughter, April. He is the only Republican to serve in the administration of Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, serving as his special counsel.

In announcing the appointment, Sargent said, "the public has felt, and I think justifiably so, that the Dept. of Public Utilities has been, in a sense, a creature of the utilities themselves, and not always working for the consumer."

DPU critic Rep. William Q. MacLean (D-Fairhaven), who heads a special committee to investigate the department, called the appointment "the first step in a much-needed, long-awaited shakeup of DPU personnel."

Three At Colby On Deans' List

Three students from the Newton area have been named to the Deans' List of honor students for the first semester at Colby College.

They are Nancy E. LeVine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard E. LeVine of 49 Philmore Road, Newton; Ian M. Rosenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rosenberg of 35 Judith Road, Newton Center; and Alan Z. Levin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Levin of 250 Fuller St., West Newton.

Miss LeVine is a senior majoring in French; Rosenberg, a sophomore majoring in mathematics; and Levin, a senior majoring in economics.

Airman To Mississippi

Airman David A. Brandies, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kravitz and the late Seymour Brandies of 1085 Centre St., Newton Centre, has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Biloxi, Miss. for training in Personnel Management. Airman Brandies, who completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, is a graduate of Brookline High and Babson Institute.

Meadowbrook News

By Janice E. Kaplan

The Meadowbrook auditorium was filled to capacity on March 28 and March 29. Everyone was eagerly watching the musical "Guys and Dolls". It was performed by the students, and hours of practice and rehearsals paid off in the production which was excellent in every way. Priscilla Cohen, Ira Leavitt, Laura Greene, Alan Buckley, and Richard Levine had the leading roles in the play. They were all superb and played their parts with a professional quality.

Priscilla Cohen was Adelaide who had been engaged to Nathan Detroit (Ira Leavitt), a gambler, for fourteen years. Another gambler, Sky Masterson (Alan Buckley), makes a bet with him that he can get Sara Brown to go on a date with Sky. Sara Brown is the head of a band of missionaries. She is portrayed by Laura Greene. Sara falls in love with Sky, and eventually both girls get married. Richard Levine was Nicely-Nicely Johnson. Richard was particularly good as he confessed his sins to the missionaries in the song "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat". Others in the cast included the crapsshooters, Mission Band, Havana Dancers, and Adelaide's Hot Box Dancers. The music was provided by the Meadowbrook student orchestra.

The faculty worked with the students throughout. Mr. A.P. Lehner was the director and Mr. Melvyn Springer the music director.

There was a great deal of work backstage that went to make "Guys and Dolls" a successful production. Students and faculty worked on costumes, make-up, lighting, publicity, and numerous other things. One of the most difficult and important jobs is always the stage-crew.

The students on this paint scenery, build backgrounds, and work backstage doing everything imaginable. Florence Levene was the stage manager. She did an excellent job on a very difficult task.

Panthers and Lions filled the Meadowbrook gymnasium on Friday March 20. The Meadowbrook and Newton South High students joined for the annual Pantherama. The evening began at 6:00 when the Meadowbrook Panthers beat the Newton South Lions.

"Learn-In" By Jewish Women Next Thursday

Mrs. Bertram Petkun, Vice President, Mrs. Herbert Fox and Mrs. Sidney Langer, all of Newton, have led an enthusiastic committee of women, members of the National Council of Jewish Women, who will hold an all-day "Learn-In" Institute at the Harvard Club, Cambridge next Thursday (April 17).

Also assisting the "Learn-In" chairman, Mrs. Simon Floss of Belmont, is Mrs. Henry Pollack of Newton.

The Institute will convene at 9:50 a.m. with Charles I. Schottland, Dean of the Florence Heller School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare at Brandeis, as the key speaker. Joseph Jordan, Capt. of the Vice and Narcotics Unit in the Boston Police Department will discuss the effect of drugs on young people, on those on welfare and in the cities.

Professor Peter Brantley Doeringer of Harvard University and Samuel D. Merrick, Mayor White's Assistant on Labor Relations and Representative on Juvenile Delinquency will participate in the treatment of the cities problems with Paul Parks, Executive Director of Model City Administration, as leader.

Anyone interested in attending should contact the Council of Jewish Women, 1407 Beacon St., 277-9636 or 244-5339.

Hadassah To Meet Next Wed.

The Oak Hill Group of Hadassah will hold a meeting next Wednesday (April 16) at 1 p.m. at the Charterhouse Motor Hotel, Route 9, Chestnut Hill. There will be an art exhibit and lecture by Mrs. Louise Kalish, a well-known Quincy artist, who will speak on "An Artist's Point of View".

Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Jos. Speyer and Mrs. Robert Roth. Program chairmen are Mrs. Jack Rosemark and Mrs. Solomon Shulman. President is Mrs. Maurice Rubin.

der: commends CDR Raffaele for his "exceptional qualities of leadership and resourcefulness while directing his ship in the execution of varied tasks" and states that "His personal example of initiative and devotion to duty inspired his crew to perform at a high level resulting in markedly superior performance and sustained combat readiness. His skill and judgement enabled HANSON to destroy or damage eighty-seven targets during one ten-day period of Naval Gunfire Support, thereby inflicting significant damage upon the enemy."

In addition, his foresight and vigilance while controlling a search and rescue led directly to the successful night recovery of a naval aviator who crashed at sea.

Commander Raffaele's superb leadership, professionalism, initiative and tireless devotion to duty reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the naval service."

The award was presented by Captain Arthur T. Emerson, Jr., Commander Destroyer Squadron ONE.

CDR Raffaele has previously been decorated with the Navy Achievement Medal for Vietnam combat operations.

Young Local Camera Buffs Make Their Hobby Pay Off

Whitehouse Productions, a new Newton photography firm, lists as directors two young Newtonites, Henry Berman, a Newton High School junior, and Mark Whitehouse, a student at Newton Junior College.

Two camera buffs, Mark and Henry are making their hobby pay by following police and fire calls on a radio they earned by taking and selling photographs.

Mark is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. T. C. Whitehouse of Auburndale, and brother of Tom Whitehouse, 23, a producer and director of youth shows at the Boston Catholic TV Center.

Mark and Henry financed their police radio by preparing a slide/tape presentation for the Newton School Department's use at a conference of Newton school principals.

For this presentation, called "Random Sample," and dealing with the political climate in Newton and its relation to education, they took pictures in different parts of the city, of homes, playgrounds, old schools and new, churches, the Turnpike, etc., showing the tremendous diversity in the city and pointing out some of the problems that exist because of it.

They also taped spontaneous interviews with citizens, asking people about their attitudes toward the city and its schools.

Newton Artist To Exhibit At Show 'Til 19th

An exhibition of recent paintings by Marguerite Elchorn Daly is displayed at the Framingham "Shoppers World" Cinema through April 19th.

Portraits are featured in the show, on loan through the courtesy of their owners, and there is a variety in the many ages of the models. The artist stresses the idea that the personality of subject is as important as the physical likeness, if not more important. Although the paintings are representational, there is an abstract quality throughout. The portraits are of people from Newton and surrounding areas.

The artist, winner of many awards and scholarships, was the first artist to have an invitational show at the opening of the Liberal Arts College in Barrington, Rhode Island.

She was featured in a color spread of a Florida newspaper, showing some of her work done there, having been flown to Florida for this commission. She was a scholarship student at the Boston School of the Museum of Fine Arts and also attended Boston University, and Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

All of the paintings are done in Acrylics, in oil technique, which is an aqueous medium with a polymer binder.

Mrs. Daly lives in Newton with her children, Maureen and Michael who attend Newton High School. She is a member of the Cambridge Art Association, the Institute of Contemporary Art and is on the governing board of the Newton Art Association.

The New York Rangers set a club record for most victories in one season with 39 during 1967-68.

Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Henry took the photographs while he was working at a boys' traveling summer camp in the southwest during the past three summers.

He used three cameras: an Argus C-35 (35 mm) with a Gossen Pilot light meter, a Kodak Instamatic 104, and a Miranda G. He says, "I found these best since the sand and weather of the Southwest did some damage to them, and they are not expensive. Anyway, it's not the camera, but the person using it."

Photo editor of the 1969 yearbook, the Newtonian, Henry's interest in photography has been with him for several years. In September, 1967, he converted an extra bathroom in his home into his own darkroom, and he has been doing his own black and white developing ever since.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berman of 30 Ellis Road, West Newton, and brother of Russell, 18, a Harvard freshman and Martin, 14, a 9th-grade Warren Jr. High School student.

Henry Berman has provided the Newton Free Library with a basic list of books he recommends for the flavor of the Southwest, and a selection from this list is on exhibit with his fine color photographs. The exhibit continues at the Main Library through late April.

Quinn Named To VP Post By GOP Club

Donald P. Quinn, an attorney, and long time resident, has been designated Administrative Vice - President of the Newton Republican Club, according to an announcement by Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., President of the Club. Quinn has already assumed his duties in his new post which deals mainly with programming the activities of one of the largest GOP groups in New England.

A native of Newton, Mr. Quinn was educated in the Newton Public Schools. He is a graduate of Harvard College and holds a law degree from Boston College Law School. He is a member of the Bar of the Massachusetts Superior Court and of the Federal District Court. He served as an Artillery Officer on active duty with the First Air Mobile Cavalry Division.

In 1968 he Co-Chaired the Club's Annual Lincoln Day Dinner and has actively participated in the organization's programs for several years as a member of its Executive Committee. An active worker in the community, he is a former trustee of the Heintzelman Memorial Fund of the Newton High School.

His work as Co-ordinator in this area for the Committee for a Constitutional Convention won wide recognition and he has taken part in numerous political campaigns for more than a decade.

Mr. Quinn and his wife, Judith, and their baby son, Stephen M., who was born on Lincoln's birthday this year, will soon move into their new home on Arapahoe Road, Auburndale.

More than 40 Union Army generals were from New York State during the civil war.

ORT CHAIRMEN — Mrs. Gerald Kraft, left, and Mrs. Gerald Sowsy, right, of Newton, co-chairman and chairman respectively, of the 17th Annual ORT Honor Roll luncheon to be held by the Eastern Mass. Region of Women's American ORT on Wednesday, June 4th at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel. Event will honor 1200 Honor Roll members and will feature Lee Daniels and Company.

Lunches-

"Whatever decision is made it will please some and not please others," Beckwith commented. "I hope however, that the community will return to its interest in excellence in the schools."

In proposing the five-day uniform single session schedule, committeeman Mandell said, "Over the past three years every poll taken has indicated that this request is a clear mandate from an overwhelming majority of the involved parents. In a democracy such as ours, it is imperative that elected bodies of officials accede to the wishes of the people. To further delay or deny this strong request from the people would make mockery of the channels of communication we so often state are available for this purpose."

Frazier, who seconded the motion, said the five-day uniform schedule would provide more safety for the children, more educational flexibility in the school curriculum and would meet the wishes of a majority of the parents.

Mrs. Mintz pointed out that statistics did not reveal any safety hazards in the walk to and from school at lunch time. She said the chaos in the secondary school cafeterias and the elementary schools this year during the lunch hour did not point up any advantages in offering social experience to the children through a lunch program.

She also observed that 70 per cent of the school systems in Massachusetts, which have in-school lunch programs, but from 50 to 100 per cent of the children and are therefore forced in to a lunch program.

"To try to maintain an educational system that is relevant, teachers need more time to prepare meaningful programs," she stressed while pointing to the advantages of the unscheduled Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Richard Douglas explained that the optional lunch program being tried in the elementary schools this year has failed, partly because the lunch hour is too long. He said any program approved would have to be mandatory.

However, he voiced concern about many aspects of an in-school lunch program, one of which was the increased congestion and lack of facilities in many already overcrowded schools.

Edwin Hawkridge, who opposed any in-school lunch program that would be financially supported by the city, said he disliked opposing the wishes of so many parents but that he felt an obligation to all Newton citizens who are facing drastic tax rises.

Harold Berman declared that a democracy functions not only to please the majority but also to protect the minority. The damage that could be suffered by a child who needs to go home for lunch could be greater than the good that could be achieved for the child who might like to remain in school, he insisted. "We have to weigh the hurt to the relatively few against the benefits to the many," he asserted.

Berman said he was also influenced by the general disorder in the classrooms during this year's optional lunch program as reported by teachers.

"However a polarization in the community between teachers and parents will have many ill effects," Berman declared.

"None of us really believes a lunch program is in the best interests of the children but we are afraid of what will happen if we oppose such a large block of public opinion," Berman stated.

Vincent Stanton said he visited three schools this year during the lunch hour and found generally chaotic conditions. He said the hazards involved in traveling to and from home for lunch in bad weather is not really relevant since the School Committee in recent years has always voted an emergency schedule during particularly inclement winter weather.

He said he was proposing the compromise reluctantly since the same reservations he felt about a five day lunch program applied to a three-day program.

Mrs. Mintz also said she was supporting the compromise with a "certain sadness" but "it is the least imperfect of all the options available," she added.

Mrs. Mintz said she wanted what she considered "past mistakes" of the School Committee to be on record so that similar ones would not be made in the future.

"Our first mistake was to authorize the first poll," she continued. "It is the responsibility of elected officials to weigh all aspects of highly complex situations and arrive at decisions. Nothing is served by a head count, Mrs. Mintz maintained.

The second mistake was initiation of the pilot program in three schools last year, she said. "It was much too expensive a program to be duplicated in all of the schools," she contended.

"Our third mistake was to prolong the agony over too long a time. Valuable energies were syphoned off from more important matters," Mrs. Mintz asserted.

Mrs. Mintz also expressed the opinion that it has been unfortunate that there has been "little dialogue between people with opposing views."

"If we don't begin to sit down together in an atmosphere of trust and discuss common goals we are not going to be able to maintain a system of high quality," she stressed.

Chairman Beckwith said he had not planned to state his position, but that when it became obvious that the compromise would be approved, he felt it would not influence any decision. He said he favored a return to the old schedule because "the schools do not have the facilities to accommodate a lunch program."

Music School Square Dance, Supper Tomorrow Night

An old-fashioned square dance and pot-luck supper will be featured tomorrow, April 11, from 5:30 to 9 P.M. at the All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, to benefit the Scholarship Fund of the Music School.

The faculty and students of the School, as well as their families and friends, are invited to attend, and each family is asked to bring a casserole, salad, or dessert, according to Mrs. Marshall Melin, president of the Parents Association of the All Newton Music School, sponsor of the Spring fund-raising event.

The co-chairmen of the Supper-Square Dance committee, Mrs. Floyd Gilles, of Chestnut Street, and Mrs. Robert Buxbaum, of Bellevue Avenue, are accepting reservations.

Members of the committee working with Mrs. Gilles and Mrs. Buxbaum are Mrs. Richard Husher, Mrs. Paul Wiggins, Mrs. Jordan Mishara, and Mrs. Leon Rosenfeld, all of Newton.

The Parents Association has scheduled this gala in response to the many requests from students and their families who remember the tremendous fun of the first square dance evening at the Music School three years ago.

Mrs. Anne Gombosi, director of the All Newton Music School, has given her enthusiastic support to the project, which, Mrs. Gombosi points out, "provides a wonderful evening for the faculty to meet the families of their students and also makes it possible for the School to

Dorothy Bates Slide Lecture Here April 16

"Discovering America," a new slide lecture by Dorothy Bates, takes a comprehensive look at the American scene, physical, historical, cultural.

This will be shown on April 16, at eight o'clock in the evening, at the Auburndale Congregational Church, at the corner of Woodland Road and Grove Street in Auburndale.

Mrs. Bates has selected revealing slides from her extensive collection. Travels into many parts of this country have made it possible for her to portray various aspects of American life, past and present. A large number of slides shown in fairly rapid succession emphasize the points covered.

The public is invited to attend this showing which is sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the church. Donations will be accepted for the School Volunteer Project.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Middlesex County Democratic Club, Inc., in Lexington, officers for the present year were elected.

Re-elected as president for another one-year term was a Lowell attorney, William C. Geary. Vice-presidents include, Joseph T. Maguire of Waltham, Atty. John J. Bowers, Jr. of Lowell, Atty. Joseph T. Travaine of Winchester and Atty. Charles L. Shea of Burlington.

Ruth McMenimen of Lowell was elected as clerk of the corporation, while Atty. Joseph P. Mucci of Malden was elected treasurer and Atty. Laurence R. Faney was elected to serve as executive director.

Girls Scouts In New Cookie Sale

Cookies will be king this weekend at several strategic neighborhood locations where Newton Girl Scouts of the Bay Path Colonial Council will be selling this traditional wares.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Fallon, cookie chairman for Village Homestead reports Senior Troop 585 will have a booth at the Newtonville Star Market and Mrs. C. Linda Hunnibel, Newton Centre cookie chairman says Cadette Troop 842 will be at Stop and Shop on Route 9 both Friday and Saturday.

Also, Mrs. Robert E. Maguire, Quinobequin chairman says that Cadette Troops 475 and 879 will be at Riverside and Woodland MBTA stations Friday and the Auburndale Star Market Saturday; and Cadette Troop 568 will be at King's Department Store Friday afternoon and evening.

All-Newton Cookie Chairman Mrs. Raymond Russell said the booths are planned to serve those Newton residents who missed buying the cookies during the Scouts' door-to-door selling campaign which ended last week.

To Blue Cross Board

Dr. Guy W. Brugler of 17 Old England rd., Chestnut Hill, a hospital consultant, was re-elected a member of the Blue Cross Board of Directors at the 1969 annual meeting of the corporation. He was first elected a director in 1955.

Mayor Basbas Speaker At Police Graduation

Mayor Monte G. Basbas was the principal speaker at the graduation exercises for the 47th local police training class held at the Framingham State Police Academy, April 2, at which were included three Newton officers.

Mr. Basbas was introduced by John I. Likely, Philip C. Moreau, and John T. Parker, by Commissioner of Public Safety, Leo L. Laughlin, who stated the Basbas interest in good law enforcement is reflected by his contributions to Massachusetts Municipal Training Council and the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice where he is a working member of both organizations.

Mayor Basbas in his address stated that the future of good policing lies in the well-trained police officer, dedicated to a continuous program of education and that among the needs of the good police officer is the continued and increasing interest of the community, and its civic and political leaders.

He went on to state that the three Newton graduates:

Community Service Sets Sustaining Member Drive

The annual Newton Community Service Center Sustaining Membership Drive is now underway.

Heading the drive are Mrs. William Glovsky who resides at 415 Highland Street in West Newton and Miss Mary Louise Eddy of 54 Wyman Street in Waban.

This year the agency has set a goal of $15,000 to help defray the costs of the program. The funds are generally utilized to help meet scholarship expense, program materials, and a wide variety of needs necessitated in the operation of the Community Service Centers' activity.

In 1968 over 2,211 different individuals were registered for specific Center programs. Approximately 5,000 individuals through political, service, etc. groups and organizations availed themselves of the agencies' facilities.

The Centers in addition to its regular programs is currently serving as the delegate administering agency for the Newton Headstart and Newton Youth Center Projects.

Last year over 200 individuals responded to the agencies plea for support. Hopefully, the number shall be increased with the current drive. For additional information or literature relative to the drive contact the Centers at 969-5906.

Robert Julien To Be Speaker For Kiwanians

Robert J. Julien, executive director of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, will be the principal speaker at the April 16th meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club at Valle's Restaurant, Chestnut Hill. His subject will be: "Are We Doing The Job Today?"

Mr. Julien has been associated with the American National Red Cross for the past fifteen years. He has served on several major disasters for the Red Cross, including hurricanes, floods and tornadoes.

Born in Albany, New York, Mr. Julien has been married for seventeen years and now resides at 139 Harvard Street in Newtonville with his wife and two children.

Women Voters Discussions On Electoral College Due

The League of Women Voters of Newton will hold a series of Unit meetings in discussion of the Electoral College on April 16, 17 and 18. The meetings will center on the question: "Should the United States graduate from the Electoral College?"

Almost daily, since the political conventions of last summer, articles and editorials, letters to the editor, television commentary and personal discussion have been concerned with our method of electing our President.

Much of the discussion at these meetings will be devoted to the various proposals to change the Electoral College which are currently before the Congress.

Those planning to attend the Unit meetings might ask themselves these questions as a good means of preparing to take an active role in the discussions:

- 1) Do you believe our current method of electing a President should be changed?
- 2) Would your vote in a direct popular election carry more weight than under the present system?
- 3) Would the proportional district, or direct popular vote destroy the two party system?
- 4) What role does Congress now play in selecting the President?

All League members and their guests are invited to attend any of the following meetings, although non-members may not vote on consensus:

Wed. morning, April 16 (9:30 - 11:15) at the Newtonville Library, 345 Walnut St., Newtonville. (Please use Highland Ave. entrance.) Unit Chairman: Mrs. Robert Capeless. Leader: Mrs. Joel Leighton.

Wed. Luncheon, April 16 (11:30 - 2:00) at the home of Mrs. Ernest Picard, 14 Halcyon Rd., Newton Centre. Leader: Mrs. Ernest Picard.

Wed. eve., April 16 (8:00 - 9:45) at the home of Mrs. Ronald Rubin, 136 Randlett Park, West Newton. Unit Chairman: Mrs. Kenneth Quinlan. Leader: Mrs. Franklin Peterson.

Thurs. morning, April 17 (9:30 - 11:15) at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St., Newton Highlands. Unit Chairman: Mrs. Herbert Spatz. Leader: Mrs. Julius Feldman. Co-leader: Mrs. Charles Gutman.

Thurs. eve., April 17 (8:00 - 9:45) at the home of Mrs. Harold Stein, 19 Druid Hill Rd., Newton Highlands. Leader: Mrs. Joseph Apfelbaum.

Fri. morning, April 18 (9:30 - 11:15) at the Auburndale Congregational Church, 64 Hancock St., Auburndale. Unit Chairman: Mrs. Antram DerMarderosian. Leader: Mrs. Edward Morrison. Co-leader: Mrs. David Dweley. (A baby-sitter will be in attendance.)

Discussion will point toward a possible consensus. Background information about the history of the Electoral College will be provided. The members of the resource committee on the Electoral College are: Mrs. David Alpers, chairman; Mrs. Ralph Rosenbaum, vice - chairman; Mrs. Asger Agnerstrom, Mrs. Arthur Lowenthal, Mrs. Samuel Thier, and Mrs. Austin Horowitz. For a further information regarding Unit meetings, Mrs. Charles Ryan, chairman, may be contacted at 527-4408.

Dr. Brown's Suggestion Is Rebutted

Spokesmen for two national teachers' organizations last week denounced a suggestion by former Newton Supt. of Schools Dr. Charles E. Brown that "mediocre" teachers be fired and students have a hand in dismissing them.

David Selden, president of the American Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO, rebutted. "The problem is not with the firing procedures. It's with the hiring procedures."

A spokesman for the National Education Association said "the teaching profession itself does not hire teachers." He pointed out that school boards and school systems hire teachers.

Dr. Brown is now the Ford Foundation's program officer. Brown, 44, the first a teacher and then rose to be superintendent of Newton schools before he left last June.

Brown said the "two most interested parties" should decide which teachers should be fired. "There is a function there for administrators and other teachers, and those whom he is teaching — and that means the children themselves."

Mayor's Assistant Speaks On Morality At 'Y' Lunch

William K. Mackey, administrative assistant to Mayor Monte Basbas, addressed a group of sixty people at the Newton Y. M. C. A's Annual Lenten Luncheon. Mr. Mackey's initial statement was that, essentially, morality in government is conforming to a doctrine of morals — the morality of man.

"Today we are facing many complex situations. We are living in a violent generation, blatant and disrespectful to law and order. Some of this revolution is needed — we cannot deny constructive dissent. However, most of today's dissent is violent, he said.

"World population is growing at a fantastic rate — our square miles are shrinking. Twenty years from now five people will be standing where three are standing on earth today.

"We can readily see, as never before, that there must be government, especially with the world situation today — upheaval in Vietnam and the Middle-East, etc.

"The big question is, 'Do we know what we are doing, and what we are looking for?' It is not surprising that we lose our vision and lapse into apathy, Mr. Mackey stated.

"Where does it all begin? There are three essential units which are the backbone on morality in our country. Number one is the home; parents must insist on discipline.

"Why are our youth leaving home in rebellion? Why? Parents do not love; parents are apathetic; parents are unfair, unreasonable, and unkind; and many live by material standards alone — they need not wonder why kids go astray.

"In terms of religion, it is difficult for society to prevail without religion. The church has an important role to play. Today, more so than in the past, the church is more of a social institution than its counterpart of the past, he stated.

Sgt. Dargan Is Police Speaker On Drug Abuses

Sergeant Thomas M. Dargan, Commander Community Service Division, Newton Police Department, was principal speaker on the subject of narcotics and marijuana at the Newton Police In - Service training program.

Dargan, a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics School in Washington, D. C., covered the various pills and substances now being used by those involved in drug abuse, and displayed samples of different types of drugs available on the illicit market and the abuse of drugs normally obtained legitimately.

Much of the lecture was spent on marijuana, its sources and the fact that it is a current college fad and much of the substance can be traced to the college community.

Dargan went on to state that the pushers or peddlars of marijuana are not the classic criminal type, but might well be the clean cut boy next door type, a long-haired hippie type or even a girl which adds to the difficulty in discovery and arrest.

He also, with the assistance of detectives Manley Kiley and Edward Meridith burned some marijuana - like substance to acquaint all officers with the smell of burning marijuana.

Newton Temple Film Festival

The Temple Mishkan Tefila Forum will present the color movie, "A Journey to Jerusalem" at its first Annual Cinema Film Festival Sunday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Temple's social hall on Hammond Pond Parkway in Newton.

"A Journey to Jerusalem" featured Leonard Bernstein, Isaac Stern and the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra.

It depicts the story of a music concert given on Mount Scopus, on the northeastern side of Jerusalem, barely one month after the Six-Day War of 1967 in which Israeli forces captured the entire city.

Mount Scopus was held by the Israelis throughout the 1948 War of Independence and remained a Jewish enclave the following 19 years. It has been supplied by monthly armored convoys under United Nations protection.

The festival is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William Marcus and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pritzker.

Robert H. Clay Chevrolet Grad

Robert H. Clay, Clay Chevrolet, Inc., Newton, was among 52 students from the United States, Canada and three overseas nations to be graduated here recently from one of industry's most unusual schools.

The graduation marked the conclusion of the 70th session of the Chevrolet Dealers' Sons School of Merchandising and Management. The six-week course concentrated studies on the latest methods of operating a modern automotive retail establishment.

The Chevrolet school, now in its 32nd year, has graduated more than 7,500 persons from study courses since its founding in 1938.

U. S. DESTROYER PICKS UP DEBRIS FROM MISSING PLANE
A U.S. DESTROYER Wednesday picked up two pieces of aircraft fuselage with shrapnel holes in them from the Sea of Japan off North Korea where a Navy reconnaissance plane disappeared. The Pentagon announced the wreckage was picked up by the destroyer USS Dale which "also picked up a flare and a piece of a parachute." The statement said: "We continue to be without word of any survivors." The Pentagon concluded that North Korean planes probably shot down the electronic-stuffed plane, a military version of the old tripartite Super Constellation. The United States insisted the incident took place "far outside" any air space claimed by the Communists. The new Nixon Administration acted with deliberate calm. It was left to the Defense Department to report details on the loss of the plane.

COMMUNISTS FIRE ROCKETS AND MORTAR SHELLS INTO DA NANG
IN THE FIRST barrage of South Vietnam's second largest city in a month, Communists fired rockets and mortar shells into Da Nang. A densely populated downtown area was hit and flames engulfed a petroleum warehouse. Early reports said at least 15 persons were wounded, including an American serviceman and 14 South Vietnamese civilians. The United States has warned the Communists that "appropriate action" will be taken if the Viet Cong persist in shelling cities, but the nature of the retaliation has never been spelled out.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCES LEGISLATION TO CURB WILDCAT STRIKES
BRITAIN'S Labor Government announced legislation Wednesday to curb wildcat strikes that are slowing the country's economy. Government sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson hopes to push the legislation through Parliament before summer recess. To provide the necessary time, he was reported ready to abandon a bill to reform the House of Lords which has become bogged down in the House of Commons in debate. The new provisions would be: government powers to order a 28-day cooling off period in wildcat walkouts; fines but not jail sentences for either workers or employers defying the cooling-off order; statutory right of every worker to join a trade union; inter-union disputes that could lead to strikes to be submitted first to the Trades Union Congress and then to the government's newly created Industrial Relations Board for settlement.

BODY OF GIRL, 13, FOUND IN DITCH NEAR ANN ARBOR
THE BODY of a brown-haired, 13-year-old girl who had been choked and stabbed was found Wednesday in a ditch near Ann Arbor, Mich. She was the fifth girl found slain in the area in less than two years. Dawn Basom, a junior high school pupil at nearby Ypsilanti was the latest victim in an accelerating series of slayings dating back to the summer of 1967. All of the girls' bodies were found east of Ann Arbor, three of them within a radius of a mile or so. Strangulation figured in all the slayings, though it was not the cause of death. One died in the summer of 1967, and one in the summer of 1968. Three were killed this spring. Sheriff Douglas Harvey called a meeting of all law enforcement agencies in the area to plan a coordinated hunt for the killer or killers.

SOME LAWMAKERS DEMAND U.S. TAKE RETALIATORY ACTION
SOME KIND of retaliatory action by the United States against North Korea for its downing of a U.S. plane in international air space was demanded Wednesday by some members of Congress. Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., recalled President Nixon's campaign promise that he would not tolerate abuse from a "fourth rate naval power." "We are waiting for you, Mr. President, on your promise," said Dickinson. Sen. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he believed the plane was carrying out the intelligence mission without Nixon's knowledge. He commended Nixon for his "cool and deliberate approach to this crisis." Other Congressmen demanded, however, that the United States retaliate with a military response.

SEN. FINCH ORDERS STUDY OF MENTAL EFFECTS OF TV VIOLENCE
WELFARE SEC. Robert H. Finch Wednesday ordered a scientific study, headed by Surgeon General William H. Stewart, into whether televised crime and violence affects the mental health of the viewer. "There already exists a considerable body of evidence and responsible opinion which suggests that there may be a connection between certain types of television content and the mental health of our citizens, particularly younger citizens," Finch said. The report of the surgeon general's scientific advisory committee on television and social behavior will be completed by October, he said.

COURT RULES AGAINST RECLASSIFICATION FOR DRAFT CARD BURNING
A DRAFT BOARD can not reclassify a registrant 1A for burning his draft card or other violations of the Selective Service System's delinquency regulations, a federal judge ruled Wednesday in New York. Judge John F. Dooling Jr. made the ruling in the trial of Noel Stanley Eisendorfer, 29, of Queens, N.Y. Dooling said such reclassification violated the registrant's "due process" guarantee. Eisendorfer was found guilty of failing to report for induction at Fort Hamilton, N.Y., June 29, 1967, but Dooling said he would consider an application to drop the indictment. Local Board 67 had reclassified Eisendorfer 1A and ordered him to report for induction when he was found guilty by the board of failing to correct his 1D student ROTC deferment status and make other changes.

U.S. AID GRANTED FIVE FLOOD-WRACKED MIDWEST STATES
THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT Wednesday came to the aid of five flood-ravaged states in the Midwest as the upper Mississippi River and smaller prairie streams hurled record or near record crests at protective dikes and soggy lowland communities. The highest crest of the century surged northward up the Red River of the north between Fargo and Grand Forks, N.D., making a vast lake out of a broad flood plain. A near-record crest on the Mississippi River poured through St. Paul, Minn., at a million-gallon-a-second rate. Residents of Minot, N.D. were out of their homes, awaiting two crests rolling down the Mouse River.

TWO HUB MEN ARRESTED IN AUTO MISHAP SLAYING
TWO BOSTON MEN, one the son of a patrolman, were arrested Wednesday by detectives in connection with the throat-slashing murder of a retired Quincy business executive after a minor auto accident at Neponset Circle. Picked up after a stakeout in the Jamaica Plain section were Robert L. Hubbard, 27, of South Boston, and Robert E. Ranahan, 25, of Dorchester. Hubbard was charged with murdering George R. Alexander, 56, of Quincy, retired treasurer of the Penobscot Chemical Fiber Co., of Boston, a firm no longer in business. Ranahan was charged with being an accessory after the fact. Both were turned over to MDC police who have jurisdiction over Neponset Circle. The arrests were made possible by the jotting down of a license number by a witness, police said.

HARVARD DEAN SUFFERS 'MILD STROKE'
A HARVARD UNIVERSITY dean suffered a "mild stroke" Wednesday as the deadline for action on student demands drew near. Dean Franklin L. Ford of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences was admitted to Massachusetts General Hospital after he collapsed and was taken to the university infirmary for treatment. His secretary said he had been working long hours since the turmoil erupted April 9 at the university. About one-third of the university's undergraduates stayed away from class on the fifth day of the strike. Harvard has a total enrollment of some 15,000 students. The university has until today to answer the student demands.

15 Additional Negro Pupils Requested For Schools Here

A request has been made to the Newton School Committee that an additional 15 Negro children from Roxbury be admitted to the Newton school system next September under the METCO program.

A total of 100 Roxbury boys and girls are presently enrolled as pupils in the Newton schools on a tuition-free basis.

That number would be increased to 115 next September if the request of the Newton METCO Committee is approved by the School Board.

The matter will be considered by the School Committee members at their meeting a week from next Monday night (April 28) and probably will be decided at that time.

Indications at last Monday night's School Board session were that the request will be approved and that the number of Roxbury children attending public school in Newton will be raised to 115 at the start of the next school year.

Acting School Superintendent James Laurits announced Monday night that the school administration will support the request of the METCO Committee.

Dr. Laurits disclosed that the proposal also has been endorsed by the Newton PTA Council, the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights and by a number of individuals.

Giving an indication of their future position on the matter, the Newton School Committee members recorded themselves as favoring the request of the State Department of Education for $1,300,000 in state funds to finance the METCO program during the next school year.

They also voted to send letters to Governor Francis W. Sargent and House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Anthony M. Scibelli endorsing the State Department of Education request for the $1.3 million and urging the appropriation of that amount.

Governor Sargent reduced the amount to $600,000 in his budget, it was stated. The School Board in its letter is asking that the amount be raised to $1,300,000.

Dr. Laurits said that as far as he is aware no deferral funds will be available to help finance the METCO program during the next school year.

Newton will submit a METCO budget to the state for the school year starting in September, Dr. Laurits asserted.

The state now pays for the bussing of the METCO pupils and gives Newton $12,800 which covers the pay for a part-time METCO director and a reading specialist and the purchase of some supplies.

Speaker

The Rev. William K. Mackey will be guest speaker at the Newton Centre United Methodist Church on Sunday, April 20th, at the 11 a.m. service. Mr. Mackey's address will be entitled "MORALITY IN GOVERNMENT." The public is cordially invited.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas recently administered the oath of office to Attorney Harold Meizler of 136 Truman Rd., Newton Centre, as a new appointment to the Board of Appeals, Zoning Laws, Associate Membership. Mr. Meizler's appointment is to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of David B. Cooper.

Many Signing Here For Charter Change

Newton voters are responding with both enthusiasm and questions when asked to sign Charter Review petitions. The high degree of enthusiasm for studying the city's 72-year-old Charter was evident on the first of several Market Days.

Close to 1000 registered voters signed petitions that day at supermarkets in Newton.

Hundreds more signed at later Market Days and at PTA meetings. The Market Days are being sponsored by the Newton League of Women Voters, under the direction of Mrs. Sylvia Appelbaum.

PTA Council members Mrs. Barbara Wise and Mr. Hannah Morehouse are in charge of circulating Charter Review petitions at PTA meetings.

Many citizens signing the petitions have questions about

Air-Condition For School To Cost $450,000

Approximately 225,000 square feet of space in the proposed new Newton High School will be air-conditioned at a cost of $450,000.

This was decided Tuesday night at a meeting called by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and attended by members of the School Committee, the Board of Aldermen, the Mayor's Building Advisory Committee and the school administrators as well as the architects preparing plans for the high school.

Original plans called for air-conditioning 50,000 feet of the 445,000 square feet in the new high school.

However, since it is intended to use the school 12 months in the year it was decided to air-condition another 200,000 feet. Such areas as corridors, the gymnasium and swimming pool space will not be air-conditioned.

An agreement was reached that the fees to be paid to SCHOOL—(See Page 2)

Chief Perkins Warns About Fire Breeders

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of the Newton Fire Department reminds all the citizens of the Newton community that a clean house seldom burns — that it's Spring Clean-up time — time to go into action in and around the home.

Trash and rubbish are danger spots where fires breed. Get rid of the clutter in the attic, basement, garage, closets, etc., he warns.

If an attic is a resting place for old or broken furniture and old mattresses, get rid of them during this spring clean-up time.

Through the long cold winter, the basement area has been a catch all for old

School Vandalism Probe Continuing

Investigation continued this week in an attempt by police to find those responsible for thousands of dollars worth of vandalism at Our Lady Help of Christians High School, at 375 Washington St., Newton, over the past weekend.

The vandals broke into the school sometime between 5 p.m. Friday and 8:50 a.m. Saturday, in a manner that has not yet been determined.

They smashed 137 panes of glass inside, ripped out telephones, broke the clock in the principal's office, battered the public address system and broke into teachers and students desks.

Over the weekend, police also had a report that five panes of glass were broken at a new house under construction at 279 River St., West Newton. The incident happened sometime between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday.

A hit-and-run accident was blamed as the cause of three feet of boarding being ripped off a house at 1012

3 Principals Are Named To Newton Posts

The Newton School Committee has announced the appointments of three principals who have been Acting Principals for the past year.

Mrs. Anne Carr has been appointed Principal of the Williams School in Auburndale. Mrs. Carr is a graduate of Boston Teachers College, and has a Master's Degree from Boston University.

She has had broad experience in Newton as a classroom teacher, art specialist, consulting teacher, and a social studies

FIREMAN PAY LAW BLASTED BY BASBAS

A state law granting overtime to firemen after 48 hours work was denounced by Mayor Monte G. Basbas this week as a violation of home rule.

The law is effective June 6 and is mandatory for every municipality.

The Mayor termed the bill "a sleeper" that was passed in the House and Senate on

Harvard's Image Damaged By Pictures of Hippy Students

Harvard's image was hurt by the published pictures of some of the students who were arrested for participating in the undergraduate sit-in and take-over.

We're not planning to send back our degree in protest, but it seems the average person expects a Harvard student to look a little more presentable than one of the bearded, long-haired Hippies on Boston Common.

The hard fact is that the impression many people gained is that a lot of the Harvard demonstrators could benefit from a bath as well as a shave and a haircut.

Of course, not all the Harvard demonstrators were students. Some were professional agitators sent to Harvard to foment trouble and promote demonstrations by students whose intelligence seems to be so low as to cause puzzlement as to how they got into the college in the first place.

lege Relations at Andover Newton provided the leadership for the two day seminar.

The Theological Institutes, four of which are held each year, are part of a continuing education program available to ministers throughout the Northeast by Andover Newton.

Small groups of men come together for intensive study in a single aspect of ministry. Both human and physical resources of every kind pertinent to the subject under discussion are brought in.

In most instances the minister is sent to the Institute by his church, and more and more churches are becoming aware of the value to the parish of such a renewing experience.

Those attending the April Institute from Massachusetts included Rev. Donald A. Boone, W. Somerville; Rev. David A. Coleman, Vineyard Haven; Rev. Clinton A. Condit, Ayer; Rev. David S. Eaton, Methuen; Rev. Warren L. Jones, Lowell; Rev. Benjamin Lockhart, Agawam; Rev. John M. McDonald, Chicopee; Rev. George F. Miller, N. Abington;

Also Rev. Henry J. Santos, New Bedford; Rev. Maxwell Vines, Watertown; Rev. William K. Webb, Bridgewater; Rev. Clayton R. Woodbury, North Oxford; Rev. Louis Beckwith, Medford.

Those attending from other states were Rev. Axel Heath, Lyndon, Vermont; Rev. Walter H. Loomis, Manchester, Connecticut; Rev. David P. Picciano, Laconia, New Hampshire; Rev. Vernon F. Price, Norwich, Connecticut; Rev. Lamar Robinson, Jamestown, Rhode Island; Rev. Robert D. Samuelson, Nashua, New Hampshire; and Rev. Otto H. Zaiser, Syracuse, New York.

Diet Workshop Open House Due On April 21st

On Monday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m., the Diet Workshop, 317 Washington St., Newton Corner, will present an Open House for a new exciting Stay Slim program.

This is for the benefit of those people who want to maintain their desired weight and for those graduates of The Workshop who feel they need a little more information and incentive to keep on the "straight and narrow" where food is concerned. (Of course, graduates may still attend all regular Diet Workshops "free.")

It is possible on this new program to learn how to eat formerly forbidden foods such as ice cream, spaghetti, cake and even cocktails, and as an added bonus a person may even lose a few pounds.

The main idea of the basic Diet Workshop plan for eating is still adhered to so that a nutritional balance is always kept. The "Stay-Slim Workshop" method has been approved by Dr. Morton Glenn, the nutritional consultant of The Workshop.

There will be no charge for The Open House, but there will be a meeting afterward.

NATHAN I. GREENE
Increase Voted By Stockholders Of Newton Bank

At the recent Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, the stockholders voted an increase in capital and a stock dividend, according to an announcement made today by Bank President Nathan I. Greene.

The capital stock will be increased by $2,000,000, to be represented by 200,000 shares of the par value of $10 a share, with voting rights, and in all respects of the same character and class as the 200,000 shares now authorized, issued and outstanding. The new shares will be distributed as a stock dividend to the holders of the presently outstanding 200,000 shares as of April 10, 1969. The ratio will be one new share for each share now authorized and outstanding.

The increase in capital and the stock dividend will require, not only the authorization of the stockholders and directors, but also approval of the Commissioner of Banks of Massachusetts.

It is expected that regular cash dividends of 35c per share, per quarter, will be paid on the increased number of shares.

The Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company has 21 branch offices in Newton, Waltham, Wayland, Weston, Natick and Marlboro, Massachusetts.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

Cauliflower is actually an Oriental vegetable. It is prepared and eaten in many different ways in various countries. In Scandinavia you enjoy cauliflower with dill sauce; with grated orange rind in Spain; with mustard sauce in Dijon, with hollandaise sauce in Amsterdam; with rice, hard-cooked egg, parsley, browned butter, and bread crumbs in Poland; with sour cream and ham in Vienna. In India, cauliflower is exceptionally mouth-watering to the palate and is more tempting than we could imagine.

We can't imagine anything more relaxing than an evening in our Cork and Bottle Lounge. Enjoy the sounds of Ray Herrera at the piano and Harry Bay on the violin at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Plan to spend this evening with us. Don't miss our fabulous Greek Night, Wednesday, April 30.

dent last Saturday night on the Worcester turnpike in Newton Highlands.

Police said his younger brother, Victor Narvaez Cruz, of the same address, was the driver of the vehicle. He pleaded not guilty to charges of driving to endanger and manslaughter in court Monday. The case was continued until April 28.

The accident occurred on Rte. 9 near Woodward St., Newton Highlands, when the car driven by Cruz headed east. He told Newton police a motorcycle passed on his inside and he applied the brakes but nothing happened. The car jumped the median stripe and collided with a vehicle operated by Mario Cirdello, 61, of 8 Yorkshire Dr., Natick.

Cirdello was held at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment of a ruptured spleen. A passenger in his car, Emilia MacIsaac, of 82 Munroe St., Somerville, suffered lacerations and abrasions and was released after treatment at the hospital.

Two other passengers in the Cruz auto, Roscoe Sanfreino, of 51 Hays St., Framingham, and Manuel Del Valle, 20, of the same address, were treated for lacerations and abrasions, as was the driver.

Three of the victims were unconscious when brought to the hospital by Newton police. Newton firemen were called to extricate two of the victims from the cars.

WASHINGTON HOUSE IN WELLESLEY—Plans to accommodate a limited number of guests, catered to in the epicurean manner, will be in effect at Washington House in Wellesley according to Edward M. Levitt, president of Longwood Management Inc. of Chestnut Hill.

Washington House Is Leased To Longwood Management Inc.

Edward M. Levitt, president of Longwood Management Incorporated of Chestnut Hill, announces that his firm on Feb. 1 leased the management of Washington House at 600 Washington Street, Wellesley, from George C. McMichael, who has owned the distinctive guest house since the fall of 1960.

Immediate plans are to provide a permanent residence for a limited number of guests. In the near future Mr. Levitt intends to add a gourmet cook to his staff so that his guests may be catered to in an epicurean manner. Longwood Management Incorporated has successfully administered facilities in the field of nursing homes, rest homes and retirement hotels for the carriage trade clientele.

Youth and gaiety were the keynote of "Washington House" for most of its first 50 years. The mansion and barn were built by Edward H. Ryan in 1904, on land that was formerly a pasture, so that his daughter, Bertha, might remain with her folks while attending Dana Hall (Class of 1907) and Wellesley College (Class of 1911).

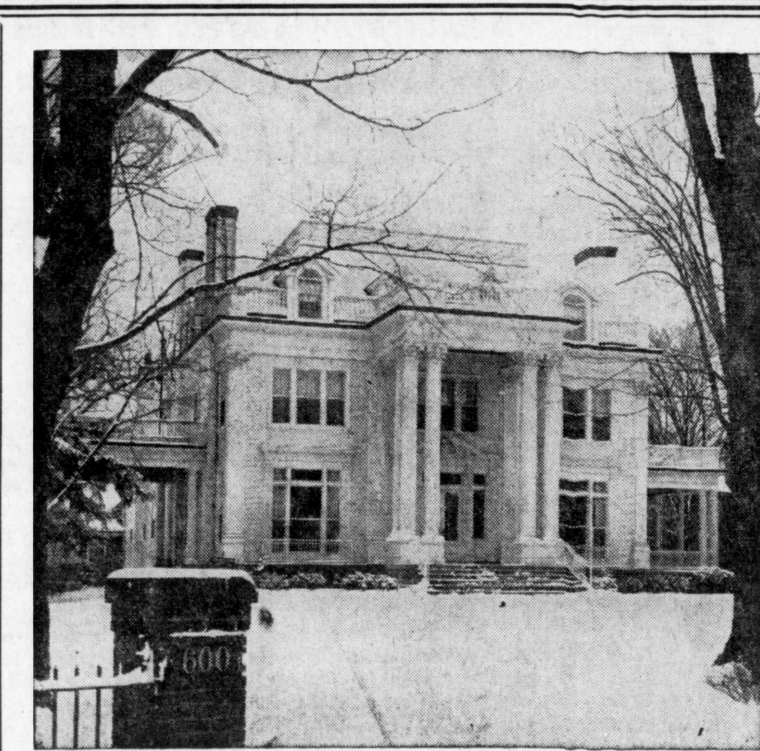

The Ryans also had two sons, Arthur and Ray, who attended Rockridge Hall, then a select boys' school in Wellesley Hills. The family summered at their sumptuous place in Allenhurst, N. J. Mr. Ryan was a lawyer and real estate developer who is said to have once had hundreds of acres along the Palisades opposite New York City.

Next owners of the stately house were Katherine and William B. Johnson (1913-17), who required a large home for their eight children. Mr. Johnson, a contractor with the firm name of Johnson & Company, did the plumbing and heating for the Christian Science Publishing House when it was erected in Boston. He built a recreation room in the basement of his home where the boxing and wrestling ring was popular with his sons' many friends and acquaintances. He also removed a partition between the two first floor parlors on the south side to afford a large room for dancing. A conservatory was added for further enjoyment. The Johnsons had open house nearly every Sunday night.

The name "Washington House" was given to the lovely mansion in 1918 when it was acquired by Wellesley College for a freshman dormitory. Changes were inevitable, as other partitions were removed on the ground floor to make a large dining room; and more were added on the upper floors to increase the number of bedrooms. When all freshmen were eventually housed on the college campus, Washington House fell into disuse for a number of years.

In 1954 it was sold to William and Shirley White, who painstakingly restored and renovated the premises for a guest house. The original layout was determined by following the designs of the fine parquet floors. The entire house was then decorated with distinction by Mr. Johnson of New England Interiors of Wellesley.

Newtonites To Be Installed Tomorrow Night

Five Newton residents are to be installed as officers of the Wine and Spirits Club of Mass., this evening (Thurs., Apr. 18) at the 18th annual meeting of the organization.

The affair will be held at Valle's Steak House in Newton. Joseph E. Jacobs of Osborn Path will be installed as president; Sidney S. Vernon of Beacon St. will be installed as vice president; Eugene B. Blinn of Oakmont Rd., treasurer; Samuel M. Rachlin, Dearborn St., executive director, and Benjamin Medoff, Park Lane as one of the board of directors.

The other members to be installed are Howard Trenoweth of Mattapan as secretary; and Myron Aronovitz; Ernest De Simone, Edward J. Goodfellow and James Mackenall of Boston, Lee Fields of Brookline, Snehlo Iantsocka of Roslindale, Matthew Sakakeeny of Somerville and Arthur Zagoug of Cambridge as board of directors.

The Wine & Spirits Club was founded in 1951 primarily as a social organization with an objective of raising the standards of trade and public relations of the Alcoholic Beverage Industry in the Commonwealth.

It is the only club of its kind in which all segments of the industry regardless of race, creed or color makes up its membership. It actively participates as a unit in national and local civic affairs by giving physical and financial assistance.

It has aided the Heart Fund; the Kiddie Camp; United Cerebral Palsy; Cardinal Cushing's Funds; the Blind; Jimmy Fund; Brandies University Book Fund and others. Members are eligible for a Medical and Surgical, Accident and Health Policy; a Scholarship Fund from which awards are made to worthy students who are relatives of members.

Editorial . . .

The Brothers Smothers

America's greatest clown, Red Skelton, summed them up nicely. He said "they are two 40-year-olds who are trying to act like children." He, of course, was referring to the Smothers Brothers.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, in what many people consider was a commendable action, cancelled the Smothers Brothers comedy hour for failure to comply with its standards and regulations. The brothers, Tommy and Dickie, in the words of a CBS representative "have used an entertainment program as a preachers platform. These guys have just been baiting CBS, teasing CBS, seeing how far they could go and what they could get away with. If you want to be Peck's Bad Boy week after week, you're bound to get your wrist slapped."

The brothers Smothers, on their part, accused CBS of using "censorship with all its ramifications" in cancelling the weekly show. "I think in America it is necessary that unpopular opinions and divergent views be shown on television," Tommy said.

Yes. But by persons qualified to air such views, not by a couple of comedians who, because of a certain amount of popularity, decide they have the stature and intellect to pass public judgment on weighty issues.

Welfare Costs

The big problem in our welfare program is not that deserving persons get too much money. Obviously, some of them don't get enough.

What is putting a strain on both the state and federal governments, however, is the fact that many people not entitled to welfare aid are getting it.

Until that situation is corrected and the abuses are eliminated, it will not be possible to give the truly needy what they should be given.

Indeed, if the existing setup is not corrected, the really needy may be placed in jeopardy.

Those who feel we can allow the present trend to continue should take a hard look at social-welfare costs.

In 1960, social-welfare spending took $52.3 billion, or 38 percent of total government expenditures. In 1968, it took $112.4 billion, or 43.7 percent of all government expenditures. Skyrocketing social-aid costs now take more than four out of every 10 tax dollars. And counting private funds, welfare in all its forms, takes about 20 percent of the total national output of goods and services.

Estimates also indicate that by the mid-1970's, the welfare bill will total some $292 billion each year.

Welfare has reached the point where government expenditures for needed public works, improved police protection and other necessary public services and projects are being deferred. Expansion of the welfare state moves ahead undeterred by explosive cost increases.

Unless something is done to weed out the undeserving, the welfare system, as we know it, may be threatened. The problem has become urgent.

This is perhaps the greatest institution of higher learning in the entire world. A large percentage of the high school seniors who seek admission to Harvard each year are turned down because there just isn't room for them.

That is especially true of Massachusetts youths who would like to get into Harvard. An extremely large number of deserving Bay State students are turned away by Harvard every year.

Yet, some ill-mannered, sleazy-looking rebels against shaves and haircuts manage to gain entry to the nation's oldest and most respected institution of higher education.

The television stations and networks must accept some of the responsibility for the demonstrations, the sit-ins and take-overs which have disrupted the education of students at far too many universities across the United States.

They treat the lunatic fringes in student bodies as if they were reasonable and rational.

Some of the demonstrations would not last so long and might not occur at all if the students were not certain they would see themselves on television.

The demands of the students, worked out by professional agitators and often so absurd that the undergraduates themselves don't understand what they're asking, are treated seriously by television stations and newspapers when they should be ignored or ridiculed.

During our sophomore year at Harvard in the hazy long-ago, a Harvard student, the son of a Yale dean, stood up in the audience in what was then the Metropolitan Theatre and is now the Music Hall, and threw a grapefruit at Rudy Vallee as Rudy, the great crooner and entertainer of that time, was singing "Give Me Something To Remember You By."

It seemed funny even though the student was arrested. But two persons who did not see the humor in the incident were President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University and Dean Chester Hanford of Harvard College.

The grapefruit-pitching student was expelled from Harvard. Why? He really hadn't violated any Harvard regulation. It seemed that it should have been between him and Rudy Vallee who was amused by it all. The reason given for his dismissal was that the student had conducted himself in such a manner as to reflect unfavorably upon Harvard. He probably would have been sent to jail if he had been stupid enough to manhandle a dean.

Some of the older Harvard graduates, as they read about deans being forcefully ejected from University Hall, must wonder how such a situation would have been handled by the men who ran Harvard and taught there in their undergraduate days.

There was the famed Charles Townsend Copeland, cranky and crotchety, who would throw a tantrum if a student coughed in his classroom. He probably would have called the police, firemen and a fumigation squad if a student had walked into his classroom with long hair, a matted beard and his shirttail out.

An undergraduate foolish enough to enter Copeland's room without a necktie would have been regarded as some kind of nut.

Professor Kittredge, the authority on Shakespeare, tall and lanky, almost always dressed in grey tweeds, was a no-nonsense educator.

The members of his class learned that he expected them to get out of the way quickly as he approached Sever Hall for his lecture.

On more than one occasion when students stood between him and the door, he turned on his heel and walked away, and there was no lecture that day. He wasn't one to stand around waiting for the privilege of demonstrating his lecturing talents.

Dr. Pusey has been criticized by some Harvard faculty members for calling in the police.

We'd criticize him for not summoning them sooner except that it seems that when the police are called in such situations they determine the time at which they move into action.

It would be interesting to know what Pusey's critics have to say about the action of the students in rifling Harvard files and records and making public a private and secret document. They presumably would term that a harmless prank.

There were the customary complaints about police brutality, and some officers probably were a little too vigorous in routing and arresting the demonstrators. But no indication was given of what provocation they had.

The newspapers published a picture of one out of a student weeping as he was being escorted out of University Hall by the scruff of the neck.

A reader might have felt sorry for him except that he could have avoided such an indignity by not being there in the first place.

Here is a vote of confidence by one Harvard graduate for Dr. Pusey for his action in calling the police.

If these demonstrating students don't want to attend Harvard, they should be forced to step aside and make way for some of the boys and girls who do.

It must be that some faculty members admire their gall and brass to such an extent that they're willing to overlook their stupidity.

We have wondered for some time what would happen if a university actually were run by these students with long, dirty hair and matted beards who wear their shirttails out and make it a point to be ill-mannered.

The answer, of course, is that they're not competent to run their own affairs, let alone those of a university. They should not be encouraged by TV stations and newspapers to continue making nuisances of themselves.

Democratic Leaders To Back Gov. Sargent's Tax Program

Democratic leaders on Beacon Hill have adopted an unusual strategy toward Governor Sargent's tax program.

They have decided to try to approve it exactly as he submitted it without changing a comma or eliminating a dollar.

This is intended to hurt Governor Sargent, not help him.

"We want to support him to death," was the way one law-maker put it, meaning that the Democrats would be very pleased to assist Mr. Sargent to his political defeat and downfall.

The theory behind that reasoning is that if there is a public backlash and resentment against the tax plan, it would be directed at Governor Sargent if his program is enacted.

An unfavorable public reaction could develop to the Governor's tax proposal because of the increased weight it would place on the State income tax which many wage-earners are certain to feel.

The Democratic chieftains, thinking in terms of next year's gubernatorial election, want any public resentment to be leveled at Mr. Sargent.

As a result they are discouraging and brushing off suggestions that an increase in the sales tax be substituted for a hike in the State income tax. Other proposed changes in the tax plan also will be rejected.

Whether the Governor will get as much help percentage-wise from legislators in his own party as he will from the Democrats is highly uncertain. The guessing is that he will not unless he improves his relations with the GOP law-makers.

Sargent's aides and advisers are undisturbed by the Democratic strategy and apparently are just happy that the Governor's tax plan will be approved, regardless of the motives of some of those supporting it.

They feel that Mr. Sargent's tax plan is about as good a one as could be put together, they believe most persons realize that he inherited the need for raising additional taxes.

A chaotic condition would result if the Governor's tax bill were torpedoed, they point out, with city and town tax rate skyrocketing above the heights they already are destined to reach this year.

Besides, they add, the Democratic nominee for Governor next year hardly will be able to use the argument that Mr. Sargent can't get along with a Democratic Legislature.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Chicago Query

Editor of The Graphic:
 I would like to pose a single question to the administrators who govern Newton: why did I witness on national television today a paddy wagon of the Newton Police Department participating in police action against students of Harvard University in Cambridge?

Has Newton been training riot police? Has Newton judged such police action its business? Has Newton decided that brutal police action is at any time, in any place, appropriate, and is Newton prepared to export its police to other cities and towns for such purposes?

The actions I witnessed on national television may have been distorted. Surely there are those who will make that claim. But I have witnessed too often police action of this kind, in person and on television, to seriously doubt my eye. Perhaps the Newton police were not the brutal ones. Is that relevant? The question remains, why were Newton police there at all?

It should be resolved that Newton taxes never contribute to such proceedings in any circumstances, and that the city administration offer an immediate public explanation for this activity.

Sincerely,
 Elliot J. Feldman

Small But Vocal

Editor of The Graphic:
 A relatively small but vocal group in our city would voice the local Board of Aldermen's meddle in national defense. They indulge in this mischief knowing that the subject of Anti-Ballistic Missiles is technically complex and its need or lack of need will be decided in Congress which has the responsibility and competence for the disposition of such matters.

Some doubtless realize they are indulging in opportunistic propaganda from which they hope to make political hay.

Actually it will be very difficult to snatch any advantage out of the missile debate since it disregards party lines and especially since both Democratic and Republican Administrations are involved in the development and recommendation of missile programs.

Moreover, the present missile deployment plan represents a sharp reduction of an earlier one and is clearly defensive. Indeed, the vocal opposition will be very fortunate to avoid a backfire as a result of its handling of the issue.

Most people are intelligent enough to have a strong instinct for survival and realize that since London suffered disaster from Nazi buzz bombs in World War II our defense officials have agonized with the need to protect American cities and our retaliatory striking power.

Let's hope the day never comes when our country is struck by enemy missiles and our people cry out for defenses that might have been. Who among us can make certain that such tragedy will not come upon us?

What pious resolutions will be proposed in such times by local Boards, State Senates, and citizens groups, to ease the hurt and anger of the people? Or will it then be finally concluded that the average person knows little about ABM's and that national defense is quite beyond their abilities?

Will those who now propose resolutions to stop ABM deployment remember they surrendered our insurance against international brigandage and blackmail when they succumbed to propaganda and fear in 1969. . . that they gambled on non-existent goodwill among nations. . . that they lacked the prudence to secure the peace while seeking it?

Poetic Approach

Editor of The Graphic:
 HAIL. . . Single Session with apologies to Kipling's Danny Deever)
 "They are starting Single Session in September, (Three days are just a slight beginning - so some cry.)

Clammy sandwiches in hot and bustling classrooms. Safe inside, from all the horrid World of Traffic;

Wandering in Junior anonymity, before that second tooth is lost. . .

The female of the species is indeed more deadly than the male!

Mother bears will spurn their young for the sap has risen.

Father fish will eat their own if they're around too long. Skunk and tiger, bat and mouse, their lives are sadly short.

They love and cherish briefly; and then they throw them out.

Does the Family of Man feel this way about his own, Are Mothers after-age-of-seven as unneeded as the rats?

Has everyone forgotten 'midst those long and snowy blizzards,

What short-lived satisfaction that lunch hour grows to be?

Monster pouts and graphic glooms. . . over hot tomato soup

And love, soon torn to funny shadows, and are gone.

Five years from now, will Mothers laugh or cry, remembering

That the hand that rocks the cradle can also rock the world?

Our banners, coffees, slogans, life-missions - all are formed

With "children's good" and "childhood ills" their fatal rallying call,

Rabble-rousing "round the coffee pots, with vitriol in the tea;

Democracy gives way to Platforms, whilst Visions cannot see.

We have gained in conversation, rights, and happy friends-at-war,

Our children are the ones who. . . wonder where we are. Halleleluah to that Three Day Week!

Peace may it bring to Newton, and an end to parent strife, And may our children one day realize -

That those limp snacks and gooey sandwiches were truly won,

For them for freedom, and for education too! Andy Marshall (Mrs. Malcolm Marshall)

Deeper Issue

Editor of The Graphic:
 There is a much deeper issue involved in the current lunch controversy than whether a child opens his ham-on-rye at his desk. (My own preference would be that young children go home for lunch.) It is a question of community participation in some decision-making. This is a growing trend in public education. It is part of the changing times (to which educators constantly allude) and is cutting across all segments of government.

I did not attend the school lunch debate, but read that one School Committee member called the head count a mistake and added that it was the "responsibility of elected officials to weigh all aspects. . . and arrive at decisions." (I couldn't help but remember that Lyndon Johnson repeatedly expressed this concept of official responsibility about a far more serious subject.) Somehow, I think that this overly-simplistic reasoning has lost its validity for a complex society.

Another School Committee comment was, "If we don't begin to sit down together. . . and discuss common goals, we are not going to be able to maintain a system of quality education." I'm sure that we all support the same goals, but there is an honest and legitimate difference of opinion and experience in what really implements these aims. (The history of Meadowbrook is a case in point.)

Said another member, "If the only thing we have learned from this meeting is that pressure works, then Newton is in real trouble." I have only limited knowledge about the lunch pros and cons, but I do submit that democratically applied pressure has every right to work - even if some of us don't like the results. (Why are we urged to pressure our congressmen about federal aid to education?)

I also read that some parents behaved rudely at the meeting in their encounters with School Committee members. If so, then they not only revealed that they are ill-mannered, but damaged their own cause and added credence to an opposing point of view.

These are days when we are questioning our political leaders, our churches and ourselves. Why then should our School Committee and administrators (even though they are certainly capable by reason of education and experience) be considered infallible in their pronounced judgments? I think that we ALL - School Committee, administrators, parents - have a great deal to learn about cooperation and tolerance of opposing views.

Personally, I would like to be able again to give verbal support for whatever it is worth, to the added taxation for school budgets and for substantial salaries, but it is difficult to do in an atmosphere where parent involvement is rejected as interference. The School Committee's and administration's response to the growing need for community participation (and Dr. Neil Sullivan, State Commissioner of Education, urges participation) - whereby only those who agree with stated positions need apply - deeply affects attitudes and provokes questions.

As a non-supporter of the lunch program, I still recognize that the days of a double standard are over. We must all learn to compromise - but without begrudging the decision to do so.

If things keep going the way they are, we won't need a superintendent next year; just a referee will do - but quickly, before we self-destruct!

Very truly yours,
 Brenda R. Tanger

Worthy Appeal

Editor of The Graphic:
 I wonder if you would consider bringing the following matter to the attention of your readers.

Some months back Bishop Paul Seitz wrote me from his diocese of Kontum in South Vietnam asking for help. His plea was principally for money for the support of the children in his care. The suffering of the innocent children is unbelievable. They need medicine, food, etc., etc.

If any of your readers would like to assist financially, I will relay their contributions to Bishop Seitz for the children. I can be reached at Boston College, Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167.

Drama Workshop At Free Library
The Newton Free Library announces its summertime thing for stay-at-homes: a free Drama Workshop for young people, with Dick Power, radio newsmen.
Young people from 13 to 18 years old may join the twice weekly drama workshop at the Newtonville Library Hall, 345 Walnut street, starting Tuesday, June 24 and Thursday, June 26, from 7 to 9 p.m., and running through the summer.
Dick and his wife, Carol, both Leland Powers graduates, held a similar workshop with great success in Nashua, N.H. in 1967.

Abramson To Head Retail Council Comm.

Herbert A. Abramson, president, Silver Lake Dodge, Newton, has been appointed chairman of the executive committee of the Retail Advisory Council of Brand Names Foundation, Inc. The appointment was announced by H. Ford Perine, president of the foundation at the annual Brand Names Foundation awards banquet on April 10, 1969 at the Americana Hotel in New York.

Last year, Mr. Abramson accepted the 1967 Brand Name Retailer of the Year award in the automobile dealers category on behalf of Silver Lake Dodge. These awards are given annually to retail firms doing the most outstanding work in advertising, promotion and merchandising brands.

As part of his duties, Mr. Abramson served as chairman of the judging panel who selected the 1968 Brand Name Retailer of the Year in New York on March 3, 4, and 5th. He will also be formally installed as a member of the board of directors of Brand Names Foundation, Inc., at their annual meetings in New York, April 9th and 10th. In this capacity, he will represent the more than 1,000 retail merchants who are members of the retail advisory council.

Mr. Abramson attended the College of Business Administration of Boston University and Harvard Evening Business School. He has been president and owner of Silver Lake Dodge since 1960.

He resides with his wife and two children in Newton Centre.

Richard Nichols To Sales Staff At Newton Buick

Richard H. Nichols of Wellesley, has recently been appointed sales representative for the Newton Buick Co., according to an announcement by Robert L. Dwyer, treasurer.

A veteran Buick representative, Mr. Nichols joined forces with Newton Buick in order to offer his many customers the latest in service, a large inventory of new Buicks and used cars all under cover with bus service to downtown Boston (via the Pike) only 11 minutes away. He has joined New England's oldest Buick dealer, beginning their second half century in their new million dollar building. Dick has received the Buick Salesmaster Awards for many years.

MAN OF THE YEAR — Samuel W. Poorvu, Chestnut Hill, right, is congratulated by Joseph M. Linsey, president, Jewish Memorial Hospital, center, and Albert Yakus, Brookline, life membership chairman, on being named the hospital's "Man of the Year" for his dedicated service as chairman of building committee and director.

Penniless Immigrant In 1923 Named Hospital "Man of Year"

Forty-six years ago Samuel W. Poorvu landed in America with no money and unable to speak the language. He knows what it is like to be down and out.

Today, Poorvu is one of the nation's leading builders and real estate investors, and for every step he made for himself, he has made three for those in unfortunate positions.

It is appropriate that this man, with such a large heart for his fellow men, has been named "Man of the Year" by the board of directors of Jewish Memorial Hospital, the hospital with a heart.

This honor to Poorvu was announced by Joseph M. Linsey, president of the hospital, and Albert Yakus, life membership chairman, in recognition of the distinguished and dedicated services rendered the hospital as chairman of Building Committee and member of board of directors. Poorvu resides at 280 Boylston Street, Chestnut Hill.

As chairman of the Building Committee he played an important role in the expansion of the hospital's facilities with the construction of new additions.

The hospital's membership campaign will be dedicated to Poorvu by all the auxiliaries of the hospital.

He is head of the Samuel W. Poorvu Development Company in Boston which has built over 100 post offices and shopping centers throughout the country. The Wall Street Journal once referred to him as "The Post Office King of the United States."

Poorvu came to this country from Lithuania on Thanksgiving Day in 1923 with nothing but a desire to make well in this land of opportunity.

"I landed here on Thanksgiving Day, and since then, I have had so much to be thankful for," said Poorvu.

He started working as a grocery clerk, then turned to construction, trying to learn every phase of this complicated industry. He was able to squeeze out time to go to school at night.

From this simple start, Poorvu was able to work himself up to his present position, as one of the foremost figures in construction and ownership of post offices and real estate, but never forgot how thankful he was.

Poorvu is a man who feels a strong duty towards his community and concern for children, old people and those who can not take care of themselves without outside help.

Besides his posts at Jewish Memorial Hospital, Poorvu is chairman of the building and maintenance committee to the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for the Aged in Roslindale, and a member of its executive committee.

He is also vice president and chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Boston Rabbinical Seminary. Poorvu set up the Samuel W. Poorvu Scholarship at the Seminary, which is presented annually to the student whose scholastic record merits this award.

Active in civic affairs, Poorvu has been chairman of the Building Division, Heart Fund, for many years and a vice president, HIAS.

He also serves as a member of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Building Committee, Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for the Aged; member of the board of trustees and chairman of Building Committee, Brookline Hospital; member of the board of directors, Hebrew Free Loan Society, and member, Congregation Adath Israel and Congregation Kehillath Israel.

A charter member of Temple Sinai, Poorvu also serves as a member of Board of Directors and on Executive Committee, City Bank and Trust Company; life member, Brandeis University Clubs; life member, Kiddie Kamp; besides many life memberships in other charitable organizations and institutions.

Besides being a member of many organizations, Poorvu spends an enormous amount of time working on plans and details on various projects. While working on the new $1,500,000 addition to the Jewish Memorial Hospital, he would stop there almost

Housing To Be Examined By Bus Tour On May 7th

Newton's need for low and moderate income housing will be examined in detail by civic leaders, businessmen, senior citizens, and a cross-section of residents at a Housing Conference on May 7 at Aquinas Junior College, Newton.

Included on the program are a bus tour of various types of housing available in the community, a luncheon with a prominent speaker and small discussion groups, aimed at determining community attitudes on the need for such housing.

The conference is principally sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Newton and the city's Community Relations Commission, aided by the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Newton Housing Coordinating Committee, the Newton Planning Department, the Newton Community Council and the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights.

Assisting in planning the conference are: Mrs. John S. Bliss of the Newton League of Women Voters, Chairman; Mrs. Lawrence Rubin, Mrs. Charles Bates and Mrs. Elia Lipton, all of the League; Mrs. Marjory Zerlin, Executive Director of the Community Relations Commission; Lewis B. Songer, Executive vice president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce; James A. Miller, Director of Planning for the City of Newton, Mr. John Sommons, Senior Planner in the city's Planning Department; Mr. Dan Robison, Executive Director of the Newton Community Council; Mrs. Leo Stolbach, President of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights and Mr. Robert Gustafson of the Citizens' Housing and Planning Association of Boston.

Tickets and information concerning the conference are available from the League of Women Voters (332-0590) or the Community Relations Commission office at 1 J. F. Kennedy Circle (244-9216). The public is cordially invited to attend.

recognize the profound changes affecting the world — and theological and biblical studies," Fray stated recently. "The major question became: What ought the church to be?"

He cited several works, including Gibson Winter's Suburban Captivity of the Church, which attempt to define a viable role for the church in contemporary society. "But," Fray asked, "once you've decided where you ought to be, the question becomes: How do you get there?"

His book on the process of change provides some answers.

First, Fray believes, conflict is best handled openly and by direct confrontation. When a congregation is forced to make decisions — decisions about the use of its funds, for example — it is forced to consider the nature of its ministry. According to Fray, this kind of confrontation "exposes the reality behind the rhetoric."

Eliot Church, under the leadership of Fray and member Earl Stevenson, former president of A. D. Little, Inc., voted $10,000 in 1966 for research and development of an inner-city organization, Cooperative Metropolitan Ministry (CMM). The group has expanded to include 25 active churches and synagogues working cooperatively on projects in Boston's South End, among them low-income housing.

Fray came to Newton seven years ago. The theme of his ministry is found in one of his favored quotations: "God so loved the world . . ." Fray is quick to point out that the world is not coterminous with the parish.

MRS. PAUL J. CONNELLY

Newton Church Setting For Connelly - DeMaio Wedding

The Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre was the scene of the recent marriage of Miss Paula Marie DeMaio to Paul Joseph Connelly.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. DeMaio of Newton Centre. The groom is the son of Mrs. John J. Connelly of Chestnut Hill, formerly of West Roxbury, and the late Juvenile Court Judge Connelly.

The Most Rev. Eric McKenzie, pastor, officiated at the four o'clock double ring ceremony, while the Rev. Patrick J. Gilmore of the Sacred Heart Church, Lynn, was celebrant of the nuptial mass. A reception followed in the Oval Room at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length empire gown made of re-embroidered Alencon lace on English net fashioned with ruffles at the high neckline and on the edges of her long sleeves. Silk satin bordered the hemline of her skirt and chapel length train.

A cathedral length silk illusion veil was fastened to her face flowered cluster headpiece. She carried an Edwardian bouquet made of white orchids, bouvardia and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara DeMaio of Newton Centre was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas A. DeMaio Jr. of Newton Centre, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. John Redfern Jr., of Needham and Miss Miriam Porter of Newton Centre, two cousins of the bride, as well as Miss Paula Reilly and Mrs. William Mulle, both of Newton Centre, Miss Patricia Coleman of Church, Fray has participated in freedom marches in Mississippi and has led clerical delegations to Washington in protest against the Vietnam war. But, he reports, his major conflict with parts of his congregation resulted from his association with draft resisters. Fray was among clerics present when several young men burned draft cards in Arlington Street Church in the fall of 1967.

In the face of widespread opposition, Fray spoke forcibly on the right to dissent and maintained a sense of the validity of his own values. He states that he manages to do this by "continually checking my own convictions with professional peers, with the leadership of the churches and seminaries."

"I'm firmly convinced," Fray declared, "that the church today must play the same role that prophets did in ancient Israel — namely, call into question misplaced national values."

A constant in Fray's world of conflict and change is his family; he and his wife Harriet are parents of three daughters and three sons, ranging from nursery-school to college-age. The Frays are enthusiastic campers, with summer vacations given over to cross-country treks for the entire family. In winter, they enjoy New England skiing. Fray is also a mineralogist with a striking and ever-expanding collection.

A native of Connecticut, Fray was graduated from Wesleyan University and from Union Theological Seminary. He served in the Corps of Engineers in World War II. He is a member of the Mayor's Advisory Commission on Human Rights in Newton and is a member of the World Council of Churches' study commission on the local church.

Man In The News

In an age of swinging nuns, folk-singing clerics and agape feasts featuring chianti, Harold R. Fray, Jr., minister of the Eliot Church of Newton, is a comparative conservative.

His voice is New England, his clerical robes correct, and the Sunday worship service he directs follows the traditional Congregational format. Communion still consists, physically, of small nips of grape juice and neat cubes of bread.

But to some of his parishioners, Fray, a joyous vigorous man in his mid-forties, is the ill wind of change. Well-known in segments of the broader Newton and Boston communities for his strong leadership in peace and civil rights movements, Fray is something of a storm center within enclaves of his own church.

Out of that intramural controversy has come Fray's recently completed book, Conflict and Change in the Church, to be released in May by Pilgrim Press.

Fray describes his book as "an ecclesiastical clinical study," with Eliot Church as the corpus. It attempts to show how conflict, which inevitably accompanies change, can be dealt with constructively.

Fray came to Newton seven years ago. The theme of his ministry is found in one of his favored quotations: "God so loved the world . . ." Fray is quick to point out that the world is not coterminous with the parish.

Pretty Spring Bridal Unites Miss Boardman - Mr. Smith

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ann Boardman to Julian Struthers Smith took place recently at the Brigham Chapel at the First Church in Newton.

The Rev. and Mrs. Howard F. Boardman of 35 Oxford road, Newton Centre and Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cantwell Smith of Cambridge are the couple's parents.

The fathers of the bride and groom officiated at the 7:30 o'clock evening service at which the couple exchanged rings. A reception followed in the Boynton Room at the church.

The bride's grandfather, Dr. Ross W. Sanderson of Newton Centre gave her away. She wore a full length white silk organza gown trimmed with Venise lace.

A matching organza bow held in place her elbow length illusion veil. She carried a Colonial bouquet made of yellow daisies with orange colored roses.

Miss Rebecca Boardman, of Newton Centre, sister of Identically attired, the bridesmaids were Mrs. William Dana Seidel of New York City, sister of the bride, Miss Heather Smith and Miss Rosemary Smith, both of Cambridge and sisters of the groom.

The best man was Arnold Smith of Ottawa, Canada, brother of the groom. Usher- ing were Brian Smith of Cambridge, another brother of the groom, David Nicklas of Michigan City, Indiana, and Nathan Fawcett of Oberlin, Ohio.

After a trip to Peacham, Vt., the couple will live in Oberlin, Ohio, until June. In July they will leave for Madurai, South India, where both the bride and groom have teaching fellowships at Lady Doak and American Colleges.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are members of the class of 1969 at Oberlin College. The bride's father is associated with the division of Christian Education, Board for Homeland Ministries, United Church of Christ. The groom's father is director of the Center for study of World Religions at Harvard University.

Miss Robinson - Dr. Kofsky Wed At Spring Nupials

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology Chapel was the scene of the marriage of Miss Ann T. Robinson of Boston to Dr. Irving L. Kofsky of Newton, which took place on Saturday, April 12.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Robinson of Greensboro, North Carolina. The groom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Kofsky of Brooklyn, N.Y., and the late Mr. Harry Kofsky.

The Rev. Virgil Murdoch performed the single ring service at one o'clock. A family reception followed at the Hotel Somerset in Boston.

The bride was attired in a smartly styled, trimmed gray suit, topped with a white crepe turban and enhanced with gray accessories. She carried violets with ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Siegel attended the couple. The newlyweds left on a trip to Maine. When they return they plan to live in Newton.

The bride, who attended the University of North Carolina, was graduated from the Nursing Medical College of Virginia.

Dr. Kofsky received his bachelor's and master's degrees as well as his doctorate from Syracuse University.

Jane Johnson Becomes Mrs. Ronald Cutler

Miss Jane E. Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Bernice Johnson of 14 Chamberlain road, Newton, and Ronald Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cutler of Chalfonte, Wilmington, Delaware, were married on Saturday, April 12, at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Rabbi Roland B. Gittlesohn officiated at the 7 o'clock evening ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed at the hotel.

Mr. Gerald Baum of Fairfield, Ct., gave his niece in marriage. She wore a family heirloom gown fashioned of ivory satin and French lace. Her chapel length illusion veil was appliqued with similar lace and she carried a bouquet of gardenias with stephanotis.

Mrs. Pamela Johnson Scheinman of Bloomington, Ind., was her sister's matron of honor.

Leonard Cutler of Philadelphia, Pa., served as best man for his brother.

After a European trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cutler plan to make their home in Wilmington, Delaware.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

Services at the First Church of Christ Scientist will begin at 10:45 a.m. on Sunday (April 20) at the 391 Walnut St. edifice, Newtonville. The theme of the Bible Lesson-Sermon, to be heard in all Christian Science Churches this Sunday, is from a verse in Micah:

"What doeth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

A correlative passage from the denominational textbook comments: "Every pang of repentance and suffering, every effort for reform, every good thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and sorrow, he has little part in the atonement, - in the at-one-ment with God, - for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables man to do the will of wisdom" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy).

GBARC Board Meets Tonite

The Newton Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children will hold a Board Meeting tonight at 8 p.m. (April 17), at the Newton Mental Health Center, 398 Walnut St., Newtonville.

Mrs. Harvey Chansky, Chapter Chairman, requests all officers to attend and states that other interested persons are also welcome. Chapter business, plans and projects will be informally discussed, and refreshments will be served.

The final open membership meeting for this season will be held on May 15, 1969, and the program will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Berenson New President Of B'nai B'rith

Mrs. Sidney Berenson will be installed as president of Spirit B'nai B'rith, Boston Chapter, 898, Thursday, April 24, at Sidney Hill Country Club.

Other officers to be installed are: Mrs. Irving Miller, Mrs. Morris Baker, Mrs. Elaine Berenson and Mrs. Leonard Newman, vice-presidents; Mrs. Louis Frank, treasurer; and Mrs. Edward Adolph, financial treasurer.

Also, Mrs. Sidney Brunell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Shepard Lewis, recording secretary; Mrs. Stanley Berkowitz, guardian; Mrs. Paul Garber, parliamentarian; Mrs. Harold Suvalle, indoctrinator; Mrs. Louis Frank, counselor; and Mrs. George Snyder, Mrs. Max Rice and Mrs. Melvin Hurwitz, trustees.

The installing officer will be Mrs. Harold Suvalle, treasurer of B'nai B'rith Women's District Number One. For reservations call Mrs. George Snyder at 527-1681 or 969-4961.

Preliminary Sketches Near Completion For New School

Preliminary architectural sketches for the new $4 million Day Junior High School in Newtonville are almost completed, and plans should be ready to go out for bids about Oct. 1, Architects Robert Seanson Jr. and Leonard Quann told the Newton School Committee on Monday night.

The new school should be ready for occupancy by September 1, 1971, the architects reported.

The structure, which is being designed by the firm of Korusund, LeNormand and Quann, will be a three-story building constructed on a portion of the Avery Estate adjacent to the Alberman Playground in Newtonville. The school will be built to house 850 students.

One of the innovative features of the proposed new school will be clusters of classrooms with interchangeable spaces that can be subdivided for flexibility.

There will be access to the relatively small school site from Crafts St., Alberman Rd. and Minot Place. Though there will be little green area on the school site, the adjacent location of a large wooded area of the Avery Estate will compensate, the architects commented.

Another problem posed by the limitations of the small site will be the lack of an off-street parking area.

On the first level of the new Day Jr. High will be a large open court, administration offices, cafeteria, shops, exercise rooms for the gymnasium, art rooms and two classrooms.

On the second level will be located academic areas, a large library and an associated reading room and audio-visual area, remedial rooms, three science rooms and clusters of classrooms which can be subdivided.

Also on this level will be an auditorium with a seating capacity for 450 people which can be subdivided into two

Make kitchen beauty work for you. Don't sacrifice beauty for convenience or easy care. You'll find all three qualities in many new products. You know about ceramic tile's long life and easy upkeep. But you don't have to settle for nondescript or neutral tile patterns and colors any more. Now you can have your favorite wallpaper motif repeated in tile to match. Or you can use oversize tiles on your floor with a rug to accent your color scheme. Today you can use furniture as handsome as that in your living room. In other words, no more "kitchen" look for the kitchen!

In other words, the experienced decorators here at FERNAND'S FINE FURNITURE, 306 Harvard Street, Brookline, 566-8635, have some fantastic ideas. Why not come in and talk with us and let our experience help you avoid those very costly mistakes. We also carry decorator quality occasional furniture which we deliver in our own trucks by experienced men.

HELPFUL HINT: Rub the brass or other metal parts of your faucets with furniture polish after cleaning... they'll be shiny bright.

surprises in his starting lineup, fielding a team consisting of six seniors, Hurvitz, P. Stuart, C. Bob Eisenberg, 1b, Rezzuti, 2b, Costa, 3b, and Jim Gamble rf; two juniors, Miller, cf, and Emmons Levine, ss; and one sophomore, Clem Virgilio, lf.

Senior John Lopez, a part-time starting infielder last spring, and suffering from a broken finger is expected to return to action shortly.

19th Annual Shamrock AC Race Apr. 21

The 19th Annual Shamrock A. C. Waltham to Watertown Road Race will be held Monday, April 21 starting at 10:00 at Central Square, Waltham. The race is scheduled to cover some three miles and will end in front of the Watertown police station.

Fifteen trophies will be awarded in this 12 to 17 year old race. The first seven places will receive trophies while the first two 12, 13, and 14 year old finishers will also get trophies. The race committee is undecided on how to distribute the last two trophies.

For the first time the PFC Richard S. Moxley Memorial Trophy will be presented. Moxley, late son of the director of the race, John Moxley was killed in Vietnam last August.

Entry forms for the race are available at the Watertown police station or they may be obtained by calling Mr. Moxley at 924-0685. Trophy contributors for this Patriots Day Race include: the Watertown Boosters, the Middlesex Club of Watertown, the Irish Talent Club, District 50 of the United Mine Workers of America, Watertown Eagles, Watertown firefighters, Waltham Elks, Division 14-A O. H., Sons of Italy, Watertown Police Association, V. F. W., and the American Legion. Winner of last year's race was Tom Koerber of Catholic Memorial.

Ross Memorial N.E. Candlepin Classic Sunday

The best of New England's candlepin bowling breed will be on hand at the 60-lane Lawrence Recreation Center on Sunday, April 20th bidding for one of candlepin bowling's most coveted awards, the James Ross Memorial New England Candlepin Classic.

The championship of which Sunday's represents the Fifteenth Edition, is a 10-string test across ten lanes. It will be contested in two shifts scheduled to get underway at 1:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. sharp.

A Newton man, Rosario Lechiara, is one of the top contenders.

Charles Jutras of Agawam, whose 1304 carried off top money plus a beautiful wristwatch a year ago, is due back for another run at the winner's check of $500 guaranteed. Also expected back are runner-up Frank Malski of Danvers, whose 1282 earned him $250 and a silver tray, and third-place finisher Gary Duffett of Nashua, N. H., who chalked up 1279 worth $90 and a Revere bowl.

As was the case in the 1968 renewal of the tournament, the entry fee of $15 includes bowling and expenses.

Although many followers of this candlepin classic are rating Joe Donovan as the bowler to beat this trip, others feel that the sternest competition is apt to come from Tony Baldinelli of Amesbury, and Mike Saniuk of Dorchester.

In the 1961 tournament, Bob Bows racked up the classic's all-time high tally of 1341 that was topped by Bob Kelly's 1349 on the 1963 classic.

Still others who should rate as definite threats for the 1969 title include Ed Bosco of West Roxbury; Bill Erkkinen of Stow; Rosario Lechiara of Newton; Roger Fitzgerald of Manchester, N. H.; Charles H. Milan, III of Brewer, Maine; Leo Richard of Fitchburg; and Norm LaRochelle of Salem, N. H.

what kinds of issues the Charter Commission might consider.

Nine Charter Commissioners are to be elected on the November ballot at the same time people vote on whether to approve reject a thorough review of the City Charter.

Mrs. Florence Rubin, president of the League of Women Voters, has explained, "The Charter Commission might be concerned with the term of office of the Mayor, the Aldermen, and the School Committee members. Another issue which might be discussed is the method of filling vacancies in the office of Mayor, Board of Aldermen, and School Committee."

During the ten months the Charter Commission will be studying the City Charter, or constitution, citizens may offer suggestions for strengthening the charter.

All recommended changes must be presented at public hearings. At the next general election, any changes the Commission may propose will be placed on the ballot for voter approval or rejection.

The drive to review the City Charter is being led by Citizens for Charter Review, which includes representatives from the Newton League of Women Voters, the Newton Council of PTA's, the Republican and Democratic City Committees, and the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

The efforts of this group have been endorsed by the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen, and the School Committee.

Citizens for Charter Review released this week the first posters, flyers, and stickers featuring the Charter Review symbol. This symbol was designed by award-winning graphic artist Joseph Selamir of Newton Lower Falls.

Calligraphy Exhibit Set For Jackson Home Sunday

The art of calligraphy and illuminations from ancient modern times will feature the Open House event of Sunday, afternoon, April 20, 3 to 5 p.m., at the Jackson Homestead, Newton's city-owned museum at 527 Washington street. The museum is open to the public without charge.

Several hundred are expected to visit the Homestead Sunday to view the unusual exhibits which will include the work of Miss Helen Sherman of Sudbury who is widely recognized for the artistry of her scrolls, altar pieces, testimonials, and illuminated books. Miss Sherman, who will attend the Open House and answer questions about the art, is a graduate of the Vesper School of Art in Boston and has studied in Europe. A Master Craftsman of the National Society of Arts and Crafts, she is the recipient of several regional and national awards for her work which is found in many Cathedrals and Libraries.

Among other exhibits will be that of work by Miss Alice Ropes, a retired Boston artist. On loan from Dr. Arthur Malenon of Wellesley and Orin E. Skinner of Newtonville are examples of ancient religious illumination from the 9th, 11th, 14th, and 15th centuries which are certain to attract attention.

An illuminated Venetian Bible done in 1480, on loan from Mrs. Frederick Sayford Bacon, and a family heirloom on loan by Mrs. Allan Woodcock of Wayland, add to the special items of interest.

Many visitors will visit the refurbished room of the Homestead, now known as the Freedom Room which is devoted to Civil War items, including documents, letters, pictures, diaries, and uniforms. According to local annals, this room was a station of the "Underground Railroad" of Civil War Days. Young men of the Keystone Group of the Newton Boys Club will act as guides in the Freedom Room.

Hostesses for the event include members of the Waban Womens Club and the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club and the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club.

Those of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club are: Mrs. George E. Eames, President; Mrs. George J. Eames, Mrs. Richard Coughlin, Mrs. Andrew Lawson, Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, Mrs. John Mullen.

Floral decorations will be provided by members of the Temple Shalom Garden Club who are Mrs. Alfred Novick, Chairman Mrs. Lester Steinberg, Mrs. Joseph Danis, Mrs. Carl Hirschfeld, and Mrs. Arnold Shaw.

Arrangements for the Open House are being made by a general committee made up of Mrs. William H. Cannard, Director-Curator of the Homestead; Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. Albert E. Burgess, President of the Friends of the Jackson Homestead; Mrs. Orin E. Skinner and Mrs. John D. Fox, Co-Chairman of Exhibits; Mrs. William R. Greve, Costumes; Mrs. Annis G. Asaff, Flowers; Mrs. Monte Basbas, and Miss Lorraine Cotting, Hospitality; and Miss Betsy Allen, Editor of Jackson Journal.

Back in the 1870's, the national idols in America sports were the riflemen.

He also said using the lot for parking wouldn't increase the traffic on Webster st., since, if Border were made one-way traffic could be confined to Border. He said, too, there would be no break in the Webster st. frontage, since foliage would screen the view.

"The people wouldn't be aware a parking lot was there," he said. A well laid out parking lot would be a lot less objectionable than the alternative — parking on Webster st. — said the attorney.

Anthony Gallelo, 157 Webster st., spoke on behalf of the residents in commenting that the neighbors, for the fourth time in two months, have had to appear before the boards to oppose projects which would further commercialize their area.

"Border st. is loaded with businesses," he said. "It's impossible for two cars to pass each other when the cars park on both sides of the street," he also remarked. And he continued: "Having a parking lot built does not resolve the traffic problem in the area."

He said that in two years, according to the stories he has heard, the company will employ 200 persons. This, he said, will mean 100 to 150 cars.

The board will probably report their decision in two weeks.

Burning Ban Imposed By Fire Chief

A ban on outdoor burning in Newton has been imposed by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., because of five brush fires that broke out Tuesday, one of which was serious.

Newton has had more than 75 fire calls the past five days, 55 for brush.

The most serious fire Tuesday threatened several buildings in the Peabody School Area. The fire on Oak Hill spread quickly over the dry grassy area toward the school. In its path were several homes on Country rd.

Only quick effort on the part of firemen kept the flames from spreading to the homes.

Several acres were burned over before the all out sound of four hours after the first alarm was sounded.

Newton Artist Exhibits At Mass. College of Art

Lawrence Kupferman, long a resident of Newton Centre, is having a retrospective exhibition of his paintings at the Massachusetts College of Art.

Mr. Kupferman is Professor in Painting at the Massachusetts College of Art. This exhibition covers a cross-section of his work over the past twenty-five years. The exhibition will continue through April 25th.

Mr. Kupferman has had over twenty-one man exhibitions in such galleries as the Philadelphia Art Alliance, Martha Jackson Gallery, New York; Pace Gallery, Boston; Galerie Iria Kert, Montreal; de Cordova Museum, Lincoln; Horizon Gallery, Rockport, etc.

Lawrence Kupferman's paintings are represented in the permanent collections of many museums including the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; Museum of Modern Art, New York; Whitney Museum of American Art, New York; Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Andover, University of Illinois, Wadsworth Atheneum, Hartford, Bowdoin College Museum of Art and many others.

His etchings are in the collections of many institutions, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; Fogg Museum of Art, Harvard; Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh; Baltimore Museum of Art; Library of Congress, Washington; Syracuse University, etc.

The following quotation from a catalogue of an exhibition throws light on the motivation and thinking behind his painting. "Of recent years, my work has been based on a study of the structures, forms, textures and patterns of what I find in the microscope. A part of this study reflects my intense interest in the patterns of the movements of flow — of liquids as of the tides, of blood in the veins, of sap in a tree or a plant, of clouds in the sky. I study the water of the sea from an aeroplane over Massachusetts Bay and Cape Cod and then intimately, down on my knees the pattern left by the sea on the sands of the beach.

"Not only the great sweep of the sea on seaweed covered rocks, the rock itself, and the living, undulating movements of the seaweed.

"My purpose in doing these paintings based on microscopic life and other aspects of biology and botany is to rediscover anew, for myself, the elements of the universe. Divorced from conventional reality (as of a still life, a landscape, a human figure), out of the minute worlds of the microscope, I can find symbols of universal growth and life."

Bells To Swing In Spring Ring

The Centenary Bell Ringers of Newton will present a mixed program of religious, classical, popular and specialty numbers Monday at the American Association of Retired Persons Spring Concert at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The concert will be held in the parish hall following the regular business meeting, scheduled to begin at 1:45 p.m. Mrs. Helen Capon, Association president, will chair the business meeting.

The Centenary Bell Ringers was organized in the Auburndale Methodist Church in 1962 with a gift of 16 bells. The group now has 32 bells.

Following election of officers, a reception was held in the church parlor for several officers of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs as well as charter members and past presidents of the Newton Community Club. Luncheon was held at 12:45 p.m. in Fellowship Hall and was followed by a musical program at the Metropolitan Quartet.

Paintings From Spain On View
At Free Library

A choice selection of seven paintings by contemporary Spanish artists is on exhibit this week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner, on loan from the collection of Mrs. Mark Asch of West Newton.

Mrs. Asch, who has been summering in Barcelona for several years, says that through her friends there she was introduced to the art world of Barcelona and started to collect the works of Spanish painters.

Her own walls are full of contemporary paintings, and cannot hold any more. She says she still can't resist buying, and has made this small selection for viewing at the Main Library from the works of artists she knows personally. "They are all," she adds, "talented and prominent painters in Spain. They are all represented in the Museo Arte Moderno in Barcelona."

Some of the scenes depict the Costa Brava, the beautiful seacoast not far from Barcelona where Salvador Dali lives and paints. Two of them show a clown pair, the harlequin and his lady. The contemporary Spanish paintings will remain on view through early May with a complementary grouping of art books.

Supt. Powers
Speaks To DAR
On Ed. Trends

Former Newton Alderman William Powers, Superintendent of Schools in Needham, declared that present-day trends in education are both exciting and frustrating in a speech before the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR on Monday (April 7). He touched on such matters as the SDS, the taxpayers revolt, the Professional Negotiation Act, the ungraded school, the emotionally disturbed child and the need of some students for technical and vocational training.

He spoke of the restlessness among young people today, mentioning the fact that the pleasure of work is something that modern young people have never been brought to realize. The movement toward an interesting exchange between teacher and student may lead to the students' taking over, if the leadership is weak, he said.

Mrs. Harry L. Whalen, Regent, introduced Mr. Powers following the coffee hour. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Hartwell W. Blanchard, 24 Saxon Terrace, Newton Highlands.

Other guests, introduced by Mrs. Philip R. Cook, Good Citizen Chairman, were Miss Sherry Forman, and her mother, Mrs. Stanley Forman, of Newton Centre.

Miss Forman, a senior at Newton South High School, was one of the Chapter "Good Citizen" girls honored at the March Conference of the Massachusetts Society, DAR, on March 12. Selected by teachers and fellow classmates as being outstanding in patriotism, cooperation, and courtesy, she made a brief speech thanking the chapter for the honor, and telling of her plans to attend college and eventually become an elementary school teacher.

Reports of the March Conference were given by the Regent, Mrs. Ross E. Langill, and Mrs. David Hamblen.

Mrs. John J. Gay, Jr., was in charge of refreshments, and Mrs. Thomas M. Desmond president at the table, which was centered with yellow spring flowers and sky blue tapers.

WANDA JENNINGS

"Secretary Of The Year" For Newton Woman

Mrs. Wanda Jennings, of Tremont St., Newton, has been chosen by the Beacon Hill Chapter of National Secretaries Assoc. (International) as "Secretary of the Year."

She is executive secretary to John M. Fox, Chairman of the Board of the United Fruit Co., in Boston.

Mr. Fox announced that the company is giving her a reception on Thursday evening, April 24th at the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

The attractive secretary attended Indiana State University and Droughon's Business School in San Antonio, Texas.

She transferred from the Orlando, Florida chapter to the Beacon Hill Chapter of National Secretaries Assoc. (Int.) a few years ago and is now completing her second term as president of the Boston chapter.

A dinner will be held in her honor at the new Holiday Inn, in the Charles River Plaza, on Secretaries Day, Wednesday,

College Notes

Alan J. Rabinowitz of Newton has been appointed to the rank of corporal in the university Corps of Cadets. Cadet Rabinowitz, a graduate of Newton High School and a government major at Norwich, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rabinowitz of 232 Cabot St.

Hannabeth Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lee Jackson of Newton Highlands, was one of those delegates from Scripps College, Claremont, Calif., sent to the first annual China Conference held in New York City. She is a member of the model United Nations at Scripps College and will present an analytical paper expressing the views and comments of the principal conference speakers, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Senator Jacob Javits and former Ambassador Abraham Goldberg.

Kenneth Alan Alperin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Alperin of 60 Levert Rd., Newton, was awarded the Barnstrom Prize at the University of Michigan Honors Convocation recently. The prize goes to the men and women making up the top 5 per cent of the freshman class. Alperin, a graduate of Newton South High, is enrolled in the U-M College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

James H. Tighe, Jr. of 380 Boylston St., Newton Centre, a senior at Suffolk University, accompanied seven members of Suffolk's Political Science Club to Washington D. C. recently. The group sat in on Congressional sessions and met with Senators Kennedy, Brooke and House Speaker McCormack.

Cerebral Palsy Parents In Anniversary Social, Dance

The Parents and Friends Association of United Cerebral Palsy celebrated its first anniversary with a dance and social recently at the Hibernian Hall in Watertown.

The affair was held to attract new members to the organization and provide an opportunity for those already belonging to meet and spend an evening together.

Co-chairing the committee which organized the affair were Mrs. Philip Edsall and Mrs. John Boyle, both of Newton and both parents of CP children.

Mrs. Edith Schneider, program director of United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston, and Mr. Nuncio Pellegrini of Newton assisted in the arrangements.

Also serving on the committee were Mrs. Walter Birchler, Mrs. Robert Bowler, Mrs. Thaddeus Judge, Mrs. Wayne O'Neil, Mrs. Frances Sarro and Mrs. Michael Sullivan. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Dr. Wayne O'Neil, president of the Association.

Adorning each table was a lovely bouquet of artificial flowers which was awarded to one guest at the table. The head table bouquet was donated by Eastman Florists of Newtonville.

Numerous door prizes, contributed by local merchants and friends, were awarded throughout the evening.

Music for dancing was provided by a four piece band, courtesy of the Musicians Guild of Boston. Arthur Murray Studios of Boston provided the entertainment for the evening with two of their professional dance instructors. An enjoyable time was had by all in attendance.

The Parents and Friends Association is dedicated to improving the station of those afflicted with cerebral palsy. Although the dance and social significantly increased the membership, more members are needed. Anyone, parent or friend, interested in joining or obtaining information is invited to write or phone Mr. Philip Edsall, 105 Cherry street, W. Newton 527-3457.

Coast Guard Sponsors Visit To Conn. Base

The U. S. Coast Guard Academy is the only one of the Federal Academies that select all cadets on the basis of a nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographic quotas. The Coast Guard Academy is established for the purpose of educating and training young men to become career commissioned officers in the Coast Guard. Upon graduation a cadet is awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science and commissioned as an ensign in the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary sponsor nationally a program by giving a 4-day visit to the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn. for a number of high school students in their junior year. This program is termed the Coast Guard Auxiliary, Academy Introduction Mission known as Project AIM.

The young men are selected on competitive basis, academic achievements, athletic ability, physical standards set forth by the Academy and their desire in making the Coast Guard as a career.

The purpose for this program is that a young man can obtain an inside view of the life and the routine of a cadet at the Academy. As a result of these visits many students have competed for an appointment as a Cadet, Coast Guard Academy.

Applications and information about this program can be obtained from, U. S. Coast Guard, Director of Auxiliary, J. F. K. Federal Bldg., Government Center, Boston, Mass. 02203, or District Career Coordination Officer, Theodore Kaplan, 21 Ivanhoe Street, Newton Mass. 02453, or regional Division Career Coordination Officer, Gerard Leone, 71 Grove Street, Waltham, Mass. 02154.

Newtonite Trio Make Duke List

Waban Attorney Is Appointed To Mass. Committee

Lawrence Applefield, Esq., was recently appointed to the Massachusetts Bar Association's Committee on the "Unauthorized Practice of Law," by Paul Sisk, Bar Association president.

The committee will seek to study, examine and evaluate present practices employed by numerous businessmen and firms, which may be deemed tantamount to practicing law while not specifically licensed to do so in the Commonwealth.

The results of the Committee's work will be forwarded to the Executive Board of the Bar Association with recommendations for any legal action which may be necessary. The General Court is very interested in the scope and direction of the work being performed by this Committee as a guide in framing future legislation to protect the citizens of Massachusetts.

Mr. Applefield resides with his wife and four children at 112 Moffat road in Waban, and is active in numerous professional associations as well as in community and civic affairs.

Future Airman Tours Air Base

Stephen M. Hendrickson of 89 Pleasant st., a Naval ROTC midshipman at Ohio State University got a taste of jet flight recently at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station in Texas.

Hendrickson was one of 40 Ohio State midshipmen given a first-hand look at the flight training program for student naval aviators.

Each was given a two-hour indoctrination flight in a TS-2A multi-engine trainer and a one-hour flight in a TF-9F "Cougar" jet fighter trainer. The midshipmen put the trainer aircraft through various maneuvers, including acrobatics and practice landings under the supervision of an instructor-pilot.

Memorial Lecture To Late Rabbi To Be Held Apr. 27

In tribute to the revered memory of the late Rabbi Herman H. Rubenovitz, the Board of Directors of Temple Mishkan Tefila, Newton established an Annual Memorial Lecture in his name. The third annual lecture will take place on Sunday, April 27 at 8 p.m. at the Temple.

Rabbi Rubenovitz was the pioneer of Conservative Judaism in New England. He served as Rabbi of Temple Mishkan Tefila from 1910-1946 and as Rabbi Emeritus until his passing on April 8, 1966. He was a recognized leader in Jewish communal life and a distinguished representative of his people in the religious and civic affairs of the general community.

He was a founding member of the United Synagogue of America; a leader of the early Zionist movement; and a founder of the Rabbinical Association and of the Associated Synagogues of Greater Boston.

He was the author in collaboration with his wife of "The Waking Heart", a significant contribution to the history of Conservative Judaism in the United States and particularly in New England.

Dr. Abraham J. Heschel, Professor of Jewish Ethics and Mysticism at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, will be the lecturer that evening. The subject of his lecture will be "Israel". Dr. Abraham J. Heschel is one of the foremost thinkers of our time; a philosopher actively concerned with contemporary problems and an authoritative voice on the moral issues of the nation; an eminent scholar with a superb literary style; author of many books dealing with Jewish history, philosophy and mysticism as well as with the fundamental problems of religion confronting modern man; included among his works are Man Is Not Alone, God In Search of Man, The Earth Is The Lord's, The Prophets, The Insecurity of Freedom, The Sabbath, Man's Quest For God, and Israel; his works have been translated and published in many countries throughout the world; a visiting professor at a number of major American universities; an active leader in many vital causes of our day, including the mobilization of world opinion on behalf of Soviet Jewry, advancement of race relations, involvement in the White House Conference on Youth, and prominent participation in the discussions that were a background to the Ecumenical Council's deliberations on Catholic-Jewish relations; a lecturer of unusual eloquence whose message is inspiring and instructive.

The evening will begin with a service conducted by Rabbi Israel J. Kazis, assisted by Cantor Gregor Shelkan and the Temple Choir under the direction of Professor Solomon G. Braslavsky. Following the lecture there

There's a better lawn in every bag

That's what you want, isn't it? A better lawn. Well here's the best way to get one. Apply AGRICO Grass Food today. This turfgrass food brings three kinds of nitrogen to your lawn for full season feeding. You get immediate growth, secondary growth and steady growth. 60% of its nitrogen content is organic. And you get phosphorus and potash for root development and improved plants. This is the turfgrass food used by 2 out of 3 professional grass growers. They grow grass for a living. Now that should be proof enough for you. But better yet. Prove it yourself. Apply AGRICO Grass Food today on your lawn.

A bag feeds 5,500 sq. ft. of lawn all season long.

2 FOR $8.95

Inquire about the AGRICO jet-spread fertilizer spreader. Distributes on a 10 ft. swath.

School Opposed In Newtonville

Leading the criticism was Rep. Paul F. Malloy, speaking on behalf of 46 residents in the triangular area of Walnut, Crafts and Washington streets who signed a petition against the proposal. He said that "citizens put many thousands of dollars into their homes not expecting the Planning Board to permit a school there."

Charles Bates, 23 Turner Ter., who said he is head of the largest child-care agency in Boston, said there have been arguments in the past that the Montessori system of educating is too rigid.

Anticipating criticism of the possibility of increased traffic, Caruso commented, "I don't see how 14 tiny tolls could increase traffic. I can see how, in my wildest imagination, this nursery affects these streets (Turner Omar Terraces). I never knew existed."

A number of residents of Bates among them, said that people in "the triangle" are upset because of the continuing infringement on their business. "Where is it all going to stop?" he asked. He said he considered the nursery school "just one more step" toward the commercialization.

Caruso said there would be a "three to five" car stopping by, that no sign would mark the house, that there would be no noise. Reports on the petition will be released by the Alderman Land Use Committee and the Planning Board, probably in two weeks.

Did the welfare of all of the taxpayers of Newton outweigh the clearly expressed wishes of about one quarter of them? I felt that they did and, therefore, I voted against the lunch program and in favor of continuing the former schedule.

In my opinion, the School Committee passed the motion that could command a majority vote, which is why I moved reconsideration. It is the least costly of the three programs suggested and has the added advantage of free Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, which I feel are very important.

I sincerely hope that the matter is now laid to rest. I was taken altogether too much by School Committee time. (This is probably the fault of the School Committee). Further agitation on the part of those who sincerely believe in a five day uniform school day with a mandatory lunch program can only do harm to a school system that we all need support if it is to continue to be one of the better ones.

Already there has been a alienation between our 'aculty and many of the parents whom they serve. Any continuation of this effort will do further damage to the morale of the system, which will take a long time and much effort to repair. In addition the effort on our children can only be

New Approach to Community Problems Aired at Meeting

Focusing on "The New Voluntary Approach to Community Problems", Dr. Harold W. Demone, Jr. spoke to the combined Council and Chest Board Annual meeting held on April 10, at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Delegates from 103 organizations and agencies elected Mr. Albert R. Beisel, Jr. as President of the Council and Chest. Elected officers of the corporation are: Robert P. Freeto, First Vice-President; Dr. Sylvia G. Krakow, Second Vice-President; Francis C. Chase, Treasurer; and Donald C. Root, Assistant Treasurer. Miss Adelaide B. Ball and Mr. H. Donald Norstrand were re-elected Clerks of the Council and Chest respectively.

Council Board members elected this year for a three year term are: Mrs. Arno Heyn, Mrs. Paul A. Levi, Mr. Earl F. Nauss, Jr., and Mr. John S. Webber. The new Chest Directors-at-Large for a three year term are: Mrs. Michael J. Ambrosino, Mr. Nathan D. Bugbee, Mr. Edward V. Hickey, Jr., Mrs. Lester B. Radlow, Mr. Henry B. Shepard, Jr., and Dr. Arnold M. Soloway.

Discussing the future role of voluntary health and social welfare planning at last night's annual meeting of the Newton Community Council and Chest, a prominent Massachusetts health and social welfare leader sees more intensive and effective citizen participation in planning.

According to Dr. Harold W. Demone, Jr., executive director of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, the voluntary health and welfare planning council for the 64-community Massachusetts Bay Area, "the fund and council movement... now is evolving into organizations of citizens rather than agencies."

"Even in this transitional stage it represents the greatest collaboration and concentration of citizen participation in health and welfare."

"Increasingly, decision-makers are asking about people, problems, programs and services - not about individual bureaucracies, institutions and causes. They are looking for innovation and creativity; they are increasingly challenging the status quo."

Dr. Demone, who directed the Massachusetts Mental Health Planning Project and the Mental Retardation Planning Project, told the assemblage at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart: "The government is entering the planning field with energy and vigor, and I am convinced that the voluntary council field has an enormous opportunity and responsibility here. I believe we are better equipped to deal with irrational issues and controversy."

"It will take courage, imagination and skill, but the potential is there."

"We must not shirk the challenge. Social change may occur out of study, experimentation or consensus. It may also occur out of conflict. Conflict and controversy may be functional and necessary if we are to make significant progress."

Also significant, he pointed out, is a trend toward closer relations between the governmental executive branch agencies and the voluntary planning councils and a similar linking to the legislative bodies.

"The effectiveness of this relation," Dr. Demone reminded community leaders, "is principally dependent upon our understanding of the governmental process and our ability to impact upon it in a knowledgeable and sophisticated manner. We can't be amateurs dabbling in government if we are to be accepted as equal partners."

TINY "CHIP" — Ellen Roy, of Newton, who will be a court jester on the gala "Ice Chips" show of the Skating Club of Boston at Boston at Boston Arena, April 18-20.

Little Newton Girl Is Featured In 'Ice Chips'

A little girl from Newton, Ellen Roy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Roy, 36 Fairmont Avenue, will be featured as a court jester in "Ice Chips" the annual ice show of the Boston Skating Club to be held at Boston Arena on April 18 to 20th.

Ellen's three older brothers and a sister have been participating in "Ice Chips" since 1951. However, it is unanimously agreed in the Roy family that little Ellen is the undisputed star of the family.

Only nine years old, Ellen is working on her second figure test under the direction of Arthur Bourke, coach of the famous Olympic and World Team skater, Misha Petehovich.

Misha, starring in "Ice Chips" this year, is currently a student at Harvard University where Ellen's brother, Steve, also is enrolled.

Brother, Peter, a student at Mount Hermon School, is currently working with Bobby and Leo in the College Horizon program.

Catholic Guild's Awards Service

The Catholic Guild for All the Blind held its annual reception and awards ceremony Sunday at the American Center for Research in Blindness and Rehabilitation in Newton.

A total of 65 service pins were awarded to persons who have volunteered one, five and 10 years in service to the blind as readers, drivers, guides and visitors.

The Guild announced it now has more than 400 volunteers, 250 of whom read every week to blind students, professional persons and others.

Anyone interested in volunteering is asked to apply to Mrs. Saul F. Swartz, supervisor of volunteers at the Guild offices, 770 Centre St., Newton.

Of United Community Services, which he has directed since September, 1967, Dr. Demone said it is "extremely important for the voluntary system to have an effective, overall planning body. And it is equally important that individual agencies possess their own planning competence. Each is enhanced by the other's improved competency."

He said futurists, futurism and long-term planning are becoming increasingly common terms, and concerted efforts are being made to look ahead.

Commenting further, Dr. Demone said UCS is moving more aggressively and imaginatively toward problem-centered planning, while continuing to provide overall direction in coordinating public and private programs to bring about an efficient balance between services and needs throughout the metropolitan area.

All these activities required, and received, unprecedented high levels of volunteer leadership and UCS staff commitment, time and effort, he pointed out.

Deeply involved in a multiplicity of on going activities and the extensive organizational self analysis and restructuring, UCS, he averred, has demonstrated sensitivity and flexibility in responding to emerging and changing needs in social services, health, research, the Inner City, education and public policy.

He said UCS volunteer leadership and staff are dedicated to continually searching out new ways and means to strengthen the council's planning, decision-making, research techniques and supportive agency programs.

Keller Elected Honorary Trustee At Savings Bank

At the annual meeting of the West Newton Savings Bank at Brae Burn Country Club on April 8, John W. Keller, a Trustee of the Bank since 1928, was honored by election as an Honorary Trustee.

Mr. Keller was elected a Corporator of West Newton Savings Bank April 10, 1928 and became a Trustee October 9, 1928. From April 13, 1937 to July 12, 1966 he served as a member of the Board of Investment and Real Estate Committee.

The following were elected to serve as Corporators of the West Newton Savings Bank: Cooper Eastman, Newtonville; Franklin N. Flaschner, Waban; Arthur A. Marr, Jr., Auburndale; Lewis B. Songer, Waban; and Christopher D. Van Curan of Wayland.

Kenneth W. Rogers, President of the Bank announced that April dividends were declared at the increased rate of 4-5/8 on Daily Interest Accounts and 4-7/8 on Regular Accounts. Notice accounts are to receive interest at the rate of 5-1/4 per cent.

Rogers also reported continuing growth in all departments of the West Newton Savings Bank with funds available in ample supply for Home Mortgages, Home Improvement, Collateral and Personal loans.

St. Jude March Scheduled For Sunday, May 18

Local groups in Newton are scheduled to join the 1969 Danny Thomas Teenage March for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., which will be held in the Greater Boston area on Sunday, May 18.

Since its inception, Danny Thomas has enlisted the aid of American teenagers to solicit funds for less fortunate children. The monies raised are used to help speed the day when children all over the world will be free from the suffering of catastrophic diseases.

Meanwhile, a Medford man, Daniel G. Hurley of 15 Benham st., has been named Chairman of the drive. The announcement of Hurley's selection was issued by Danny Omas from ALSAC headquarters in Indianapolis. ALSAC, which stands for Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children, is the fund raising group for St. Jude Hospital.

Hurley, a former ALSAC volunteer, assisted in recruitment during the past two years. A graduate of Northeast University and New England Law School, he is a member of the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Medford Knights of Columbus. He is also active in the Heart Fund and the United Prison Assoc. and is a former Medford Democratic Ward and City Chairman. Hurley is presently Administrative Aid to the Middlesex County Commissioners.

Vicky Citron Is Violin Soloist At Concert Here

Miss Vicky Citron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Citron of Newton Centre was presented in a violin program at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Saturday evening, by her teacher Mrs. Marguerite Estaver.

Miss Citron offered a delightful program presented with virtuosity and conviction and included compositions by Fritz Kreisler, Mozart, Debussy, Hindemith, de Falla, Moussorgsky and Rachmaninoff.

The young violinist is a senior at Newton South High. She has been accepted for the coming year with the music department of the University of Massachusetts and plans to make the violin her career.

After the musical program, Mrs. Citron entertained her guests with home-baked delicacies. Robert Pettitt, chairman of the music department at Emerson College, was the pianist.

Library Begins A Child Study Series Monday

Newton mothers concerned about the emotional needs of children will be interested in joining one of the child study discussion groups being formed at the Newton Free Library in cooperation with the Child Study Association of Massachusetts.

The discussion groups will meet at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon St., Newton Corner, on five Mondays at 10:30 a.m. beginning last Monday and continuing on April 28, May 5, May 12 and May 19.

The five sessions, under professional leadership, will cover the importance of the early years, maternal separation, sibling rivalry, discipline, and other common childhood problems.

The suggested reading list includes Dorothy Baruch, "New Ways in Discipline"; "One Little Boy"; Bruno Bettelheim, "Love is Not Enough"; Erik Erikson, "Childhood and Society"; "Identity, Youth and Crisis"; Seymour Fraiberg, "The Magic Years"; Arnold Gesell, "Infant and Child in the Culture of Today"; "The Child from One to Five"; Irene Josselyn, "Psychosocial Development of Children"; M.A. Ribble, "The Rights of Infants"; Sears, Maccoby and Levin, "Patterns of Childrearing"; Benjamin Spock, "Baby and Child Care"; and "Problems of Parents"; and H. Ginott, "Between Parent and Child."

Anyone wishing to join the study groups should sign in at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon Street.

GOP City Committee Sets Meeting Date For Apr. 28

The Executive Committee of the Newton Republican City Committee set the date of April 28 for a meeting of the full City Committee, William A. Lincoln, Chairman, announced today.

At its executive session this week, the committee acted on the Report of the Special Issues Committee headed by Wilmore A. Pierson. The report which will be presented to the full body will shortly be made public.

Mrs. Eugene M. Hirschberg, the GOP representative on the Citizens Committee for Charter Review, reported on the status of the group's program.

College Group Has Pops Night

Mrs. Roger Lester and Miss Betsy Allen of Newton will be among sponsors of the Connecticut College Club of Boston's annual Night at the Pops, Friday, May 2.

Scheduled to be patronesses for the affair are: Mrs. Lewis Aronson and Miss Jean F. Howard of Newton, Mrs. Irving Levy, Mrs. Frank Wheelock and Mrs. Earle Wilkins of West Newton, and Mrs. Percy Spencer of Waban.

Mrs. Charles Faris of Wellesley Hills, ticket chairman, said tomorrow would be the last day she would accept reservations for the concert, given to aid the college's Scholarship Fund.

Cocktails and dinner at the Midtown Motor Inn in Boston will precede the concert.

Reports on various state-wide Republican activities were made by State Committeewomen Mrs. William L. Bruce, and Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury and State Committeeman Joseph I. Weinreb.

Vice-Chairman Julius L. Masow reported on the recent Regional Work Shop sessions of the GOP held at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

Those present at the Executive Session were William A. Lincoln presiding; Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, Gerald G. Aransky, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. William L. Cong. Heckler to Speak At Newton C of C Forum

Rep. Margaret Heckler (R-Mass.) will be the main speaker Friday, April 25, at the eleventh "Newton Government and Business Forum" luncheon.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Heckler, who makes her home in Wellesley, was elected to the Congress from the 10th Massachusetts District in 1966 and re-elected last year.

She is a graduate of Albertus Magnus College in New Haven and Boston College Law School which she attended on a full scholarship.

She represented the United States as an exchange student at the International Politics Seminar at the University of Leiden in Holland.

While at Boston College, Mrs. Heckler was associate editor of the Law Review.

Mrs. Heckler was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1966. In 1963, she became the first woman elected to the Massachusetts Governors Council and was the only Republican Council member from then until her election to Congress.

She is a member of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers Association, and the Boston Bar Association, and she has been admitted to argue cases before the U. S. Supreme Court.

In Congress, she is a member of the Banking and Currency Committee and the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

The Needham Chamber of Commerce members have been invited to the luncheon to be the special guests of the Newton Chamber.

The luncheon is open to the public. Tickets may be reserved by calling the Newton Chamber of Commerce office at 244-5300, or from the members of the ticket committee headed by Robert L. Tennant.

The Newton Chamber of Commerce inaugurated its Government and Business Forum luncheons to foster understanding between members of both pursuits.

Previous prominent speakers have been: Mayor Monte G. Basbas of Newton; former School Supt. Charles E. Brown; Newton Finance Director Arthur A. Marr Jr.; State Tax Commissioner Cleo F. Jalliet; and John T. Driscoll, chairman of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

Also, Newton Planning Director James A. Miller, John Gilleland, assistant school superintendent for business affairs; Eli Goldston, president of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates; Lt. Joseph Fitzsimmons, head of the Newton Fire Prevention Bureau; and Special Agent Charles Regan of the U. S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

MARSHAL — Judge Frankland W. L. Miles, of Chestnut Hill, will be the Chief Marshal of the parade of 3500 Protestant laymen from Copley square to the Boston Arena on Sunday, May 4. Services of Holy Communion will be held in six Copley sq. churches at 7 a.m., after which three bands will participate in the procession.

Outdoor Fires Keep Men Busy

Spring came to the Newton Fire Department last weekend with 36 calls for brush fires, mostly caused by overeager residents burning off grass in their yards.

The fire calls came despite a ban on outdoor burning put into effect by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. last Friday.

The department warns that the ban is still in effect to the dry condition of the fields and woods.

The worse brush fire burned over a large area behind Mt. Ida Junior College on Oak Hill. Another bad one was at 207 Suffolk Road, Chestnut Hill.

Besides putting out brush fires, the men were called to the scene of a fatal accident on Rte. 9, and to two mutual aid calls — one to Needham and one to Wellesley.

In both mutual aid calls, the Newton firefighters stood by at headquarters while the home department battled stubborn brush fires.

Then there were a number of miscellaneous calls, but the most surprising, in view of the warm weather, was to a chimney fire on Amherst Road, Waban.

Two West Newton Girls Hit By Car

Two 13-year-old girls crossing Washington st. at St. Bernard's Church last Wednesday escaped with minor injuries when they were struck by an automobile.

Mary Plati, of 196 Derby st., West Newton, and Deborah MacLellan, of 21 Cottage pl., West Newton, were taken to Newton - Wellesley Hospital. Deborah was treated for a fractured shoulder while Mary received a bruise on her temple.

To Advisory Council

Among those named by Governor Francis W. Sargent recently as members of the Advisory Council on Vocational and Technical Education is Dr. Reuben Margolin of Newton.

School Committee Endorses 5 Collaborative Projects

The Newton School Committee on Monday night endorsed five projects of Education Collaborative, an organization of seven school districts which has been established with the aim of getting teachers and students from the different systems working together.

The Committee also asked Acting Supt. James Laurits for further information before making a decision about giving its approval for EDCO to incorporate as a non-profit corporation under the laws of Massachusetts.

Education Collaborative now works with Title 3 funds from the federal government but seeks to incorporate so it can apply for foundation and possibly other financial grants to finance its activities, Dr. Laurits said.

The seven communities involved in EDCO are Boston, Cambridge, Arlington, Newton, Brookline, Concord and Lexington. The school superintendents in the seven districts make up the executive committee of the organization.

The five EDCO projects endorsed by the Newton School Committee are:

1. The Awarding of small grants of money to teachers within the seven systems to encourage innovative ideas by teachers. The grants would be given for work outside regular school activities and would usually go to buy materials.

2. An in-service training program for school administrators in the areas of human resources, school-community relations and

Retired Newton Minister, 90, Weds Widow, 72

The Rev. James P. Berkeley, 90, and the former Ethel H. Bentley, 72, were married last Monday at the Andover Newton Theological School where the bridegroom taught for 45 years before his retirement.

The couple were wed in the room named in honor of the Rev. Berkeley. They were the first couple to marry in the room dedicated to the professor-emeritus of Old Testament at the school.

The small and private ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Harold A. Malmberg, of the First Baptist Church of which Dr. Berkeley is an active member.

Dr. Berkeley taught at the school from 1909 until he retired in 1954. He graduated there in 1908.

The couple are residents of the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, 66 Commonwealth ave., Newton, and are the first to be married while living at the home, which was founded in 1891.

A spokesman at the home said they plan to continue living there.

Formerly of Saxonville, Dr. Berkeley has served as an interim minister since his retirement.

A widower for several years, he has three children, five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Berkeley has a son and one grandchild.

NORTH KOREA CHARGES U.S. IS STAGING TRUCE LINE BUILDUP

NORTH KOREA on Wednesday warned of an escalation toward "total war" as it charged the United States was staging a massive military buildup along the Korean truce line and firing "thousands of bullets and shells" into Communist territory. The government broadcast monitored in Tokyo said North Korea would take whatever action necessary to protect itself against land, sea and air threats. The statement made no mention of any North Korean firing across the demilitarized zone, nor did it claim any firing by the U.S. Task Force 71 assembled in the Sea of Japan.

ALLIED LOSSES HEAVY IN RASH OF U.S. HELICOPTER MISHAPS

MORE THAN 40 allied soldiers have been killed or wounded in a rash of American helicopter mishaps during a 24-hour period, the U.S. military command reported Wednesday in Saigon. The losses raised to 1,079 the number of U.S. helicopters downed in South Vietnam. At least four helicopters were shot down by Communist gunners or shattered by mines, and two others crashed after colliding in flight. A seventh mistakenly fired on allied ground troops, killing six soldiers, one of them an American. Heaviest loss occurred when eight Americans and South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the collision crash of two U.S. choppers in flight 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

SECRET VIET CONG-SAIGON TALKS MAY BEGIN SOON IN PARIS

SIGNS have been detected by the U.S. delegation to the Paris peace talks that the Viet Cong and Saigon government soon may begin secret talks. Such a move would lead to a breakthrough in the stalemate which has gripped the formal conference sessions, a U.S. source said. Separate secret negotiations between the Viet Cong and the Saigon government on the political issues which surround the conflict could pave the way for bilateral Washington-Hanoi talks on the easier military questions, he added.

ARAB AND ISRAELI TROOPS BATTLE ALONG TWO FRONTS

AMID INCREASING FEARS of a complete collapse of the United Nations cease-fire in the Middle East, Arab and Israeli troops battled Wednesday along the eastern and western fronts. Anti-Israeli sentiment in Lebanon exploded into riots in three major cities in which seven persons were killed and 62 injured. The Lebanese government declared a national state of emergency to deal with what officials said was the worst crisis since the 1958 civil war. While their troops traded artillery and tank fire across the Suez Canal, Egyptian and Israeli spokesmen continued the diplomatic war of words.

O'NEILL WINS NARROW PARTY APPROVAL OF VOTING RIGHTS

PRIME MINISTER Terence O'Neill on Wednesday won narrow approval of his government Unionist party for the one-man, one-vote principle demanded by Northern Ireland's civil right movement to protect minority Catholics from majority Protestant discrimination. Meanwhile, James Chichester-Clark resigned his post as minister of agriculture in protest, warning that the 28-22 vote approval forced from a reluctant party could cause riots, this time by Protestants. In Roman Catholic areas of Belfast, some families left their homes, fearful that Protestant militants would execute threats to burn them out.

SIRHAN B. SIRHAN CONDEMNED TO DIE IN GAS CHAMBER

SHOWING NO EMOTION and convinced that no one could save him from the gas chamber, Sirhan B. Sirhan was condemned Wednesday to die for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The 25-year-old Arab chewed gum as the Los Angeles jury decreed the death sentence. He told his lawyers he was not surprised and added, "even Jesus Christ could not have saved me." Appeals of the verdict were expected to stay execution for Sirhan indefinitely. Judge Herbert V. Walker said he will formally impose the death sentence on May 14, the same date he will hear a motion for a new trial.

NIXON ASKS CONGRESS FOR NEW LAWS, MONEY TO FIGHT CRIME

PLACING MAJOR EMPHASIS on drying up the Mafia's profits from illicit gambling, President Nixon Wednesday asked Congress for new laws and money to fight organized crime's "moral and legal subversion" of America. In a special message, the President proposed spending $61 million in the 1969-70 fiscal year to combat organized crime, or $25 million more than former President Johnson had sought. The bulk of the increase would finance additional FBI agents and other Justice Department crime fighters. Among his legislative requests were proposals to make it a federal crime of take part in illegal gambling operations and in furthering such operations, to bribe or otherwise corrupt local police or government officials.

CAMPUS REBELLIONS INCREASE ACROSS NATION

BUILDING OCCUPATIONS, campus lockouts, student strikes and protest demonstrations spread through dozens of colleges and universities on Wednesday. Eastern schools — including the Ivy League elite — were especially hard hit by the swelling chorus of dissent by minority but highly vocal bands of students. At frightened Cornell University, more than 1,000 students occupied a gymnasium, awaiting faculty action on demands that it nullify disciplinary action against black students. A dozen black students of Boston State College took over the switchboard room of the administration building to back up six demands. The blacks chained off the first and second floors in an apparent attempt to take over most of the three-story building, but other students took down the chains with wire cutters. The black students said there had been negotiations, but no action, on their demands for five months.

CIGARETTE MAKERS TO FIGHT BAN ON TV COMMERCIALS

THE TOBACCO INDUSTRY would fight in court any attempt to ban cigarette commercials or make them include a stiff health warning, a manufacturer said in Washington Wednesday. "We believe it is wrong to force a businessman to discontinue use of the product he sells," Phillip Morris Board Chairman Joseph F. Cullman told the House Commerce Committee. The committee is considering whether to continue a law, now set to expire July 1, which forbids government interference in smoking advertisements. If the 1965 law — the Cigarette Labeling Act — is allowed to expire, the Federal Trade Commission said it would require all cigarette ads to carry a stiff health warning.

COST OF LIVING TAKES BIGGEST JUMP IN 18 YEARS

LED BY HIGHER PRICES for items consumers use most — food, clothing, gasoline, and home ownership, the cost of living during March took its biggest monthly jump in 18 years, the government reported Wednesday. The Labor Department, in a preliminary report, said the consumer price index for March soared eight-tenths of 1 per cent, the biggest gain since February, 1951, at the height of the Korean War. The increase last month doubled the average monthly increase for all of 1968.

TED WILLIAMS RETURNS, STILL REFUSES TO TIP HIS CAP

STILL REFUSING to tip his cap to 30,000 cheering fans, Ted Williams returned Wednesday to the Fenway Park scene of his Hall of Fame triumphs. Williams, now 50, making his first Fenway appearance in a baseball uniform since he retired as a player nearly nine years ago, wore the Washington Senators' gray and red road uniform. Williams received a standing ovation from the near capacity crowd. Following the Senators' 9-3 triumph, Ted said he "didn't sleep much last night." He said the team arrived in Boston after 4 a.m. and that he was up at 7 a.m. "I have a lot of friends here and some of the best writers in America are in Boston," he said. Obviously relishing the victory, Ted said, "this club has done a lot better than the record indicates and we've played some of the toughest clubs in the league."

Red Cross Asks For More Blood

The Newton area's next bloodmobile will be open May 5 at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple St., West Newton for all who want to help the Red Cross meet the State's daily need of 100 pints.

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross is asking especially persons who are planning on leaving the area on vacation to donate before they leave.

Otherwise, the chapter warns, the state may be faced with a shortage of the magnitude which threatened it last Christmas.

The bloodmobile will be open 1 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. All interested in making an appointment are asked to call the Newton Red Cross at 527-6000.

In releasing a summary of the Committee's report, Lincoln declared:

"We feel that the Newton Republican City Committee has a responsibility to indicate its position on the important problems of the times. As a responsible political body we are deeply concerned with the problems facing citizens in all walks of life and our objective is to make significant contributions in the direction of constructive solutions."

Quoting the preamble of the report, Lincoln further stated:

Student Demonstrators Give A Poor Image To Classmates

Irresponsible student demonstrators at universities stretching from Harvard to California have damaged the image of young men and women between the ages of 18 and 21 across the continent.

That is reflected by an obvious slowdown in the move to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

"When kids in those age brackets let themselves be used as pawns by professional agitators and display such immature judgment, you must have some second thoughts about giving them the right to vote," was the way one public figure put it.

That has been the general reaction to student demonstrations which make no sense.

It's unfair to the great bulk of boys and girls between 18 and 21, but they simply haven't gone far enough in disowning their unshaven, uncombed and often unwashed college brethren.

It also will be a little more difficult for college students to get temporary jobs this summer.

Leash Law Snaps Into Action Here On May 1

Newton's new dog leash law will go into effect one week from today—Thursday, May 1. At that time the city's dog officers will begin picking up any canines found unleashed off the private property of their owners.

To sum up the new law, a dog may be unleashed in his owner's backyard, but if he goes out of the yard he must be on a leash.

Police Chief William F. Quinn today appealed for the cooperation of the owners of the 5500 dogs in Newton.

He pointed out that the leash law was supposed to go into effect last Feb. 1 but that it was postponed for three months to allow dog-owners an additional opportunity to prepare for it.

Newton police must begin enforcing the new law next Thursday, Chief Quinn stressed.

Any dog roaming loose and unleashed in the city, starting next Thursday, will be picked up and taken to the dog pound.

There will be no fine for the first offence — only a warning — although a dog-owner must pay a $2 fee for each 24 hours his pet is held at the city pound.

A $2 fine will be levied for the second offence, with the fine jumping to $5 for the third offence and to $10 for each subsequent offence.

Charter Signature Drive Over The Top

The signature drive to put the question of reversing the city's charter on the ballot in the November municipal election is over the top, a spokesman for the Newton Citizens for Charter Review announced last week.

Mrs. Lawrence G. Rubin, president of the League of Women Voters, one of several groups collecting signatures, said although more than 8000 signatures have been collected, the drive will continue until 10,000 residents have signed.

Only 7500 are needed to put the issue on the ballot but Mrs. Rubin said invariably many names are stricken by the Election Commission because they don't conform to official records, thus the drive will continue.

Pfc. Geoffrey A. Horowitz, 20, was wounded while serving with the 1st Marine Div. He suffered shrapnel wounds about the face and on both legs and is presently hospitalized in Da Nang.

It should be safe to assume that no protest marches will be organized to denounce the advent of Daylight Saving Time which arrives officially at 2 a.m. this coming Sunday.

However, most of us adjust our clocks and watches Saturday night, moving time ahead one hour, say from 11 o'clock to midnight. We lose an hour, but get it back in the fall.

Nine charter commissioners will be elected in November at the same time voters decide whether to approve or reject a review of the city's 72-year-old charter.

During the 10 months the commission will study the charter, citizens may offer suggestions at public hearings. At the next election, any changes the commission proposed will be placed on the ballot for voter approval or rejection.

Cancer Drive To Peak Here Tuesday

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas has proclaimed Cancer Control Month for April in Newton to call the attention of the City's citizens to the Cancer Crusade which culminates next Tuesday evening, April 29, with a house-to-house canvass for funds.

The final evening's effort is being directed by House-to-house Co-Chairmen, Mrs. Gill Sampson and Mrs. Joseph G. Bradley.

The purpose of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society is to seek the control and eventual eradication of cancer through research, public and professional education and service to cancer patients.

The 1969 Crusade goal for Massachusetts is $1,500,000. The American Cancer Society is the only national organization fighting cancer through balanced programs of research, education and service. Newton's goal is $50,000.

Sidney T. Small and Joseph Snider, Newton Co-Chairmen, have indicated that the 1969 Newton Crusade will stress the point that too many people are careless or forgetful of the necessity for regular checkups as a way to discover the onset of cancer at an early opportunity

They said that most cancers can be cured — and lives saved by detecting cancer before it has had a chance to spread.

Small and Snider explained that Newton plans call for the distribution of 15,000 leaflets urging the reader to go for regular checkups. It is hoped that every Newton family will receive this leaflet, most of

Leaders Join Mayor To Set Final Plans

Community leaders in Newton's 1969 Cancer Crusade join Mayor Monte G. Basbas in setting plans for final house-to-house drive next Tuesday. Standing, left to right, Wigmore A. Pierson, public relations; Paul Shakespeare, treasurer; A. Theodore Lyman, Jr., state chairman; Mrs. Arthur Flink, organizations chairman; Joseph Snider and Sidney T. Small, co-chairmen; Mrs. Joseph G. Bradley, house-to-house chairman; David Gordon, special events chairman; and Mrs. Gill Sampson, house-to-house co-chairman.

Eight Graduate From Harvard U.

Eight students from the Charlesbank Rd., Ed.D.; Newtons were among the 600 to receive mid-year degrees from Harvard University last month. They are invited to the June Commencement exercises where they may march in the procession and receive their diplomas from the officials of the schools with which they were most closely associated.

They are: Dr. Robert B. Berg of 186 Park St., M.P.H.; Roger Davis Brown, 59 Lesson Lane, Ph.D.

School Orchestra Plans Maytime Spring Concert

The 37-member All-Newton Elementary School Orchestra, composed of budding musicians from Grades Three to Six, will give its first Spring Concert at the Newton Free Library, Friday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m.

The orchestra is directed by Donald March, supervisor of instrumental music in the Newton Public Schools, assisted by music instructors Carol McFarlin and Robert Giorgi.

March said the orchestra will give additional concerts this season on May 7 at the Countryside School to honor the elementary school principals at their monthly meeting; and on May 16 at Newton High School.

The May 16 concert will be in conjunction with the All-City Elementary School Chorus.

The May 2 concert at the Library will be open free to the public.

Director March also announced that auditions for the 1968-1970 orchestra will be held sometime in June. Potential members are asked to check with the music teachers in the several schools for the exact date and time.

Members of this year's orchestra and their schools are:

1st Violin: Richard Perles (concertmaster), Mason-Rice; Melanie Morgan, Ward; Michele Morgan, Ward; Michael Barber, Spaulding; Frank Powdermaker, Bowen; Aldo Fabrizio, Davis; Seth Medalie, Ward; Elaine Fine, Hyde; and Gordon Wolfe, Mason-Rice.
2d Violin: Jennifer Peck, Bowen; Helen Taylor, Bowen; which will be distributed in person by Cancer Society volunteer workers next Tuesday evening.

The 1969 April Cancer Crusade slogan is "Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check."

In addition to Small and Snider, other persons hard at work to make the 1969 Crusade a great success include: Mrs. Gill Sampson, Mrs. Joseph G. Bradley, John L. Vaccaro, Mrs. Bernard Garber, David Gordon, Paul Shakespeare, and Wigmore A. Pierson.

Housing Institute May 7th At Aquinas Junior College

More than thirty civic, religious and business leaders from Newton will serve as resource persons and discussion leaders at the May 7th "Low and Moderate Income Housing Institute" at Aquinas Junior College.

The Institute is co-sponsored by the Newton League of Women Voters and the Newton Community Relations Commission, assisted by the Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Newton City Planning Department, the Newton Community Council, the Newton Fair Housing and Equal Rights Committee, and Newton Community Development, Inc. Mrs. Tamara Bliss of the League is Chairman.

Events for the day will include a bus tour of various types of low and moderate income housing found in the city, followed by a luncheon at noon at Aquinas Junior College.

In the afternoon, discussion groups will ascertain community and individual attitudes on various types and locations for housing, with particular reference to the Newton City Planning Department's report on the topic.

Resource leaders include James Miller, Director of the Planning Department of the City of Newton; Max Wexler, former Director of the Newton Housing Authority; Myron Roberts of Roberts Brothers development firm; Robert Casselman, Acting Chairman of the Newton Community Development Foundation; Mrs. Jean Stolbach, President of the Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights; Also Mrs. Bessa Ruiz,

Also Lewis B. Songer, Executive Vice President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce; Jerome Grossman, President of Massachusetts Envelope Co. and Advisory Board Member of the Newton Community Relations Commission; Edward Ehrenberg, President of West Ford, Inc.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

When preparing a gourmet meal, whether it's just for your family or important dinner guests, you must not forget those "little extras" that make all the difference. Often in a really fine restaurant you will find "little extras" used to enhance the flavor or the appearance of the more important or substantial portions of the meal. Like a butterfly perched on a flower, calling attention to the dish it accompanies without detracting in the least from its own beauty. These eye-and-palate-pleasing garnishes can make the difference between a really good meal and a superb meal that is long remembered by the fortunate guests. Use garnishes whenever you get the chance and never hesitate to garnish the garnish!

Garnish your appetite with a gourmet dinner from THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Prime Rib of Beef prepared just the way you like for a dinner which surpasses any before. Try them—they are our specialty. April 30th is Greek Night. Newton Artists Invite Public to Annual Show

The Newton Art Association will hold its 19th Annual Art Show from Monday through May 10 at the R. H. Stearns Store in Chestnut Hill.

The exhibition, which will coincide with regular store hours, will be directed by John B. G. Palen of Auburndale.

The club also announced that its guest artist for Thursday night's meeting will be Don Stone of Rockport.

Stone has won several awards for his work including the Rockport Art Association's Gold Medal, the William Paton Prize and the Albert Dorne Award for watercolor, and the Elizabeth T. Greenshields Memorial Grant.

He is an associate member of the National Academy of Design and a member of the Rockport and Northshore Art Associations, the Guild of Boston Artists, the Salmagundi Club, and the American and Boston Watercolor Societies.

The public is invited to watch Stone paint a watercolor at the Thursday meeting.

The First Prize in the Art Show exhibition, the Roy A. Randall Award was won by Lester Peterson of Newtonville for a watercolor titled, "Barn Owls."

Second prize was given to Gretchen Cook of Chestnut Hill for a watercolor, "Deep in the Forest," and Ruth Winn of Waltham won third prize for another watercolor, "Doorway to Yesterday."

Commendations were won by Stephen Yor of Waban, a watercolor, "Peonies;" Martha O'Brien of Newton, oil, "Printemps;" Harold Weiner of Newton, collage, "Evening Picket;" Albertine St. Pierre of Newton, "Design into Infinity;" Ann Clark of Needham, oil, "Cathedral Arches;" Florence Morse, West Newton, oil, "The Mission;" and John B. G. Palen of Auburndale, oil, "Top of the Run."

Vandals Break Into 2 Schools

Vandals broke into two Newton public schools over the past weekend with malicious damage reported at the Bigelow Junior High School, 42 Vernon st., Newton. Police said the contents of file cabinets in the main office were strewn about and an undetermined sum of money was missing. Doors on cabinets were also smashed.

The other school break was at South High School, 140 Brandeis rd., Newton Centre, where a set of keys was reported taken. Entrance to the school was made by breaking a window.

In addition to the vandalism, several homes were broken into over the weekend. Two television sets, jewelry and silver were reported among the many items stolen.

Solon's Bill Sees Snow Problem Need

"Just because spring is here — and the snow has gone — is no reason why we should abandon our plans to prevent recurrence of last winter's many snow removal failures," Rep. Theodore D. Mann (R) of Newton declared this week as he urged legislative approval of his bill (H4770) calling for a thorough study of the problem and a report to the Legislature by the state department of public works.

"The only way to be sure the 1969 snow removal experience is not repeated again in 1970 is to take every possible preparatory step right now," the Newton legislator asserted. "It is for this reason that I urge rapid adoption of my resolve for an extensive study by the public works department."

"Many communities, such as Newton, deserve commendation for efficient overall performance. Scores of dedicated municipal officials and employees worked around the clock, under great difficulty, in the fight to open the streets."

On the other hand, "Rep. Mann said, "There were many places where the consequences of our failure to more effectively combat the storms could have been tragic."

"With the cost to government agencies — and the taxpayers — running up into the millions, shouldn't we have expected better results?" Rep. Mann asked. "Many more millions in wages were lost, because people could not get to work. More millions in retail store sales and manufacturing production went down the drain, never to be retrieved. The total breakdown of transportation, the impediment to communication, and the failure of electrical power systems were also costly, and could have combined to create a major catastrophe."

"Ever since I first filed this bill, I have received letters of commendation from all over the state," Rep. Mann told the committee. "Many of them contained suggestions for improvement. Many governmental agencies reported their difficulties to me."

"One of these revealed that fifty percent of their snow fighting personnel did not report for work, with the result that valuable snow fighting equipment remained idle when it was most needed. One community was caught by a strike of its public works employees. Others did not have proper equipment."

"Adoption of this resolve will provide our state department of public works with the opportunity to take the lead in coordinating all future snow removal activity," Rep. Mann predicted.

"It will enable the department to develop an integrated plan, to enlist the cooperation of the National Guard and civil defense agencies, to review equipment standards, techniques for handling weather forecasts, and methods of deploying manpower and equipment on ramps and hills that cause the same traffic jams year after year."

"Don't let this chance die," Rep. Mann pleaded in conclusion. "This is the only opportunity we have to correct the mistakes of the past and to prepare for the problems of the future."

"These problems will increase as our population expands, and it is expanding constantly. Proper planning now will save lives and property in the future."

The Lessons of History

Former Governor Robert F. Bradford sent a letter to Harvard's President Nathan Pusey last week praising his action in calling police to end the take-over of University Hall by the Students for a Democratic Society and their misguided sympathizers.

In his letter he summed up precisely the aims and objectives of the SDS which bear repeating—which should be repeated over and over again until the American public, especially college students, get the message. He wrote:

"There is an even larger significance in this organized hoodlumism, which has so far been strangely ignored. The academic take-overs across the country follow a pattern which must be so obvious that only the village idiot would fail to see it.

"Select a controversy which has been debated on the campus (in the case of Columbia it was the razing of buildings to build a new gymnasium; at Harvard it is the ROTC); send in a few skilled agitators; gull the student body by embracing every conceivable student grievance; secure the backing of some of the more volatile members of the faculty by large talk of academic freedom, civil rights, — easily swallowed slogans then; without warning seize a college building and sack the place.

"At the same time proclaim non-negotiable demands, well knowing that they will not and cannot be fulfilled.

"This sickening formula is all too familiar. It is nothing less than a nationwide conspiracy to overthrow American institutions and by so doing to weaken, disrupt and destroy our democratic society of government by law.

"If the movement succeeds we can throw away our ballot boxes and expect nothing by chaotic rule by shifting minority groups, each enforcing its commands by violence. This is anarchy."

He went on to point out that "no one can fail to observe that this type of directed mob action is precisely the technique by which Hitler seized power."

Although former Gov. Bradford is confident that "no one can fail to see" the use of such technique to establish a dictatorship, apparently there are thousands of students and hundreds of ivory tower professors who are blind in these instances. We place the blame on the professors. Their's is the responsibility to teach the lessons of history.

The Proper Restraint

The course of moderation set by President Nixon and his administration in the wanton shooting down of the American reconnaissance plane last week is to be commended.

The tone of the administration's response to the second act of barbarism by the North Koreans was set by Secretary of State William P. Rogers when he said "the weak can be rash, the powerful must be restrained." Rogers admitted candidly that "great power does not mean great freedom of action and decision. On the contrary, it often means very narrow choices of action, and what we can do to influence events in a given case well may be marginal."

What the Nixon administration did was marginal but it was coupled with a warning that if anything of the sort happens again the United States will take drastic retaliation without warning.

Of course, that is what most Americans thought Mr. Nixon would do when North Korea, once again, defied the most powerful nation in the world. It is galling to most Americans to have a fourth rate country tweak the eagle's beak seemingly at will.

But most clear thinking Americans also know the very real danger of the spark that can ignite a conflagration — a conflagration that could consume the earth.

Although everyone deplores the fact that 31 more Americans lost their lives in the never ending war against Communism, the hard fact is that Mr. Nixon's course of restraint was right and proper at this time.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Community School

Editor of The Graphic:
The idea of a "Community School," which would fill many of the needs of the Community by using the school facilities, is now growing into reality in Newton Corner.

As a result of many months of discussions by both parents and teachers of the Newton Corner area, it has been strongly recommended that the Underwood School facilities be used during the long week-ends and in the evenings for the benefit of every age group.

The needs of this particular "Village" were strongly emphasized, especially at the Junior High School level. This group is hardest hit at the present time, needing both recreational facilities and places for quiet study. Underwood School buildings would seem extremely well-suited to many of these needs.

By May 30th a decision must be reached as to where the interests of this Village lie, and where the Community School can serve them best, so that some kind of positive start can be made in September of this year.

A questionnaire, a sampling of which is below, is being written and will be available through the schools, churches and business establishments in the Newton Corner area within a week or two. It is hoped that this will reach as many citizens as possible, students, parents and all, and that they will reply to it.

"Would you or your family like to see any of the following started at the Underwood School in September, either in the evenings or at weekends?"

Athletic program . . . basketball . . . square dancing . . . gym . . . supervised study halls . . . seminars . . . adult education groups . . .

Just a short note to thank you and your publication for your excellent editorial support of the seventh annual Girl Scout cookie sale conducted by Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council.

We who are volunteer workers depend upon your type of community newspaper to carry our story to the general public about Girl Scouting.

As you know, our individual Girl Scouts did not receive any direct moneys from the results of our sales, but their troop earnings of $6 per box will help continue their programs and service projects. The overwhelming public response to our annual cookie sale makes better Scouting for more girls.

All of us connected with Girl Scouting are grateful for your continuing support.

ADA Is Critical

Editor of The Graphic:
The Newton - Wellesley Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action expresses dismay at State Senator David H. Locke's highly publicized substitute tax program for the Commonwealth.

Senator Locke's program was designed to give his middle class, middle income constituents several tax benefits while turning callously away from those of lower income.

The Locke program is an interesting scheme of point and counterpoint. We cite three examples of contrasting preferential treatment suggested by Senator Locke.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee on April 16, Senator Locke proposed a two - thirds increase in the sales tax, the most regressive of our taxes because it has the greatest impact on the low income taxpayer. He then spoke in favor of deductions and exemptions on the state income tax, such as removing the tax on annuities, which would benefit the more well-to-do.

Senator Locke advocated a reduction in Medicaid. Later, he proposed that the total medical cost for elderly taxpayers be deductible from their taxable income. Yet another double standard was his suggestion of raising tuition for all state colleges from $200 to $750 while proposing that costs for college education be deductible from the parents' taxable income.

It is inconceivable that in 1969 an elected member of the General Court could offer a program aimed at tax relief for the middle income class while imposing further burdens on the less affluent citizens of the Commonwealth.

Sincerely yours,
Alan S. Korman

Working Mothers

Editor of The Graphic:
I found myself both amazed and disappointed at the decision of the Newton School Committee on Monday evening, April 7th. A three day lunch program for all the twenty - three schools but just where does the working mother fit now?

Last spring Mrs. Brick was given a program for the Working Mothers while the rest of the children were forgotten by the School Committee. Knowing this Mrs. Brick kindly gave her program away in hopes of getting a schedule which would benefit all the children in the city.

Now a year later the Working Mothers have very little with the recent decision of three days with lunch because there are few if any part time positions available ending at noon on Tuesday or Thursday.

When we are going to elect a School Committee, with the exception of Mr. Frazier and Mr. Mandell, who are real statesmen and who will take a firm stand for the children first and secondly for the majority of the Newton elementary school parents.

A five day, uniform schedule would indeed benefit all the children.

Distressed Parent

Editor of The Graphic:
As a parent to a fifth grader and a newer resident to the Newton School System (from the Boston School System), I was most distressed to hear that a mandatory lunch program was voted in for next year.

I found the mandatory lunch program left much to be desired. My greatest objections were that the youngsters don't eat as well and that they have no real chance to "let off steam" during the day. Splitting the lunchtime in half allowing 15-20 minutes for eating and 15-20 minutes for playground caused numerous problems.

1. Teachers have no time to themselves.

2. 250 - 500 students on one playground are impossible to supervise and increases the rate of accidents (even to a greater extent than sending the children home for lunch).

To combat this, in the Boston System, a monitor system was established. The monitor system is where 6th graders supervise the younger children at indoor free periods or at circle activities on the playground under the direction of one teacher. This created so many difficulties in terms of discipline and unfairness that the parents were "up in arms" and the aide program was initiated.

The aide program calls for a parent who is paid by the city to come in and supervise the children while the teachers eat. Due to the great supervision difficulties on the playground the aide remained inside everyday. Thus the children were unable to release their built up energies and conduct became a problem. As the end result the children in most cases were left work over the lunch period to keep them occupied and quiet.

These are only a few of the problems, but very real ones. I do feel that a lunch program is necessary for those mothers who work or go to school but that a mandatory lunch program is asking for unhappy children.

I urge all mothers to ask their child what they would like to do about lunch.

Sincerely,
Mrs. William Mackavey

Submit Petition To Make April 4 Dr. King Holiday

A petition urging Congress and the Massachusetts Legislature to declare April 4 as "a State and National holiday in honor of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr." was referred for study to the Legislative and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night.

The petition was submitted to the board by Aldermen Edward C. Uehlein and William H. Wolf.

The board also asked that the committee include in its study a means of suitably honoring the late Presidents John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The motion to commit the resolution to committee was approved by a 9 to 5 vote of the board.

Alderman Matthew Jefferson declared that many men in history deserve honors but that Dr. King was unique. One of the roots of the problems of the black people is the lack of recognition, he added. Dr. King exemplified what America should be and if one man deserves this recognition, it is he, Jefferson concluded.

Parents' Position

Editor of The Graphic:
As leaders of the United Parents for Single Session, we would like to clear up any misunderstanding in the community about our position in regard to the School Committee's vote for a three day lunch program in the elementary schools.

At a recent meeting, members of the UPSS felt that a public statement was needed at this time so that we will not be misinterpreted.

"We share with many parents in Newton a dissatisfaction with the three day compromise plan voted by the School Committee on April 7, 1969 in view of the three years of deliberations, studies and polls. Nonetheless, the United Parents will be happy to lend its assistance, in anyway it can — as it has done in the past — to successfully implement the three day program because the well being of our children is our most important consideration.

PICKETING THE PICKETS!

A lot of employers will be very careful to avoid hiring some boob of a student who probably didn't understand the real significance of a picket sign he carried or a demonstration in which he engaged.

If they're doubtful about whether some job-hunter ignored or flouted a law while trying to get a dubious point across at college, they obviously will not hire him.

The students also had better give a little thought to their appearance when they apply for a job. The average business executive is an old fuddy-duddy who would get the shivers and shakes at the mere thought of someone with a beard, long hair and his shirttail out even being in the organization.

Girl secretaries with dungarees and bare feet are strictly taboo.

So most students, even though they were on the sidelines when the disturbance erupted at their college, probably will have to overcome some solid doubts before they get themselves hired.

The students should also be warned that there are some personnel managers who are such cornballs and squares that they don't consider ROTC is an evil combination of four bad letters from the alphabet.

They know that it was a good thing so many universities like Harvard had ROTC units in the years just before World War II—units which turned out army officers who fought and died to protect their fellow Americans when West Point just couldn't supply the need.

They're such squares that they even think the army men in the Pentagon are doing their job to protect the American people when they contract with universities for ROTC units.

Their horizons are so limited they don't understand that the deep-thinking, long-haired, bearded, unkempt, sometimes unwashed, students, really know best about such policies as disbanding the ROTC.

Seriously, however, the college students who have allowed themselves to be used as pawns by professional agitators have done a great disservice to many of their fellow students.

This should be a happy, busy time at colleges such as Harvard or Brandeis or Boston University or Tufts. Final examinations are only a short distance away. And then come the gala graduation ceremonies for which mothers and fathers have been working for four years.

Not all the kids at Harvard came out of the homes of business tycoons. Those who didn't don't all have scholarships.

A lot of boys and girls have been getting an education at Harvard because of the work and sweat and sacrifices of their mothers and fathers.

Their final weeks at Harvard shouldn't be marred by the Hippie-appearing demonstrators, many of whom aren't sure what it was they were demonstrating about in the first place.

This is the period which may determine if a student graduates with honors or high honors or great honors, or, indeed, if he graduates at all.

There used to be the fun and excitement when the final exams ended and Harvard Yard was strung with Japanese lanterns and small lighted fountains were installed.

That, of course, was cornball stuff compared to the issues for which the SDS now demonstrate. But in those days the idea of going to Harvard was to get an education and eventually a degree.

For the seniors this should be the final run to the wire, and no one really had a right to throw a cloud or a pall over it for a student who, with his mother and father, has invested blood, sweat and tears for four years.

These bedraggled demonstrators, who assume the right to take the law into their own hands, are not exactly assets either to their college or their classmates. The truth is they are an incredible nuisance. That is what we started to say.

Famed Speech-Writer Levels Strange Attack At Harvard

Richard N. Goodwin, the talented speech-writer for Presidents and Presidential candidates, has written a newspaper article assailing the action of Harvard President Nathan Pusey in calling the police to oust the students who had seized University Hall, which contains the administrative offices at Harvard.

Goodwin, who graduated from Harvard Law School in 1958, termed the use of police "the shame of Harvard."

If Harvard had called in tanks and flame-throwers to oust the demonstrating students, Goodwin's indignation could not have been much greater.

He said he was in New York, which has experienced some problems of its own, when word of the Harvard affair reached that great metropolis. Here is Goodwin's description of the impact the news made upon New York.

"Across the whole moderate center of political conviction, disbelief gave place to amazement and then to shock as people struggled to absorb the fact that the symbolic stronghold of rationality and wise restraint, Harvard University, had yielded to an irrational and incompetent brutality.

"Many refused to believe the first reports or assured others that the news was exaggerated. After all, Harvard had so often in the past withstood prevailing currents of unreasoning passion with that calm aloofness which many found irritating, but which over the generations, had done as much as scholarship to make Harvard an important symbol of some of the best qualities in American life."

These, mind you, are the words of a man who wrote speeches for the late President John F. Kennedy, former President Lyndon Johnson, the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy and Senator Eugene McCarthy. His association with McCarthy must have been a traumatic experience.

Goodwin didn't quite face up to the problem of what he would have done instead of calling in the police. This is what he said in that regard:

"They could have been talked out or starved out. Since the 'occupiers' would face the general hostility and even the contempt of the great bulk of the Harvard 'community,' a serious warning of disciplinary action, including expulsion, would undoubtedly have emptied the building of all but a hard core whose peaceful removal would then have been a relatively easy job for university police.

"There were many possibilities, and they would probably, alone or in combination, have done the trick in a few days at most."

Mr. Goodwin used the descriptions, "incredibly and outrageously" in blasting Dr. Pusey's action in sending "hundreds of helmeted police, equipped with clubs and gas against a large group of students, clad in jackets and old clothes and armed with wet bedsheets and in-temperate words."

It certainly is unfortunate that any students were clubbed or struck in any way as the police were removing them from University Hall which they had occupied for more than 12 hours.

But this situation was not created by Dr. Pusey or the police. It was set up by student members of SDS, led and spurred on by professional agitators. The student demonstrators obviously wanted to be arrested, and it seems clear they would have remained in University Hall until they were arrested.

From where we sit it appears incredible that Mr. Goodwin would seriously suggest that Harvard could have allowed the demonstrators, foraging through confidential files, to remain in command of University Hall for several days.

After Mr. Goodwin's attempt to foist Eugene McCarthy upon the people of the United States, one might expect almost anything from him.

However, his assertion that "the president of Harvard has virtually succeeded in transforming himself into the Mayor Daley of the academic world" goes a little far even for him.

A mother and father, looking forward to the graduation of their son from Harvard in June, would have to look elsewhere than to Goodwin's column for comfort if matters reach the stage where the Harvard Corporation decided to close down the college.

That, unfortunately, is a possibility, and it would be a probability if Goodwin's advice and counsel were followed.

Police-Community Meet To Be At Sacred Heart

State Atty. Gen. Robert H. Basbas will be host at a reception in the college's future in law enforcement, priorities, at the New England Institute on Community and Police Relations May 3-5 at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The Institute will be under the chairmanship of Police Chief William F. Quinn of Newton. It is being sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews in cooperation with the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police, the New England Chiefs of Police, and the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The theme of this year's conference is "New Directions in Building the Citizen and Police Partnership."

The business meetings will get underway Saturday, May 3, with a panel on "The Continuing Community and Police Relationship Problems."

Speakers will be Robert Lamb, Community Relations Service of the U.S. Dept. of Justice; Mayor Howard J. Devaney of Point Pleasant Beach, N.J., who is also the executive director of the Newark Region NCCJ.

The panel will be followed by an open discussion. The rest of the afternoon will be taken up with workshops and institute reports, followed by an evening of interviews.

Sunday afternoon there will be a panel on "Community and Police Relations Programs," moderated by Supt. Jeremiah P. Sullivan of the Boston Police Dept. Panelists will be: Julian Steele, the governor's director of Community Relations; Alfredo DeJesus of APCROSS; Capt. John P. Ferris and Richard J. O'Brien of Community Services in Worcester; and Supt.-in-Chief William J. Taylor, Dept. Supt. Herbert A. Craigwell and Lt. Daniel MacDonald, all of the Boston Police Dept.

Following Atty. Gen. Quinn's talk, Sunday evening, Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas will be host at a reception in the college's future in law enforcement, priorities, at the New England Institute on Community and Police Relations May 3-5 at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Basbas will be host at a reception in the college's future in law enforcement, priorities, at the New England Institute on Community and Police Relations May 3-5 at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Monday morning's program will deal with "Community and Police: Where Are We Going from Here?"

Discussions will be directed by Herman Hemingway of the mayor of Boston's Task Force on Human Rights; Paul Parks, administrator of Boston's Model City's Program; Mrs. Lena Saunders, director of the "My Friend the Policeman Program;" and Mrs. Jean McGuire and Samuel Bell Jr. of the Security Patrol. There will be an open discussion.

Luncheon speaker will be Sheldon Krantz, of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice. His topic will be, "Where is Massachusetts Going: Funding, Organization, Program Priorities and Effective Planning."

After final workshops and reports, the Institute will end with an evaluation by Donald W. McEvoy, NCCJ director of Community-Police Relations and the Administration of Justice.

Ed. Group Names Richard Durkin A VP Candidate

Newton Artist Award Winner at Lexington

Newton artists Ruth Glass and Helene Levenson have received awards at the Third Contemporary Art Exhibit at Temple Emunah of Lexington.

The exhibit opened Saturday, April 26. It will be open to the public 2 to 5 p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m. except Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Glass won third prize for an acrylic painting entitled "Alabaster City" and Mrs. Levenson won honorable mention for an intaglio print entitled "Village." Other Newton artists represented in the exhibit are Rene Winick, painter, and Rene Collins of the Hubbard Street Printmakers.

A sizeable collection of paintings, graphics and sculpture from the Berman Medalie Gallery of Newtonville are on exhibit.

A winner of many awards for her works, Mrs. Glass is a graduate of the Boston Museum School. Recently she has been experimenting with acrylics on cot canvas constructions.

In addition she does silversmithing. The mother of two teenage girls, she has lived in Newton for 15 years.

Other winners at the Temple Emunah exhibit were Dolores Klein of Concord, first prize; and Evelyn V. Carlson of Arlington, second prize.

Biologically, No Question About It Now

If there was ever any reason to doubt, Spring is here officially and biologically boys are chasing girls.

The latest solid evidence in the case for Spring appeared in Newton district court Tuesday before Judge Julian L. Yesley.

The "evidence" was a group of 10 Bentley College boys, mostly 18 and 19-year-olds, who were accused of racing through the yards of homes near a Lasell Junior College dormitory in Auburndale, an all-girls school.

As in the case of the boys from Babson College, Wellesley, a week ago, after they staged a "panty raid" on a dormitory of Mt. Ida College, Newton Centre, Judge Yesley ordered the cases of the Bentley lads "continued without a finding until May 29, on condition they participate in no 'extracurricular' activities until then, the day the Bentley school closes.

Owners of licensed dogs will be notified if the animals are licensed.

An unlicensed or licensed dog will be held up to 10 days at the city pound.

Dogs unclaimed after that time will be sold for $3 each to the Buddy Dog Association in Sudbury which places canines in homes.

Copies of the new dog leash law were sent to Newton dog owners when they applied for new dog licenses April 1.

Police Chief Quinn acknowledged that the new leash law poses a problem for elderly persons who are physically unable to walk their dogs on a leash.

In recent weeks, however, sections of the grounds at many homes throughout the Newtons have been fenced in to provide pens in which dogs may romp unleashed and get exercise without violating the law.

Owners of dogs were cautioned against assuming that their pets will not go off their own property.

"That is too much to expect," one dog expert advised. Chief Quinn estimated social hour arrangements. Also, Francis D. Wolff of Newton, ticket collection; Dean Frieze of Newton Centre and Arnold Siegel of West Newton, ushers; Marshall Glen of West Newton, financial records; and Gerald Briskin of Newtonville, planning.

Program Set For Seniors Luncheon

The program for the Third Annual All Newton Senior Citizens Luncheon May 14 is now set, according to Mrs. Robert Toher, luncheon chairman.

Mrs. Florence Tankevich, Program Chairman has scheduled the welcome by Fred B. Cole (WNTN announcer); the Grace, led by Rev. John Lilly; the luncheon; an introduction of Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of Newton; the Mayor's comments; and entertainment to include: Mr. Frank Pickett, Director of the Retired Men's Glee Club and Community Sing Along, and Mr. Pickett, with more music with alternate pianist, Mrs. Vincent Barry.

Tickets for the luncheon are available at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry St. West Newton, and Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldridge St., in Newton, and the reception desk at Newton City Hall. These will also be available at each of the Housing Developments for the elderly through Mrs. Toher.

The affair is one of many activities held throughout Metropolitan Boston during the month of May which has been designated nationally as Senior Citizens Month by the President of the U.S.A.

In commenting on the luncheon arrangements, Mr. Anthony Bibbo, Senior Citizens Committee Chairman, stated that the group is indebted to the Newton Chamber of Commerce which again this year, is going to provide financial support so that two buses may be rented to transport individuals to and from the luncheon.

Mr. James Murphy and Officer Charles Feeley are arranging for pick-up points. Basic points include the Community Center, Pomroy House, each of the Housing developments, and additional points to be announced at a later date.

Tickets are being coordinated by Mr. James C. Callahan and table decorations by Mrs. John Coleman. Mr. Earl Alban has taken the responsibility for securing and assigning table waiters, waitresses, and hosts. Mayor Monte G. Basbas, again this year will serve as the Headwaiter - Host.

The luncheon date is set for May 14 at 12:15 p.m. at the Newtonville United Methodist Church.

The charge of $2 for each 24 hours a dog is boarded at the pound will remain unchanged.

The charge of $2 for each 24 hours a dog is boarded at the pound will remain unchanged.

Owners of licensed dogs will be notified if the animals are licensed.

An unlicensed or licensed dog will be held up to 10 days at the city pound.

Dogs unclaimed after that time will be sold for $3 each to the Buddy Dog Association in Sudbury which places canines in homes.

Copies of the new dog leash law were sent to Newton dog owners when they applied for new dog licenses April 1.

Police Chief Quinn acknowledged that the new leash law poses a problem for elderly persons who are physically unable to walk their dogs on a leash.

In recent weeks, however, sections of the grounds at many homes throughout the Newtons have been fenced in to provide pens in which dogs may romp unleashed and get exercise without violating the law.

Owners of dogs were cautioned against assuming that their pets will not go off their own property.

"That is too much to expect," one dog expert advised. Chief Quinn estimated social hour arrangements. Also, Francis D. Wolff of Newton, ticket collection; Dean Frieze of Newton Centre and Arnold Siegel of West Newton, ushers; Marshall Glen of West Newton, financial records; and Gerald Briskin of Newtonville, planning.

The chairman of other committees are: Marshall Aronson of Newton, general admission tickets; Harold Edinberg of Newton Centre and David Krongard of Newton, social hour tickets; Joseph H. Danis of Waban, assisted by Morris Oshry of Waban, Henry Sollugub of Newton Highlands and Melvin Hootstein of Newton,

The charge of $2 for each 24 hours a dog is boarded at the pound will remain unchanged.

Low Is "Man of Year" For Boston YMHA Alumni

Harold S. Low of Newton, President and Chairman of the Board of AITS, Inc., of Boston was honored last Sunday (April 20) at a breakfast meeting of the Boston YMHA Alumni Association when he was named "Man of the Year" for 1969.

Proceeds of the affair held at the Sidney Hill Country Club were earmarked for the camp scholarship fund for underprivileged children.

Atty. J. Harry Grenblatt of Brookline was chairman of the committee planning the event. Atty. Richard Wennett of Newton and David Reinstein of Milton were co-chairmen.

Morris Tulman of Brookline is President of the Association. Other committee leaders included Nathan Shair of Brookline, tickets; Bernard Kalman of Newton, reception; Henry Heller and Sidney Kaplan of Brookline, arrangements.

The 11th annual "Man of the Year" plaque was presented to Low by last year's recipient, Eliot Schoolman, a retired executive of Morse Shoe, who was one of the founders of Solomon Schechter Day School.

Other previous winners are: George Richmond, the late William Zakon, Greenblatt, the late George Arafé, Louis Cort, David Schaffer, Benjamin Cargill, Harry Winokur and Maurice Gordon.

The YMHA of Boston was formed in 1875 and originally utilized a suite of rooms at City Hall. After 1881, Minot Hall at the corner of Washington and West Springfield Streets was rented for activities, and a few years later the "Y" moved into its own quarters at 39 East Concord Street, where a makeshift gymnasium was created.

In 1911, the old Hetty Green mansion at the corner of Warren and Howland Streets in Roxbury was leased and the program was able to expand. With the demand for extra space, another move was necessitated with the "Y" purchasing in 1918 the Goldsmith mansion at the corner of Seaver Street and Humboldt Avenue in Roxbury. Coming to Boston as a youth from his native New York, Low attended this facility and has since become one of its celebrated alumni.

The YMHA merged with the Hecht House a decade ago and the group is located in the renovated and expanded Hecht House at 150 American Legion Highway.

A member of the YMHA Board of Directors, Low was also cited recently as a testimonial honoring his support of Jewish Memorial Hospital in successfully completing its $1.5 million expansion program. He recently was named a trustee of Graham Junior College and member of the President's Council of Boston College.

Low attended Northeastern University, Boston University and Emerson College and served in the Army.

Under the new law which goes into effect in Newton next Thursday a dog will not be allowed to romp or roam through the city.

The animal must be leashed if he goes off the property of his owner.

The leash on which a dog is contained cannot be more than 10 feet in length.

that it will cost $40,000 a year to enforce the leash law.

Exactly how much of that amount will be returned to the city in fines is uncertain.

A new dog officer has been appointed and is being trained for the duties he will start performing next Thursday.

This will give Newton three full-time animal-control officers.

Church Women United Set Breakfast Date At May 2

"Beginning Anew" is the theme of the May Fellowship Breakfast, to be held by Church Women United in Newton on Friday, May 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale.

This theme was chosen to point out to concerned church women that each day is a new opportunity in which to begin anew to participate in fulfilling the hopes, desires and needs of others in the community.

Following the invocation which will be given by Rev. Robert Gollidge, Rector of the Church of the Messiah, a panel discussion has been planned to explain how laywomen can become truly involved and can create a climate of acceptance for those who are mentally or physically handicapped, alcoholics or drug addicts, persons recently released from prison, wayward girls and drop-outs.

On the panel will be Leo Renaud, Executive Director of Wembroc; Mrs. Katie Getman, a Headstart mother; Mrs. James Wallace, a volunteer at the Charles St. Jail Rehabilitation Program; and Mrs. Diantha Richards, Chief Social Worker at the Newton Mental Health Center. A short question and answer period will follow the panel.

Mrs. Theodore Hauser of the League of Women Voters will speak briefly on the Charter Reform.

The Chairman for the Ay is Mrs. Walter L. Hill of Auburndale, assisted by Mrs. Matthew Jefferson and Mrs. Proctor W. Houghton both of West Newton. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Robert P. Freeto, Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson, Mrs. R. Curtis Reed, President of Church Women United, and Miss Jane M. Wyman, all of the Church of the Messiah.

Schoenberg Named "Dealer of Year"

Henry Schoenberg, President of Shon's Refrigeration Service Co., Inc., of Newton, was cited at a recent regional meeting of distributors of York, manufacturer of air-conditioning equipment. Mr. Schoenberg was honored as dealer of the year and received a bronze plaque from Mr. Edward Sheehan, national vice-president of York.

Mr. Schoenberg, a veteran of World War II in the Pacific theatre, has resided in Newton for the past 23 years. He is a member of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, RSES (Refrigeration Service Engineers Society), VFW, American ORT Federation and the Newton Art Association.

PLAN FELLOWSHIP BREAKFAST — Left to right, Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams of Waban, chairman of Spiritual Life; Mrs. Charles J. Doherty of West Newton, chairman, public relations; Mrs. Walter L. Hill, Auburndale, chairman of the May Fellowship breakfast program, and Mrs. R. Curtis Reed of Auburndale, president, Church Women United in Newton, hostess for meeting planning May 2nd event.

Highland Glee Club Sets Spring Concert April 29

The Highland Glee Club of Newton will present its Annual Spring Concert on Tuesday evening, April 29th at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Meadowbrook Junior High School, Newton Centre. Ann Fleck, the well-known and Douglas ever-popular percussionist will be the artist.

Although Miss Fleck has had a part in many programs throughout New England, having a percussionist as their artist will be a unique experience for the Glee Club and their guests. Miss Fleck has played with the Boston Civic Symphony, the Cambridge Symphony and the New Hampshire Philharmonic.

She also conducts the Norwood Youth Band, the Combined Youth Choirs of Norwood, and the Norwood Council of Churches Choir. She is the Music Specialist in the Brookline Public Schools, a member of the Wellesley Symphony Orchestra and Regent of the Boston Tea Party Chapter D.A.R.

Ann Fleck (as she is known professionally) is married and lives in Norwood where her husband Raymond is Director of Audio-Visual Education in the Norwood schools. They have a son and a daughter, sophomores in Dartmouth College and Thayer Academy respectively.

League School Friends Hold Spring Meeting

Dr. Shepard C. Ginandes, assistant professor of adolescent psychiatry at Boston University, law-medicine Institute, will speak on "Adolescence — The Confusing Years," Wednesday at the annual Spring Meeting of the Friends of the League School.

Mrs. Arnold D. Veistein of Newton, president of the Friends of the League School, announced the meeting will be held at Longwood Towers in Brookline.

Mrs. Burton Rudnick of Newton is chairman of the day and Mrs. J. David Kohn is program chairman.

Dr. Ginandes is a consultant to the VISTA program and founder and director of the Roxbury Court Clinic. He has taught at Harvard Medical School, the Boston Police Academy and in Brookline Schools. He has also served with the state Department of Mental Health.

He is still chief psychiatric consultant to the Massachusetts Division of Youth.

The League School provides daytime education and training to seriously emotionally disturbed children without depriving them of family life.

Petition For Rest Home Is Denied By 15-0 Vote

A petition by the New England Deaconess Association for permission to build a rest home at 35 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill, was denied by a 15 to 0 vote of the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night.

The petitioners planned to use one apartment building on the premises as a residence for elderly couples. They also hoped to erect a rest home for 50 people at the rear of the property where a private dwelling is now located.

Aldermanic Land Use Committee Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner reported that his committee by a 7-1 vote had recommended the petition be denied.

The purpose is "obviously laudatory," Flaschner said, but the problem is that two apartment houses are now located at the front of the property and access to the rest home would have to be between the apartment houses or through a back alley.

Since the property is located on the narrow side of Commonwealth Ave. just above Lake St. where much traffic congestion already exists, the proposed project would not be feasible, Flaschner declared.

The back land would be better used for residential purposes, he added. He also asserted that since the New England Deaconess Association is a charitable group the rest home would have tax benefits causing a financial loss to the city.

Alderman Louis I. Egelson who cast the favorable vote for the petition in the Land Use Committee argued that such a facility is needed. He also maintained that if neighboring Boston College expands in this direction, it could erect dormitories or offices on the property and that this would be less desirable. There is a place in our society for private charitable institutions which aid low-income people, Egelson declared.

The board, in other action, denied a petition by Telmwood Realty Trust for permissive zoning use for a private parking lot at 166 Webster St. at the corner of Border St.

The parking lot would have been used for guests and employees of an abutting manufacturing concern.

Te lots are in private residential and manufacturing districts.

Flaschner stated that the neighbors had opposed the petition at a recent public hearing on the subject. He also pointed out that the Land Use Committee has held to a policy of not extending the business zone to Webster St.

A few matters which the Land Use Committee had studied were held for the next board meeting because they involved zone changes. These changes require 16 favorable aldermanic votes for approval and only 17 board members were present at Tuesday night's meeting.

Absent were Aldermen William L. Bruce, Eliot K. Cohen, Melvin J. Dangel, George L. Hicks, William E. Hopkins, William H. Wolf and Harry L. Walen.

Improvement Group Meets On April 30

The Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday evening, April 30th, at 8 p.m., in the Emerson School. Acting President Anthony Gentile, will call for detailed reports from all committee chairmen.

Mrs. Robert Cimetia, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, will present the names of the officers and committee chairmen nominated, to the membership, at which time further nominations may be made from the floor. There will follow election of officers and committee chairmen.

After the business meeting, the program will be Code Enforcement - Its Progress to Now. Mayor Monte E. Basbas will be one of the speakers present.

The Annual Meeting on April 30th is not limited to the members of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association. All residents of the Village are urged to attend this very important meeting.

The Art of Home Decor

By MEL STERN

Decorative shades have been around since 1850—but never before in such a profusion of shades, fabrics, hem shapes, shade cloths, valances, trims and pulls. When recovering upholstered pieces, why not buy extra yardage and create a coordinated window treatment? It is an easy and practical material to use when creating a colorful shade. There's no hemming, just cutting. And you can decorate it with fringe, pom-poms or appliqued flowers. With all these props, you can easily whip a design to stimulate a costly window shade.

And never before have people had so much fun with home decor creations. The latest colors and styles are fantastic! With the help of FERNAND'S FINE FURNITURE, 396 Harvard Street, Brookline, 566-8635, you can be your own decorator and stylize your home to bring out your family's personality. We also carry the very finest of occasional furniture.

HELPFUL HINT: If one glass sticks to another, fill the glass on top with cold water, dip the outer one in hot water. They'll come apart easily.

New Racket Costs Woman $100 'Ransom'

A new racket cropped up in Newton this week, one that preys on the fears of women for their husbands' safety.

A Newton Lower Falls woman and an Auburndale wife received calls that their husbands were being held at gunpoint.

The Auburndale woman insisted on knowing who was calling and the caller hung up. Her husband was perfectly safe, she found out by phone call to him.

The Newton Lower Falls woman was told she would not "see him alive again if you don't leave $100 under a rack at a Boston restaurant." She complied, then hurried home again and called her husband at his office. He was okay, the call was a hoax.

She hurried back to the restaurant, near Boston University, but the money was gone.

Theology Post Here Goes To Rev. Telfer

The Rev. Dr. Walter A. Telfer, associate conference minister for the western area of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ, has resigned to accept a post as a professor at Andover Newton Theological School.

Effective Sept. 1, Dr. Telfer will become professor of church and ministry at the Newton Centre school.

He will be chairman of the department of church and ministry and the director of field education work which the school's students perform in parishes and other related ministries in the area.

Dr. Telfer was appointed area minister in the western section of the conference in June of 1966, and since that time he and his wife, Margaret, have resided in Amherst.

Four United Church of Christ associations — Hampshire, Hampden, Franklin and Berkshire — comprise the area and these include 136 churches and 42,718 members.

Under Dr. Telfer's leadership the western area council has been formed and through the council there has been a movement toward greater coordination of efforts among the four associations.

In his new position, the 59-year-old clergyman will be giving guidance to young men and women who are studying for the Christian ministry, and he will be the chairman of a four-man faculty department.

In 1967 Dr. Telfer was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree from Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa, the college from which he received his bachelor of arts degree. He also holds a bachelor of divinity degree from Harvard University Divinity School.

Prior to his appointment to the conference staff Dr. Telfer was associate minister of Boston Old South Church. He also has held pastorates in Berkeley, Holliston and Holyoke in Massachusetts and also in Chicago, Ill. and Rochester, N. Y.

While in Rochester he also taught at Colgate Rochester Theological School there.

The Telfers will be moving to Newton Centre late in the summer.

U. of Michigan Glee Club Here Tues., May 6th

The University of Michigan Men's Glee Club will appear in concert on Tuesday (May 6) at 8:00 p.m. at Newton High School, 453 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Organized in 1859, the Glee Club is the second oldest in the United States. It has been noted by many as one of the finest in the world.

The club conducts a concert tour during each spring. Since 1955, every fourth concert tour has been abroad. The club toured Europe three times and in 1967 circled the globe.

In 1959, the Glee Club became the first American group to win the male chorus competition at the International Musical Eisteddfod in Llangollen, Wales. The club returned in 1963 to win the award for the second time.

In addition to its concert tours, the Club has performed on radio and television and in recordings and motion pictures. Its credits include the Ed Sullivan, Pat Boone, Dinah Shore, and Perry Como television shows.

The eight men called the Friars will also perform, singing their own arrangements of parodies and novelty songs.

For tickets call 244-9843 which also may be obtained at the door.

Women's Club Board To Meet

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will meet at 10:15 a.m. Monday (April 28) at the Newtonville Branch Library.

Mrs. George J. Brookhiser will preside over the business meeting. Mrs. Eugene Hirschbort will speak about the program for the Newton Chapter of Camp Fire Girls and Miss Adelaide Ball will talk on the Governor's Council.

MRS. NATHANIEL W. FORBUSH

Miss Linda Winn Becomes Mrs. Nathaniel W. Forbush

The State Suite at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Linda Marilyn Winn to Nathaniel W. Forbush.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Winn of 92 Deborah road, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Forbush, Jr., of West Bridgewater.

Rabbi Samuel Uman performed the two o'clock afternoon ceremony. A reception followed the nuptials.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory organza. Strips of Chantilly lace marked the bodice and full A-line skirt. Her leg-of-mutton sleeves were marked with similar lace.

Matching lace styled the becoming bonnet which was fastened with a full length sheer illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John M. Forbush of Scituate. She wore a full length gown of yellow dotted Swiss trimmed with white lace and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Similarly attired, the bridesmaids were Miss Louise Forbush of London, England; sister of the groom, Miss Carol A. Kantor of Cambridge, Miss P. Diane Virden of Kansas City, Kansas, Miss Kearsley M. Briggs of Washington, D.C., and Miss Kathy L. Young of Cambridge.

The flower girl was young Sarah Dill Forbush.

John M. Forbush of Scituate served as best man for his brother. Ushering were another brother of the groom, Robert B. Forbush of Hersey, Pa., Stanley E. Black of Lincoln, Marshall E. Winn of Newton, brother of the bride, C. Joseph Gould of Brockton and William T. Perron of Arlington. Honorary usher was Robert O. Chessman, who is serving with the Peace Corps in Togo, West Africa.

After a honeymoon in Bermuda, the couple will live in Cambridge.

The bride was graduated from Wheaton College, cum laude, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Mr. Forbush is a graduate of Deerfield Academy and Harvard College. He is now associated with the Advertising department of Hotpoint. (Photo by the Nurses).

Cultural Consul Is Speaker For A.J.C. Wom. Wed.

The Emma Lazarus Chapter of American Jewish Congress will present Mrs. Leah Porath-Goor, Consul for Cultural Affairs of the Israel Consulate in Boston as the speaker at their next meeting on Wednesday (April 30).

Newton Centre Women Sponsor Indian Youth

A most heartwarming experience has magnified the lives of members of the Optimists Club of Newton Centre. It's the friendship and love of an American Indian boy arranged through the self-help sponsorship program of Save the Children Federation (SCF), international child welfare organization headquartered in Norwalk, Conn.

The Optimists, comprised of about 13 women from the Newton Centre area who gather regularly for social and philanthropic purposes, are the sponsors of 13-year-old Gregory, a White Mountain Apache youth whose future was bleak until friends came to his aid.

The Newton Centre women provide financial aid for Gregory which helps pay for clothing, school books and supplies and other incidentals to help him succeed in school. Four out of five American Indian children leave school before the eighth grade, often for lack of these bare essentials.

In addition to the material aid, the Optimist Club has also begun a strong friendship with their sponsored youth, fostering in him motivation to prepare adequately now for his future and an improved environment for his whole family.

Gregory resides with his parents, four brothers and four sisters in a small, three-room frame house on the reservation in Fort Apache, Arizona. Kerosene lamps provide light and water must be hauled from a distant source.

Work is difficult to find in the mountainous country of the reservation, and is especially hard for Gregory's father because of his limited education and lack of skills. As a result, the breadwinner of the family is unemployed most of the time. And even when work is available, his earnings are too low to meet the needs of his large, growing family.

Gregory's parents, however, would like their children to obtain good education so they will have a better chance economically to succeed in life when they are adults.

English when he entered school (as is the case with most Indian children), tried very hard and is doing average school work today.

The Optimists Club, which also sponsors another Indian youth, has provided the material and moral spur for Gregory to learn about a culture outside his own and strive for a better life for himself, his family and his community.

The Federation has worked with needy American Indian children, their families and communities for over 20 years.

Alumni Camp'g For Holy Cross

Robert J. Henley of 128 Dorset rd., Waban, is the Assistant Class Agent in the Newton area for the Holy Cross College Alumni Fund Drive which has begun and will continue until June 30.

This year's goal of $600,000, the highest in the school's history, was made necessary by the increased financial needs of Holy Cross. $325,000 in advance gifts already has been received from alumni according to chairman of the campaign George B. Moran.

Teenagers Mount Assault On Kids Diseases In May March

An army of teenage volunteers, under the direction of Daniel G. Hurley of Medford, Danny Thomas Teenage March Chairman, will deploy in Boston and surrounding cities and towns on Sunday, May 18th, to raise funds for research directed toward eliminating childhood diseases.

The announcement was made today by Hurley following his acceptance of the appointment by Danny Thomas, founder of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, located at Memphis, Tennessee.

Hurley also announced the acceptance of Honorary Campaign Chairmanship by prominent Bay State citizens, among them: His Eminence

Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, Congressman John W. McCormack, The Honorable John A. Volpe, Senator Edward W. Brooke, Governor Francis W. Sargent, Mayor Kevin H. White, Attorney General Robert H. Quinn, John F. Dever, Jr., Chairman, Middlesex County Commissioners, and Postmaster Ephraim Martin, Boston. Hurley, who will command the teenage volunteer corps expected to number 10,000 will serve as Teenage March Chairman. He will spearhead a recruiting drive aimed at enlisting teenagers from every school in the Greater Boston area.

"I think the community will be pleased with the response of our young people, and I am confident that the teenagers can do the job," said Hurley. St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas to fulfill a pledge to St. Jude made in 1937. At that time Thomas was an aspiring, unemployed entertainer. In desperation he pledged to build a meaningful shrine to St. Jude, patron saint of the hopeless, if he ever found his place in life.

Opened in February 1962, St. Jude's has become unique. Here, for the first time, pediatricians and biological scientists combine their talents and efforts in a concerted campaign to conquer the medical problems of children.

A combination of drugs and radiation therapy has made it possible to successfully treat a number of inoperable malignant tumors in children. Patients are admitted to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital upon referral of their private physician. There is no charge to any patient and they are admitted without regard to their race or creed. In the period of activity at St. Jude's patients have come from almost every state, including Alaska.

ALSAC has been the guiding force behind the support of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Founded in 1957 and incorporated in the State of Illinois, it was pioneered by people of the same heritage as Danny Thomas, founder and president. As ALSAC grew and its purpose became known, people of every nationality and religion joined the army of volunteers to help in the support of this shrine.

There are about 2,800 different languages in the world.

Lee Loumos Says:

In past years, I have been moaned my lot that people seem to wait for hot weather before ordering their air conditioners. Because of the extremely hot weather of last summer, this year people have remembered and are ordering their air conditioners early for a change — so much so that there is already a shortage of some models. However, if the hot weather doesn't come too fast, we should be able to catch up. So you people out there keep up the good work by continuing your orders early, and even if we are temporarily out of stock, there will be enough time to get yours in before the real hot weather descends on us.

Housing-

philosophical tenets behind Republican policies has always been that private initiative and private resources should be fully explored before public action is taken to solve a given problem.

It is with this attitude that the Republican City Committee of Newton has undertaken an analysis of the housing needs of low- and moderate-income residents and of the resources we will have to meet those needs in the 1970's.

In its analysis of "The Need", the report points out that "In 1967, a subcommittee of the Newton Board of Aldermen undertook a similar study and concluded that there was an immediate need for at least 200 (two hundred) units of low-income housing in Newton and that the best approach in Newton would be the rent subsidy programs."

The report adds "As a committee, we wholeheartedly endorse that report and its well reasoned conclusions."

The Committee refers to the 1968 report of the Newton Planning Department, based on the Aldermanic report and findings as a starting point; as "a useful, responsible and highly professional document which provides an excellent analysis of the need and available resources".

Other Highlights of the Policy Statement given in an eight page report are summarized as follows:

1. The immediate need in Newton for housing for low-income residents exceeds 200 (two hundred) units and for both low-and-moderate-income residents it exceeds 500 (five hundred) units. To reduce this shortage the city should encourage programs which would maintain the tax base while expanding the low- and moderate-income housing supply.

2. The highest priority in this area should be given to providing housing in one and two family houses in order to permit Newton to take advantage of the new federal subsidized mortgages for low and moderate income purchases each Newton Bank is urged to make available five such mortgages of $20,000, or under in 1969, to enable eligible residents to buy homes in Newton.

3. For the many families who cannot afford to or do not want to purchase homes we suggest that non-profit organizations be given encouragement to develop multi-unit, scattered, low-income housing.

We therefore recommend as one means to this end that the City of Newton lease for a long term appropriate city owned land to a non-profit corporation for the express purpose of constructing low-moderate income housing. The rent payable to the City under the lease would be calculated to be roughly equivalent to what the tax payments would be if the building, without the land, were taxable property.

This proposal has several advantages: It encourages private development, it provides land for housing at virtually no cost, it collects full taxes on the building, and yet it does not in the long run decrease the reserve of land held by the City.

Some other proposals are: 1. That the Newton Redevelopment Authority make sites available for both homes and apartments in the urban renewal areas.

FASHION SHOW — The Mount Alvernia Fashion Show will be held on April 30th at Hayes Memorial Hall starting at 8 p.m. Mrs. Toni Nagel and Mrs. Ellen Carly, left to right, of Chestnut Hill, are co-chairmen. Students from the school will model clothes from Franklin Simon; mothers will model fashions from Lenard's of Chestnut Hill. Carol Nashe models also will be featured.

2. That Newton residents assist the Newton Housing Authority by making apartments available for the rental of its 25 (twenty-five) federally subsidized leased housing units, so that its application for 125 (one hundred twenty five) more can be quickly approved.

3. That the Newton Housing Authority apply for the similar state rental assistance program.

4. That non-profit organizations be urged to participate in the federal rent supplement program and the Massachusetts and federal mortgage subsidy programs for the rehabilitation or construction of housing units.

In its conclusion, the Report of the Issues Committee states:

"We of the executive committee of Republican City Committee are firmly convinced that coordination between the public and private sectors must be encouraged to the fullest extent. Such cooperation is not new to the City of Newton."

"We have always sought and found positive, progressive solutions to the problems we have faced. But the present urban crisis is more complex than any challenge we have ever faced, and the low-and-moderate-income housing problem is at the very core of that crisis."

"To solve this problem the private sector must join with the public sector in a mutual effort to find dynamic solutions. Indeed, it is only with the cooperation of every Newton citizen that we will be able to solve the critical problems of the 1970's."

Copies of the complete report will be made available to interested citizens, Chairman Lincoln said. He congratulated the Issues Committee on its work, giving its membership as being made up of the following: Wigmore A. Pierson, Chairman, Gerald G. Aransky, William A. Lincoln, David A. Lurensky, Julius L. Masow and William H. Wolf. Special acknowledgement was given to Marc A. Slotnick of Newton Highlands for his able assistance in drafting the document.

The agenda of the Monday night meeting includes a brief talk by John A.S. McGlennan, Representative from Concord and Chairman of the Steering Committee of the Republican State Committee for Urban

Price Wins Distinguished Flying Cross

U.S. Air Force Major William B. Price has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for outstanding bravery in Southeast Asia.

Major Price received the award for heroism last May during the allied evacuation of a special forces camp at Kham Duc, Vietnam.

Despite intense enemy fire directed against his aircraft, the major courageously landed on a debris-littered and dangerous runway to assure that all persons had been safely evacuated.

He was recently presented the medal at Ching Chuan Kang AB, Taiwan, where he is currently assigned as an air operations officer.

Maj. Price is married to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Phennay of 20 Lombard St., Newton.

A report on the present status of the Committee for Charter Review will be given by the GOP representative on the Committee, Mrs. Eugene M. Hirschberg.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Comment on Letter

I was pleased to read in the Graphic of April 17, that Mr. Hawkrigge, School Committeeman of Ward 5, felt an obligation to express his views regarding his vote on the single session. It is unfortunate that he only gave a token explanation to those who were present at the April 7 meeting. I am writing to comment on this statement.

I would like to make these comments in the following context: Mr. Hawkrigge has given time and energy for the past twelve years to serve on the School Committee, a non-paying office which has increasingly become more demanding in time and emotional involvement. It is with respect for this contribution that the following comments are made and offered as a constructive commentary on his views.

Mr. Hawkrigge talks of the necessity for developing a set of priorities to guide him in decision making. While this is laudable in principle, he offers no information on what this set of priorities is. We are left to infer what they are from his vote. He talks of being liberal in program and curriculum matters and conservative on fiscal matters. Again we are faced with a gross ambiguity. We cannot separate our changes in program from their cost. From another point of view being conservative on fiscal matters can be short sighted. A good educational program costs money. I have heard few Newton citizens object to paying for a good program. The issue is not just being conservative on fiscal matters but making certain that we get maximum value for each dollar spent — something that is currently very much in question. It is also not clear what Mr. Hawkrigge means by his being "fiscally conservative" — does this mean to spend as little as possible or to be as efficient as possible? This latter possibility does not necessarily mean less expenditures.

In explaining his position on the aforementioned liberal-conservative position, Mr. Hawkrigge makes reference to voting against items of limited educational value if he felt the city was under heavy fiscal burden. Why should he ever vote for anything of limited educational value — no matter what the circumstances? Furthermore his definition of criteria for educational value is not clear.

I applaud Mr. Hawkrigge's concern with the climbing tax rate and its effect on people at the lower end of the income scale. His answer is to cut back on less essential programs — an excellent idea! Why doesn't he and the rest of the School Committee ask the School Administration to propose their budget on a priority basis so that existing funds can be allocated more effectively rather than the most archaic method of taking each item separately — an example of fiscal irresponsibility. The procedure I propose, as others have, would make quite clear the relative priority in all areas of the educational program. Two obvious examples of types of programs that should be looked at for their educational value are varsity sports and driver education. I am not arguing against these programs as such, but I am asking that the School Committee put priority judgements on each aspect of the school program when budget time comes and require the same of the School Administration.

I further recommend that the School Committee develop an advisory committee on education that would be composed of parents and interested citizens in the community. The purpose of this committee would be to provide views on education from parents and students. It would also provide a forum whereby the School Committee might take advantage of the rich resources our community enjoys through its large population of professional both in and out of the field of education. There is currently no effective way in which the consumers of education can get a fair hearing for their recommendations and felt injustices.

It is most regrettable that Mr. Hawkrigge was not able to hear that the major issue at stake at the School Committee Meeting of April 7 was indeed a most important educational issue and not the lunch program. The lunch program is primarily of merit because of its contribution to making a single session possible, not because lunch has some lofty educational value. Such a view should apply to any aspect of the school program. For example, there is nothing educational about having clean buildings except that they are necessary to provide a proper environment for education.

Mr. Hawkrigge persists in the myth that the Tuesday and Thursday afternoons provide great opportunity for curriculum development and individual instruction. My information suggests that the practice deviates significantly from the idea. Is the end of the day the best time for remedial help when a child is likely to be saturated — particularly when his peers are out playing. There is little detailed information available as to how these afternoons are, in fact, spent. Shouldn't this major portion of the educational program be under fiscal scrutiny for its educational value rather than it being taken as an act of faith. What is in fact happening? Is the job getting done the way it is supposed to be done? If it is — fine, but does the School Committee really know? I am all for giving the school administration the best in teachers plant and program that we can provide. In turn we can and should demand that they demonstrate clarity and effectiveness in the curriculum and program they propose. There is no room for attitude of, "they are the professionals, they know what's best."

Mr. Hawkrigge with some pride that the split session of Newton is copied by other school systems it is not clear that this is the case. Even if it were, what relevance does this have for the quality of education in our system? Lets worry less about who is copying us. Its time to stop basking in the reflection of our own image. Instead we have much to do to fulfill the image we set for our school system.

Mr. Hawkrigge suggests that he has clear knowledge of what the non-elementary school citizens feel about the merits of the single session. If he has such specific data why hasn't he presented it? If he doesn't have the data then why imply he is speaking with an authority he doesn't possess?

The taxpayers of Newton who do not have children in the school system have a vital concern in the quality of our schools. Leaving aside any commitment they have to good education per se and the need for an enlightened citizenry, the non-school child taxpayer is aware that a major attraction to this community is the schools. As a result property values are relatively high and stable. If the quality of the school system were to deteriorate there is a significant probability that taxes would go higher and property values would drop due to decreased desirability of moving to this community.

It is curious that Mr. Hawkrigge talks about his action in asking for a reconsideration of the motion that finally passed at the school committee meeting on the single session as though he voted for it. He did move for reconsideration but he voted AGAINST the motion.

Finally, I agree with Mr. Hawkrigge that now that the democratic process has been exercised it is the common obligation of all Newton citizens, the School Committee and the School Administration to implement the program which has been approved. There is at stake not only an educational program but the necessity to preserve the democratic process by which we can all be heard if not always satisfied.

Sincerely yours,
Marvin Snider, Ph.D.

DRIVING KITTENS INSANE BY ELECTRIC SHOCKS

In the laboratories of a Veterans' Administration Hospital experimenters tried to drive two litters of kittens insane by cruel electric shocks.

Beginning seven days after birth and for the next 35 days, the kittens were given a total of 5,000 electric shocks to the hind legs.

These shocks were introduced gradually with finally as many as 700 a day being given. They were, moreover, given during the nursing period.

Declaring that "The behavior of the mother cat merits attention," the experimenters wrote:

"When she eventually discovered that the experimental kitten was being given electric shocks during the feeding process, or whenever it was close to the body, she would do everything possible to thwart the experimenter with her claws, then trying to bite the electric wire, and finally leaving the experimental kitten, and running away as far as possible whenever the electrodes were on the kitten's legs. Her attitude toward the experimental kitten when the electrodes were removed was one of . . . deep mother love . . . She would run over to her kittens, try and feed it, or else comfort it as much as possible."

"During a follow-up experiment, after the kittens had not been shocked for a period of time, it was again given shocks in the rear legs . . . the kitten . . . tended to resume its previous schizophrenic-like behavior."

Judge for yourselves the kind of men who would commit such atrocities.

The story of these experiments is reported in full in the Journal of Genetic Psychology, Volume 102 (1963) pages 55-60 and may be read at the Countway Medical Library, 10 Shattuck Street, Boston and doubtless at other medical libraries.

Showers Stop Tennis Match In Weymouth

When the rains came last Wednesday afternoon the Newton South High tennis team was ahead of host Weymouth High, 2-0, in its first match in defense of its state title.

Sophomore Dave Cohen, playing number one singles, was victorious, as was senior Bill Starr, in the number two singles spot.

Al Starr, third singles, Andy Levin and Kenny Miller, first doubles, and Paul Cohen and Rich Mitchell, another sophomore, second doubles, have yet to finish their matches.

The match will be completed May 9 when Weymouth visits Newton South.

'Y' Camp Life Wonderful For Growing Boys

Wonderful things do happen to boys at the Newton YMCA resident camp, Camp Frank A. Day. Some put on inches, some put on pounds. But something else happens, too.

It's called character growth... confidence that comes with learning new skills... a feeling of kinship with nature... and a broader sympathy and understanding for other people.

These are the kinds of growth that give Camp Day its meaning, since its organization in 1916. Fortunately, boys again will take naturally and joyfully to summer camping at Camp Day in Brookfield, Mass.

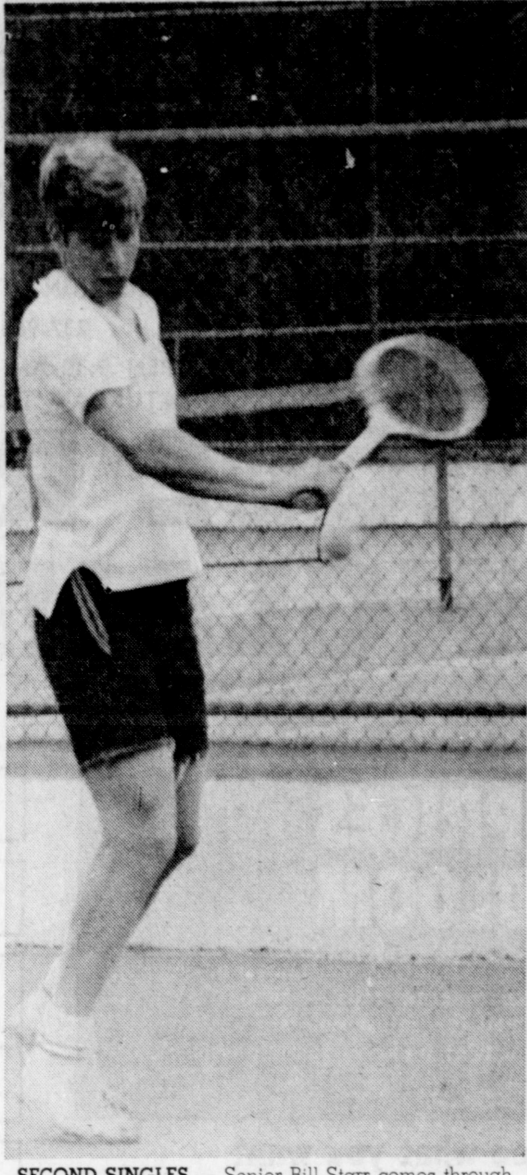

The youngster who is away from home for the first time soon realizes that it is fun to be self-reliant and resourceful. He finds, moreover, that playing, working, and planning together on a give-and-take basis is the best way to get along with others and make friends.

He will live in close and constant association with a college-trained counselor and a small group of boys his own age. That's why you can be sure he has proper supervision; and that is why, in moments of need, he can turn from youthful friends to seek mature, personal guidance.

In brief, this means growing up in the right direction—requiring the kind of balance that goes with emotional and physical fitness.

Best of all, from morning reveille to evening campfire and vespers, a camper builds Christian values and the kind of inner strength that will help carry him through life. Your boy, if between the ages of eight and fifteen, can learn and grow at Camp Day, where wonderful things do happen.

But summer has a way of sneaking up on us. School will be out and summer here sooner than you think! Make sure your son has a memorable summer camp experience at the Newton

N.H. Championship Hopes Suffer Severe Setback

By Jeff Grossman

The Suburban League Championship aspirations of the Newton High baseball team were severely jolted this past week by losses to Brockton and Weymouth. This is not to say that the Tigers are out of the race but they will have to play near perfect ball from here on in to stand a chance of leading the league.

Paramount in both of the losses was the lack of offensive power. The Tigers were held to one hit in the Brockton contest and to four in the Weymouth game.

Despite the fact that the Brockton twirler, Bob Jerry threw a one hitter he wasn't overpowering. He struck out four, walked five and hit two batmen. Only some alert defense by the Brockton infield, including two double plays saved Jerry his one hitter.

The only hit for Newton was supplied by shortstop Ron Arcese. Newton's starting moundman, Paul Britt hurled the first 2-1/3 innings before giving way to Jethro Mills. Two runs were scored in the 3rd and Mills gave up the other two before being relieved by Norm Westlund who mopped up.

A big third inning was the story in the Weymouth game played last Friday at Dickinson Stadium. Starting pitcher Jethro Mills labored through a long first two innings and then yielded to Norm Westlund in the third with one out.

With runners on second and third and one out Westlund gave up what turned out to be the winning runs as Weymouth's Vic Punfiri doubled in the two runs to move the score to 3 to 2.

After this the senior port side gave up only three singles the rest of the way but Newton could muster no offense so the final was 3 to 2. Earlier, in the first, second baseman Alex Cameron led off with a walk, advanced on a bunt by Bob Wargin and scored on a Colin Clapton shot to left center. In the second Tom Chalmers tripled and left fielder Fran Asaff singled him in for the final Newton tally.

Lacrosse, Tennis Teams Win Openers At Newton

The Newton High lacrosse and tennis team both got off to perfect starts as they won their opening spring contests easily. The lacrosse team, belted Milton Academy, 13 to 3, while the tennis team whitewashed Weymouth, 5 to 0.

Senior Dean Foster led the Tiger attack with four goals and four assists and junior George Reynolds chipped in with three goals. Newton jumped off to a 3 to 1 lead at the end of the first period and an 7 to 1 advantage at the half.

Oshe Newton scorers included Kevin Corrigan with two goals and two assists, Kevin Sheehan with two markers, Charlie MacGillray with a goal and an assist, Joe Picariello with a goal and senior Bob Snyder picked up an assist.

This year Weymouth High athletic teams have held a jinx over Newton High teams that is unprecedented. The football team was beaten

South Lacrosse Team Chalks Up Its First Win

It was a long time in coming, but the Newton South High lacrosse team chalked up its first victory as a team, last Friday, 4-3, over Framingham South, in its opening game.

Last season, in its first year of existence, lacrosse operated as a club at Newton South with a 3-5 record.

Eric Schwam blasted a goal after two overtime periods to hand the weary Lions a well-deserved victory.

Paul Horowitz had tied the game at 1-1 in the second period for Newton, and then Low Wolfson and Jeff Newman kept the Lions even with third period scores.

Sports Center Here Has Gala Opening Rites

The Newton Sports Center, 47 Langley Road, Newton Centre, celebrated its gala opening last week with a complete line of Sporting Goods and related items.

"Enlarging our facilities for display, we can now offer many more items that have been requested by our customers."

The management, with over 30 years of selling experience at the retail and wholesale level, is confident that the buying power, know-how and contacts of its principles will allow continued savings and outstanding merchandising values to the public.

Most items used for Sports, Camping and Leisure Living will be featured. Particular emphasis will be stressed for Camping, Scouting, Contact Sports, Fishing, Baseball, Golf, Tennis and all other sports, not only with Equipment but with wearing apparel, as well.

Ample parking is available at the Municipal lot on Beacon and Langley Road.

Newton AZA Has Co-ed Breakfast, Hears Speakers

Newton AZA No. 947 of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization, sponsored a co-ed breakfast recently. The program was held at Temple Beth-El Atereth Israel, Ward street, Newton. About one hundred people from local B'nai B'rith youth chapters attended the breakfast.

When breakfast was over remarks were given by Jack Levy, director of New England BBYO, and Earl Singer, BBYO President of Construction Lodge. Then Larry Levy, who had planned the program, introduced George Reym, a worker with Boston YMCA's program called "Second."

Mr. Reym gave a short talk on drugs and his experiences with them. He then answered questions on the subject. The program was hailed as a success by those who attended it.

AZA is the junior order of B'nai B'rith. It is the largest Jewish youth organization in the world, with over twenty thousand active members. The fraternity has its programs centered around the five basic areas. These are community service, Jewish heritage, social, athletic and cultural.

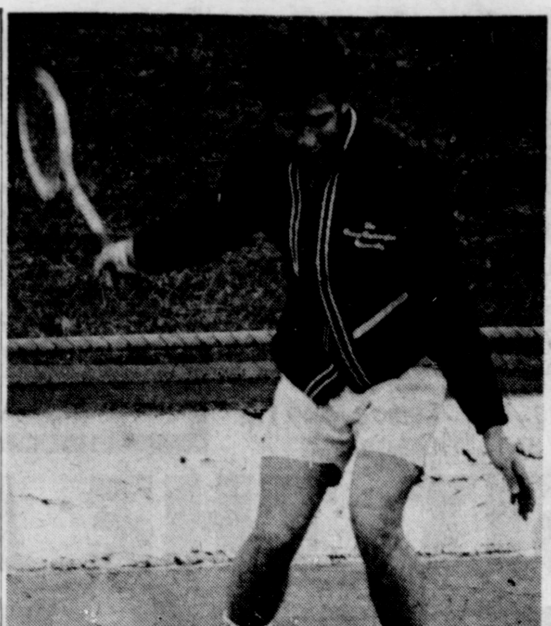

Newton AZA meets every other Sunday at Temple Beth-El. Interested persons should call Paul Rosenberg, membership chairman.

soundly by the Maroon and Gold and then went on to tie for the Eastern Massachusetts crown. The Newton cross country team, Suburban League Champs, were soundly thrashed. Twice the basketball team came out on the short end. The indoor track team tied for the Met League Championship and lost only one meet — to Weymouth. Last Friday the baseball team fell, 3 to 2.

While the baseball team was losing, however, the tennis team triumphed, 5 to 0. Newton High didn't lose a set on their way to winning their opening match. Paul Blazer won his match in the no. 1 singles spot 6-0, 6-2. No. 2 singles Marc Brass won 6-1, 6-2 and no. 3 singles John Bermer emerged victorious, 6-3, 6-4.

In the two doubles match, N.H. had just an easy time. Stu Goldman and Andy Berezin in the first doubles spot were easy victors, 6-1 and 6-3, while Rick Farian and Steve Salter won 6-1, 6-4 in the second doubles.

HE'S NUMBER ONE—Although this is only his first year at Newton South high school, sophomore Dave Cohen occupies the number one position on the school's tennis team. His brother, Paul, plays doubles. Newton South-Weymouth Battle To 2 Ties In Baseball Games

By LEW FREEDMAN

Working with only two days rest between starts, senior Frank Hurvitz fired his second shut-out of the young season, as Newton South topped Arlington, 2-0, last Monday, at Newton.

Hurvitz's initial effort was a 1-hitter, and his second was nearly as masterful, as he white-washed the Spy Ponders on four hits. He fanned 7, while walking only three.

South gave Hurvitz an early lead, scoring twice in the first inning. With one out, shortstop Emmons Levine singled to left. Lou Miller followed with another single, leading to two runners on first and second.

Jim Gamble then slugged the third hit of the inning, driving across Levine and sending Miller to third. With Bob Eisenberg at the plate, Arlington hurler Dave O'Leary attempted to pick Gamble off first. The throw went wild and Miller scored.

The Lions had eight hits in the game, led by Miller with two for the second straight time. Captain Tom Rezzuti, Levine, Gamble, Hurvitz, Clem Virgilio and Leo Costa each had one.

On Wednesday, South journeyed to Weymouth to face the defending Suburban League champions. The teams battled through 7 innings at 3 before rain forced the proceedings to be halted.

Gamble was the South pitcher. The Lions then traveled back to Weymouth on Thursday to start all over again. This time the Weymouth hurler and Thurston Tartar were more than overpowering, as each pitched scoreless ball for 9 innings. With no result from two well-played contests the teams are looking for still another open date to play on.

Brookline High belted Newton South pitching for 10 hits and 9 runs, but just barely squeaked out a 9-8 decision as South smashed 8 hits.

Mike Polakoff, Roch

Goldstein, Bob Schwartz, and Bill Peterson each accounted for two hits for the Wealthy Towners. Polakoff and John Cahill each had a home run.

Paul Selby was the victim of the Brookline assault. He was fast, but wild, also allowing five walks and throwing one wild pitch, despite whiffing 10 enemy batters. Hurvitz pitched the final two innings, stretching his scoreless skein to 16.

Sophomore Clem Ciriglio was the big gun in the South attack with a perfect 3-for-3 and three runs scored. Rezzuti, Gamble, Eisenberg, Hurvitz, and Selby each had one hit. Gamble's safety was a solo homer, Rezzuti's a two-run blast.

The game marked the return to action of infielder John Lopez, who broke a finger at the end of the basketball season.

The Lions, now 2-1, will face Brockton, Waltham and Cambridge Latin, this week, all at home.

Newton North Little League Begins Sat.

The Newton North Little League - Newton's oldest league - opens its 18th season this Saturday, April 26th at 1:30 p.m. at Albemarle Field, Newtonville.

Before the first ball is thrown out by Mayor Monte G. Basbas at 1:30 p.m., several pre-game activities are planned, at the Albemarle Field House, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.; an Auto Parade through the Streets of Newton, 12 noon to 12:30 p.m.; the introduction of the Mayor, State Representatives, and Newton Aldermen at 1:15 p.m., the playing of the National Anthem and the throwing out of the first ball at 1:30 p.m.

It will be a full afternoon of baseball as the Cardinals will take on the Dodgers in the first game and the Yankees will play the Indians in the second game.

With over 250 boys playing on five major league teams, six minor league teams and four farm teams, League President Edward Rogan encourages all parents and friends to support their boys at attending the games and purchasing booster tickets.

Just prior to game time, team photographs will be taken of all the boys in uniform. All boys should be at the Albemarle Field no later than 1 p.m. for the picture-taking session.

The League, under the direction and leadership of President Edward Rogan, has been completely reorganized and revitalized.

3 Newtonites Get February Tufts Degrees

Three Newton area residents received bachelor's degrees from Tufts University in February.

The recipients included: Harlan N. Polishook of 73 Withington Rd., Newton, a B.S. in Chemistry; Deborah Ann Finkel of 141 Waban Hill Rd., Chestnut Hill, a B.A. in Sociology; and Kathleen Marie Hannon of 36 Lowell Ave., Newtonville, a B.A. in Sociology.

Polishook, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Polishook, was a member of the Off Hill Council, the Varsity Track Team, the Student Council Activities and Ideas Committee, and Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity of which he served as social chairman during his senior year.

He was also active in Intramural Sports. After graduation, he plans to teach and attend graduate school. While at Jackson, Miss Finkel was a member of the Leonard Carmichael Society, a campus social service organization, the Financial Aid Student Advisory Committee, and the Alpha Kappa Delta national honor society in sociology.

A Dean's List student, Miss Finkel was the recipient of the Department of Sociology Prize during her junior year, and is a member of both the Society of Scholars and Phi Beta Kappa. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Finkel.

Kathleen Hannon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Hannon, served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Jackson Commuter Association and was a member of the Tufts Traffic Commission.

A Dean's List student, she was a member of Chironians, the sophomore honorary society, and in her junior year she was elected to Alpha Kappa Delta, the national honor society in sociology. Miss Hannon spent her junior year abroad as a participant in the Tufts-Italy program.

2 From Newton To Assist With Ed. Conference

Two Newton residents, instructors at Lasell Junior College, are serving on the program and hospitality committees for the Massachusetts Business Educators Association at the annual spring conference on the campus on Northampton Commercial College in Northampton.

Sebastian J. Mignosa of 14 Malvern Ter., Auburndale, a member of the Executive Board of the M.B.E.A. and Ruth E. Manghus of 182 Church St., Newton, Secretary of the M.B.E.A., are participating in arrangements for this event to be held Saturday (May 3).

The conference will cover such topics as Data Processing, Technical Typewriting, Machine Transcription Skills and Flexible Scheduling. Attendees will include teachers of business education subjects at the high school and junior college levels.

Education Workshop Held At Carr School in Newton

Newton teachers and student teachers as well as faculty members of Lesley College Graduate School of Education participated in a two-day workshop in teacher education held at the Frank F. Carr School in Newton last week.

The joint program, sponsored by the Horace Mann and Frank F. Carr Schools and by the Lesley College Graduate School of Education of Cambridge was to review innovations in teacher training included in a project developed by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Training.

Four techniques for gaining increased understanding of pupil-teacher behavior were presented, with emphasis on use of media as an effective method for increasing understanding and providing real learning. Interaction analysis, a system for analyzing how the classroom teacher uses his verbal behavior, was demonstrated with use of a video tape recorder, audio tape recorder, and three overhead projectors. Microteaching, a short teaching segment analyzed and retaught for improvement, was explained and demonstrated with the use of a video tape machine, movie projector, and slide projector. Nonverbal behavior in the classroom was studied by using video tape equipment and a video projector; and simulation techniques were explored by use of video tapes, an overhead projector and a movie projector.

The sessions closed with an explanation of the underlying learning possibilities for participants because of the skillful use of media. The workshop was coordinated by Dr. Walter J. Mars of Washington, D.C., Senior Associate Secretary of the AACTE, and by Lenore D. Parker of Brookline, Massachusetts, Coordinator of the Lesley College Graduate Program for Prospective Teachers.

Interaction analysis was presented by Dr. John B. Hough of Syracuse University; Microteaching by Mr. Ruben Rochin of the University of Mass.; Nonverbal behavior in the classroom by Professor Charles M. Galloway of Ohio University; and Simulation Techniques by Dr. Donald Cruickshank of University of Tennessee.

Participants in the workshop include Dr. Boris Gertz of Lexington, Director of Lesley College Graduate School; Joseph Gatusso of Medfield, Principal of Frank F. Carr School; Ruth Chadwick of Needham, Principal of the Horace Mann School; Joan Warner, of Newton, member of the faculty of the Carr School and Clinical Professor for Lesley College Graduate School; Judith Rigopoulos of Acton, of the Mann School faculty and Clinical Professor of Lesley College Graduate School. Other participants were Lesley College Graduate School students in Program I, a master's degree program in elementary education for students with undergraduate degrees in other fields, and cooperating teachers working with these students.

Sister Gabrielle Husson Feted At College Dinner

Sister Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., president of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, was honored by her faculty at a dinner-party Sunday evening (April 20) at the Mills Falls Restaurant, Newton.

One hundred lay faculty members, their spouses, and the members of the College's Religious community were on hand to salute Sister Husson, who will resign the Newton presidency in June.

Sister Husson, who became the young college's second president thirteen years ago, led Newton through a period of dynamic growth and development to its present highly competitive position among the country's finest liberal arts colleges for women.

Dr. Joyce M. Hoffman, Cambridge, a professor of psychology and chairman of the College's Faculty Standing Committee, presented Sister Husson a black morocco leather attache case on behalf of and "with the great respect and affection" of the Newton faculty.

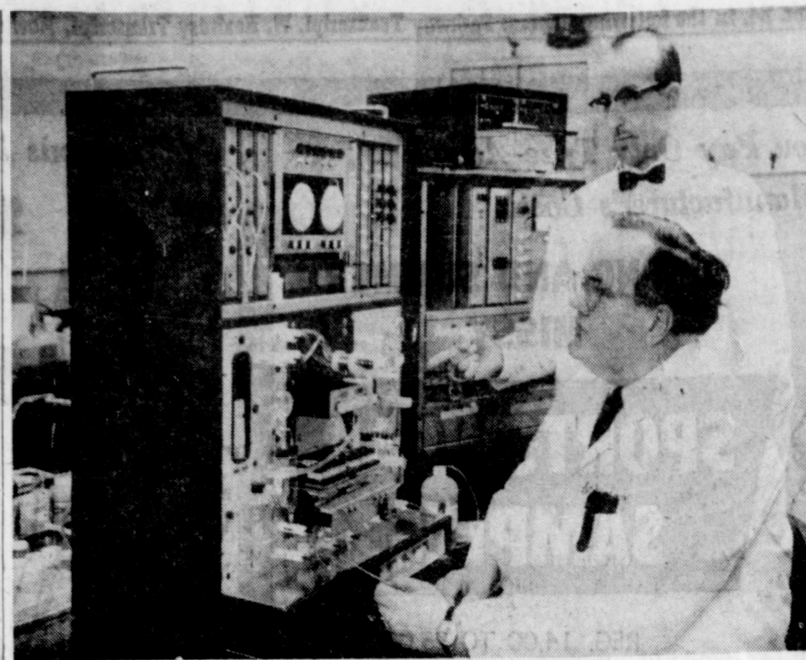

In addition to Sister Husson and Dr. Hoffman, the head table guests included Sister Mary H. H. Quinlan, R.S.C.J., superior of the College's Religious community, professor of history and former Newton dean Sister Catherine E. Maguire, dean of the College and professor of English; and Dr. Anthony Nemethy, Dover, senior member of the Newton faculty, and Mrs. Nemethy. Dr. Nemethy, a professor of economics and sociology, has been a full-time faculty member at Newton since 1950.

Other head table guests, all members of the planning committee for the testimonial dinner, were Ronald C. Brinn, Waltham, director of public relations and development; Joseph F. Conway, Boston, associate professor of economics and history; Dr. William L. Daniels, Hingham, associate professor of English; and Mrs. Daniels; Dr. Ubaldo Di Benedetto, Cohasset, professor of Italian and Spanish; and Mrs. Di Benedetto; and Dr. L. Edward Kamoski, Franklin, professor of philosophy, and Mrs. Kamoski.

In Vietnam

Marine Staff Sergeant Richard A. Stefanik, son of Mrs. Jean Stefanik of 90 Boyd St., Newton, is now serving with Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron in Vietnam. The unit performs administrative, aviation supply and intermediate aircraft maintenance for the flying squadrons of the group as well as assisting the Vietnamese people with self-help projects.

Sgt. Stefanik is married to the former Tomoko Shimizu of Iwakun, Japan.

Computerized Blood Tests Now Employed At Hospital

Every blood test at Newton-Wellesley Hospital is "stat" now. "Stat" is the time honored hospital word signifying "at once, immediately."

Blood testing became a stat matter during December at the 260-bed teaching affiliate of Tufts Medical School, when a $20,000 hematological computer began its preliminary operations.

Today, the equipment handles most of the routine blood determinations within the hospital's extensive laboratories of pathology. The unit does several procedures, from a single blood specimen. One half c.c. of blood, or seven drops, is enough for testing purposes. A report is obtained in under five minutes, or faster than manual procedures permit.

During a test, the equipment analyzes seven basic blood parameters. They are hemoglobin, hematocrit, red blood cell count, white blood cell count, mean cell volume, mean cell hemoglobin and mean cell hemoglobin concentration.

Within a few months, the hematological computer will locate in new quarters. An east wing, behind the existing hospital, nears completion. One floor will give the bustling laboratories of pathology vastly increased working space. Another floor will provide new and larger quarters for the pharmacy, central supply, and general stores.

During 1968, the Hospital's laboratories conducted 297,532 tests, an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year and a 25 per cent increase over 1965, the year the hospital's expansion fund drive began.

Ecumenical Group Hears Mass In Home

The ecumenical group of the Catholic Daughters of America and the United Methodist Church of Newton were present at a home Mass last week in Newton.

The evening Mass was celebrated by the Rev. William N. Quealy at the home of Miss Mary J. Gumini, chairman of the event. Rev. Quealy, ordained in 1962, has been at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, Newton, since May of 1968, and is a member of the Priests Senate.

Fr. Quealy said the Priests Senate voted last February that home Masses could be celebrated by priests on occasions, except Sundays. At one time only permission from the Chancery's Office could permit Home Masses.

About 30 members of the ecumenical groups attended the Mass, after which refreshments were served.

Another change, which is an innovation at Mass, is that women can read the Epistle and Gospel, according to Fr. Quealy. Mrs. Charles Donahue of the CDA read the Epistle and Mrs. Bernard Everett of the Methodist group, read the Gospel. Hymns were led by Mrs. Elsie Foss, also of the Methodist group.

All NCE Ward Chapters To Hold Meetings Next Week

All local Ward Chapters of Newton Citizens for Education will hold meetings in the next week to finish drafting the Bylaws for the newly-formed organization.

NCE members will be asked to take an active part in the discussions relating to the two most critical areas in the growth of the organization: 1) the mechanism by which the group will take action on issues; and 2) the mechanism by which NCE will support political candidates (including a decision on what NCE will do in the November 1969 election).

Elected members of the General Council of NCE will then meet on Sunday May 4 at 1:30 at the Newton Community Center to consider all recommendations originating in each of the Ward meetings. At the May meeting, the General Council is expected to approve a final draft of the Bylaws which will be mailed to the entire membership for adoption.

Ward 1, 2 and 7 will meet jointly at the Grace Church, Newton Corner, on Wednesday April 30 at 8:00.

Ward 3 will meet on Thursday, May 1 at the programs featuring talent seldom presented in the suburbs.

Mrs. Harold R. Keller and Mrs. S. C. Cummings, co-chairmen are assisted by Mrs. Henry S. Adams, Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. William P. Beetham, Mrs. William H. Brine, Mrs. Albert E. Burgess, Jr., Mrs. Joshua B. Clark, Mrs. P. Edward Eden, Mrs. Edward B. Farmer, Mrs. Orville W. Forte, Mrs. John D. Fox, Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck and Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary, subscribers are invited to a showing of "Strawberry Bake" by Mrs. William White Howells on May 22.

'Divisions' To Hear Editor At May 1st Meeting

The tenth and last scheduled "Mornings of Diversion" in the 1968-1969 series will present Edward Weeks, editor-in-chief of the Atlantic Monthly, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House on May 1st. Mr. Weeks is a speaker whose editorial life allows only a limited number of engagements each season.

Th committee in charge of these "Mornings" has been congratulated on completing ten years of cultural, educational and entertaining programs featuring talent seldom presented in the suburbs.

Ward 4 meeting will be held on Thursday, April 24 at the Auburndale Library at 7:30 (this meeting date changed from April 30 because of a conflict).

Ward 5 will meet on Thursday, May 1 at the Waban Library at 8:00.

Ward 6 meeting is to be held on Tuesday, April 29 at the Sacred Heart Church, Parish Hall, Center Street in Newton Center at 8:00.

Ward 8 meeting will be held at the home of Herbert Freeman 15 Cynthia Road, Newton Center at 7:45.

Improve your car's performance 5 WAYS with MICHELIN X[®] RADIAL TIRES!

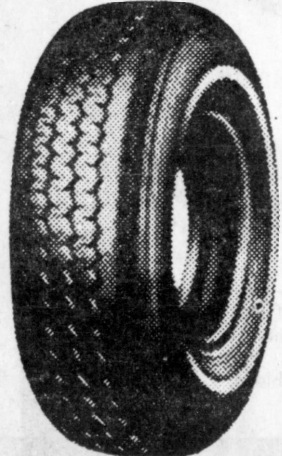

BETTER STEERING CONTROL
Michelin X Radials let you steer with less effort. You'll find less sway on curves and greater directional stability on straightaways.

PROVEN GAS SAVINGS
Your car's tank won't hold more gas when you drive on Michelin but you'll surely get more mileage to the gallon because Michelin X Radials roll easier.

ACCURATE BRAKING ACTION
Michelin's extra-large "footprint" and steel-cord belt prevents the braking force from distorting and pinching the tread. Your car will stop quicker, surer, safer.

UNSURPASSED DRIVING COMFORT
Michelin X Radial tires absorb bumps and jolts like no other tire on the road because radial cords flex in the same direction. It's like giving your car an extra set of shock absorbers!

EXTRA LONG MILEAGE
Watch the odometer move up to 40,000 miles and beyond on a single set of Michelin X Radials... We guarantee it.

MICHELIN X[®]
THE STEEL-CORD BELTED RADIAL

Michelin's 40,000-mile tread life guarantee covers optional credit or refund based on consumer's original purchase price and proportion of mileage run.

Walter Hood Retires As Co-operative Bank Head

The board of directors and staff paid tribute at Braeburn Country Club recently to Walter A. Hood, retired president of Newton Co-operative Bank. Mr. and Mrs. David L. Morris and Mrs. Marian C. Moore. Among those in attendance were directors, past and present, and the entire staff. They included Thomas F. Donnelly, G. Arnold Haynes, Warren W. Oliver, V. M. Schiavone, David Suvalle, Norman H. S. Vincent and Jack Hoover. Present bank officers also on hand were treasurer Lloyd Gates, Vice President Bruce C. Hamel and Assistant Treasurer Francis C. Chase. Staff members numbered Helen Smith, Marguerite McCourt, Agnes Nickerson, President of Panagopolos, Helen Connelly, Alice Hazel, Florence Danforth, Ruth Callahan, Evelyn Schell and Mary Day.

Widows of Vets May Get Pensions

Many widows of veterans who are presently living in Newton may now be eligible for Widows' Pensions which were denied earlier. Commissioner Charles N. Collatos of the Massachusetts Veterans' Services Department declared this week that an earlier Veterans' Administration ruling required widows to be married to their veteran husbands for five years prior to his death. The new ruling now in effect reduces the required period to only one year. Under the new regulations, many widows who were denied pensions previously can now be declared eligible upon reappplication. Commissioner Collatos has instructed the Veterans' Agents in every community to assist these widows in refiling their applications.

Hats To Top Program At Waban Women's Luncheon

The Annual Luncheon and Meeting of the Waban Woman's Club will be held at 1 p.m. next Monday (April 28) in the neighborhood Clubhouse. Mrs. William Hadley and her Committee will be in charge of the luncheon assisted by Mrs. Alex R. Miller and Mrs. James H. Mitchell. Tickets may be obtained in advance from the latter.

The decorations for the tables and stage will be arranged by Mrs. Joseph Morog and the waitresses will be club members under the direction of Mrs. John G. Stobo. The Board Members and Chairmen will be seated as usual at the head table. Mrs. Dorothy Steensma will present a gay program entitled "An International Hat Parade" with a collection of authentic and unique headresses from around the world. Each hat will have its own history which Mrs. Steensma will relate and show how customs and superstitions contributed to its development.

The Annual Business Meeting will be conducted by the club President, Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, with combined reports of the various committees being read by Mrs. Edwin Hawkridge, the recording secretary. The Treasurer, Mrs. Andrew J. Nesdall, will present the Financial Report for the past year. The slate of Officers for 1969-1970 as presented previously by Mrs. Edward P. Boulter and her nominating committee, will then be voted upon by the membership. The Scholarship Committee, headed up by Mrs. Thurston

G. Powell, presented the two successful candidates at the April 7th regular meeting. Miss Nancy Abel of Auburndale plans to attend a Liberal Arts course and Miss Janet Guilmette of Amesbury, Mass., a freshman at the Newton Wellesley Hospital Nursing School, will continue for her second year of training.

The Art Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert W. Ficken announce a change of date for the tour of the De Cordova Museum in Lincoln open to all club members. It is now scheduled for Friday, May 23rd at 1:30 p.m. The Museum and grounds will be on view with an exhibit of "Structured Art" in all dimensions. This is non-subjective art in two or three dimensional paintings and sculptures. It is hoped this program will appeal to a large group as a year-end bonus. For reservations and details of transportation it will be necessary to contact Mrs. Ficken in advance.

An enthusiastic group met informally for coffee and research on the early history and old houses of Waban at the home of Mrs. Joseph Morog on April 16th. The time passed all too quickly with much of interest still to be recounted and examined in the future by the American Home and Heritage committee in this 73rd year of the Waban Woman's Club.

Willard House Aux. To Meet

The annual meeting of the Newton Auxiliary of the Frances Willard House will be held Monday, April 28, at the home of Mrs. Ralph D. Thompson in Weston. Mrs. Herbert A. Dunphy, President will preside.

Preceding the meeting, luncheon will be served by Mrs. Ralph D. Thompson, Chairman, assisted by: Mrs. William S. Prescott, Miss Katharine L. Tucker, Miss Dorothy L. Simpson. The Poursers will be Miss Betsy Allen, Miss Jean F. Howard.

Promoted To Rank of Major

Major Harry R. Lubell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lubell of 45 Cedar St., Newton Centre, chief of Pediatrics at the Fort Stewart Hospital, U.S. Army Flight Training Center, Ga., was promoted to the rank of major in March. He has served in the Army Medical Corps since July of 1967.

A 1956 graduate of Newton High School, he is a graduate also of Boston University and received his degree in Medicine in 1964 from Chicago Medical School. He plans to attend Columbia University in New York on a research fellowship in pediatric hematology after he completes his tour of duty with the army.

Feels Schools Must Work To Change Racial Bias

Schools teach racial attitudes, Mrs. Vivian R. Johnson of the Newton School Department charged last week at a meeting of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights.

"We are all products of those teachings, on way or another," Mrs. Johnson said, adding that "perhaps we should say 'Can schools change racial attitudes?' If not, we are going to raise another generation with the same kinds of hangups we all have and for the same reasons."

Mrs. Johnson was hired last September when a Social Studies project team felt the need of a Negro member to assist in the work on the incorporation of black history into the curriculum.

Mrs. Johnson said she believes "schools are going to have to work not only to change attitudes that they themselves have projected onto children but are going to have to work to change attitudes children are forming from all the other cultural attitudes our society has to offer."

She discussed textbooks in terms of what they teach white children about white people and about themselves, teaching primarily by the exclusion of black Americans from both pictures and texts. They mention that the Negroes were slaves and that war was fought to free them, but that has been the extent of the story of the black man's contribution in the development of this continent since the days of Columbus.

"That teaches children a great deal. Schools, the mass media, and white society have conveyed the message that the black American is not important." As a result, she said, white society has as a whole felt justified in excluding black Americans whole felt justified in excluding black Americans from jobs and houses.

"On the social studies project we have given a lot of thought on values and how to teach them. If we can help youngsters see how social values determine racial attitudes and life style, we will feel we have accomplished a great deal."

"We are now engaged in a program of teacher training, so teachers will feel comfortable in handling some of the activities we will suggest."

A number of elementary and junior high school principals were present, and they as well as other members of the audience offered questions and comments.

Mrs. Madeline E. Bartell, principal of the Ward School in Newton Centre, said she had run into objections in regard to a questionnaire given the children after it has been checked out by the Newton Mental Health Association; that she had subsequently tried the questionnaire quite successfully with thirty children whose parents volunteered permission.

Ernest V. Seasholes, principal of Day Junior High, said, "I find in our Newton context at our school with only a handful of black youngsters, it is easier on the superficial level for children to deal with racial prejudice than with social-class, economic, and political prejudice."

Samuel Turner, principal of Newton Center's Oak Hill School, said that things are fine at school for three or four black children but that when he gets out into the community he immediately becomes shut off. "This is where the real action takes place, and it really bothers you."

Bigelow Junior High School Principal Robert V. Frost said he is "not too optimistic about what the schools can do by themselves to change the situation. There has to be a community effort like the one tonight. One thing we are trying to do at Bigelow is to involve parents at school regarding education in general and this sort of topic often comes up."

Miss Muriel L. Lundy, principal of the Hamilton School, Newton Lower Falls, commented that with or without special materials in the curriculum, the way the teacher communicates with the children, both verbally and non verbally, is what develops their attitudes.

Newton Lawyer Elected By ADA

Atty. Gordon A. Martin Jr. of Newton has been elected first vice chairman of the Massachusetts Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action.

Atty. Martin, a former special assistant to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is an assistant professor teaching criminal justice and contemporary constitutional issues at the Northeastern University School of Law.

He is a former first assistant U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts and trial attorney with the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Dept. of Justice.

TEMPLE RECEIVES NEW TORAH — John Silver, right, president of Temple Reyim, holds a new Torah, obtained on a recent trip to Israel, which he presented to the Temple. It was accepted on behalf of the membership by Rabbi Philip Kievai, center, and Arnold Weisman, left, vice president of the Temple. The Torah was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Silver in honor of their 28th wedding anniversary. It was consecrated at the Family Sabbath Service on April 12th.

Asks $200,000 Increase For Code Enforcement

The city has asked the federal government for an increase of $200,000 in support of the Newton Upper Falls code enforcement (urban renewal) program.

Bruce Train, assistant to Mayor Monte G. Basbas, went to New York recently to talk to federal authorities and present the request. More money is needed, according to Train, because of the unexpected inflation and the underestimated difficulty of the work.

The code enforcement program, now half completed, has a total of $475,000 allotted for public improvements, such as putting in streets. The federal government pays two-thirds of the entire project's $740,000 expense.

Part of this expense — $250,000 — is for the public improvements. Train said that on of the streets which is being constructed, Rockland Place, is on a steep grade and more land must be taken by eminent domain than had been previously expected.

"The original estimates were not based on a too detailed analysis," said the code enforcement co-ordinator.

Train also said he was assured by the authorities of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, when he met them in New York, that there would be "no problem" in getting the federal government to approve the added funds.

The city must approve an appropriation equal to one-third of the added expense.

In his visit, Train also asked about federal re-imbursement for the installation of sewers. The sewers on Rockland Place are costing about $26,000. "They said this policy is unlikely to change," commented Train. The policy now is that municipalities receiving federal money for urban renewal programs must pay for the entire cost of sewers.

"The Mayor has asked me to look into alternate programs to make up for this expense," said Train, who didn't rule out that a sewer tax for homeowners is being studied. He didn't favor such a tax, however.

Train also commented that five - eights of the homes within the urban renewal area have been inspected, with an October 1969 date anticipated for the completion of the inspection program. "This is right on schedule," said Train.

Lawrence J. Balboni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lario J. Balboni of 30 Lindbergh ave., West Newton, has been elected a member of Kappa Pi Alpha Fraternity at Bentley College in Waltham.

Representatives On The Record

Newton legislators have been recorded as opposed to a bill which would have allowed youths under 18 years of age to work in places where alcoholic beverages are sold.

Reps. Paul F. Malloy, J. James Shea Jr., and Theodore D. Mann voted against the bill which Gov. Francis W. Sargent had vetoed. The question was to sustain or overturn Sargent's veto and the vote was 83 to 130.

Rep. Irving Fishman was absent.

NEWTON APPOINTEE — Dr. Reuben J. Margolin of 28 Halcyon Road, Newton, right, has been appointed to the Advisory Council on Vocational and Technical Education set up by Gov. Francis W. Sargent, left. Margolin, who is chairman of the Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education at Northeastern University, met with the governor recently to take the oath of office. The Advisory Council will study current methods and practices in the commonwealth's vocational and technical schools and make recommendations designed to improve the efficiency of the system.

Former Congressman Curtis In Tribute To Eisenhower

Former Congressman first spoken in tribute to Laurence Curtis of Newton President Washington in 1799, paid high tribute to the late President Dwight D. Nixon in the Rotunda of the Eisenhower in a eulogy he delivered at the Patriots' Night dinner dance of the Middlesex - Worcester Senatorial District at the Indian Meadow Club.

"The period of relative calm during the Eisenhower years was a period of solid progress," Curtis declared. "The calm did not imply inaction or justify the demeaning cry of opponents to 'get the country moving again.'"

Curtis served in Congress during the entire eight years of the Eisenhower administration.

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen" — these words,

Curtis expressed disagreement with those who describe General Eisenhower as primarily a "military statesman and diplomat."

"He should be hailed as a great military leader," Curtis said. "It was he who had the principal part in organizing and directing the Normandy Invasion. And when allied armies were set back in the Battle of the Bulge, it was he who met at the front with Generals Omar Bradley and Patton and planned the counter action."

"President Eisenhower's greatest fame in history will probably be as a war leader," Curtis observed.

Speaking of the late President as "first in peace," Curtis stated that President Eisenhower had constantly labored for peace.

"He achieved it in Korea. He built up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He supported the United Nations. He cooled cold war animosities by meeting with Khrushchev at Geneva in 1955 and by hosting him in Washington in 1959. He gave the title 'Waging Peace' to one volume of his memoirs," Curtis said.

"The late President was first in the hearts of his countrymen because of the man that he was," Curtis said, "and because of his qualities of friendliness, tact, courage, humility, and judgment."

Hobart College Honors Mishkin

Paul A. Mishkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mishkin of 46 Varick road, Waban, has been named to the Dean's List at Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y.

Besides maintaining an average grade of "B" or better, Mishkin is on the college radio station staff, in the film and philosophy clubs and is active in intramural sports.

Traffic Comm. Makes Changes

Part of the requested change in the Newton Centre traffic pattern, made by Ald. Jason Sacks, of Ward 7, has been approved by the Newton Traffic Commission.

Herrick rd. would be made one-way from Union st. to Braeland ave., going south. But Union st. would remain as is, and not be made one-way southerly from Beacon st. to Braeland ave. as requested by Sacks.

The changes must be approved by the Board of Aldermen, which generally accepts the commission recommendations.

The Commission also approved the petition for posted speed limits on LaGrange st., Newton Centre.

Edwin H. Wiest was appointed the new citizen member of the commission and was elected chairman unanimously. City Planner James A. Miller was elected secretary.

Returns From Mexican Trip

Miss Dorothy Ellis of 326 Fuller Street, West Newton, returned Sunday from an eight-day vacation in Mexico with Club Internationale.

The Newton resident flew by Aeromexico to Mexico City, where they visited the National Palace, the Cathedral of Mexico, and Chapultepec Park, as well as several private homes open to Club Internationale members.

Miss Ellis's holiday also included trips to Taxco, the silver capital of the Americas, and to the Pacific coast resort of Acapulco.

More than 25 Newton residents are members of Club Internationale, which arranges foreign vacations for its members and sponsors social events between travel times.

Newt. Centre Woman's Club Elects; Presents Scholarship

At the recent Annual Meeting, the membership of the Newton Centre Woman's Club elected the following Officers for the year 1969-1970.

President, Mrs. F. Earle Conn; First Vice - president, Mrs. C. Hassler Capron; Second Vice - president, Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe; Treasurer, Mrs. William Martineau; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Ross L. Treholm; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Reginald W. Matthews; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Miriam P. Nichols; Historian, Mrs. Lester Menkes; Auditor, Miss Ruth Burns.

Directors to 1970 - Mrs. Victor D. Baer, Mrs. Leonard Baker, Mrs. John Merrill.

Directors to 1971 - Mrs. William Connors, Mrs. E. Lake Jones, Mrs. Theodore Pearson.

Directors to 1972 - Mrs. William Bailey, Mrs. Wendell Freeman, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Nominating Chairman will be Mrs. Harold H. Temperley.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club gave a scholarship this year to a most deserving young lady, Donna Henderson of 55 Hanson Rd. in Newton Centre. Donna is the daughter of Mrs. Edward G. Henderson and the late Mr. Henderson.

Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, Acting Education Chairman, introduced Donna and her mother and told a little of Donna's history at Newton High School. She is interested mostly in a science major having had great scientific success in school.

She has been an "all-around" gal with participation in the arts, basketball, French Honor Society, National Merit Commendation, Church activities, library service work, tutoring and volunteer service at Columbia Point, the Fernald School and the Children's Hospital. Add to this that she has been accepted "way back" at three colleges, and it is understandable why the Woman's Club is so proud of their choice.

West Ford Offers Free Driver Film To Newt. Groups

Driver education, defensive driving, big league racing and automotive history are just a few of the subjects in a new series of automotive films offered free for showing to local schools and colleges by Ed Ehrenberg's West Ford of Newtonville.

Produced by the Ford Motor Company, the films are in both color and black and white and range from 10 to 45 minutes in length.

Typical titles include "Driving in the City," "Driving in the Country," "Return to LeMans," "Sports Car Fun," "Styling and the Experimental Car," and "Space Cushion Driving."

Nineteen different films are available.

All films are 16 mm with sound and have been cleared for public service and educational television.

Local schools and organizations are invited to use the films without cost, but may not charge admission for the showing, Mr. Ehrenberg emphasized.

Baptist Home Holds Dinner

Plans for a new building for the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, now located at 66 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill, will be outlined Tuesday at the Home's 78th annual dinner program at the Stratford St., Baptist Church in West Roxbury.

The proposed building will be located on the 37-acre homestead of Rev. Dr. E. Joseph Evans in Kingston.

Dr. Evans, long a missionary in Greece and China, has donated the land for the enterprise.

There are now 131 residents in the headquarters building in Chestnut Hill.

Two members of the Home will be cited at the dinner for outstanding service.

They are Frederic Fay, formerly of Lynn, who organized in 1966 and still directs the Home's Bell-Ringing group of 15 members from the age of 70 to 85; and Mrs. Henry E. Hodge of Melrose, widow of a Baptist clergyman who served in Winchester and Everett churches.

She will be cited for long and faithful service to the Home and the church.

Among Home officials taking part will be Hubert Gillespie of Hanover, and Wilbur Roper of Braintree, both Vice-Presidents; Dr. Carleton W. Crook, West Roxbury, clerk; Carl Kullen, Milton, treasurer; Rufus Bond, Medford; Walter Josephson, Winchester, Chairman, Development Committee; the Rev. Leland Maxfield, Home Director; and Mrs. Helen Pennell, Westwood, Auxiliary President. Also participating will be the Rev. Douglas Elliott, Trinity Baptist Church, Lynnfield; and the Rev. Newton Solons File Joint Bill

State Conflict Of Interest Laws Should Include Judges

Newton State Representatives H. James Shea, Jr. and Irving Fishman were joined last week by 13 other state Representatives in favor of their legislation to include judges within the Massachusetts conflict of interest law. They delivered the following joint statement before the combined legislative committee on Judiciary.

"The present state conflict of interest law which is designed to prevent a public official from using his position of trust to advance his own private interest strangely does not apply to the activities of the judiciary.

"For the otherwise comprehensive statute specifically excludes judges from the definition of state and county employees covered by the Act. Thus, court clerks who are covered by the conflict statute are held to a higher standard than the judges whom they serve.

"This glaring and deliberate omission of the judiciary from the salutary restrictions of the conflict law is indefensible, especially in view of the inclusion of judges under the state bribery laws.

"We therefore support H. 4767 which would eliminate the present loophole in the conflict law for judges.

"The legislative history of the Massachusetts conflict of interest statute offers no explanation for the exemption of judges from the Act. The reason for the special treatment of judges does not appear from an investigation of that legislative history, and no compelling reason of policy suggests itself to us for the retention of the present exemption.

"The rules of the House prohibit a member from voting upon any question where his private right is immediately concerned.

Library Week Posters Sent Out City-Wide

Karen Dick, Gail Seligman, Janis Alberti and Wendy Dick, all 6th-grade students at Beethoven School, Waban, toured the Main Library at 414 Centre street, Newton Corner, on April 17 as part of a library skills program devised by Beethoven Librarian Mrs. Peg White and P.T.A. Library Chairman Mrs. Rudolf Junda.

The four girls, members of a larger group working on a series of seven library skill tests, were accompanied by Mrs. White and Mrs. Junda, and were guided through the departments of the Main Library by Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian, Assistant City Librarian.

They returned to Waban to assist the Library's Public Relations Department by distributing among local shops the new Eastern Region week (April 21-25) with the legend, "Your Public Library Tells It Like It Is," a psychedelic design in purple, orange, black and white.

The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick of 8 Helene road, Mrs. Thomasina Alberti of 652 Chestnut street, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Seligman of 97 Gordon road, all of Waban.

Prof. Hindus Is Spring Session Temple Speaker

Professor Milton Hindus will give the third and fourth in a series of four lectures at the Spring Session of the Combined Adult Jewish Education Program being held at Temple Reyim, 1860 Washington St., West Newton Tuesday evenings April 29th and May 6th at 8 p.m.

Prof. Hindus will lecture on "The Jews as Seen by Non-Jews in America" - Before the 20th Century" and "In The 20th Century".

The lecture deals with attitudes brought from England by Puritans. Development of attitudes during the 17th and 18th Centuries; effects of deism and political liberalism on founders of the American Republic and on their attitude towards Jews.

Philosemitic attitudes evolving from humanitarian sentiments of important 19th Century writers: Longfellow, Emerson, Whitman, Whittier, Bryant, Howells, Mark Twain.

On May 6th Prof. Hindus will discuss the stirring-up of anti-semitic feeling by large-scale immigration in the first third of the 20th Century, as illustrated by writings of Henry Adams, Henry James, T.S. Eliot, Ezra Pound, Edith Wharton, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Theodore Dreiser, Thomas Wolfe, E.E. Cummings, etc. Revulsion and pro-Jewish feeling in response to Hitlerian atrocities. Recent renewals of anti-semitic agitation.

Professor Hindus has been on the faculty of Brandeis University since 1948 and has served as Professor of English since 1962. He earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees at City College of New York and also attended Columbia University and University of Chicago. He has served on the faculties at Hunter College, the New School for Social Research, the University of Chicago and UCLA. He has written extensively for various periodicals and has published numerous works including several on Proust, "Leaves of Grass, One Hundred Years After" which won the Walt Whitman prize of The Poetry Society of America, and most recently (in 1968) "F. Scott Fitzgerald: An Introduction and Interpretation."

400 Attend PTA Council's Newton Spring Conference

The Annual Spring Conference of the PTA Council was held Thursday, April 17, at Newton High School. Over 400 were in attendance. The topic for discussion was "Building Schools: Why? Where? When? How?"

After a welcome by President Herbert Regal, the meeting was turned over to Dr. Gilbert Friedell, Chairman of the PTA Council Building Committee, who, serving as moderator for the discussion, introduced the panel of speakers.

James A. Miller, Newton Planning Director, discussed the relationship of school planning to overall city planning. Miller stressed the need for a long-range plan for school construction, and added that future sites must be grounded in a long-range plan of the City as a whole, the building and site selection of schools being a part of the total community picture.

Arthur A. Marr, Jr., Comptroller of Accounts and Director of Finance in Newton, compared the financial outlay for school construction in Newton with various other communities.

Since 1948 Newton has had more school building projects than any other city or town in Massachusetts - Newton 33, Boston 30, Brookline 9, Chelsea none, to name a few. He added that while the budget of the City has increased 98.4 per cent in the last 10 years, the school budget has increased 156 per cent, higher than the average increase in the State.

Marr feels that with the tax rate expected to go from $88 to $103 this year alone, there has to be an evaluation of buildings and educational needs, that Newton is close to the saturation point as far as taxes are concerned, and that the outlook is one of serious financial difficulties.

The next speaker, Walter Hill, Lecturer in Education and Urban Planning at Harvard University and practicing architect, spoke on the urgent need for facilitating education rather than for building school facilities.

Hill stressed the fact that the student must be first in importance in the educational process, the teacher second, and the parent third. He referred to the student as the "client," the one that must be reached, the one for whom schools are built, the one whose voice must be heard and needs satisfied.

"The students want to be where the action is. In this rapidly changing society, the only way to keep pace is to take the educational process back where the action is. And this has little to do with schoolhouses."

Hill feels that the student wants to learn by doing, not by being told, "doing with those who have the know-how"

and know how." This involves the breakdown of the conventional self-contained school, and the reconsideration of the question of teachers and who should teach.

Hill strongly urged that school facilities be built in conjunction with other life experiences, that there must be close collaboration between all non-formalized agencies concerned with education in a total and comprehensive plan. Earl R. Flansburgh, noted Boston architect, spoke on the need for keeping new schools current with new trends in education. He referred to school buildings as large learning machines, which are only as good as the materials that go into them.

"The roles of schools must be flexible and non-committal and must accommodate a variety of learning programs."

Flansburgh supplemented his discussion with a group of slides illustrating the ways that these ideas have been realized and incorporated into the building and planning of actual schools.

Dr. George Collins, Assistant Commissioner of School Building Assistance for the State of Massachusetts, spoke briefly of the problems arising from school building without planning. He said that the State is strongly encouraging the cities and towns to initiate long-range school planning in order to save money on both the state and local levels.

In attendance at the Conference were many distinguished guests, including Acting Superintendent of Schools, Dr. James Laurits, Richard Mechem, Principal of Newton High, William Geer, Principal of Newton South High, State Representatives Irving Fishman and H. James Shea, and many members of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee.

The Chairman of the Conference was Mrs. L. Tillman McDaniel, with Mrs. Thomas Gerlach, Assistant Chairman. The committee included Mrs. Charles Levy, Mrs. Henry A. Lamore, Sidney Shuman, Mrs. Gerold Rogovin, and Nomi Henes.

Mayor Issues Proclamation On "Law Day"

May 1 has been proclaimed Law Day in Newton by Mayor Monte G. Basbas. The theme for the observance of Law Day is "Justice and Equality Depend Upon Law — and You."

The Mayor's proclamation reads:

"WHEREAS: May 1st marks the twelfth anniversary of Law Day USA. It is a special day celebrated throughout the nation in recognition of our national heritage of individual freedom under law;

"AND WHEREAS: Law Day is an occasion for recognition by Americans of the great rights secured to them under law and the attendant duties and responsibilities these rights entail;

"AND WHEREAS: The day has been set aside by Congress and by Presidential proclamation to remind us that adherence to the rule of law is essential in our society, basic to the welfare of every citizen and to the stability and vitality of the nation. The theme for the observance of Law Day USA this year carries a timely reminder for all Americans: "Justice and Equality Depend Upon Law — and You."

"AND WHEREAS: It is appropriate, therefore, on this Law Day that we acknowledge our duty as citizens and recognize our responsibility to obey the law, to support the agencies of law enforcement and the courts in the performance of their obligations; and, also, that in the home, the school and the church we teach young Americans the enduring values of a society rooted in a tradition of freedom secured by law.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of the City of Newton, do hereby proclaim Thursday, May 1, 1969, as Law Day in the City of Newton and call upon all citizens, organizations and the media of public information to recognize this special day through appropriate programs and ceremonies."

Ward Committee To Hear Cohen

State Sen. Beryl W. Cohen will speak on "Party Machinery - Prospects for Change," Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Ward Eight Democratic Committee.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold J. Stein of 19 Druid Hill Road, Newton Highlands.

Sidney Cronstein said there will be discussion on the methods of selecting National Convention delegates, the pros and cons of eliminating the state pre-primary conventions, and on various important bills now before the state legislature.

PTA To Ponder Pupil Problems

Parents and teachers of Bowen School children will attend a workshop on the problems of pupils Wed., April 30, at 7:45 p.m. at the school on Cypress St., Newton Centre.

There will be a general gathering in the school auditorium followed by three separate discussion groups.

Discussion topics and speakers will be: "The Emotional Tasks the Child Faces from First Grade to Junior High School," Dr. William E. Stone, medical director of the Newton Mental Health Center.

"The Interaction of Parents and Teachers in Helping Children Achieve Successful School Adjustment," by Mrs. Susan Stern, school psychologist at Bowen, Angier and Countryside Schools.

And, "A Look at the Transitional Problems Facing the Child in Sixth Grade in Their Move to Junior High School," by Miss Emilie G. Larson, head counsellor at Weeks Junior High School.

Fair Housing Committee Reports School Progress

Progress being made in the presentations were the Newton public schools in following Newton principals: teaching positive racial attitudes was highlighted at a public symposium sponsored by the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights on Wednesday evening, April 16, at the Eliot Church at Centre and Church streets in Newton Corner.

Moderated by the Rev. Clyde G. Dodder, minister of the First Unitarian Society of West Newton, the symposium featured talks by the coordinator and associate coordinator of the social studies curriculum for Newton's elementary and junior high schools and a discussion of some of the issues raised by the two speakers among a group of principals from the city's elementary and junior high schools.

Speaking on the general topic "Racial Attitudes: Can Our Schools Teach Them?" Edward C. Martin, coordinator of the social studies curriculum, and Mrs. Vivian Johnson, associate coordinator, outlined recent efforts undertaken by the Newton School Department to influence instruction in positive racial attitudes by the city's elementary and junior high school teachers, and some of the results obtained by the program.

Participants in the panel discussion that followed their presentations were the Newton public schools in following Newton principals: teaching positive racial attitudes was highlighted at a public symposium sponsored by the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights on Wednesday evening, April 16, at the Eliot Church at Centre and Church streets in Newton Corner.

Between 75 and 100 persons attended the symposium, many of whom participated in the lively discussion from the floor that followed the presentations and the remarks of the speakers. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the formal part of the program, during which informal discussion of various aspects of the evening's topic continued.

Mr. Martin emphasized that the basis of his curriculum unit's work is the concept that racial prejudice is so ingrained in our society that in essentially homogeneous communities, such as most suburbs of Boston, it becomes difficult for children to come to terms with problems of religious, racial, and ethnic differences.

Mrs. Johnson pointed out the obligation of schools to counteract the misinformation on racial matters generally inculcated in children by white society as a whole, if we don't want to "bring up another generation of children with the same hang-ups as at present."

She described in detail some of the teaching materials developed by the unit under Mr. Martin's and her direction, stressing the special effort being made to reach first and second graders. She noted that "creative teaching" in a normal class environment can have a marked influence on children's thinking regarding some of the significant aspects of race relations.

Warning Issued To Upper Falls Area Residents

Bruce Train, co-ordinator for the city's code enforcement program, this week warned residents of the Newton Upper Falls area to beware of salesmen who claim to have been authorized by the city.

Train said the salesman attempt to sell home improvement items and tell the residents they are representing the Upper Falls code enforcement (urban renewal) program.
